Grossly corrupt SEC et al,
I'm not engaging in hyperbole when I REITERATE: The Criminal, corrupt SEC is actively facilitating MULTIPLE frauds on the public. But, it certainly doesn't end there. The criminal obstruction I have detailed with overwhelming and irrefutable supporting evidence rises to the level of treasonous activity.

Anyone remember once upon a time Treasury Under Secretary for Terrorism and Financial Intelligence Sigal Mandelker? She left Treasury in 2019.
I believe this is 1 of her last audited reports
Audit of the Office of Terrorism and Financial Intelligence's Report on Section 241 of the Countering America's Adversaries Through Sanctions Act (treasury.gov)

> Audit of the Office of Terrorism and Financial Intelligence's Report on Section 241 of the Countering America's Adversaries Through Sanctions Act
> Audit Report OIG-19-033 . ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING/TER RORIST FINANCING . Audit of the Office of Terrorism and Financial Intelligence's Report on Section 241 of the
> www.treasury.gov

Her report was a scathing condemnation of Russian money laundering and other illegal activity
I point you to pg 4
I especially like #3
"The exposure of KEY economic sectors of the United States to Russian politically exposed persons and parastatals, including AT LEAST the bankingSECURITIES,insurance, and real estate sectors (section 241 (a)(3))
Ms Mandelker has not been replaced by Trump/Mnuchin. In doing so, they have re written the Treasury Org structure. Someone didn't like this audited report. I would note that the Treasury IG actually did what Congress authorized him to do.
So, while Trump/Mnuchin corruptly have not replaced Ms Mandelker, the public can rest easy knowing the SEC and FBI are on the case.

FBI Agents, SDNY Judges:
Unfortunately, the SEC has absolutely no interest in a REAL, THOROUGH investigation of my irrefutably, overwhelmingly accurate allegations of SEC corruption and criminal activity.

July after more than 38 years of invaluable contributions.

On November 19,2020 with ALL of the information I have provided to Norberg et al, the SDNY and others the SEC/Clayton announce the sudden replacements for Sollazzo who "retired" in July:

Not sure who Ms Caballes is. But Mikey Rufino I know.
If you read the Clayton/Dick "BBH" Best pr you'd say Mikey Rufino was at the BD SRO FINRA FROM 2013 until joining his former FINRA colleague Dick "BBH" Best at SEC NY.
Not the Case.
See, Mikey Rufino was at the BD SRO FINRA for 32 f'n years prior to "retiring" in Sep 2020

www.finra.org

Like Bobby Sollazzo, WHAT did Mikey Rufino do in his 32 years at the BD SRO FINRA to stop the massive, ongoing fraud perpetrated on the investing public by the criminal enterprise NITE? Absolutely NOTHING.
Meet the new boss/ same as the old boss. OR if you prefer: continuity.
No doubt like his former colleague Dick Best, Mikey Rufino knows EXACTLY who were the executing BD's/MM's BBH delivered 80%+ of those OTCM money laundering shell trades to. And, it wasm't those damn "penny stock trading fairies". Which is EXACTLY why Dickie Best left ALL of the entities un named in his/Rufino BBH AML complaint.
If you want to know just some of the entities un named in the BBH complaint just read my TCR(s)

See Janey, the Dickie Best/BBH/Rufino BBH complaint was filed in Feb 2014. Almost 1 year AFTER I filed my NITE TCR with Berger in March 2013 with you and Seanny Boy. FINRA/the SEC know the un named entities in the BBH complaint implicate several entities in my TCR(s).
"investigators never saw Mr DiIorio's information" is a BLATANT and egregious lie. Just 1 of the many lies to come out of Norberg/Mckessy: the OWB: related to my information.
Now SEC cover up continues so that the massive frauds on the public can continue: 38 year Do nothing Sollazzo side kick and 32 year do nothing FINRA/Dick Best side kick are "investigating" my extremely serious allegations. This is yet ANOTHER SEC "thorough" investigation. Nothing has changed.

In fact, AppTech should have been shut down immediately based on my information. However: NITE/UBSS (penny stock trading fairies) were in the process of trading their billions of worthless certs WHILE this case was pending. Questions for Judge Pechman: Did the SEC ever intervene in this case?
per my extensive 2013 TCR: Assignments: No legitimate economic rationale for a creditor to assign a note/obligation to a third party when creditors can/do negotiate directly with ISSUERS. Derivatives: further assignments to other third parties are simply a distribution mechanism. As the SEC has discovered using my information (Sason,JMJ, Crede, etc etc): not a legitimate note/obligation to begin with. FREE MONEY. Converted into worthless certs. Converted into real money by criminal Broker Dealers/MM's like NITE,UBSS etc.
Who is Ms Farris anyway? Ottens girlfriend? Because assigning $25,000 worth of fraud notes for $10,000 happens all the time in the real world of legitimate financial transactions. Yes, as with ALL of my information: OVERWHELMINGLY and IRREFUTABLY accurate. AppTech is a money laundering shell. ACTIVELY facilitated and I hope your colleagues as well as Mr Kim's colleagues have forwarded my information to you. The criminal case against Mr Kamensky brought by Ms Strauss, Mr Tracer and Mr Cooper is a fraud on your courts. I have established beyond any shadow of a doubt that the Kamensky/SEC/SDNY actions are a complete fraud and well orchestrated set up by protected and known criminals including but not limited to Richard Handler/Jefferies. This corrupt, criminal relationship between the SEC and Handler/Jefferies goes WAY back and at the heart of my claims: a MASSIVE and ongoing fraud on the public actively facilitated by the SEC/Handler/Jefferies et al (see attached TCR). Unfortunately, Ms Strauss as well as Mr Kim's former boss at the SDNY Preet Bharara have also been in possession of my information for quite some time. Mr Kamensky must re assess his representation..

I am always available to discuss my information. Under oath preferably. This massive, ongoing, SEC/Handler et al fraud on the public must end. It has been my personal mission to see exactly that.
This massive fraud also affects other cases currently before the SDNY Courts and ALSO well known to Ms Strauss/the SDNY

The corrupt, criminal relationship with Handler/Jefferies as I have stated is NOT the only corrupt,criminal relationship the SEC/SDNY have with members of their respective "do not investigate lists". AQR, Blackstone as well as Jay Clayton good fried Glenn Hutchins. Hutchins also worked at Blackstone with Schwarzman prior to founding Silver Lake. Hutchins bought SunGard. Then sold it to FIS. This transaction was the basis of the formation of North Island with former NASDAQ CEO Greifeld. North Island is a top shareholder of the criminal enterprise NITE/VIRT. More context: Greifeld was a Director UK/NJ company called Automated Securities Clearance Ltd

Sold to SunGard. Greifeld then became CEO at SunGard. He wasn't at SunGard very long. Then made the jump to CEO of NASDAQ. Curious to say the least. Shortly after becoming NASDAQ CEO, NASDAQ bought the BRUT ECN from SunGard. Self dealing? MUCH WORSE

As you can see, current NASDAQ CEO Adena Friedman signed off on this transaction.
SunGard was then sold to FIS. AFTER it had developed a very interesting product converting Russian Rubles to dollars in real time.

I'll say that again: FROM Russian rubles TO dollars in real time. Providing DMA to WHICH markets????

So, the marriage of Blackstone Alum Hutchins and Greifeld to form N Island and become a top investor in the criminal enterprise NITE was a natural fit. Money laundering on a MASSIVE scale. Algos and OTCM shells are very complimentary money laundering vehicles. Not to mention: Russian Mirror trades: RU ADR's trade OTCM Pinks as well. The KCG 1Q2014 astronomical increase in OTCM volumes. Expunged from SEC reviewed filings. Attached on previous emails as part of the OWB record. NASDAQ is also the repository of the vast AQR blank check money laundering shells. FULLY SEC reporting for credibility. As with many OTCM shells. The only real difference between a NASDAQ/AQR blank check shell and an OTCM shell is the amount of money being laundered. Clayton should have been investigated and barred from SEC business pending a full and thorough investigation. So, that precludes the corrupt SEC IG Hoecker from any involvement.

Cheers!

Judge Nathan,
I applaud your reproof of the SDNY.
Now, I urge you to look at the Dan Kamensky case. I have never met Kamensky. When I saw the joint SEC/SDNY complaint I became physically ill. I am an SEC whistleblower. The SEC/SDNY have actively and continuously obstructed a thorough investigation of my extremely serious allegations. In favor of Rich Handler/Jefferies. The IB in the Kamensky case. Based on my experience with the SEC/SDNY I believe they both are withholding exculpatory evidence which impeaches the credibility of the SEC/SDNY/Handler/Jefferies. A corrupt relationship exists between the SEC/SDNY and Handler/Jefferies. In addition to others in my claims. I have contacted Judge Cave as well as Kamensky counsel. Disclosure of this corrupt relationship puts the Neiman Marcus "sting" in a whole different context. The motives of which should be investigated.

Respectfully,

Please see the new photos attached:
Mr Blostein's Eureka moment and Cifu admission that the NITE/VIRT revenue model is driven by the "retail participation" rate:
Cifu: "The retail segment of what we do is a SIGNIFICANT portion of our overall American equity segment..."

So, are institutions trading .0001 OTCM money laundering shells? Mr Blostein: what are you modeling for NITE/VIRT OTCM share volumes when you KNOW and Cifu admits the importance of these share volumes on the NITE/VIRT revenue model? Does ANY Sell side analyst model this NITE/VIRT revenue driver? WHY doesn't Cifu disclose these share volumes in SEC filings? He used to. Knight/KCG used to as well. See photo. So why did he stop? Did NITE exit OTCM trading? ABSOLUTELY NOT. So the Goldman Analist Blostein KNOWS these share volumes drive revenue at NITE. Blostein doesn't disclose these volumes in his model. Fraud is also an OMISSION of material fact. Time to ask Cifu WHY he doesn't tell you to model OTCM share volumes fellas. This is WHY the SEC/Handler/Jefferies/VIRT/KCG acquisition took place. As Cifu admits: Retail:OTCM drives NITE/VIRT earnings.

Mr Blostein, I remember a NITE/VIRT earnings call not to long ago where you made a direct correlation between NITE OTCM share volumes and NITE trading profits. Remember the 1? I have hard copies of that too. Did Cifu threaten you if you bring it up again? Please forward your model including these share volumes so we can compare notes. Judge Jones, Judge Cave Straight forward, irrefutable proof of SEC corrupt relationship with Handler Jefferies:
KCG was engaged in abusive naked shorting in months leading up to the SEC/Handler/Jefferies VIRT acquisition closing 7/31/2017
SEC/Handler/Jefferies KNEW the core business at KCG is and always has been abusive naked shorting OTCM and other shells to facilitate money laundering.
SEC/Handler/Jefferies knew KCG was insolvent in 2012 as well as 2017 as a direct result of this illegal activity
Handler/Jefferies were the largest shareholder of KCG in 2017 when the SEC/Handler/Jefferies/Cifu orchestrated VIRT/KCG merger was consumated

SEC/Handler/Jefferies/Cifu used known fraud "assets" on the KCG balance sheet to determine the grossly inflated tangible book value calculation used to value the KCG acquisition price.
Immediately prior to the transaction closing on 7/31/2017 the SEC/Cifu wrote down more than $4 billion in leverage from the KCG balance sheet. INCLUDING fraud assets used to calculate the grossly inflated acquisition price of KCG.
SEC/Handler/Jefferies KNEW KCG was insolvent in 2012 AND July 2017

The SEC has known about the Knight/KCG/VIRT accounting fraud and securities fraud for years. I TOLD THEM.
The SEC has engaged in a massive criminal obstruction scheme that is ongoing to protect NITE/VIRT.
As a direct result of this corrupt, criminal scheme the investing public is put at risk, NITE/VIRT is insolvent again/always, Handler/Jefferies benefit, my rights as a whistleblower have been egregiously abused, Kamensky's life is ruined.
The SEC/SDNY is making a mockery of your respective courts. Worse: the SEC and SDNY are committing a massive and well known FRAUD on your respective courts.
The true character of Handler/ Jefferies as well as the corrupt relationship the SEC has with Handler/Jefferies must be disclosed to Mr Kamensky. Any verdict without these disclosures is a known miscarriage of justice.

Judges Cave and Jones,
The SEC corruption goes well beyond just Handler/Jefferies/NITE.
My research: I developed a template. I would search NITE top traded OTCM shells. From there: Derivatives. I have filed several separate but related TCR's based on that information.
The SEC has brought several actions related to my 2013 Knight TCR with Berger: Hanover/Magna, JMJ,Keener, Hicks, Fife,UBSS, and FINRA's NITE Nov 2016 Rule 204 complaint. ALL my information. In addition: FINRA brought a complaint against Brown Brothers Harriman AFTER the SEC was in possession of my information for almost a year. That complaint IS also my information. New SEC NY Richard Best brought that FINRA complaint. ALL of the entities are un named. WHY? Per the complaint: BBH delivered 80%+ of the trades to executing BD's/MM's. NITE as the #1 trader in the space would most certainly have executed BBH trades converting worthless certs to real money. The BBH complaint also cites un named Swiss Banks and FFI's. As a result of exposing these frauds the SEC/FINRA no longer allow searches of OTCM share volume by Market Maker. Further, Cifu,Handler,the SEC have allowed the post VIRT/KCG: NITE to no longer disclose these share volumes in any SEC filings NOR SEC reviewed investor presentations. Has NITE exited this business? ABSOLUTELY not. It is and always has been the DRIVER of NITE trading profits. Virtually riskless albeit illegal. The investing public is intentionally misled as to the true, core business of NITE.

The August 1 2012 "glitch" proved my allegations that Knight was insolvent. Knight had to raise virtually the entire "glitch" loss despite claiming to have a "highly liquid balance sheet". The accounting fraud is a result of the illegal naked shorting. The SEC,Handler,Jefferies et al "glitch" and bailout wasn't JUST a cover up of a massive SEC failure to protect the investing public however. The 2012 "glitch" was the first of many cover ups so that this massive fraud on the public can continue. Per previous correspondence and the extensive record with the SEC: As with the "glitch" ALL participants KNEW exactly the NITE core business and accounting fraud at NITE in 2017 had not changed. As the record clearly shows: NITE was engaged in abusive naked shorting OTCM (and other) money laundering shells immediately prior to the VIRT/KCG merger closing. Many of the same players in the 2017 "glitch" as the 2012 "glitch". JPM,GS,JEF/Handler, and Jay Clayton Sull Crom colleague Jared Fishman. How did the VIRT/KCG merger get approved in the face of the overwhelming evidence I provided? The same way the 2013 Knight/Getco reverse merger got approved: SEC criminal obstruction.

In 2017 the SEC,Cifu,Handler wrote down 4 billion+ Naked short fails immediately prior to the VIRT/KCG deal closing. These fraud "assets" were sitting on the KCG balance sheet and used to calculate the grossly inflated tangible book value used in the KCG acquisition price. KCG was grossly insolvent. ALL participants and the SEC knew this. The primary beneficiary of this fraud: Handler/Jefferies.

In 1Q2020 I alerted the SEC that absolutely nothing had changed. NITE reported a receivable of 2.5 BILLION+. This was up 90% sequentially. HUGE red flags. No investigation. In 2Q2020 the receivable had fallen by just $100 mil from 1Q. Meaning: The 1Q receivable would have zeroed out within days of March 31 2020 as is required: settlement Then, the receivable at June 30 was within 100 mil of the March 31 balance. Inconceivable. The March 31 receivable was NEVER zeroed out as is required by law. Further, the fails listed as "assets" are a fraud. More accurately: liability. AND there is nothing in the receivable that can be converted into cash for company use. There are prior commitments: settlement. Combine this with the THIRD CFO in a year and you have the makings of ANOTHER "glitch"

As I've told the SEC: HFT holdings:seconds. No receivable there. DMM? KCG sold theirs in 2016. So that leaves the VIRT DMM. Even AFTER the massive 2Q2017 Cifu/Handler/SEC write down, the receivable is up more than 6X from the last VIRT stand alone 2Q2017. AGAIN the effects of the core NITE illegal activity.

So, what has changed since August 1 2012? Absolutely nothing. This is an ongoing, massive fraud perpetrated on the American people. Well orchestrated by the SEC,Handler/Jefferies,Sull Crom et al.

Did Clayton recuse himself from my Award denial? Did Clayton recuse himself from the VIRT/KCG approval? Did Clayton EVER disclose his Sull Crom NITE conflicts?

The answer can be found in the very carefully structured complaints against several entities in my 2013 and derivative TCR's: NONE of the activity in these SEC/FINRA complaints takes place without a willing, executing BD/MM converting worthless certs into real money. The #1 trader in the space: NITE. Yet, you won't find NITE in ANY of these complaints. As far as the SEC is concerned: :"penny stock trading fairies". The corrupt, criminal SEC/Handler/Jefferies relationship explained.

I offer AGAIN to fly to SEC DC HQ or NY Office on my own dime to have the best and brightest at the SEC rip me apart and refute my extremely serious allegations 1 by 1. Bring the SDNY too. Better yet: RE forward my information to Handler,Cifu et al. I know they have already seen it from the SEC. I still have yet to be sued by ANYONE related to my information. The Opco Denial Award is also further evidence of SEC criminal obstruction.

A gross mishandling of my information to both bring strategic complaints while protecting the criminal entity NITE. Ms Norberg has created some of the most extraordinary reasons for denying my award. The best so far: "SEC investigators never saw my information". An acknowledgement of SEC criminal Obstruction. It is the job of the OWB exclusively and explicitly to distribute whistleblower information within the SEC. A whistleblower has no way of knowing WHO at the SEC is working on a case. Further, despite my request for Norberg to produce the entirety of my extensive record with the SEC, she failed to do so.
What was the denial in Opco based on? The SEC, Clayton, Handler, Jefferies, NITE et al ongoing massive fraud on the public must continue. So it does.
Mr Kamensky must have my information.
This massive fraud on the public MUST end. ALL of it
Per the extensive record and my derivative TCR's: It isn't just NITE,Cifu,Handler,Jefferies et al the SEC is protecting. Is it Jane?

Janey,
MORE EXTRAORDINARY SEC corruption and criminal obstruction designed to protect criminals and screw whistleblowers like me. Despite my very generous 4 day offer to produce the entire record which is the basis of my award application/denial/appeal AND REQUIRED by the statute I have referenced:
240.21F-12 "Materials that may form the basis of an award determination and that may comprise the record on appeal", The several hundred e mails I have sent you, Hoecker et al MUST be part of this record. Janey, you failed to produce this record. As I made clear: my 6/23/2020 emails to you Hoecker, SEC commissioners were merely re re re sent previously sent e mails: the record. Further, my 6/23/2020 e mail: Formal appeal for preliminary denial covered action 2015-016 Knight Capital & Appendix was merely a summary of several hundred e mails sent to you, Hoecker et al. These e mails SHOULD be the record. You failed to produce the record. Which begs the question: WHAT "record" was used to determine the SEC preliminary denial exactly IF the SEC can't produce the record? The preliminary denial was completely fabricated and must be reversed.

But, it doesn't end there: per my 6/23/2020 summary based on several hundred e mails sent to the SEC, the RECORD of EXTRAORDINARY corrupt obstruction designed to protect criminals and screw whistleblowers is not confined to Opco,NITE,UBSS,Sason,Keener etc etc etc. I have filed 2 TCR's with the OWB related to the money laundering/transaction laundering/Putin/Rakishev/Trump/Kushner/Alfa/Crede/Peizer/Milken/Hapoalim/SBNY/CardWorks/ESQ/WireCard/AQR etc etc etc fraud known as Net Element. For YEARS the SEC has been in possession of not just my TCR's but HUNDREDS of e mails supporting my TCR's comprising the extensive record. Here again, the SEC is covering up a MASSIVE fraud perpetrated on the public and well within even the grossly corrupt SEC ability to shut down the fraud IF they had used my information to execute its mandate to do so. Instead, the SEC obstructed a thorough investigation. Per my previous e mails: the record: NETE claimed to be a payment processing entity. Claiming further to process BILLIONS of dollars worth of transactions every year. Its subsidiary Pay Online is linked to the massive fraud Wire Card. How's the SEC Wire Card investigation coming along? For years, based on my extensive financials research and other research, I pleaded and pleaded with the SEC to shut down this massive fraud. They did not. email after email. Year after year I wrote the SEC "NETE is a money laundering/transaction laundering fraud". Rather than shut it down, the SEC with the help of NASDAQ allowed fraud public offerings by Crede/Peizer/Milken related entities: Esousa and Cobblestone and a reverse split so NETE could keep its NASDAQ listing. The balance sheet has been grossly insolvent for years: goodwill.
ALL of my allegations were confirmed when NETE decided to "unlock value in its payment processing" business by doing a reverse merger with a CA EV "manufacturer" started by a musician. This fraud transaction is quite common in money laundering shell land dominated by NITE/VIRT. The SEC cover up of criminal activity while screwing whistleblowers:ME: The "payment processing business" is to be "sold". Related of course was the SEC cover up of criminal activity while screwing whistleblowers: ME: The Goldman/Sull Cromm advised purchase by ALLY of CardWorks: Merrick Bank: NETE and then the recent unwinding of this fraud transaction. No doubt the brain child of Chair Clayton and his Sull Cromm colleague Jared Fishman who has played a key role in keeping the criminal entity NITE/VIRT up and running.
NETE/Mullen: "here glitchy glitchy" cover up. But, who the hell would EVER touch the massive fraud: NETE? Only another fraud: Mullen.
Mullen doesn't "manufacture" ANYTHING. Mullen is simply a car dealership.
The K50 EV is manufactured in China by Qiantu a subsidiary of CH-Auto. Qiantu/CH have a production facility in China. There will be no Mullen "production" of EV vehicles in Washington or anywhere else in the US.
But, the SEC facilitated fraud doesn't end at protecting criminals and screwing whistleblowers: ME. Per my TCR attached, there is a well orchestrated eco system of fraud. Including "issuer/bag man funded research" that facilitates P&D. In fact, on 11/8/2018 the SEC brought a complaint against an entity I cited in 1 of my emails to the SEC: the record: known as SeeThroughEquity

https://www.sec.gov/litigation/complaints/2018/comp-pr2018-259.pdf

So, the SEC SeeThroughEquity complaint acknowledges the fraud associated with NETE. Well orchestrated. This P&D campaign was part of the 2 fraud offerings : Esousa and Cobblestone: I alerted the SEC to. Who PAID for the SeeThrough P&D? Crede/Peizer/Esousa/Cobblestone?
The cherry on top of the SEC corrupt obstruction: NETE was still in business in 2020 to receive taxpayer Cares Act money.

Janey,
the purpose of your 5 years in the waiting PRELIMINARY denial of my OpCo Award application could not be any more clear: run the clock out and protect NITE,UBSS,Magna et al while denying me rightful compensation. But, As I have repeatedly told you, Hoecker, your colleagues: the last overt act of this vast conspiracy has not yet occurred:
NITE/VIRT is insolvent today 6/30/2020 as a direct result of the SEC facilitated fraud on the public which is and always has been the core business at NITE/VIRT: Abusive naked shorting publicly traded shells to facilitate money laundering. The public is STILL at risk. The SEC has facilitated NITE intentionally misleading the public as to the true nature of its business. The SEC still facilitates this massive fraud on the public while it intentionally misleads the public there is no naked shorting because the SEC authorized the DTCC to create the illegal, shadow clear mechanism Obligation Warehouse (OW) so NITE's criminal activity can continue and it can circumvent close out REQUIREMENTS of Rule 204 of Reg SHO. ALL very much ongoing in June 2020 as a direct result of the SEC (OWB/Hoecker/Enforcement etc etc) criminal obstruction and ACTIVE facilitation of the criminal enterprise known as Knight/KCG/VIRT: NITE.
Clayton never disclosed his Sull Crom/Fishman/NITE conflicts. He must step down from the SEC IMMEDIATELY until a criminal investigation can be concluded. NITE must be halted IMMEDIATELY as it still poses a monumental risk to the investing public. FINRA should go back to being a cheerleader as it is just another enabler of this criminal activity. It has NO business enforcing SECURITIES LAWS. It should not be overseeing the OTCM. FINRA fines are a joke and not meant to be a deterrent. INTENTIONALLY siding with criminals over the investing public the SEC is mandated to protect. The cesspool known as the OTCM MUST be shut down. It exists SOLEY for the purpose of facilitating a massive fraud on the public. The OW must be shut down IMMEDIATELY so the public can see just how pervasive naked short selling: MANIPULATION really is. EVERYONE at the SEC who has had contact with my information MUST resign/be terminated IMMEDIATELY. ALL of the AQR blank check shells must be shut down IMMEDIATELY as they pose a serious national security risk. AQR MUST be shut down IMMEDIATELY.
Certainly not exhaustive BUT a good start

Janey,
please add the following info to my appeal of your preliminary denial of my Opco award.

More evidence the SEC is using/has used my information to both bring complaints and protect/obstruct complaints. Again, you, McKessy, Hoecker have been in possession of my 2013 TCR filed with Berger for several years. In addition to hundreds of e mails continuing into 2020 showing irrefutable and overwhelming evidence to support my allegations.
Highlighted in my attached TCR and related to my Opco Award application: Joshie Sason/Hanover/Magna: CGFIA, IMDS,NewLead,FreeSeas, PRTH etc etc etc. The SEC Sason/NewLead complaint is also my information as I filed separate but related NewLead, and FreeSeas TCR's with your office. The SEC complaint: Sason assignments: bogus notes. NO SH!T? Really? detailed by me. In addition to Bag Man Sason/Hanover/Magna, I detailed the illegal activity of Bag Man Justin Keener/JMJ in my 2013 TCR. Keener was the customer in the FINRA World Trade Financial complaint.

https://www.finra.org/media-center/news-releases/2013/finra-fines-three-firms-900000-inadequate-anti-money-laundering

FINRA barred Keener/JMJ in 2013 as a "Bad Actor"
The SEC was certainly aware of the FINRA action

But Keener not the only 1 involved who knew New Concept was a money laundering shell.
CEO of Blink is Michael Farkas. SEC knows him well from his Skyway Communications days.
The SEC revoked the registration of Farkas/Skyway in 2007

The CFO of Blink is Jonathan New. Formerly CFO of the AQR/Crede: Milken money laundering/Transaction laundering blank check shell: Cazador/Arco: Net Element

A director of Blink is a guy named Donald Engel who worked at Drexel with Milken.
New Concepts was HQ'd in Santa Monica: Milken
But it gets better the Jaclin shell factory also linked to Honig,Stetson,Alpha Cap, Frost as well

The SEC intentionally omitted a Honig/Stetson shell from this complaint:

WHO was/were executing BD's/MM's in these billions of shares of worthless Keener/JMJ money laundering shells????
What are odds that bogus note/worthless certs/assignments Sason/Magna would be involved with bogus notes/worthless certs/assignments Keener/JMJ in money laundering shells like IMDS and CGFIA etc) AND CGFIA was detailed by me to the SEC/FINRA AND CGFIA was 1 of the shells in the FINRA Opco AML complaint
AND where NITE and UBSS traded billions of shares of CGFIA
AND where NITE and UBSS traded billions of shares of IMDS also Now, what are the odds of all of that?

All you have to do is read my attached TCR Janey.

Cheers!

Mirror trade activity peaked in 1H2014 not 2H2014 and this coincides with OTCM astronomical share volume data in 1Q2014 and 2Q2014 that were expunged from KCG 10Q SEC filings. Not 2Q2014 and 3Q2014 SEC reviewed 10Q's as I previously stated

Ms Norberg,
I am in receipt of the SEC OWB correspondence allowing me more time to respond to the preliminary denial of my award application for the Oppenheimer 2015 covered action. This e mail was the last 1 I sent to your office related to my appeal. It will serve as the basis of my appeal. Including the attachments of my 2013 TCR submitted with Berger Montague to the SEC. I will also forward correspondence from 2012 and following detailing my extensive correspondence with Robin Traxler at FINRA as well as Sean McKessy in the OWB. Even though, I have previously forwarded your office as well as the SEC IG office the exact same corroborating evidence. My response to you will be lengthy and detailed. However, given that it took your office FIVE YEARS to send me a preliminary denial notice, that is understandable and in fact a result of YOUR lengthy delay in notifying me. ALL of my response pertains to the denial appeal at hand.

In 2011, I filed my first Whistleblower complaint with the SEC. Detailing a massive fraud on the public directly implicating dozens of entities. The center of my claims: Knight/KCG/VIRT: collectively NITE and the Swiss banking giant UBS:UBSS. By far, NITE was and still is today the largest MM/executing BD in the OTCM space. I was shocked to find the Swiss banking Giant UBSS was trading many of the same stocks as NITE and to the extent they were. This came on the heels of the FINRA UBSS Reg SHO complaint where the extent of the UBSS activity "threatened to undermine the integrity of our markets" while the SEC analysis of this activity was simply a case of "sloppy record keeping". My experience as an Institutional Sales trader: executing multi million share equity trades for the largest institutions in the world like Fidelity and Putnam. In addition, as a Research Sales person: analyzing financial statements and making investment recommendations formed the basis of my expertise. In fact, the SEC OWB has paid out awards for information just like mine. In August of 2011, I informed the SEC that NITE was insolvent having reported just $105 mil in working capital at June 30, 2011. AND, for the resaons cited in my TCR detailing massive accounting fraud as a direct result of illegal naked shorting/self clearing/reverse splits/cusip changes etc. The SEC had a choice: investigate these extremely serious allegations and shut down this massive fraud on the public OR cover up their failure and allow this massive fraud on the public to continue. Unfortunately for the American public the SEC is mandated to protect, the SEC chose the latter. As a direct result, ALL of the activity detailed by me in this TCR and other TCR's filed with the SEC as well as 9 years of additional correspondence with the SEC, this is very much an ongoing, massive scheme. One that the SEC actively facilitates. Countless losses have been incurred as a result. NITE as I detailed is in a constant state of insolvency. The SEC has time and again intentionally misled the investing public that there is no abusive naked shorting. NITE is still in business TODAY.
The core business at NITE is and always has been: abusive naked shorting OTCM shells to facilitate money laundering. Not DMM, FCM, reverse mortgages, or even HFT. This illegal business is EXTREMELY profitable and virtually riskless. AND, both the SEC and FINRA know this. In 2016, FINRA brought a Rule 204 complaint against NITE. The fine was pathetic and not meant to be a deterrent. This is WHY the OTCM exists. But it's not JUST OTCM as my AQR TCR filed with the SEC clearly proves: NASDAQ Blank check shells as well. I have also filed separate TCR's related to NewLead and FreeSeas: 2 massive money laundering shells which began on NASDAQ,de listed to the OTCM. NONE of the activity detailed in the Opco/Gibraltar complaint takes place without a willing executing BD/MM who ultimately turns worthless certs into real money. That #1 trader is NITE. As you read in my Knight TCR CGFIA is at the heart and, because it was based in Colorado, became a template of sorts for my extensive research. See Ms Norberg, unlike the SEC "investigators" on the Opco/Gibraltar complaint, I've actually seen first hand the CGFIA "world HQ" as well as the rented Littleton home of CGFIA CEO Guyer. I've done extensive research on Properties claimed to be owned and M&A transactions done for the sole purpose of cert printing and distribution (Aurelio AMNP) where the ultimate acquisition amounted to a distributor of Ukrainian folk music. I've also done extensive research on domestic and foreign financial institutions claiming to "invest" in these scam companies like Josh Sason/Hanover/Magna also cited in my 2013 Berger/Knight TCR linked. So, as I detailed to Ms Traxler, I followed Guyer to Neuchatel Switzerland and his previous endeavor: Antelope Technologies also with an office in Highlands Ranch CO. Where I discovered a connection to Swiss/German individuals/entities that were also related to another OTCM shell in the OpCo/Gibraltar complaint as well as my Knight TCR: AppTech. Offices in the Woodlands TX and Boca Raton. AND very much up and running today. SHOCKING. The SEC OpCo/Gibraltar complaint is based on the FINRA complaint. That is absolutely irrefutable. As the Gibraltar complaint alleges just 1 OTCM shell and just a million shares while Commissioners Stein and Aguilar referenced BILLIONS of shares in their OpCo waiver dissent. Who executed those BILLIONS of shares? Was OpCo even a MM? If I ask a question it's typically a rhetorical: I know the answer. The SEC knows the answer also. The SEC OpCo complaint does not mention the executing BD/MM. The SEC complaint doesn't mention Sason/Hanover/Magna either. The SEC complaint makes no mention of illegal naked shorting which is clearly evident in the CGFIA 10Q referenced below. THIS IS MY INFORMATION. So, why aren't NITE, Hanover/Magna and UBSS implicated in the SEC OpCo/Gibraltar complaint? What my TCR clearly and irrefutably proves: NITE was engaged in illegal activity both BEFORE and AFTER the SEC et al orchestrated August 1 2012 "trading glitch". So, the SEC bailed out a KNOWN criminal entity. Unfortunately for the investing public, the SEC has doubled downed on facilitating this illegal activity into 2020. The "glitch". Knight was insolvent in August 2011. I told the SEC this. The "glitch" proved my allegations. Key point in my TCR: NITE inadvertently sent 4000 worthless securities to JPM to secure an emergency bridge financing as collateral. These were open, naked short fails that could not be covered/closed due to a cusip change (SEC/FINRA approved rev split) booked as an "asset"(receivable) due to self clearing: MASSIVE accounting fraud. Ironically, the "glitch" proved my allegations: despite claiming to have a "highly liquid balance sheet" NITE had to raise the entire amount of the "glitch". AND the ultimate "financing" was not collateral based. Rather a 50% discounted convert when the stock had already been crushed to $3 OR $1.50. ALL of the financing participants knew the NITE balance sheet was complete fraud. NITE also committed securities fraud in pledging those 4000 worthless securities as collateral to JPM: SCOTUS Rubin: pledging collateral to secure financing is an offer to sell. JPM looked the other way. As did the SEC.

Further, I submitted my amended TCR with Berger in March 2013, In August of 2013, FINRA brought a penny stock AML complaint against OpCo. Sale of unregistered penny stocks. WHO ultimately executed the trades? 2008-2010. In July 2013, the "glitch" financing Gen Atlantic/Getco reverse merger with Knight to form KCG closed. The new CEO of KCG was Dan Coleman who ran Equities at UBSS during their Reg Sho and cross border activity. For UBSS, the DOJ (Acosta Downing et al) dropped their DPA in 2010. My claims: the FINRA OpCo/Gibraltar complaint clearly implicates UBSS criminal activity AFTER the DoJ dropped its UBSS x border DPA. This is what the SEC is protecting in the OpCo/Gibraltar complaint: NITE/UBSS/Hanover/Magna illegal activity.

Also in my Knight/Berger 2013 TCR: IMDS. A multi year money laundering shell kept up and running by the SEC. Also NITE,UBSS, and Hanover Magna. In addition to other entities like JMJ, Southridge, and Alpha Capital Anstalt. Alpha Capital Anstalt is very much in business today as a result of SEC obstruction while the SEC recently brought a complaint against JMJ for activity like that in IMDS even AFTER he was barred by FINRA. In IMDS, the SEC allowed 2 barred individuals (CEO/CFO) to do an offering that created 37 BILLION shares of IMDS at .0001 with Chinese Nationals before revoking the IMDS registration. What do you do with 37 billion shares of IMDS at .0001 when there are no bids below that? NOTHING. The stock never traded. The SEC orchestrated a NITE/UBSS/Hanover/Magna/JMJ/Alpha etc MASSIVE naked shorting to facilitate money laundering scheme bailout so that the MASSIVE naked short position didn't need to be covered in the open market as is mandated by Rule 204. Thus insuring profits and not MASSIVE losses for NITE and UBSS.

I also filed separate TCR's for NewLead and FreeSeas. 2 "Greek shipping" money laundering shells started on NASDAQ and delisted to OTCM. NITE top trader in BOTH. Hanover/Magna in both. I contacted the KY Div of Mines and notified the SEC that these "transactions" were complete fraud. The SEC Feb 2019 complaint against Hanover/Magna is my information: Bogus obligations, assigned, converted to worthless certs. Then dumped on the public and converted to REAL money by the executing BD/MM:NITE. Who generates illegal trading profits by abusive naked shorting. Very symbiotic relationship. 1 of the Hanover/Magna entities was Gibraltar/Hanover. Somehow omitted from the SEC OpCo/Gibraltar complaint. In NewLead, then SEC White and Ceresney firm Debevoise did a "fairness opinion" of a Russian Nickel wire transaction where the NewLead CEO had back dated documents. That has been expunged from SEC reviewed filings. FreeSeas: a structured tax evasion/money laundering shell. Also involved Credit Suisse and Deutsche Bank. Both Debevoise clients. Both involved in the tens of billions Russian Mirror trade scheme. In addition to Hanover/Magna a Milken related entity Crede: Run by Milken/Drexel/Obstruction of justice/Parking: Terren Peizer and his felon partner Michael Wachs. This led me to Net Element NETE. Peizer again. This time with more AML red flags than be counted. Well known to the SEC through TWO of my separate TCR's. CEO is Oleg Firer. Firer former money laundering shell Acies shut down by the SEC while NETE was left up and running. Acies very much up and running also in MA. In NETE: NASDAQ. AQR Blank check shell. SEC allowed 2 offerings so that NETE could keep its NASDAQ listing. 1 was with entity Esousa: felon Wachs ex wife. 2nd was with Cobblestone: felon Wachs sister. I told the SEC. They still approved the offerings. I discovered AQR money laundering blank check shell activity doing research on NITE and Hanover/Magna. A top traded NITE OTCM shell was Cereplast. Another AQR blank check shell. Hanover/Magna/NITE/ and Alpha Capital Anstalt. Alpha is Liechtenstein based and controlled by Martin Schlaff: Austria/Israel. AlsoIMDS (w/Schlaff controlled Balmore) and the Frost/Honing/Stetson et al complaint. Schlaff also LH Financial/Wolfson/Sulphco and Bawag: Sedona/Scan Graphics: Refco: Naked shorting. NITE is Refco on steroids. Cereplast ended in bankruptcy.

NETE claims to be a "payment processor". BILLIONS in transactions processed. Never break even let alone profitable. Balance sheet complete fraud. AML red Flags: Firer is Grenada Amb to Russia living in Miami, Apockinas/Grinshpun/Antonov/Rakishev/Trump/Kushner/SBNY/CardWorks/Merrick Bank/ESQ/Cohen etc etc etc money laundering/transaction laundering BILLIONS shell. Kept up and running for years since filing my NETE/AQR SEC TCR's. ALL of my allegations proved accurate in 2020 when NETE received Cares Act taxpayer money then announcing it was "unlocking the value in its misunderstood payment processing business" by doing a reverse merger with a CA electric car company started by a former musician. The payment processing business to be "sold" and the new company (Mullen) will own 80-90%. All made possible by SEC obstruction and ACTIVELY facilitating illegal activity. Another AQR blank check shell is Astra/Phunware. More Greek shippers related to massive swindler Economou originally intended to do an "energy logistics company" acquisition and somehow settled on "mobile app developer" Austin TX: Phunware. PHUN CEO is well known to the SEC with shells going back 15 years. I alerted the DoJ and SEC that PHUN was a money laundering shell. In addition to the "genius quant" AQR, AIPAC: Gerber/Hudson Bay, Nordlicht: Ari Glass/Boothbay, 1MDB: Khazanah Nasional, Global Crown/Rani Jarkas/EFG/BSI/Optima/Max Fang. AG Barr 1MDB waivers: Kirkland also AQR. Broidy: Trump: 1MDB money laundering. PHUN also received Cares Act money. AND PHUN is Trump/Kushner/Parscale campaign mobile App. PHUN should have also been shut down long ago. AQR too. OTHER AQR blank check shells: CIS/Delta/Urban Tea, Ability/Cambridge, Hunter Maritime, and MI Acquisition/Priority Tech Holdings. Ability/Cambridge: Israeli cellular intercept/surveillance. Israel sent employees to jail. In the US it was "securities fraud". The SEC Ability/Cambridge complaint was handled by Ansu Banerjee in the SECLA office. Milken/Mogilevich/BoNY money laundering entity Sinex: Debasish Banerjee. WHY did SECLA have jurisdiction over ABILF/Cambridge? Result: ABILF is very much up and running today. I believe this is the PHUN/Trump/Kushner/Parscale mobile app technology.
Hunter Maritime:HUNTF: Never consummated an acquisition. Just cert printing/dumping. Also involved: Milken family office: Silver Rock. MI/Priority:PRTH. CEO Tom Priore: well known fraudster to the SEC. Also transaction/money laundering like NETE. Also involved: Hanover/Magna.
ALL AQR money laundering shells up and running today thanks to the SEC. Only recently did the SEC revoke CGFIA and NewLead. well after going dark and the massive fraud on the public had already been perpetrated. In NewLead, FreeSeas, etc etc etc a common tool used is reverse splits to perpetuate and facilitate illegal activity. SEC/FINRA approved. The result is the massive accounting fraud at NITE. WHEN not IF there is an open naked short fail when a rev split takes place, a new CUSIP/security is issued. Trades in the old cusip/security cease. This creates a structural liability. The fail/short can NOT be closed. Like covering a short in AAPL with MSFT. Because NITE is self clearing it books a prop naked short as a receivable. An asset. But, because NITE won't or CAN'T deliver, massive accounting fraud. Literally a liability booked as an asset. This is how "glitches" are born. But the SEC facilitated fraud doesn't end there. The definition of a failed trade: 1 that hasn't settled. The SEC/DTCC issue new securities where trades in the old haven't settled yet AND not authorized by the issuer. Settlement: buyer brings cash/seller brings securities. The DTCC simply makes journal entries. But there are still "IOU's" in the system. The SEC authorized the DTCC to create a shadow clear,non guaranteed, ILLEGAL (clearly contrary to 34' Act "prompt and accurate settlement) Obligation Warehouse so criminals like NITE et al can circumvent close out REQUIREMENS of Rule 204. The OW is just what it sounds like. Per my Knight TCR, DTCC suspends services (Chill/Lock) and trades are deemed "ex clearing". In a FOIA request made with POGO,Berger and I asked the SEC fails data on dozens of NITE/UBSS top traded stocks like CGFIA,APCX and IMDS. The SEC response: see our website. The SEC fails data is for DTCC cleared trades only. The SEC knows exactly the level of fails sitting in the OW. They don't disclose. Intentionally misleading the public there is no naked shorting. In 1Q2020, the receivable at NITE/VIRT increased $1.2 BILLION sequentially. Up almost 90%. AND the tangible book value is grossly insolvent. When it comes down to it, there really isn't ANYTHING in the receivable that NITE can convert into cash for its own use. There are prior commitments on those "assets": SETTLEMENT of transactions. Because the SEC has never shut down this activity, NITE is in a constant state of insolvency.

Other examples of SEC attempts to cover up NITE illegal activity so that it can continue include: Cerberus/Feinberg/VIRT bidding on NITE post "glitch". Wasn't their turn. First, Gen Atlantic needed to monetize its GETCO "investment". The HFT business at GETCO was in a death spiral when the rev merger took place. So what was the attraction to NITE? The business that had absolutely ZERO overlap/synergies: OTCM. As low tech as it gets. Literally a trader sitting in a chair. As I have asked the SEC on hundreds of occasions over the years: what would happen to NITE trading profits if their OTCM share volumes went to ZERO? Cerberus is Feinberg: Gruntal/Milken. Also bailed out Bawag:Refco, HSH, and Deutsche Bank ($50 bil Bad Bank to Goldman). Another Milken/NITE connection is Rich Handler: Jefferies. Also a Milken/Drexel protege. Milken was Gruntal: Feinberg,SAC,Icahn, Sater etc. Gruntal was "sold" to Ladenburg. Controlled by Vector/NewValley:Icahn/Lorber/Elliman etc. And, was sold to multi billionaire Frost. Who, according to the SEC risked it all trying to "make" a few million when he, Honig, Stetson, Alpha et al were really LAUNDERING. Milken also Whiterock ,D H Blair (Morty Davis) and AR Baron (Bressman/D H Blair) which was the precursor to Bear Stearns collapse . So, Milken and his merry crew of flunkies are really at the nexus of JUNK. They own Trump and his White House (Trump casino junk) and they own the SEC. It was Milken, Leon Black, Handler, Moelis, Virtue: Drexel that caused the S&L taxpayer bailout stuffing them with junk like Trump's. It is no coincidence that these same flunkies are also the largest CLO originators/managers. CLO's: Junk on steroids. AGAIN Bailed out by taxpayers in Cares Act HY. There also connections to Epstein. Treasury Sec Mnuchin and Black: HY/Junk/S&L's and Epstein. Black: Money laundering shell ESWW kept up and running by the SEC was/is an Epstein money laundering vehicle: JUNK IS JUNK.
THIS EXPLAINS the Handler/Jefferies/Milken repeated bailouts of NITE. It also explains the SEC criminal obstruction.
SEC Chair Clayton is also directly linked to this criminal obstruction. His firm Sullivan Cromwell and Jared Fishman are ACTIVELY facilitating this massive fraud on the public. Clayton did not disclose these conflicts in his disclosures. Sull Crom/Fishman have advised Knight/KCG/VIRT and several transactions designed to facilitate this ongoing and ongoing fraud on the public. Many of the same players involved in the "glitch" were involved in the VIRT acquisition of KCG in July 2017. In addition to Sull Crom/Fishman and Handler/Jefferies: JPM and Goldman. The SEC facilitated fraud in the NITE/VIRT transaction is egregious illegal activity. The transaction NEVER should have happened. KCG was an SEC reporting company until the deal closed on July 31 2017. Despite this FACT, VIRT CEO Cifo refused to "publish" KCG 2Q2017 financials. I estimate Cifu/Coleman/Handler/GS/JPM wrote down more than $4 billion in open naked short fails: "leverage". The SEC let him. Meaning: "assets" used to determine the take out/ tangible book of KCG was complete fraud. VIRT grossly OVER paid for insolvent KCG.
Prior to the NITE/VIRT transaction closing in July 2017, NITE would report its trading stats monthly. Including OTCM share volumes. Cifu stopped this post merger. The SEC let him. In fact, you will find NO reference to NITE/VIRT OTCM share volumes in any SEC reviewed filing, sell side research or investor presentation. A well orchestrated fraud on the public. Omissions to Intentionally mislead the public as to the true representation of the NITE/VIRT business model. These share volumes are also at the center of my 2013 Berger TCR. There are no affirmative disclosures in any SEC filings to this day as to the AML risks posed in trading these OTCM and other shells. In a 2014 letter to the SEC, I detailed the first 2 months of NITE OTCM share volumes. When the 1Q2014 10Q was filed, these volumes were confirmed: An ASTRONOMICAL increase sequentially as well as year over year. These share volumes/my letter/TCR SHOULD have triggered an immediate SEC investigation. It did not. This portion of the KCG 1Q2014 10Q was expunged as well as 2Q2014 OTCM share volumes. I have detailed this to the SEC/OWB/Enforcement/IG. In the months leading up to the NITE/VIRT closing in July 2017, KCG put out monthly trade stat pr's showing KCG trading more volume than the overall market. Also indicative of naked shorting. Those pr's were also expunged. I also including electronic forms to the SEC OWB/Enforcement/IG.

The SEC has essentially outsourced the ENTIRE OTCM market to the Broker Dealer SRO FINRA. Including: management of the OTCM share volume website fka OtcBB.com. Today, there is very little transparency into trading activity by MM as a result. Also: ISSUER corporate actions: rev splits, Short interest reporting: an absolute farce given there is still no CAT. AND BD compliance with the BSA. Per my TCR: WHY did NITE and UBSS trade Billions of shares of CGFIA and IMDS AFTER a Chill or Lock was placed (ex clear/OW)? CLEAR AML red flags. Because they had an open naked short position. Why not pull a market? Because they had an open naked short position. SAR's? WHEN? BEFORE OR AFTER THEY TRADED BILLIONS OF SHARES? There were no SAR's either. NITE can not outsource its compliance responsibilities to 3rd parties (like OpCo) when executing trades as MM. In 2015 at a SIFMA conference, Ceresney was "shocked" by the number of BD's under his supervision filing 1 or ZERO SAR's. NITE SHOULD have been investigated for egregious BSA violations long ago based on my TCR. Knight/KCG/VIRT:NITE is and always has been a criminal enterprise. Spitzer Russian/US mob bust: "worthless paper". Ashton Tech became VIE became Optimark became Knight/Trimark NITE literally "made by the mob". The SEC has known this for years. ALL of the "worthless paper" shells were SEC reporting companies. Today, Trump PA Campaign Mgr David Urban sits on the NITE BoD. AND is also on the BoD of his very own money laundering shell: Canadian/Pakastani/pot/COVID: FSD Parma: HUGE. Trump advisers/campaign staff Bannon and Parscale also involved in OTCM money laundering shells.Parscale Cloudcommerce fka Roaming Messenger also receiving taxpayer Cares Act money.
Madoff: more money laundering than Ponzi. HOW THE HELL did the SEC let that scam go on for as long as it did? Criminal obstruction. The former SEC IG Kotz actually investigated his "bosses" at the SEC unlike current IG Hoecker. Years of SEC obstruction. Bullshit "investigations" into "running ahead" meant to distract. Similar to the SEC "glitch" "market access complaint" where former SEC "glitch" Enforcement Dir Khuzami/Kirkland(Barr) also rep'd NITE. Can't make this up. The center of IG Kotz scathing failure of the SEC in Madoff: SEC NY and Mr John McCarthy who ended up being Knight/KCG Chief Counsel. As I said: can't make this up. And, as we know Madoff started his career in NASDAQ penny stocks exactly like the 1's in the Spitzer/Mob complaint.
OTCM: This is WHY the OTCM exists: abusive naked shorting publicly traded shells to facilitate money laundering. CEO Cromwell Coulson CHAIRED the FINRA market Regulation Cmte. Say it with me: Can't make this shit up: CMTSU. A founding OTCM Board member is former NITE trader Andrew Wimpfheimer:CMTSU. This is a very well orchestrated and ongoing fraud on the public. Russian mirror trades: no SEC OR DOJ investigation HOW? According to stories: activity peaked in 1H2014. Coinciding with NITE astronomical OTCM 1Q2014 share volume increase. In additional to money laundering penny stock shells, the OTCM is also home to many ADR's. Including Russian ADR's cited in the NYDFS/DBTCA/mirror trade complaint. Little/no disclosures. Also in my TCR: P&D is just a tool used to facilitate the fraud and NOT a stand alone fraud. The SEC intentionally stops short of thorough investigations into much bigger frauds. The same way it has the public believe the "penny stock trading fairies" convert worthless certs to real money. NO! willing executing BD's and MM's like NITE do that. Less than a year after filing my Knight TCR with Berger, FINRA (not the SEC) brought the BBH AML complaint. This was my information. Swiss banks, foreign/domestic institutions, executing BD's/MM's/ penny stock shells: $850 mil in proceeds. Did BBH implicate NITE and other entities in my claims? WHY are all of the entities in the complaint UN NAMED? In the interest of transparency for the investing public? In 2019, I also filed an award application for the UBS x border/AML complaint. This is BLATANTLY my information. SEC/FINRA/ AND the SEC. I filed an IRS TCR based on my SEC TCR attached. In April 2016, 2 IRS CI Agents: VIKAS Arora and Nathan Sarnacki flew to Denver from Chicago to meet with me. I believe they were blown away. Then came the UBS complaint. As a follow up to our meeting, they wanted to know WHO at the SEC I shared my information with. I told them. That was the last I heard from them although I continued to send them my information.
To the SEC IG Carl Hoecker: In 2015 I parted ways with Berger as I was convinced the SEC was using my information in an unethical/illegal manner to both bring and obstruct complaints. Berger was not willing to file an IG complaint. After parting ways, I almost immediately did just that. Prior to retaining Berger I had filed an award application for the UBS Reg Sho complaint. In my submission and my correspondence with Mckessy/OWB I made the claim based on OWB permissible rules to "open a new line of inquiry". One that would link the trading activity detailed in my ultimate TCR by NITE and UBSS. That link: Abusive naked shorting publicly traded shells and money laundering. My application was denied and there was no investigation into this link. The SEC had just bailed out a "known criminal enterprise":NITE "glitch" was not a forthcoming admission. Neither was the blatantly and knowingly false pretext for the DOJ dropping its UBSS x border DPA because "UBSS was in full compliance" in 2010. So, rather than open a new line of inquiry, the SEC chose to obstruct.

I made clear to Hoecker the egregious conflicts by Khuzami,White and Ceresney with clients UBS,JPM,CS, and DB. Hoecker claims to have conducted a "thorough" investigation of my very serious allegations and found nothing. Despite MJW waivers received to "investigate" her Swiss bank client CS. Then in 2019, Hoecker arrogantly told me I could file a FOIA request on his findings. Then, came 2019 and absolutely nothing had changed. NITE was still trading billions of shares of OTCM shells like ELTZ. There were still no risk disclosures. Cifu refused to publish KCG 2Q2017 financials, Hanover/Magna/AQR/Alpha/IMDS etc etc etc were still up and running . I filed ANOTHER complaint with IG Hoecker. Despite the fact that Hoecker himself wroth the IG handbook on "thorough investigations" mandating complainant interviews, I have never been interviewed by Hoecker. In addition, the IG Hoecker is mandated to inform Congress as to serious allegations like mine. He did not. In doing so, obstructed Congress from executing its oversight of the SEC/OWB. And despite hundreds of offers to fly to SEC HQ to have the best and brightest at the SEC rip apart my allegations 1 by 1 I have never been taken up on my offer. Why is that? The SEC OWB has gone to great lengths in other cases to explain the OWB process etc to whistleblowers. I have never been told "no thanks" for my information. In fact, McKessy has solicited MORE information from me after submitting my Berger TCR. In Madoff, an intern could have verified/shut down in weeks NOT years. No contra parties. Only a well orchestrated obstruction by SECNY/McCarthy et al kept it up and running. As I have also repeatedly told the SEC: My claims could be verified in weeks also. NITE has a P&L for every stock they trade. These, aggregated, are basis for quarterly trading profits. These P&L's, combined with OW data, and balance sheet data will validate ALL of my claims. I've offered my service to do exactly that. 2 weeks max. Afterall, proprietary trading strategies are NOT proprietary if they're illegal. For the reasons I have listed in this summary, NITE/VIRT is on the SEC "do not investigate list". And yes, there most definitely is such a thing. Especially when it comes to illegal activity facilitated by the SEC. So, the SEC denial of my OpCo award claim which was 5 years in the making is just another example of my very serious allegations: The SEC solicits and uses whistleblower information like mine to both bring and obstruct complaints. Unethical. Illegal. To deny my award application because the "investigators" didn't see my information is further affirmation of my allegations. They saw it. They used it. They denied my compensation for it. Again Ms Norberg, I will forward my 2012 etc emails with Robin Traxler at FINRA as well as McKessy as further evidence that my Award application denial should be overturned. Further affirmation from 2 dissenting SEC Commissioners and the judge in the Gibraltar case makes this denial both egregious and bizarre. Bizarre ONLY if you believe that there is no SEC obstruction that is. BTW, crazy stuff going on with the firing of Mr Berman/Clayton nomination to take his place/Rabbitt to DoJ/Carpenito replacing Audrey Strauss/Trump/Barr don't you think? The SEC needs some fixers. Wonder why.
I'm cc'ing some our mutual friends on this email Jane. The last overt act of this massive ongoing, SEC facilitated conspiracy has not occurred yet.

Cheers!

Mr Roach,
The SEC is irrefutably using my information in unethical and illegal manner. My information is being used to BOTH Bring complaints AND obstruct/protect investigations into entities detailed in my various TCR's. Denying me rightful compensation. This is the latest example.....

As straightforward as it gets:
The SEC OWB dragged its feet for 5 years in issuing its preliminary denial notice.
The SEC knows this is my information. The SEC committed fraud on the court in Gibraltar. The judge corrected them. The SEC was omitting information that implicated NITE, UBSS and customers like Sason/Hanover/Magna. The SEC was obstructing a thorough investigation of my claims. The naked shorting cited in the CGFIA 10Q in 2013 PROVES my allegations. The SEC's "targeted investigation" stops short of a full accounting. The SEC Gibraltar complaint does NOT explain the totality of the Oppenheimer complaint. The SEC Gibralter complaint cites 1 OTCM shell and less than 1 million shares traded by Opco. 2 dissenting Opco waiver SEC Commissioners proved that also citing "BILLIONS" of shares in their dissent. The SEC/Opco AML complaint was based on the FINRA complaint and my information. The SEC OWB concocted a completely fabricated reason for denying my Award: "The SEC investigators involved never saw claimants information". The responsibility to distribute Whistleblower information within the SEC is the exclusive and explicit responsibility of the OWB. As a result, the massive fraud taking place continued well into 2020. The 1Q2020 10Q proves this.
The SEC IG Hoecker is guilty of violating specific IG requirements in keeping Congress informed of serious matters like mine. The SEC IG Hoecker has never interviewed me despite my filing 2 separate complaints with his office. The SEC IG Hoecker is guilty of criminal obstruction. SEC Chair Clayton and Co Enforcement Peikin worked at Sullivan Cromwell with Jared Fishman. Fishman has played a key role in the SEC facilitated criminal obstruction. Peikin and Clayton should have recused themselves from ANY pending NITE/VIRT matter before the SEC: My information. Clayton and Peikin should have recused themselves from the SEC facilitated KCG/VIRT merger. My information, including the Opco AML complaint SHOULD have stopped the merger from ever happening. 2 former SEC Commissioners agree with that analysis. The SEC is actively facilitating a massive ,ongoing fraud on the American people they are mandated to protect. NITE/VIRT is a criminal entity. The SEC MUST invoke emergency powers and halt trading in VIRT IMMEDIATELY.

In short Mr Arp, the criminal activity actively perpetrated by the SEC OWB/IG must be referred to law enforcement as well as Congress. Separate but related: SEC facilitated criminal activity and my claims. The criminality is a matter for law enforcement. My pending matters with the SEC have no bearing on a criminal investigation OR a GAO investigation.
You are incorrect in your analysis.
I Urge the IG Integrity Board to have SEC IG Hoecker refute my claims point by point.
I will be on a plane tomorrow so he can do it in person.

Cheers!

Almost immediately I filed a formal appeal to the SEC OWB fabricated denial of my award application. In this appeal I show irrefutable proof of my allegations: The SEC OWB used/ is using my information to both bring complaints AND obstruct complaints while denying me compensation. In short: My information exposes an ongoing, massive in scope, SEC facilitated fraud on the American people. Rather than shut it down, the SEC has chosen to cover up so that the illegal activity can continue. It does in 2020

The SMOKING GUN in my allegations:
Naked shorting in CGFIA (My TCR/FINRA complaint) by "un named third party BD" in 2013. Well known to the SEC. This is why there was no investigation into the ENTIRETY of the FINRA trading activity. The SEC issued waivers to Opco within days of its AML complaint. WHO was the SEC protecting? WHO were the customers and executing BD's/MM's in the Opco complaint? ALSO well known to the SEC:
MY INFORMATION. 5 years to get a preliminary denial: statute of limitations. BUT the last overt act of this ongoing conspiracy has not yet occurred.

Still more evidence of a well orchestrated scheme to cover up and obstruct a FULL SEC investigation into Opco/Gibraltar/NITE/UBSS trading activity in billions of shares of OTCM money laundering shells. The SEC used my information to bring AND obstruct complaints.

In fact, the SEC waivers came within days of their complaint. Here, these 2 Commissioners cite Oppenheimer trading "BILLIONS of shares of penny stocks". Clearly, they were not JUST referencing the SEC Gibraltar complaint. WHO was the SEC protecting with its complaint then waivers?

Since less than 0.02% of the Company's Class A common stock shares were held within DTCC, Management chose to not undertake the expense of challenging the Global Lock. Of Course, I have hard copies if you prefer.
ex clearing: The illegal SEC/DTCC Obligation Warehouse.

This is CLEAR,IREEFUTABLE,INCONTROVETIBLE evidence of naked shorting by executing BD's in CGFIA. This activity took place per my Knight/UBSS TCR submitted to the SEC. So, WHY did the SEC obstruct an investigation into the ENTIRETY of the trading activity in the FINRA (and FINCEN) complaints? WHO were the executing BD's/MM's? WHO were the customers?
The veracity of my information is also irrefutable and incontrovertible.
Game. Set. Match. The SEC is a grossly corrupt, criminal enterprise facilitating illegal activity detailed by me so that this activity can continue. It does in 2020. The SEC solicits then uses Whistleblower information (MINE) to bring complaints AND obstruct other illegal activity while denying proper compensation to whistleblowers (ME). The SEC KNEW who the "third party BD" was in the CGFIA filing long before it filed its Opco complaint in 2015. It had my TCR in its possession in March 2013. So why did it take 5 years for the SEC to issue its preliminary denial? I would remind the SEC that this is very much an ONGOING conspiracy on the part of the SEC et al.
IN FURTHERANCE OF THE CONSPIRACY.....

More evidence of SEC fraud on the court in Gibraltar.
It is CLEAR that the Opco AML Covered Action 2015-016 was NOT ENTIRELY based on the SEC Gibraltar Action. The SEC Gibraltar action covered trading activity in just 1 OTCM Money laundering shell: Magnum d'Or where Opco traded less than 1 million shares. CLEARLY the SEC Opco complaint was based on the trading activity in the FINRA Opco AML complaint: my information. However, the SEC Opco complaint even stops short of a thorough investigation of the ENTIRETY of the FINRA trading activity. WHY? WHY didn't the SEC Opco/Gibraltar complaint go into trading activity in the FINRA AML OTCM shells through 2014 as FINCEN did? WHY did the SEC omit MATERIAL information to the court in Gibraltar causing a "significant under estimating" of criminal activity?
The SEC knows who the accounts were. The SEC knows who the executing BD's/MM's were. The SEC committed a fraud on the court in Gibraltar.
Gibraltar was ROLLING OUT NEW OTCM services into the end of 2011.

The SEC KNEW the Gibraltar/Opco trading activity went well beyond 2011 YET cut off its investigation at "well into 2010". Thus, KNOWINGLY omitting material information in Gibraltar: FRAUD ON THE COURT.
Confirming my allegations of SEC criminal activity in handling my information. WHY? to protect NITE and UBSS.
2 criminal entities bailed out by the SEC.
Now, the SEC is using the completely fabricated reason for denying my award claim for covered action 2015-016: "The investigators never saw the claimants information".
WHEN the explicit and exclusive responsibility to distribute whistleblower information within the SEC falls on the OWB itself.
More criminal activity.

In the summer of 2012, I had extensive correspondence with Robin Traxler at FINRA where I also cc'd Sean McKessy then SEC OWB Chief. The CURRENT OWB Chief and the SEC IG are in possession of this correspondence. My correspondence dealt with 2 penny stock shells cited in my Knight Capital TCR submitted by Berger Montague in March 2013 attached here: Colorado Goldfields and AppTech. Both shells were NITE and UBSS top traded OTCM shells in 2010-2013. These 2 shells were cited by FINRA in their Oppenheimer AML complaint. Again, the SEC and FINCEN Oppenheimer AML complaints were based on this FINRA complaint. In fact, per the FINRA Opco complaint above, customer "TC" was dumping worthless AppTech (APCX) certificates well into mid 2010. DIRECTLY overlapping with the NITE/UBSS APCX trading activity cited in my Berger 2013 TCR attached and discussed by me with Robin Traxler at FINRA. HOW is it possible that the SEC OWB didn't share my information with SEC investigators? Current SEC OWB Chief Norberg was previously an assistant to then OWB Chief McKessy.
WHO ultimately executed the trades cited in the FINRA Opco complaint?
Further, the SEC Gibraltar Securities complaint raises more questions than answers as well.

The SEC Gibraltar Securities complaint references only 1 OTCM money laundering shell: Magnum d'Or. The complaint specifically states that Oppenheimer sold just 969,822 shares. Again, no mention of executing BD/MM.
The SEC Oppenheimer AML cites Gibraltar trading activity also.
The share amounts in the SEC complaint grossly under estimate that in the FINRA complaint. WHY?
The judge in the Gibraltar case said "the SEC's requested amount CLEARLY UNDERESTIMATES the defendants ill-gotten gains...."

www.tribune242.com

WHY didn't the SEC go after ALL of the sellers in the FINRA Opco AML complaint? WHY did the SEC "strip out" $46 million from the Gibraltar ill gotten gains claiming the customers were "UNKNOWN"? WHO is the SEC protecting? WHO were the executing BD's/MM's in the FINRA Opco CGFIA and APCX trades? They certainly know who the customers were. Is customer "JK" Justin Keener/JMJ also in my March 2013 TCR attached? While the SEC Opco AML was based on the FINRA Opco AML, it stopped short of a thorough investigation of NITE and UBSS. In fact, the trading activity of NITE/VIRT and UBSS in the FINRA complaint: my information SHOULD have triggered an immediate investigation of NITE and UBSS. It did not. Did the SEC commit fraud on the court in its OMISSION of material information?

The timing of the SEC's preliminary determination and the reasoning for the denial ALSO raises more questions than answers.
My Award application for the Oppenheimer AML SEC complaint was 5 years ago. That's FIVE years ago. So, WHY NOW am I so blessed by the SEC with a preliminary judgement?

The SEC basis for denying my Award claim for covered action 2015-016:
"Investigative staff responsible for the covered action NEVER RECEIVED ANY INFORMATION FROM THE CLAIMANT OR had any communication with the claimant"
Let's take this whopper in 2 parts:
First, the SEC OWB denied my Award application because The investigators in the complaint never received my information. Has the SEC OWB re written the investigative protocol in this denial? How am I or ANY whistleblower supposed to know WHO the investigators are in a particular case WHEN according to the SEC: ALL investigations are done in a confidential manner????
WHAT DOES THE SEC DO WITH WHISTLEBLOWER TIPS EXACTLY? Do they share whistleblower information with ENFORCEMENT as is mandated? HOW would ANY whistleblower know WHO to share information with at the SEC? Isn't that the job of the SEC OWB?
Second, the fact that no one at the SEC contacted me DOES NOT mean the SEC didn't use my information. This is a completely bogus argument. It certainly would NOT be the first time the SEC used my information now would it Jane?
In fact, it is NOT the responsibility of the whistleblower to get his/her information to the right Enforcement personnel. That responsibility EXPLICITLY falls on the SEC OWB. So, is the SEC OWB admitting gross negligence in handling my information? After the monumental failure in the Madoff Ponzi/ money laundering SEC facilitated scam on the public the then SEC IG made specific recommendations to the SEC with regards to the proper handling/vetting of Tips and Complaints.
https://www.sec.gov/files/468.pdf

Review and Analysis of OCIE Examinations of Bernard L. Madoff Investment Securities, LLC Executive Summary Background. On June 25, 2009, the Securities and Exchange Commission's

www.sec.gov

AGAIN: The responsibility to properly vet Whistleblower information and get the information into the right hands at the SEC falls EXPLICITLY and EXCLUSIVELY with the SEC OWB itself and is NOT the responsibility of the whistleblower. Further, according to the previous SEC IG in the monumental Madoff failure: the responsibility to contact those supplying Tips and Complaints ALSO falls explicitly and exclusively with the SEC OWB and not the whistleblower. Using these excuses as the basis of denial of Award is completely contrary to SEC MANDATED protocols and procedures.

Is the SEC OWB admitting it doesn't comply with those recommendations? Recall: the monumental SEC Madoff failure was NOT the fault of Whistleblowers either. OR is the SEC OWB scrambling for a 5 years in the waiting preliminary determination?
So, after 5 years of waiting for a preliminary determination for my award claim, this is what the SEC best and brightest come up with?
My Denial of Award for covered action 2015-016 was completely made up on the fly.
The SEC OWB has applied completely fabricated "rules" to issue this denial. Further affirmation of ALL of my allegations.
Also by SEC admission, the SEC allowed these 2 penny stock shells to remain a clear and present risk to the investing public. Were CGFIA and APCX ONLY money laundering shells for Oppenheimer in 2008-2010 and then suddenly they were no longer money laundering shells when NITE and UBSS traded billions of shares of both shells 2010-2013?
WHY did it take until September 2018 before the SEC finally revoked the CGFIA registration?
https://www.sec.gov/cgi-bin/browse-edgar?company=Garpa&owner=exclude&action=getcompany

So, WHY was there no SEC investigation of NITE and UBSS trading activity in money laundering shells APCX and CGFIA? The SEC et al facilitated NITE "glitch" took place in August 2012. This SEC/Jefferies/JPM/BX/GS/SEC Chair Clayton Sullivan Cromwell colleague Jared Fishman et al bailout coincides directly with NITE trading activity in 2 SEC/FINRA/FINCEN acknowledged money laundering shells. AND the "bailout" penny stock esque reverse merger between Getco and Knight didn't close until July 2013. HOW could the SEC conduct a COMPLETE and thorough investigation into the FINRA Opco AML complaint WITHOUT implicating NITE when NITE was CLEARLY trading billions of shares of OTCM money laundering shells BEFORE and coinciding with the SEC et al facilitated "glitch" bailout? For UBSS, the DOJ dropped its cross border AML DPA complaint in 2010. UBSS was trading money laundering shells well after the DOJ claimed UBSS was in compliance with the cross border DPA.
To be clear: BOTH NITE and UBSS knew CGFIA and APCX were money laundering shells when they traded billions of shares of each 2010-2013. Is that FACT disputed by the SEC? The SEC OBSTRUCTED a thorough investigation into the ENTIRETY of trading activity of NITE and UBSS in CGFIA and APCX: MY CLAIMS. Josh Sason/Hanover/ Magna knew CGFIA was a money laundering shell also https://www.sec.gov/Archives/edgar/data/1344394/000114420413041432/0001144204-13-041432-index.htm
ALSO in my claims: Joshua Sason/Hanover Magna. CGFIA. Also my NewLead TCR1426518350699 and FreeSeas TCR1440274395191 separate but related TCR's where NITE was a top trader in both and BOTH TCR's were filed well in advance (years prior) to the Sason/Hanover/Magna February 2019 complaint. Here's one thing the SEC has been consistent about: The SEC ignores the role of executing BD's and MM's in these scams. WHY? Because NITE is the #1 OTCM shell trader. As far as the SEC is concerned Penny stock trading fairies convert worthless certificates into real money. NO! Executing BD's/MM's like NITE do. Did Oppenheimer sell this order flow to NITE? Who ultimately converted these worthless certificates to real money? As the number 1 OTCM money laundering shell trader it is statistically improbable the NITE has never been the focus of an SEC AML complaint.

Per my TCR: what does the NITE Compliance Department do exactly? How many SAR's has NITE filed in the last 10 years? In a 2015 SIFMA speech then SEC Enforcement Director Ceresney was "SHOCKED" by the number of BD's filing 1 or ZERO SAR's. That was just 5 years ago. WHEN would NITE file a SAR releted to the billions of shares of OTCM money laundering shells it trades like CGFIA and APCX: BEFORE or AFTER it trades those BILLIONS of shares?Does NITE pull markets and alert regulators OR continue to trade billions of shares of OTCM money laundering shells in the face of GLARING AML red flags? In fact, in December 2019 the top traded NITE/VIRT OTCM money laundering shell was ELTZ

Doesn't the NITE/VIRT compliance Department have internet service in Jersey City? As a DIRECT result of the SEC obstructing a complete and thorough investigation into the ENTIRETY of trading activity in APCX and CGFIA, the top NITE/VIRT traded OTCM money laundering shell in December 2019 was AML red flags galore ELTZ. Illegal activity ACTIVELY facilitated by the SEC. The examples cited in this e mail are not exhaustive.

And, for it's part AppTech is up and running again/still https://www.sec.gov/cgi-bin/browse-edgar?company=Apptech&owner=exclude&action=getcompany

Unfortunately, AppTech is still up and running as a direct result of the aforementioned SEC " CLEARLY under estimating" otherwise known as CLEARLY OBSTRUCTING.

In conclusion, The SEC solicits information from whistleblowers like me. The SEC uses whistleblower information to bring actions and then doesn't compensate whistleblowers for their information.
OR
The SEC uses whistleblower information to protect criminality perpetrated on the investing public so that this criminal activity can continue. BOTH are gross dereliction of the stated and MANDATED SEC Whistleblower statutes. To blame a whistleblower for the SEC's EXPLICIT and EXCLUSIVE responsibility to properly vet and distribute whistleblower information within the SEC as an excuse to deny Awards is also criminal activity. The SEC: criminals using whistleblower information to protect other criminals AND deny whistleblower rightful compensation for their information.

I appeal the SEC preliminary determination and wish to file ANOTHER complaint with the SEC IG.

Cheers!

Janey,
how long have you been in possession of my Knight Capital TCR? Almost 7 years to the day. How many follow up e mails have I sent the SEC since then?

For 7 fucking years, the SEC has known about JMJ/Keener. I told them

In February 2019, the SEC brought an action against Joshua Sason/NewLead
I told the SEC about Magna/ Sason ALSO in my 2013 TCR.

AND, I filed separate but related NewLead and FreeSeas TCR's in 2015
Then there's the UBS AML complaint.
ALSO my claims. For which I sent 10 (TEN) separate Award applications from a commercial fax machine in April/May 2019. AND I have YET to receive even a preliminary determination from the OWB/Norberg IG, I see your "investigation" into my very very serious accusations of Obstruction related to my information was thorough. In short, the SEC has and still is ripping me off.
Janey, be a hun and update my TCR's/Awards cited in this e mail.
And Ms Welshhans, a couple of questions for you:
1) Have you read the FINRA WTFC Keener complaint? Fictitious notes Ring a bell?
Same MO as Sason/Magna/NewLead/FreeSeas etc etc etc
2) WHO executed the Keener OTCM trades in your complaint? Penny stock trading fairies?
YES, NITE was a top trader in BOTH FreeSeas and NewLead
The core business at NITE/VIRT is and ALWAYS has been: abusive naked shorting OTCM (and other) shells to facilitate money laundering.
In short Ms Welshhans, NITE/VIRT converts these worthless certs into real money. NONE of JMJ/Sason/IBC/Ironridge/Asher etc etc etc activity takes place without a willing,corrupt, criminal, executing BD/MM like NITE/VIRT, CDEL etc
Finally, The Keener SEC complaint is FURTHER evidence that FINRA has NO business enforcing US securities LAWS. When FINRA "invited" Keener to a disciplinary hearing almost 7 years ago, Keener told them to "fuck off". FINRA bar meant nothing the last 7 years. EXCEPT JMJ/Keener/NITE ripping off more investors.

Obviously the SEC has/is using my information. I expect to be compensated.
Cheers!

Mr Peirce,
Congratulations on your nomination as SEC Commissioner. I have read your paper on FINRA lack of accountability. I believe the SEC has abdicated its responsibility to enforce Broker Dealer compliance with the BSA to FINRA BECAUSE it is not accountable. The SEC has not initiated a single stand alone AML complaint. The Brown Brothers Harriman AML complaint IS my claim. ALL of the entities in the complaint are un named WHY? My SEC and IRS Whistleblower complaints explain why.

Hello, My name is Chris DiIorio. I have filed extensive SEC and IRS Whistleblower complaints alleging a direct link between penny stock money laundering, domestic and foreign entities, Swiss Banks, and executing brokers like KCG and UBS. I can provide overwhelming evidence of SEC obstruction. Please read the FINRA Brown Brothers Harriman AML complaint. This is my claim. All of the entities in the complaint are un named. Why? The SEC is not only obstructing an investigation, they are aiding and abetting the activity. These are not far flung theories. The UBS Whistleblower Birkenfeld and his attorney sent 52,000 accounts to the SEC and DOJ. The DOJ at the influence of President Obama and Hillary Clinton entered into the UBS DPA based on just 4400. What is so egregious is the activity continues un abated today.
Start with the so calledAugust 2012 Knight/KCG trading "glitch". Initial reports say the NYSE was breaking the trades. WHY did they stop. Former KCG CEO Joyce said he had a very frank discussion with then SEC Chair Schapiro where the SEC wanted to send a very strong message to market participants. Why not just continue to break the trades and hit KCG with a hefty fine? That would not create the conditions to grant KCG exception after exception to do their emergency funding which transferred 74% of the company to "glitch" funding participants and ultimate reverse merger partner GETCO. AND, despite claiming to having a "highly liquid balance sheet" KCG had to raise the entire amount of the loss.

A very significant and public event was cited in a WSJ article where immediately following the "glitch"KCG inadvertently sent 4000 worthless securities to JPM in an attempt to secure a tri party financing where JPM guaranteed the loan. This is discussed in my attached TCR's and also the topic in a March 2014 letter I sent to the SEC. In the end, the emergency funding was NOT collateral based. The participants knew exactly what a fraud the KCG balance sheet was. After the stock was decimated to $3, the deal was a convertible with a conversion price at a 50% discount or $1.50/ share.
There is much more, but this is a good start.
Recently, KCG did a modified Dutch auction where they "sold" an asset (HotSpot) to an entity both KCG and GETCO were a major shareholder (BATS) KCG CEO Coleman called it a "highly competitive process". Virtually all of the proceeds went to buy back stock from "glitch" financing participants. The purchase price was $14/share. The stock had never traded there and hasn't since. Reports say 82 million shares were tendered at or BELOW $14. But they chose to repurchase 23 million shares AT $14????? I have overwhelming evidence that supports my allegations that the SEC is engaging in criminal obstruction to protect KCG.
1) Current KCG Dan Coleman ran Equities at UBS during the massive REG Sho violations as well as the cross border activity detailed by Whistleblower Birkenfeld. White and Ceresney represented UBS prior to joining the SEC
2) At June 30 2011 KCG/Knight reported just 105 million in working capital with hundreds of millions in worthless securities sitting on its balance sheet. KCG was insolvent
3) The SEC orchestrated the emergency funding for KCG following the so called Aug 2012 trading "glitch"
4) Read FINRA AML complaints against Brown Brothers Harriman. This is my claim. It links penny stock money laundering to executing brokers like KCG, domestic and foreign entities, and Swiss banks. ALL of the entities in the complaint are un named. WHY?
5) The FINRA World Trade Financial AML complaint discusses several entities cited in my claims. The customer the complaint focuses on is Justin Keener. Still very much in business. The red flags cited by FINRA were cited in my claims as well. Yet still no investigation.
6) in July 2015 I contacted Kevin Goodman Dir OCIE for Broker Dealrsat the SEC. He had never seen my information. The IG OCIE Madoff report mandated the OCIE to vet information. McKessy and Ceresney never sent my info to him
7) I'm sure you are familiar with the Manning v Merrill,KCG,UBS et al litigation. The SEC does not want an investigation into my claims while the litigation is pending.
8) My claims detail ex clearing trading activity by KCG and UBS. despite the glaring red flags in doing so. Ex clearing s the Obligation Warehouse. A NON GUARANTEED SERVICE set up by the SEC and DTCC to allow firms like KCG to circumvent close out requirements of Rule 204. Clearly contrary to the intent of the SEC authorization in Sec 17a of the 1934 Act to create a system of prompt and timely settlement and to remove impediments there of.
In short, I told the SEC KCG was insolvent in 2011. Rather than investigate and prosecute, they chose to obstruct. The activity in my TCR's pre dates the "glitch". An investigation would show the SEC bailed out a criminal enterprise. Because of the obstruction, the activity continues today unabated in stocks like STBV,VELA,NEWL,FREE, and dozens more. The investing public remains at risk

More to come

Re: United States v. Ghislaine Maxwell*, 20 Cr. 330 (AJN)
Ghislaine Maxwell, Reg. No. 02879-509

Dear Judge Nathan:

This letter is written in response to your order dated December 2, 2020, concerning Ghislaine Maxwell, Reg. 02879-509., an inmate currently confined at the Metropolitan Detention center in Brooklyn, New York. You expressed various concerns regarding Ms. Maxwell's confinement and well-being.

The Bureau of Prisons' (BOP) policies and procedures are designed to ensure staff and inmates can work and live in a safe and secure environment. In determining Ms. Maxwell's current housing assignment, MDC Brooklyn considered various factors including Ms. Maxwell's expressed concern for her safety and well-being amongst the general inmate population. We have discussed our decision with Ms. Maxwell several times and provided her with guidance as to how to address any concerns through her Unit Team or the BOP's Administrative Remedy Program, 28 C.F.R. §§ 542.10 – 542.19. To date, staff have addressed her complaints in accordance with BOP policies.

In her current assignment, Ms. Maxwell, like other inmates housed at MDC Brooklyn, is allowed access to the common area of the housing unit from 7:00 AM through 8:00 PM, daily. She has access to recreational space, social calls, television, shower, legal telephone calls, email, computers, and discovery material. A discovery laptop is available to her from 8:00 AM through 5:00 PM. When Ms. Maxwell returns to her cell at 8:00 PM, like other inmates she has access to drinking water, snacks she purchased through the commissary, and discovery material. Since August 3, 2020, Ms. Maxwell has been able to purchase items from the full commissary list. She receives commissary every second week like all other inmates.

MDC Brooklyn correctional staff utilize flashlights when viewing inmate cells overnight to ensure inmates are breathing and not in distress. Inmates in BOP custody are subject to searches, including body scanners, and inmates may be searched prior to moving from one area of the facility to another. The removal of Ms. Maxwell's face mask complies with the BOP's COVID-19 Pandemic Response Plan.

Since Ms. Maxwell's arrival, she has been provided three (3) meals a day in accordance with BOP policy and its National Menu. Food Service staff have addressed Ms. Maxwell's requests. Ms. Maxwell is served her breakfast upon entering the common area of the housing unit at 7:00 AM; at noon she is served her lunch; and at 5:00 PM she is served dinner. Her medical records show that she currently weighs 134 lbs., which fluctuates plus or minus 2 lbs. Health Services staff make regular rounds of her housing unit and she has been instructed on how to request medical care through the sick call procedures. Furthermore, while there has been a number of inmates whom have tested positive for COVID-19, Ms. Maxwell remains in good health and is not in contact with those individuals. The BOP staff is assigned to Ms. Maxwell's unit do not come in contact with the other individuals whom have tested positive. Lastly, the temperature of Ms. Maxwell's cell is checked three times daily to ensure it is in compliance with national standards.

In accordance with the BOP's COVID-19 Pandemic Response Plan, inmates are allotted 500 minutes per month of social telephone calls, which Ms. Maxwell has used throughout her time at MDC Brooklyn. While Ms. Maxwell has received one legal video conference, she continues to have full access to legal telephone calls and in person legal visits. Pursuant to the District Courts guidance, legal telephone calls are scheduled through the Federal Defenders, who should be afforded an opportunity to address any concerns Ms. Maxwell's attorneys have with the legal calls.

I trust this has addressed your concerns.

Respectfully submitted,

Hello [redacted],
I hesitated to contact anyone because I wasn't sure I was a victim. Both cases have been triggering and took me this long to come to the conclusion I was a victim of them and MANY others they all knew.
I have some information about Maxwell that may still help or be of importance.
I am a life long model, still a model in my 40s since I was a teen runaway. I have met them all, known them, been at parties with them. Epstein's partner Jean Luc Brunel was my agent, who is the MAN who for 40 years traffic women internationally. He is 100x worse than Maxwell.
Maxwell is bad and guilty but she is nothing compared to him.
If you are interested in more information or stories about them/Maxwell please let me know.
Thank you for all,

Hi Sigrid,

Attached is a motion that Maxwell's counsel filed seeking to subpoena information from the Epstein Victim Compensation Fund, including information about [redacted]. We intend to file a motion to quash the subpoena later this week. Happy to have a call if you would like to discuss or have any questions.

Separately, can we find a time to talk tomorrow or Wednesday about scheduling? I'll be in court for jury selection, but I'm free during the break from 1-2 p.m. EST or after 5 p.m. EST.

Thanks,
[redacted]

Sigrid,

Totally understand, and we appreciate the information. We've received both productions, as well as an initial index, and we're happy to talk further about what if anything would be additionally useful.

As a threshold question, following the productions from Thursday and Friday, do you expect to make any further production(s), or are they fully or substantially complete? I ask just so we can manage our upload and transmittal processes here.

And it would be great to talk with you about the materials, thank you – we wanted to peruse them for a couple days initially, but it obviously is a large volume and so I think it would make sense to chat at your convenience. Is there a time tomorrow that would work for you? We're available anytime except 11-12 and 2-3, if there's a slot that works, or can also figure out a time for later in the week if that's preferable, no problem.

thanks very much,
[redacted]

Hello [redacted],

We can provide you with a separate index but our first priority today is rolling more documents out to you. If you would prefer we switch our focus to an index we can do that but I would not that each of the files outlines what the document is when you click on it. If I can get an extra staff member to work on an index while Sandy works on loading more into the production I will do so.

If you want to have a call I can also direct you through some of the materials. For example there are some experts we had in our case that related solely to the defamation claims so they will not necessarily be of interest to you – whereas there are other people who we considered to be key witnesses. I'm around today if you would like to speak.

Let me know how you would like to handle.
Thanks,
Sigrid

Sandra,

We've received the materials and were able to download them, thanks very much. We were also wondering—and this may be a question for Peter and/or Sigrid—whether, similar to the prior production, we might be able to get an index of the materials?

thanks again,

Mr. Skinner,

In connection with the grand jury subpoena (the "Subpoena") directed to Boies Schiller Flexner LLP ("BSF"), in connection with the case captioned [redacted] v. Maxwell, 15 Civ. 7433 (RWS), in the Southern District of New York, served on February 5, 2019, attached please find a sealed order (the "Order") granting permission to BSF to comply with the Subpoena through the production of discovery materials marked "CONFIDENTIAL" pursuant to the protective order in that case. Please note that although the Order permits the provision of a copy to BSF, it is otherwise sealed. A copy of the Subpoena is also attached for your convenience.

I also note in particular that the Order applies only to the above-captioned litigation, and not to any other litigation including but not limited to In re Jane Doe 43 v. Epstein, et al., 17 Civ. 0616. Please produce only materials in connection with the case to which the Order applies.

Please let me know if you have any additional questions regarding the Order, or if it would be useful to discuss production methods and/or schedule.

thank you,
Alex.

[redacted] – I sent this to you because they mention that they spoke to you in reference to getting [redacted] a visa to come into the US.

You all probably know this Marsh law firm was very aggressive in representing victims of child pornography. Legal Counsel for victim witness in EOUSA had to counter some of the claims they made. I believe litigation was involved. I think [redacted] EOUSA will have insight.

I was just wondering if HSI agent, mentioned in the last paragraph, has run the images to the NCMEC to see if they have identified the images and identified the series.

Hi [redacted],

We have this FOIA request from Bloomberg News. This is very likely covered by exemption. When you have a few minutes, may we discuss?

Request Summary:

This request concerns the criminal case against Jeffrey Epstein brought by the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York in July of 2019. I am interested in records or communications between SDNY and a bank, referred to as "Institution-1" in a court filing from July 12. The case number is 19-cr-00490, and the filing I'm referring to is Document 11 (attached). The references to the unnamed financial institution are on pages 4 and 5 of this filing and concern the assets controlled by Mr. Epstein, who has since died. I am primarily interested in the name of this financial institution. Thank you.

Thanks,

The name is Spencer Kuvin, and I don't think he was on the list for attendance either in Florida or New York, but I just wanted to confirm – could you please let me know? The documents are particularly sensitive and very much non-public, including even to the beneficiaries themselves—we believe we're the only people who have these documents other than the Trustees and their counsel, so we're keeping it within the building (and not emailing to law enforcement partners until we're able to directly communicate the importance of ensuring the materials won't be further disseminated). In addition, the scope of requests 2 and 3 is quite broad, and the government, rather than the Executors, is in possession and control of some of the potential sources of such information (i.e., Mr. Epstein's computers). We therefore agreed to defer production of any non-privileged documents responsive to those requests and further agreed to revisit what (if anything) the government further sought with respect to requests 2 and 3 until after the government has reviewed the Trust Documents.

Quickly following up, I did speak to our coordinator and she mentioned that a T visa is to be able to stay in the U.S., rather than to enter the country -- she said it doesn't enable someone to come into the U.S. If she's cooperating with U.S. law enforcement there may be options to for her entry, but if there are other personal reasons for coming into the U.S., then it may be prohibitively difficult. Happy to discuss further if that's useful.

Paul,

Apologies for the belated reply, I was traveling today and am just now catching up on emails and voicemails from this afternoon. Unfortunately I don't know of any immediate answers for you, but I can check with a human trafficking coordinator in our office and see if she has any guidance. Do you know if the individual's case was reported to law enforcement in the U.S.? I think that may be a requirement for a T-visa, so not sure if she or her attorneys are already in touch with authorities in some capacity. But please feel free to have them contact me directly if that would be useful, and feel free to give me a call over the weekend (or to have her counsel do so) if that would be useful. Sorry not to be of more immediate help, but I'm happy to keep in touch and hopefully she doesn't remain in limbo.

thanks,

Hi [redacted],
some attorneys that I respect very much are trying to get a woman from [redacted] into the US on a T-visa. The Woman and her therapist [redacted] one of the worlds leading experts are stuck in Toronto. It is possible the woman is an Epstein victim, allthough that has not been definitively established one way or the other. The case seems to be stuck in limbo with referral to law-enforcement agencies. The woman needs help immediately and I thought of you.

Hi Brittany,

We met with [redacted] last week in California, which was helpful. She mentioned that she had provided you with a batch of emails relating to her encounters with Epstein. She indicated that she would be willing to share those with us, and that we should contact you to coordinate. Are you able to share those documents with us? If you have any questions or if you think a call would be helpful to discuss, please let us know.

Thanks,

Good morning [redacted],
Fortunately, there's was a 24 hour policy when booking a non-refundable trip so I knew that if any issues transpired, we could void the trip by COB today. Since the cost of the refundable trip previously reserved is astronomically high, I voided it and booked the same departing flight as [redacted] with the same return date from the old itinerary that's fully refundable and much lower than the flight itinerary chosen.

If you need to make any further amendments, you can now be assured that you'll be able to without penalty fees. Also, the new flight itinerary will be ticketed on 1/29/20, so you have even more time to make any adjustments before your trip to Stockholm, Sweden. Sorry for the inconvenience.

[redacted], I wish you would have told us that you were leaving early today – we had a lot of travel issues and thought you would be assisting this afternoon. In particular, in my email about flights, I specifically asked to get a refundable fare, and you got me a non-refundable, so I had to call the government travel people tonight to switch it, since international travel must be refundable. The ticket will now be more expensive but it's required for us for international flights.

[redacted], similar request from me for the same trip, if you could please book the following refundable tickets –

- Monday, 2/3, Delta, 6:40 p.m. departure from JFK, landing at 11:55 a.m. in Stockholm (ARN) on 2/4, with a layover in Paris
- Friday, 2/7, Delta, 12:45 p.m. departure from Stockholm (ARN), landing at 9:55 p.m. at JFK, with a layover in Paris

Note that it appears this set of flights is only available in premium economy but those seats are cheaper than any other flights on those days in regular economy seating. Please let me know if e2 or EOUSA says we have to fly regular economy (and therefore spend more money) and I can look at other flight times.

Separately, could you also please take a look at hotel options in downtown Sweden that are within the per diem allowance? We generally need to be in this area, downtown:

I looked for a long time and literally didn't see anything at $196 or below, so if you could please take a look and let us know three or four options, we can take a look at those.

thanks very much,

Similar to prior requests in connection with the Epstein investigation (2018R01618), but with an added international element, we'd like to please request permission for the team to travel next week for an interview near Stockholm, Sweden, next week on January 29th and/or 30th. We expect to be traveling, respectively, some combination of the 27th (overnight) to the 31st, depending on when the interview ends up being scheduled, and we'll put final dates on our formal applications. Also similar to prior trips, we'd like to request approval to get a conference room for one of those days at a hotel for the interview itself.

Also based on our discussion earlier we'll be mindful of looking for domestic (or domestic-flagged) carrier flights, as well as the costs of any alternatives, in looking at possible specific bookings. Thanks as always for your help and input on that.

thank you,

Hi Jill,

Thanks very much for taking the time to (virtually) meet with us last week, we very much appreciated the chance to speak with your client. We have been working on seeking approvals for a potential meeting with your client [redacted] in the coming weeks. Although we won't know whether the meeting is ultimately approved until we complete the process, we are working on the issue in the hopes of making this possible.

It would be very helpful to us in the approval process to be able to propose specific dates for a meeting. We would suggest that we set aside three days for successive meetings, if that works. Would you and your client be available for meetings on October 14th, 15th, and 16th? Alternatively, we would propose the 20th, 21st, and 22nd.

If you could please let us know your availability, we'd very much appreciate it, and we'll keep you updated when we have more information.

Thanks very much,

Thank you very much for your continued assistance in connection with our investigation, and I expect [redacted] will be in touch shortly as well.

Thanks very much for speaking earlier. I had a call with [redacted], and we figured out that several of these numbers are for computers whose drives were processed under a different NYC number, so the computers have no independent data that would have been loaded into Relativity.
That said, we confirmed that we are still missing data from the following NYC numbers, all of which should have some data that needs to be loaded to Relativity:

- NYC024342
- NYC024347
- NYC024351
- NYC024370
- NYC027908
- NYC027909
- NYC027910
- NYC027913

Looking more closely at the numbers on the screenshot you sent, I see several numbers that do not appear on the FBI's spreadsheet at all. Those are:

- NYC029708
- NYC029710
- NYC029711
- NYC029713

Is it possible the "9" and "7" in those numbers got flipped? Because the FBI's spreadsheet does have NYC027908, NYC027910, NYC027911, and NYC027913. That number switch would account for three of the numbers on my first list.
Thanks,

It looks like this list is missing the following NYC numbers, which the FBI indicated in the attached spreadsheet were produced to SDNY on July 23, 2020. Any idea where these might be?

- NYC024393

Happy to get on a call if that would be useful.

Hey, it's no bother, but I don't actually think I was involved when the uploading of the search warrant devices was completed – or at least, I don't have any record of being notified that all of the devices were ready for review on Relativity on August 27. I think I definitely didn't know that as of September 7-9, when we (the full team) corresponded with and (me and you) spoke to [redacted] because my understanding then was that we were talking then about where the devices would be foldered in Relativity once they were all loaded. The last email of the chain of which is attached here, and I'm copying in [redacted] and [redacted] so everybody is in the loop. (I don't believe I have any other emails to or from [redacted] since then on this particular issue.)

At the time of those discussions in September, I had thought only that five of the devices had been uploaded to Relativity (or four, depending on whether "NYC024369" and "NYC024369_1" are different devices). [redacted] had emailed the team that those devices were on Relativity, via screen shot, on August 27 – that message is itself attached to my email attached here. So although I don't have any reason to doubt it, I don't think I personally know if the extractions from all devices were uploaded to Relativity and ready for privilege review as of August 27th.
All that said, the basic answer to your question is that I can't confirm what devices were or were not uploaded to Relativity because we can't see what has been loaded – because it's walled off for the privilege review. I think the way to confirm that would be for [redacted] to send a screen shot or list of all the NYC-numbered items that have been uploaded to Relativity, and to compare those numbers against the spreadsheet you created for the devices (and/or the spreadsheet from [redacted], the most recent version of that that I have is also attached). Which should hopefully be relatively easy to do! Anybody should please let me know if that doesn't make sense, or if any questions, disagreements, or issues? And I'm happy to do whatever additional follow-up would be useful.
thanks,
[redacted]

Hi [redacted]
I'm well, thanks, hope you are too.
Thanks for the tracker. Are these devices all from Maxell or Epstein? If any are from Maxwell, can you send me a list of her known attorneys?
I'll take a look at the Apple extractions tomorrow and let you know how much data is on each and how long the review should take and how much help I'll need.

Unfortunately I did not know until I just got your email and tracker that data had been loaded onto Relativity. I usually get an email when data is loaded but I can't find one. I will run the terms as soon I can.
Thanks, [redacted]

Hi [redacted]
Hope you're doing well. I wanted to check in on the privilege review for the devices seized from Jeffrey Epstein. For reference, attached is a search warrant tracker.
Our understanding is that you received the extractions from the Apple devices from the drive [redacted] sent you via FedEx on August 25th, and that the extractions from the remaining devices were uploaded to Relativity and ready for privilege review on August 27th. Our understanding is that you're using the attached privilege terms to complete the privilege review, but please let us know if there is anything more you need for the review.
Our discovery deadline for the Maxwell case is November 9th, so we are hoping that the privilege review can be completed early this month to allow time for a responsiveness review before we make productions.
Thanks so much for all of your help.

United States District Court

United States Courthouse

Re: United States v. Ghislaine Maxwell, 20 Cr. 330 (AJN)

Dear Judge Nathan:

The Government respectfully submits this letter in opposition to the defendant's letter of August 10, 2020 (the "Defense Letter" or "Def. Ltr."), requesting that the Court order the Government to disclose the names of certain Government witnesses 11 months prior to trial, and requesting that the Court intervene in the protocols and individualized inmate determinations of the Bureau of Prisons. Both applications should be denied.

A. The Defendant's Demand That the Government Name Certain Trial Witnesses

For the third time in as many weeks, the defendant and her counsel have applied to the Court for relief that is premature, meritless, or both. See Order dated July 23, 2020 (Dkt. 28) (denying the defendant's request that the Court enter an order prohibiting the Government and attorneys for non-parties from making extrajudicial statements "concerning this case"); Order dated July 30, 2020 (Dkt. 37) (denying the defendant's application for a protective order that would allow the defense to publicly name and identify victims). In the defendant's most recent application, she asks the Court to order that the Government disclose a partial witness list, in the form of identifying certain victims referenced in the Superseding Indictment (the "Indictment"), fully 11 months prior to trial. This request is at best premature given that the production of discovery, on the schedule agreed to by the defendant, has just begun. Moreover, the parties have had no discussions about—let alone asked the Court to set—a schedule for pretrial disclosures, including for witness lists and 3500 material.

In the first instance, the defendant complains about the status of discovery production, arguing that "almost six weeks since" the arrest of the defendant, the Government is "just now beginning to produce Rule 16 discovery, despite confirming to the Court that discovery would begin as soon as the Court entered a protective order." Def. Ltr. at 2. The suggestion that the Government somehow delayed that initial production is nonsense. As the Court is aware, the protective order was docketed on Friday, July 31, 2020[1]—the timing of which was principally the result of the defendant's own refusal to agree to the terms of the proposed protective order. The Government then promptly produced an initial discovery production totaling more than 12,000 pages the following Wednesday, August 5, 2020. Additionally, the Government continues to produce discovery and earlier today made a second production, as the Government advised defense counsel last week it intended to do, totaling more than 150,000 pages, principally consisting of financial records.[2] Although the Government expects to continue to produce a large amount of electronic discovery, the two productions already made constitute the vast majority of initial discovery, including search warrant applications and subpoena returns, which the Government has now produced more than a week in advance of its deadline of August 21, 2020, and approximately 11 months prior to trial.

In sum, the Government has acted expeditiously in meeting its initial discovery obligations, providing more than 165,000 pages of discovery materials in less than two weeks following the entry of the protective order—all of which was accompanied by detailed indices describing the general topics and sources of the materials.

Against this backdrop, the Defense Letter claims that over the course of just five days, defense counsel determined, having "expeditiously reviewed [the discovery] for high level content," Def. Ltr. at 2, that they cannot possibly investigate the charges against their client based on the materials provided thus far, and asking the Court to order the Government to provide the defendant with a partial witness list. That request should be denied.

Tellingly, the defendant cites no authority that requires the relief requested at this stage in the litigation—i.e., prior to the completion of discovery and approximately 11 months before trial—nor is the Government aware of any. For example, in the lead case cited by defense counsel, United States v. Cannone, 528 F.2d 296, 301 (2d Cir. 1975), although the opinion acknowledged the ability of district courts to compel disclosure of the identity of government witnesses, the Second Circuit reversed for abuse of discretion the district court's decision to do so in that case because the defendant there, as here, had made "only an abstract, conclusory claim that such disclosure was necessary to its proper preparation for trial." Id. at 301-02. In United States v. Rueb, 00 Cr. 091 (RWS), 2001 WL 96177, at *8 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 5, 2001), while the Court ordered the Government to provide the defendant with its witness list, it did so one month before trial, following the completion of discovery production and in the context of pretrial motions. Those circumstances plainly are not present here. Finally, in United States v. Warme, a Western District of New York opinion from 2009 that has never been cited by another court, although the Court

[1] The Defense Letter states that the protective order was "entered" by the Court on July 30, 2020. While that is the date the protective order was signed by the Court, it was posted to the docket on July 31, 2020.

[2] The Government's most recent discovery transmittal letter also included the months and years of birth of the three victims identified in the Indictment, to enable the defendant to evaluate whether she will make any motions or legal arguments—more than four months in advance of the deadline for any such motion—relating to the ages of the victims.

ordered disclosure of a certain victim identity shortly after the indictment, the Court noted that the Government had already confirmed to the defendant the identities of three of the four relevant victims, and that a fourth victim, whose identity was at issue, was the subject of a charge that failed to identify the date of her alleged rape or any prior encounters between the victim and the defendant. 2009 WL 427111, at *2. None of those facts are present here—by contrast, here, the Indictment particularly describes relevant time periods and events, including referring to the defendant's conversations with victims, interactions with victims, and specific relevant locations.[3]

To the extent the defendant is arguing that she cannot identify the nature of the charges against her, the proper vehicle for such an argument is a motion for a bill of particulars. Any such motion can be made in December with all other motions and following the completion of discovery. While the Government anticipates opposing such a motion as baseless on the facts of this case, the Government respectfully submits that in any event such a motion could not be meaningfully evaluated at this stage, prior to the completion of discovery. See United States v. Mahabub, 13 Cr. 908 (AJN), 2014 WL 4243657, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 26, 2014) (denying a motion for a bill of particulars that sought, among other things, the "alleged victim and noting that "[a] bill of particulars is not required unless the charges of the indictment are so general that they do not advise the defendant of the specific acts of which he is accused. The government can also discharge its obligation to disclose this information by other means, such as by presenting evidence in discovery. . . . A bill of particulars is not meant to provide the details of the government's evidence, or to be used as an investigative tool.") (emphasis added, quotations and citations omitted); see also United States v. Thompson, 13 Cr. 378 (AJN), 2013 WL 6246489, at *7 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 3, 2013) (denying a motion for a bill of particulars and noting that such motions are not "a general investigative tool, a discovery device or a means to compel the government to disclose evidence or witnesses to be offered prior to trial") (emphasis added) (quotations and citation omitted); cf. United States v. Sindone, 01 Cr. 517 (MBM), 2002 WL 48604, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Jan. 14, 2002) (denying a motion for a bill of particulars to identify "the unnamed alleged victim(s)" but instructing the government to disclose the name of any victim it did not intend to call as a witness at trial by 14 days prior to the start of trial).

Alternatively, to the extent defense counsel is unable to assess or comprehend the discovery produced by the Government, the Government is more than willing to discuss with the defense

[3] Defense counsel's invocation of the protective order in support of its argument, Def. Ltr. at 1, 3, should be of little comfort. The Government is deeply concerned by the recent actions of the defendant's counsel who represent her in both this criminal matter as well as in certain civil matters, and who in a recent public filing in a civil case referred to their receipt of sealed materials in discovery in this case. In particular, the defendant's counsel publicly claimed in a civil filing that they purportedly had received "critical new information" from the criminal case that it could not disclose "because it is subject to a protective order in the Criminal Action," and further noting publicly a desire to seek modification of the protective order in this case to use such materials in the civil case, which the protective order expressly precludes. See [redacted] v. Ghislaine Maxwell, No. 15 Civ. 7433 (LAP) (Dkt. 1100). Moreover, even assuming the defendant intends to scrupulously adhere to the terms of the protective order, that would not change the relevant legal standards, which weigh heavily against granting the requested relief.

any such issues as the discovery process continues. To date, the defendant has yet to ask the Government a single substantive question about the discovery. The Government is also prepared to engage in good faith discussions with the defense about an appropriate schedule for disclosure of 3500 material, exhibit lists, and witness lists, all of which the Government expects to produce reasonably in advance of the trial date in July 2021 to permit the defense to investigate witnesses. But particularly given the nature of the charges, the Government's strong desire to protect the privacy of the alleged victims, and the lack of any legal precedent for the defendant's request, the Government respectfully submits that at the present time—eleven months prior to trial, nearly three months prior to the discovery deadline, and more than four months prior to the pretrial motions deadline—there is no basis for the defendant to demand the Government disclose the identity of its witnesses.

B. The Defendant's Request that the Court Dictate the Conditions of Her Confinement

The defendant's requests with respect to the conditions of her confinement at the Metropolitan Detention Center ("MDC") are similarly premature and unavailing, and her request that the Court dictate the terms of her confinement to the Bureau of Prisons ("BOP") should also be denied.[4]

As an initial matter, the defendant's argument that she is being treated "worse" than other inmates is incorrect. There is no merit to her complaints about being monitored by staff, as it is entirely appropriate for BOP to carefully monitor any inmate, particularly a new inmate who has never before been incarcerated and who faces the strong likelihood of serving many years in prison. Additionally, like all inmates, the defendant may be subject to observation or searches of her person or space as appropriate.[5] It is otherwise entirely unclear what specific "privileges given to other pretrial detainees" the defendant believes she is being denied.

More generally, the defendant, like all pretrial inmates, is subject to an individualized assessment by the BOP with respect to his or her placement in a facility. Here, for reasons including safety, security, and the orderly functioning of the facility, BOP has made the determination that, at present, the defendant should not be fully integrated into the dorm-style accommodations of the general population. The Government understands from BOP that it will continue to evaluate where the defendant should be housed within the facility and that the defendant will be placed into the general population if and when BOP is assured that such placement would not pose a threat to the orderly operation of the institution. The defendant identifies no basis for the Court to disturb that determination by the BOP, particularly given that, as detailed below, her housing assignment will not negatively affect her ability to review discovery in this case.

[4] Once again, defense counsel has rushed to seek Court intervention on issues they have made little or no meaningful effort to address with the Government or, in this case, the BOP. The Government learned of the defendant's specific objections to her conditions of incarceration for the first time from the Defense Letter, and has since conferred with BOP to understand and to address the issues as appropriate. Moreover, as noted below, the defendant filed the instant challenge to the BOP's plan to permit her time to review discovery before the BOP had a chance to implement (and ultimately modify) that plan.

[5] Defense counsel claims that prison staff "constantly observe" the defendant "including her phone conversations with defense counsel." This is misleading. As with all inmates, the defendant is able to speak to her counsel behind a closed door, in an area that is visible—but not audible—to MDC staff. Among other reasons, this is so MDC staff can ensure that inmates do not complete calls with their counsel and then call other individuals on a non-recorded line.

Regarding the defendant's request in connection with access to discovery, the Government understands from BOP that the defendant had not even yet received her copy of the Government's first discovery production at the time the Defense Letter was filed—she received the materials on Tuesday, August 11. While it is correct that BOP's initial plan was to provide three hours per day of access to the discovery—the same access that is granted to every other pretrial inmate, including those with trial dates scheduled for far earlier than July 2021—as of earlier this week, and given the volume of expected discovery, BOP informed the defendant that she will have the opportunity to access to her discovery from 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. every day of the week. Although this arrangement will be subject to continued evaluation on an ongoing and individualized basis, and is subject to ordinary considerations of prison operations, BOP intends to provide that access on an ongoing basis to the extent it remains reasonably practicable to do so. Accordingly, this application should be denied as moot.

C. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the defendants' requests, as set forth in the Defense Letter, should be denied.

Jeffrey Epstein's Estate May Set Up a Program to Pay Accusers

A proposal for a "claims resolution program" was referred to in a court filing by a lawyer for a woman who accused the financier of sexual abuse. Not all the plaintiffs' lawyers are on board.

By Matthew Goldstein
Nov. 13, 2019

Lawyers for Jeffrey Epstein's estate are considering setting up a program to resolve claims filed by women who say they were abused by the financier, who killed himself in August while facing federal sex trafficking charges.

The plan was disclosed in a court filing on Tuesday by a lawyer for one of Mr. Epstein's accusers, who is suing the estate in federal court in Manhattan. The filing said lawyers for Mr. Epstein's estate had informed plaintiffs that they were planning to disclose details of a "claims resolution program" to a court in the United States Virgin Islands, where the mysteriously wealthy Mr. Epstein had his will filed shortly before his death.

The estate has retained Kenneth R. Feinberg, the noted lawyer who specializes in compensating victims, to set up the program, his team confirmed late Wednesday. His associates Camille Biros and Jordana Feldman have also been tapped, and Ms. Feldman will carry out the plan once it is set up and if it meets court approval. Ms. Biros has been an architect of programs to provide restitution to victims of the Catholic Church abuse scandal. Ms. Feldman most recently played a critical role in overseeing the administration of the September 11 Victims Compensation Fund.

But the proposal from lawyers for the estate, which is valued at about $577 million, was facing resistance earlier in the day.

Bradley Edwards, the lawyer for the accuser, said in the court filing that his client "does not believe that the use of any alternative dispute resolution should stay or modify the course of litigation in this matter."

A lawyer for the estate wrote to one accuser's lawyer and described the proposed program as "voluntary," according to emails reviewed by The New York Times. Even so, the accuser's lawyer, Roberta Kaplan, objected to the plan's being put together without consulting with the accusers and their lawyers.

"Settlement, after all, is a two-way street," Ms. Kaplan said in an emailed response, which was also sent to lawyers for other accusers. She said it was "astonishing" that the lawyers for Mr. Epstein's estate planned to go to court in the Virgin Islands without first discussing the plan.

"In fact, it feels very much like a continuation of his crimes and abuse after his death," she wrote.

The emails were later included in a public court filing on Wednesday afternoon.

David Brodie, another accuser's lawyer, said that he was "cautiously optimistic" about the possible resolution program, but that there were many questions about how claims would be handled.

"These women have already endured horrific abuse at the hands of Jeffrey Epstein and have waited many years for justice," he said. "To turn their personal experiences over to one person selected by Jeffrey Epstein's estate to make a binding decision (which may not be disputed) could be a process that may exacerbate the victimization of these brave women."

Bennet Moskowitz, the lawyer hired by Mr. Epstein's estate to handle lawsuits by the accusers, did not respond to requests for comment on the emails or the proposed resolution program.

The executors of Mr. Epstein's estate, Darren Indyke and Richard Kahn, also did not respond to a request for comment. Mr. Indyke was Mr. Epstein's longtime lawyer in New York, and Mr. Kahn was an accountant for some of his companies.

In the weeks since Mr. Epstein's death, lawsuits against the estate have been piling up.

On Tuesday, three new lawsuits were filed in Manhattan federal court by Mr. Epstein's accusers, including separate lawsuits filed by two sisters — [redacted]

Their lawyer, David Boies, said he anticipated filing lawsuits on behalf of at least one other woman, and called a settlement program "a positive step" toward resolving the claims. "But it is only the first step," he added.

Until last month, Mr. Boies's firm represented one of Mr. Epstein's most outspoken accusers, [redacted] in a defamation lawsuit against the former Harvard law professor Alan Dershowitz. A federal judge disqualified the firm, saying its lawyers might have to appear as witnesses in the litigation.

Some accusers are taking advantage of a new law in New York that allows child victims of sexual abuse to file claims for damages many years later. Many of Mr. Epstein's accusers said they were abused more than a decade ago.

New York law also permits crime victims to file lawsuits seeking damages within a year of the termination of a criminal case against the defendant. The clock on such claims started on Aug. 29, when federal prosecutors dismissed a sex-trafficking indictment against Mr. Epstein after his suicide at the Manhattan Correctional Center.

If a claims resolution program is formed, it's possible that dozens of women could seek monetary damages. When Mr. Epstein pleaded guilty in 2008 in Florida state court to a charge of soliciting prostitution from a minor, it was estimated in court filings that he had engaged in sexual activity with at least 30 underage girls.

Last month, representatives from the United States attorney's office in Manhattan met with some of Mr. Epstein's accusers and their lawyers to discuss the status of the investigation since Mr. Epstein's death. Lawyers familiar with the meetings said investigators told the women that they were looking at pursuing charges against people who may have helped Mr. Epstein, and have been lining up potential witnesses.

Boies Schiller Sues Jeffrey Epstein Estate on Behalf of 3 Sexual Abuse Accusers

The lawsuits, filed in U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, include claims for battery and intentional infliction of emotional distress by plaintiffs who said they met Epstein and his companion, Ghislaine Maxwell, between 1995 and 2002.

Boies Schiller Flexner attorneys on Tuesday sued the estate of Jeffrey Epstein on behalf of at least three women who said they were sexually abused by the deceased financier after being recruited into his alleged sex-trafficking network in New York.

The lawsuits, filed in U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, include claims for battery and intentional infliction of emotional distress by plaintiffs who said they met Epstein and his companion, Ghislaine Maxwell, between 1995 and 2002.

Two of the women, [redacted] and [redacted], were the subjects of New York Times reporting in August, which identified the two sisters as the first to report abusive behavior by Epstein at his Manhattan townhouse. Though the FBI took up an investigation, the Times reported, a widely criticized 2008 plea deal eventually derailed any federal prosecution.

According to [redacted] complaint, Epstein had hired her to purchase art for him, though her job responsibilities soon shifted to "focus on monitoring and keeping records of who entered Epstein's New York mansion." She said that Epstein took interest in personal details about her family, and upon hearing that she had a younger sister, arraigned to have [redacted]-year-old [redacted] flown to New York.

While there, [redacted] said, Epstein groped [redacted] in a movie theater and eventually flew the girl to his New Mexico ranch, where he assaulted her. In her own lawsuit, [redacted] [redacted] said that Maxwell, a British socialite who has been accused of procuring young women and underage girls for Epstein, pressured her to have physical contact with Epstein and that both adults participated in the abuse, under the guise of a massage.

Both of the [redacted] are represented in the litigation by David Boies, Joshua Schiller and Sigrid McCawley of Boies Schiller.

[redacted] claimed in her filing that "Maxwell was regularly bringing school-aged girls to the mansion" in New York, and that they were always escorted upstairs. [redacted] who was [redacted] years old at the time, said she was told that the girls were interviewing for modeling positions with lingerie retailer Victoria's Secret and was unaware of Epstein's sex-trafficking conspiracy at the time.

The complaint included a reference to former Harvard law professor Alan Dershowitz, who she said visited the mansion "on a number of occasions" and "would go upstairs at the same time the young girls were there."

While the filing did not contain any explicit allegations of wrongdoing by Dershowitz, it did signal the latest salvo in an ongoing feud between the professor and Boies Schiller, which has represented Epstein accusers in a range of civil litigation.

Until recently, Boies and McCawley represented [redacted] who claimed that Dershowitz had defamed her through his strong denials of forced sex. Dershowitz has filed counterclaims against [redacted] and last week Boies sued Dershowitz, claiming that he had falsely accused him of extortion.

Dershowitz has repeatedly and forcefully denied allegations that he had sex with anyone in Epstein's orbit. On Tuesday he said [redacted] account that she had seen him at Epstein's mansion in 1995 was "categorically" false.

According to Dershowitz, he never visited Epstein's home until after [redacted] ended her connection to the financier in the summer of 1996. He said the passage would work to undermine her credibility moving forward.

"It just shows that Boies is more interested in going after me" than in helping his own client, Dershowitz said in a brief phone interview.

Boies was not immediately available to comment Tuesday.

A third plaintiff, [redacted] on Tuesday said that she was recruited by a fellow massage-therapy student in 2002 to interview for a traveling masseuse position with a wealthy couple in New York. After speaking with Epstein employee [redacted], [redacted] said she was flown to Manhattan, where she was to be housed at a 66th Street apartment, which housed "many of the models and other young women" Epstein was abusing.

Soon after [redacted] said, Epstein sexually assaulted her as she tried to leave the room after he pushed his foot into "her intimate parts" during a foot massage. [redacted] said she was so traumatized by the encounter that did not finish massage therapy school with the same certification that she initially set out to achieve and returned to Ohio shortly after the alleged assault.

All three lawsuits named Darren Indyke, a longtime attorney for Epstein, and Richard Kahn, who were named executors of Epstein's estate following his apparent suicide in August. Indyke and Kahn are named solely as executors of the estate

While Epstein's death in federal custody terminated the criminal case against him, plaintiffs have sued his estate for civil damages—a process experts have said could take years to complete.

Prosecutors in Manhattan, meanwhile, say they are continuing to investigate whether any of Epstein's associates and employees could have been linked to the conspiracy.

Jeffrey Epstein's Estate May Set Up a Program to Pay Accusers

A proposal for a "claims resolution program" was referred to in a court filing by a lawyer for a woman who accused the financier of sexual abuse. Not all the plaintiffs' lawyers are on board.

By Matthew Goldstein
Nov. 13, 2019

Lawyers for Jeffrey Epstein's estate are considering setting up a program to resolve claims filed by women who say they were abused by the financier, who killed himself in August while facing federal sex trafficking charges.

The plan was disclosed in a court filing on Tuesday by a lawyer for one of Mr. Epstein's accusers, who is suing the estate in federal court in Manhattan. The filing said lawyers for Mr. Epstein's estate had informed plaintiffs that they were planning to disclose details of a "claims resolution program" to a court in the United States Virgin Islands, where the mysteriously wealthy Mr. Epstein had his will filed shortly before his death.

The estate has retained Kenneth R. Feinberg, the noted lawyer who specializes in compensating victims, to set up the program, his team confirmed late Wednesday. His associates Camille Biros and Jordana Feldman have also been tapped, and Ms. Feldman will carry out the plan once it is set up and if it meets court approval. Ms. Biros has been an architect of programs to provide restitution to victims of the Catholic Church abuse scandal. Ms. Feldman most recently played a critical role in overseeing the administration of the September 11 Victims Compensation Fund.

But the proposal from lawyers for the estate, which is valued at about $577 million, was facing resistance earlier in the day.

Bradley Edwards, the lawyer for the accuser, said in the court filing that his client "does not believe that the use of any alternative dispute resolution should stay or modify the course of litigation in this matter."

A lawyer for the estate wrote to one accuser's lawyer and described the proposed program as "voluntary," according to emails reviewed by The New York Times. Even so, the accuser's lawyer, Roberta Kaplan, objected to the plan's being put together without consulting with the accusers and their lawyers.

Re: United States v. Jeffrey Epstein, 19 Cr. 490 (RMB)

Dear Judge Berman:

As the Court is aware, on the morning of August 10, 2019, Jeffrey Epstein died while in custody at the Metropolitan Correctional Center. On August 16, 2019, and after conducting an autopsy, the Office of the Chief Medical Examiner of the City of New York issued a statement identifying the cause of death as hanging, and the manner of death as suicide. In light of the death of the defendant prior to a conviction becoming final, the Government must request the Court approve the attached proposed order of nolle prosequi.

Consistent with our practice throughout this case and our obligations under the Crime Victims' Rights Act, the Government has made efforts to contact all identified victims since learning of the death of the defendant and will similarly notify all known victims of the attached order, once entered. As this Office has previously stated publicly, it remains committed to doing its utmost to stand up for the victims who have already come forward, as well as for the many others who have yet to do so.

Respectfully submitted,

GEOFFREY S. BERMAN
United States Attorney

| UNITED STATES OF AMERICA-v.-JEFFREY EPSTEIN,Defendant. | NOLLE PROSEQUI19 Cr. 490 (RMB) |

1. The filing of this nolle prosequi will dispose of this case with respect to JEFFREY EPSTEIN, the defendant.

2. On July 2, 2019, Indictment 19 Cr. 490 (the "Indictment") was returned, charging JEFFREY EPSTEIN, the defendant, with one count of conspiracy to commit sex trafficking of minors, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 371, and one count of sex trafficking of minors, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1591.

3. On or about August 10, 2019, while the above-captioned case was pending, but prior to any trial or other disposition, JEFFREY EPSTEIN, the defendant, died.

4. Because JEFFREY EPSTEIN, the defendant, died while this case was pending, and therefore before a final judgment was issued, the Indictment must be dismissed under the rule of abatement. See United States v. Wright, 160 F.3d 905, 908 (2d Cir. 1998).

5. Accordingly, I recommend that an order of nolle prosequi be filed as to defendant JEFFREY EPSTEIN.

Dated: New York, New York

clarifications:

- she previously said that Noah was 22 years old when they were married (when she was 17); he was actually 23
- she has mentioned a masseuse named [redacted], said [redacted] provided massages to ballerinas in NYC, but in fact was Palm Beach
- recollection of Epstein telling [redacted] to get rid of the computers, directories, and photos in Palm Beach
    - he recollection is clear about the computers; not as clear regarding whether he mentioned the directories and photos
- meeting with Epstein in 2018 in New York (re: finances), asked how the meeting came about, believed [redacted] had emailed, but had communications with Epstein before that email, and then the email from [redacted]
    - believe she would have spoken with Epstein about husband medical issues in connection with financial issues
- reporting Epstein's payment on her taxes, recalled that accountant said, prior to 2019 returns, whatever that conversation was would have informed their understanding of who would pay taxes on that money
- had raised if Epstein knew that [redacted] had been asked for an interview; Herald had reached out for comment in April and November; Epstein knew about both of those inquiries
- wasn't deposed in the [redacted] case, was supposed to be deposed in November 2018, but believes the case settled before that happened
- regarding GM directed women to be wrapped in saran-wrap, clarifying there was always a massage table outside on the island, not brought out for the photo shoot
- regarding legal representation, first got representation for VR case, then same attorney represented her in the [redacted] case
    - first time she had her own legal representation was VR case, then same attorney represented in the [redacted], Johnny Stevenson (ph)
    - prior to that, it was counsel of Epstein's choosing
- regarding when she would be present at the mansion during the day – prior to Epstein being in jail, only went to the mansion in NY when directed (didn't have direct access to his NY home)

Dear Justice Warriors,

I write to put many of the Epstein victim attorneys in the same email. Today the USVI filed a civil RICO case against Epstein's Estate.

https://www.nytimes.com/2020/01/15/nyregion/jeffrey-epstein-virgin-islands.html

(I'd been pushing this case for the past four months and working on the Complaint as private counsel.)

The Virgin Islands Attorney General is very concerned about assisting/helping the victims. She has taken a bold step; way ahead of the Attorney Generals of Florida, New Mexico and New York. (Even more so in that she is an appointed – not elected – AG. And the politics of bringing this lawsuit was tenuous.) I hope all of your will applaud and praise her courage in the media.

Now legally our claims are for the Territory, but in settlement the USVI can be a very big help. The VI will stand up for full, fair and open settlements for the victims. There is more than enough assets for all claimants. I cannot imagine any Virgin Islands jury leaving a penny to the Estate.

It would be wonderful if we can coordinate joint-strategies / joint-mediations, etc., to help move all Epstein Estate claims to fast resolution. Also, if any of your clients/victims were trafficked to the Virgin Islands, the VI Dept. of Justice investigators would really like to talk to them by phone – if that can be coordinated with your offices.

Let's all hopefully work together as a Super/Uber team. Perhaps we can coordinate mediations in the USVI. I used Ken Feinberg on a 9 figure settlement in the VI a few years ago, so he has been down here recently. Further, I'm more than happy to host anyone who wants to make a trip to the USVI beforehand sheerly for recreational purposes. (And I have an extra cabin on a sailing Catamaran charter through the BVI to Anegada Feb 10-15, if anyone and a significant other wants to join. I'm serious on this offer, charter is already paid for).

Sincerely,
Russell

Counsel,

In the discovery materials provided this afternoon, one category of materials, totaling ten individual documents, was inadvertently produced without "Confidential" stamps and designations. Those materials were stamped with Bates identifiers SDNY_GM_00000834 through SDNY_GM_00000962, and were described in the cover letter as the categories (and included in folders on the hard drive titled) "Unsealing materials pertaining to 15 Civ. 7433 (RWS), 19 Misc. 149 (CM)" and "Unsealing materials pertaining to 17 Civ. 0616 (SN), 19 Misc. 179 (SN)."

Attached please find an updated cover letter, the only change to which as compared to the letter provided with the materials earlier today is the corrected designation of those materials as "Confidential." Also attached please find a .zip folder containing copies of the materials in the first above-described folder, correctly marked as "Confidential," totaling six documents. Due to the combined size of all ten relevant files, we will provide in a separate email a .zip folder with the four documents contained in the latter above-described folder.

Please delete the versions of these documents inadvertently produced without confidential designations, and please advise any defense staff, other authorized persons, or any other individuals who may have received copies of the discovery today that they should similarly delete any copies of old versions of the documents and replace them with the corrected versions. Please also confirm that you have received this update.

Regards,
[redacted].

Dear Counsel:

This letter provides discovery pursuant to Rule 16(a) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure ("Fed. R. Crim. P."), and seeks reciprocal discovery.[1]

Disclosure by the Government

Based on your request for discovery in this case, enclosed please find copies of the materials listed in the attached index, which materials are stamped with control numbers SDNY_GM_00000001 through SDNY_GM_00012841. Please note that both this letter and the enclosed materials are governed by the July 31, 2020 Protective Order in this case.[2]

[1] In addition to information provided herein, please note that this Office periodically posts content on social media platforms including Twitter, Facebook and YouTube. Members of the public may post comments in response to the Office's postings. We do not control these user-generated comments, nor do we monitor or regularly review such comments. You may directly access these social media platforms in the event you believe someone may have posted information relevant to this case.

[2] Files in PDF format designated as "confidential" under the protective order have been stamped "confidential." However, certain files cannot be individually labeled as confidential on the documents themselves due to their file format. Such files include in their electronic names the word "Confidential," and, additionally, the bates numbers for confidential files that could not be individually labeled are included in the table below.

This letter is itself designated as "confidential," because it includes information regarding records designated as "confidential" under the Protective Order.

The Government recognizes its obligations under Brady v. Maryland, 373 U.S. 83 (1963), and its progeny. The Government will provide material under Giglio v. United States, 405 U.S. 150, 154 (1972), and its progeny, in a timely manner prior to trial and consistent with the schedule set by the Court.

Disclosure by the Defendant

In light of your request for discovery in this case, the Government hereby requests reciprocal discovery under Fed. R. Crim. P. 16(b). Specifically, we request that you allow inspection and copying of: (1) any books, or copies or portions thereof, which are in the defendant's possession, custody or control, and which the defendant intends to introduce as evidence or otherwise rely on at trial; and (2) any results or reports of physical or mental examinations and of scientific tests or experiments made in connection with this case, or copies thereof, which are in the defendant's possession or control, and which the defendant intends to introduce as evidence or otherwise rely on at trial or which were prepared by a witness whom the defendant intends to call at trial.

The Government also requests that the defendant disclose prior statements of witnesses he will call to testify. See Fed. R. Crim. P. 26.2; United States v. Nobles, 422 U.S. 225 (1975). We request that such material be provided on the same basis upon which we agree to supply the defendant with 3500 material relating to Government witnesses.

Sentence Reduction for Acceptance of Responsibility

This Office will oppose the additional one-point reduction under the Sentencing Guidelines available for defendants who plead prior to the Government's initiation of trial preparations pursuant to U.S.S.G. § 3E1.1(b), in the event your client has not entered a plea of guilty six weeks prior to trial, or prior to the provision of 3500 material, whichever is earlier. We will follow this policy whether or not suppression or other pretrial motions remain outstanding after this date and even if the trial date has not been announced by the Court six weeks in advance of the trial.

Finally, please be advised that pursuant to the policy of the Office concerning plea offers, no plea offer is effective unless and until made in writing and signed by authorized representatives of the Office. In particular, discussions regarding the pretrial disposition of a matter that are not reduced to writing and signed by authorized representatives of the Office cannot and do not constitute a "formal offer" or a "plea offer," as those terms are used in Lafler v. Cooper, 132 S.Ct. 1376 (2012); Missouri v. Frye, 132 S.Ct. 1399 (2012).

[redacted], pursuant to Title 28, United States Code, Section 1746, hereby declares under penalty of perjury:

1. I am an Assistant United States Attorney in the office of Geoffrey S. Berman, United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York. I make this Affirmation and Application, pursuant to the All Writs Act, Title 28, United States Code, Section 1651, for a limited order to unseal discovery materials in the possession of Boies Schiller & Flexner LLP, in connection with the matter of [redacted] v. Ghislaine Maxwell, et al., 15 Civ. 7433 (RWS) (S.D.N.Y.). As further discussed below, the materials are currently subject to a protective order issued by this Court. The Government seeks these materials in connection with a federal grand jury investigation.

2. On or about September 21, 2015, plaintiff [redacted] filed a civil action in this Court against defendant Ghislaine Maxwell, arising from allegations that the defendant made defamatory statements denying that the plaintiff was a victim of sex crimes perpetrated by Jeffrey Epstein and Ghislaine Maxwell, among others (the "Litigation"). Attorneys for Boies Schiller & Flexner LLP, among others, represent the plaintiff. On or about March 18, 2016, this Court issued a protective order (the "Protective Order") in that action. The Protective Order, attached hereto as Exhibit A, among other things restricted the parties from disclosing discovery materials marked "CONFIDENTIAL" to third parties, absent express permission from the Court. On or about May 24, 2017, the parties entered into a settlement agreement, and voluntarily dismissed the civil action.

3. I am one of the prosecutors in this district in charge of an ongoing investigation into JEFFREY EPSTEIN and others, for possible violations of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1591 and 1594(c) (unlawfully trafficking minors) and Section 2422(b) (unlawfully enticing minors) (the "Investigation"). The existence and scope of the Investigation in this district is not publicly known. As a result, premature public disclosure of this affirmation or the requested order, including to other parties involved in the Litigation, could alert potential criminal targets that they are under investigation, causing them to destroy evidence, flee from prosecution, or otherwise seriously jeopardize the Investigation. Accordingly, this application is made ex parte and is requested to be filed under seal.

4. Based on publicly available information regarding the Litigation, including the complaint and other docketed filings that appear to make reference to certain subjects relating to the Investigation, the litigation files of Sigrid McCawley, Esq., of Boies Schiller & Flexner LLP, in the matter of [redacted] v. Ghislaine Maxwell, et al., 15 Civ. 7433 (RWS) (S.D.N.Y.), are believed to contain information relevant to the ongoing Investigation.

5. The Government has served a grand jury subpoena upon Boies Schiller & Flexner LLP (the "Subpoena") requiring the production of copies of discovery and related materials in the matter of [redacted] v. Ghislaine Maxwell, et al., 15 Civ. 7433 (RWS) (S.D.N.Y.), solely for purposes of the above-referenced grand jury Investigation. However, the Government has been advised that although plaintiff's counsel would not otherwise contest compliance with the Subpoena, plaintiff's counsel believes that the Protective Order precludes plaintiff's counsel from complying.

6. Accordingly, the Government respectfully requests that the Court issue an order permitting Boies Schiller & Flexner LLP to provide materials to the Government relating to case [redacted] v. Ghislaine Maxwell, et al., 15 Civ.

CONFIDENTIAL

7433 (RWS) (S.D.N.Y.), in compliance with grand jury process, notwithstanding the Protective Order. Such materials will be used solely in connection with the above-referenced grand jury Investigation.

7. Because this application pertains to an ongoing grand jury investigation, the existence of which is not publicly known, it is requested that this Affidavit and Application, and any resulting Order except as to the recipients of such Order, be sealed pending further order of this Court.

WHEREFORE, it is respectfully requested that the Court grant this Application for an Order permitting Boies Schiller & Flexner LLP to comply with grand jury process to provide materials to the Government relating to case [redacted] v. Ghislaine Maxwell, et al., 15 Civ. 7433 (RWS) (S.D.N.Y.), notwithstanding the Protective Order.

The foregoing is true under penalty of perjury.

PROTECTIVE ORDER

Upon a showing of good cause in support of the entry of a protective order to protect the discovery and dissemination of confidential information or information which will improperly annoy, embarrass, or oppress any party, witness, or person providing discovery in this case, IT IS ORDERED:

1. This Protective Order shall apply to all documents, materials, and information, including without limitation, documents produced, answers to interrogatories, responses to requests for admission, deposition testimony, and other information disclosed pursuant to the disclosure or discovery duties created by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

2. As used in this Protective Order, "document" is defined as provided in FED.R.CIV.P. 34(a). A draft or non-identical copy is a separate document within the meaning of this term.

CONFIDENTIAL

3. Information designated "CONFIDENTIAL" shall be information that is confidential and implicates common law and statutory privacy interests of (a) plaintiff [redacted] and (b) defendant Ghislaine Maxwell.

4. CONFIDENTIAL information shall not be disclosed or used for any purpose except the preparation and trial of this case.

5. CONFIDENTIAL documents, materials, and/or information (collectively "CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION") shall not, without the consent of the party producing it or further Order of the Court, be disclosed except that such information may be disclosed to:

   a. attorneys actively working on this case;

   b. persons regularly employed or associated with the attorneys actively working on this case whose assistance is required by said attorneys in the preparation for trial, at trial, or at other proceedings in this case;

   c. the parties;

   d. expert witnesses and consultants retained in connection with this proceeding, to the extent such disclosure is necessary for preparation, trial or other proceedings in this case;

   e. the Court and its employees ("Court Personnel") in this case;

   f. stenographic reporters who are engaged in proceedings necessarily incident to the conduct of this action;

   g. deponents, witnesses, or potential witnesses; and

h. other persons by written agreement of the parties.

6. Prior to disclosing any CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION to any person listed above (other than counsel, persons employed by counsel, Court Personnel and stenographic reporters), counsel shall provide such person with a copy of this Protective Order and obtain from such person a written acknowledgment stating that he or she has read this Protective Order and agrees to be bound by its provisions. All such acknowledgments shall be retained by counsel and shall be subject to in camera review by the Court if good cause for review is demonstrated by opposing counsel.

7. Documents are designated as CONFIDENTIAL by placing or affixing on them (in a manner that will not interfere with their legibility) the following or other appropriate notice: "CONFIDENTIAL." Discovery material designated CONFIDENTIAL shall be identified by Bates number. To the extent practical, the respective legend shall be placed near the Bates number.

8. Designation of a document as CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION shall constitute a representation that such document has been reviewed by an attorney for the designating party, that there is a valid and good faith basis for such designation, made at the time of disclosure or production to the receiving party, and that disclosure of such information to persons other than those permitted access to such material would cause a privacy harm to the designating party.

CONFIDENTIAL

EFTA00040605

9. Whenever a deposition involves the disclosure of CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION, the deposition or portions thereof shall be designated as CONFIDENTIAL and shall be subject to the provisions of this Protective Order. Such designation shall be made on the record during the deposition whenever possible, but a party may designate portions of depositions as CONFIDENTIAL after transcription, provided written notice of the designation is promptly given to all counsel of record within thirty (30) days after notice by the court reporter of the completion of the transcript, and until the expiration of such thirty (30) days after notice by the court reporter of the completion of the transcript, no party or counsel for any such party may share the contents of the deposition outside the limitations of this Protective Order.

10. Whenever a party seeks to file any document or material containing CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION with the Court in this matter, it shall be accompanied by a Motion to Seal pursuant to Section 6.2 of the Electronic Case Filing Rules & Instructions for the Southern District of New York.

11. A party may object to the designation of particular CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION by giving written notice to the party designating the disputed information. The written notice shall identify the information to which the objection is made. If the parties cannot resolve the objection within ten (10) business days after the time the notice is received, it shall be the obligation of the party designating the information as CONFIDENTIAL to file an appropriate motion requesting that the Court determine whether the disputed information should be subject to the terms of this Protective Order. If such a motion is timely filed, the disputed information shall be treated as CONFIDENTIAL under the terms of this Protective Order until the Court rules on the motion. If the designating party fails to file such a motion within the prescribed time, the disputed information shall lose its designation as CONFIDENTIAL and shall not thereafter be treated as CONFIDENTIAL in accordance with this Protective Order. In connection with a motion filed under this provision, the party designating the information as CONFIDENTIAL shall bear the burden of establishing that good cause exists for the disputed information to be treated as CONFIDENTIAL.

SDNY_GM_00000842

CONFIDENTIAL

12. At the conclusion of this case, unless other arrangements are agreed upon, each document and all copies thereof which have been designated as CONFIDENTIAL shall be returned to the party that designated it CONFIDENTIAL, or the parties may elect to destroy CONFIDENTIAL documents. Where the parties agree to destroy CONFIDENTIAL documents, the destroying party shall provide all parties with an affidavit confirming the destruction.

13. This Protective Order shall have no force and effect on the use of any CONFIDENTIAL INFORMATION at trial in this matter.

CONFIDENTIAL

How a Ring of Women Allegedly Recruited Girls for Jeffrey Epstein

After Mr. Epstein's suicide, his inner circle of girlfriends, employees and other associates is now under scrutiny by prosecutors.

[What you need to know to start the day: Get New York Today in your inbox.]

Haley Robson was a 16-year-old South Florida high school student when an acquaintance from school approached her at a local pool with an intriguing offer: Did she want to make extra money giving massages to a billionaire in Palm Beach?

She agreed. When Jeffrey Epstein tried to grope her while she was giving him a massage in nothing but a thong, she brushed his hand away, Ms. Robson said in a 2009 deposition for a civil case. But she continued to visit Mr. Epstein's mansion dozens more times, in a lucrative new role: a recruiter of other teenage girls from her school.

"I didn't have to convince them," she said in the deposition. "I proposed to them. They took it."

After Mr. Epstein's suicide in a Manhattan jail cell in early August, federal authorities have refocused their investigation on the more than half-dozen employees, girlfriends and associates who prosecutors say he relied on to feed his insatiable appetite for girls, according to two people with knowledge of the inquiry. Ms. Robson, now 33, is among them.

A review by The New York Times of lawsuits, unsealed court records and depositions, along with new interviews, offers disturbing allegations about how this small cadre of women helped Mr. Epstein lure girls into his orbit and managed the logistics of his encounters with them.

The urgency of the investigation into Mr. Epstein's associates was underscored on Tuesday when about two dozen women offered searing accounts of how he had sexually abused them before a packed courtroom in Manhattan.

The judge overseeing the case had invited the women to speak at a hearing to dismiss the indictment against Mr. Epstein in light of his death.

Several of the women implored federal prosecutors to continue investigating the women in Mr. Epstein's inner circle.

"Jeffrey is no longer here, and the women that helped him are," said Teresa Helm, who said she was recruited into Mr. Epstein's world 17 years ago. "They definitely need to be held accountable for helping him, helping themselves, helping one another carry on this huge — almost like — system."

ADVERTISEMENT

The United States attorney in Manhattan, Geoffrey S. Berman, whose office brought the charges against Mr. Epstein, said after his suicide that the investigation into the sex-trafficking conspiracy was not finished and prosecutors were committed to standing up for the "brave young women" Mr. Epstein had abused.

One of the women under scrutiny, Mr. Epstein's onetime girlfriend, Ghislaine Maxwell, has been accused in several well-publicized lawsuits of overseeing efforts to procure girls and young women for him, a charge she has firmly denied.

But Mr. Epstein is also accused in civil suits of relying on an organized network of underlings: those who trained girls how to sexually pleasure him; office assistants who booked cars and travel; and recruiters who ensured he always had a fresh supply of teenage girls at the ready.

None of Mr. Epstein's associates have been charged or named as co-conspirators in Manhattan. But federal authorities are eyeing possible charges that include sex trafficking and sex trafficking conspiracy, the two people with knowledge of the investigation said.

Four women were apparently so instrumental to Mr. Epstein's operation that they were named as possible "co-conspirators" and were granted immunity from prosecution in a widely criticized plea bargain Mr. Epstein struck with federal prosecutors in Florida more than a decade ago. That deal allowed Mr. Epstein to plead guilty to state charges and to spend 13 months in a county jail rather than face a federal sex-trafficking indictment.

The four women — Sarah Kellen, Lesley Groff, Adriana Ross and Nadia Marcinkova — could still be subject to criminal charges in Manhattan. The United States attorney's office has said it is not bound by the Florida agreement.

‘The boss’

Three women have alleged in lawsuits that Mr. Epstein's sex-trafficking ring operated as a hierarchy, with the financier and Ms. Maxwell at the top.

ADVERTISEMENT

"She orchestrated the whole thing for Jeffrey," Sarah Ransome, who sued Ms. Maxwell and other associates in 2017, said in an interview.

Ms. Maxwell, the daughter of the British publishing magnate Robert Maxwell, was Mr. Epstein's longtime companion, managing his homes and introducing him to many of the politicians, celebrities and dignitaries who became fixtures within his social circle.

"They were like partners in business," Janusz Banasiak, Mr. Epstein's house manager, said in a deposition. Mr. Epstein's butler, Alfredo Rodriguez, described Ms. Maxwell in a deposition as "the boss."

Ms. Maxwell has vehemently denied she trafficked girls. Neither Ms. Maxwell nor her lawyers responded to requests for interviews for this article.

But Mr. Epstein's accusers contend in court papers that Ms. Maxwell managed the network of recruiters and helped devise the playbook for how to lure young women into Mr. Epstein's web. Recruiters were allegedly told to target young, financially desperate women, and to promise them help furthering their education and careers, these civil complaints said.

Virginia Roberts Giuffre said in a deposition that she was 16 when she met Ms. Maxwell and was recruited as a masseuse. She said she remembered Ms. Maxwell's sales pitch: If she gave a wealthy man a massage, a whole world of opportunity would open to her.

ADVERTISEMENT

"If the guy likes you, then, you know, it will work out for you," Ms. Giuffre, in a deposition, recalled Ms. Maxwell telling her. "You'll travel. You'll make good money. You'll be educated."

Ms. Giuffre took the job. Soon, she said, she became Mr. Epstein's "sex slave," not only providing sexual favors to him but also to some of his acquaintances, including politicians and prominent businessmen.

"My whole life revolved around just pleasing these men and keeping Ghislaine and Jeffrey happy," she said in the deposition."Their whole entire lives revolved around sex."

The 'lieutenant'

Just below Ms. Maxwell in the chain of command was Ms. Kellen, another high-ranking employee, who has been accused in multiple lawsuits of scheduling girls to have sex with Mr. Epstein in his Palm Beach mansion.

She was called the "lieutenant" in one lawsuit. David Rodgers, Mr. Epstein's pilot, said in a deposition that Ms. Kellen was "like an assistant to Ghislaine."

Ms. Kellen kept the names and numbers of all the girls who gave Mr. Epstein erotic massages, according to Palm Beach police reports and Ms. Robson's deposition. She would call them whenever Mr. Epstein was in town, asking the girls if they were ready to "work," the reports and Ms. Robson said.

"She saw herself as the boss," said Spencer T. Kuvin, a West Palm Beach lawyer who represented several accusers in lawsuits. "Sarah was really running that organization, bringing girls and getting them in and out of the Palm Beach home."

ADVERTISEMENT

Ms. Kellen, who sometimes goes by Sarah Kensington or Sarah Vickers, did not respond to requests for an interview. Her lawyers also did not respond to requests for comment.

Multiple girls told Palm Beach detectives that when they arrived at Mr. Epstein's mansion, Ms. Kellen would escort them upstairs to Mr. Epstein's bedroom and lay out the massage table with the various oils and lotions that they were to use on him, according to police reports.

In an interview, Ms. Ransome said Ms. Kellen and Ms. Maxwell also gave her tips on how to give Mr. Epstein erotic massages, including how to rub his feet and best satisfy him sexually.

"It was Ghislaine and Sarah Kellen that showed me how to please Jeffrey," Ms. Ransome said.

The assistants

Ms. Groff, Mr. Epstein's executive assistant for almost 20 years, was one of the possible co-conspirators named in the 2008 plea deal Mr. Epstein's lawyers worked out with the United States attorney's office in Miami.

She said in a 2005 interview with The Times that she answered Mr. Epstein's telephone and managed his schedule, which included meetings with prominent scientists, Wall Street executives, foreign dignitaries and American politicians.

Over the years, she said in 2005, she formed a special bond with the financier, anticipating his needs. "I know what he is thinking," she said at the time.

But Ms. Ransome said in her lawsuit that Ms. Groff, now 53, also arranged travel and lodging for the seemingly endless stream of adolescent girls and young women who provided Mr. Epstein with erotic massages.

In a recent interview with The Times, Ms. Ransome said Ms. Groff communicated directly with her, repeating Mr. Epstein's promises to help her obtain a fashion degree.

Ms. Groff's lawyer, Michael Bachner, said his client worked as part of a professional staff, making appointments, taking messages and setting up meetings. "At no time during Lesley's employment with Epstein did she ever engage in any misconduct and never knowingly made travel arrangements for anyone under 18," Mr. Bachner said.

Ms. Ransome also alleged in her lawsuit that she was instructed by Mr. Epstein's associates to go on a diet and to lose about 11 pounds to maintain her slim figure. In one email exchange reviewed by The Times, Ms. Ransome told Ms. Groff she was monitoring her weight for Mr. Epstein. "Please could you also let him know that I am now 57 kg and that everything is going well," Ms. Ransome emailed Ms. Groff in 2007.

Another of Mr. Epstein's assistants, Ms. Ross, was also named as a potential co-conspirator in the 2008 plea deal.

When Palm Beach police were investigating Mr. Epstein around 2005, Ms. Ross removed three computers from the Florida mansion, Mr. Banasiak, the house manager, said in a deposition. The police noted in their reports that the computers, which they had reason to think might contain photos of naked girls, were missing when investigators arrived.

"She show up one day with gentleman," Mr. Banasiak said. "And she told me that they are moving out those computers."

Ms. Ross, who went on to study accounting and is based in Miami, did not respond to calls or emails seeking comment.

'The more you do, the more you make'

Ms. Marcinkova, a former model and pilot, had come under police scrutiny in Palm Beach in 2005. A 16-year-old told detectives she was giving Mr. Epstein a massage when Ms. Marcinkova entered the room naked, according to Palm Beach police reports. Mr. Epstein then told the girl she could make an extra $200 if she performed oral sex on Ms. Marcinkova, and the girl reluctantly agreed, the reports said.

That encounter was the first of many sexual trysts the teenager told the police she was coerced into having with both Ms. Marcinkova and Mr. Epstein at his Palm Beach mansion, according to a police incident report.

Police records also show that investigators had indications that Ms. Marcinkova might have been underage herself when she became involved with Mr. Epstein.

Ms. Marcinkova, who later used the last name Marcinko, declined to answer questions about Mr. Epstein's alleged abuse of girls when she was deposed in a lawsuit, invoking the Fifth Amendment. Reached by The Times, Ms. Marcinkova's lawyers, Erica T. Dubnoand Aaron Mysliwiec, said "like other victims, Nadia Marcinko is and has been severely traumatized" and "needs time to process and make sense of what she has been through before she is able to speak out."

Prosecutors may face thorny legal issues in deciding whether to charge some of Mr. Epstein's associates, like Ms. Robson and Ms. Marcinkova, who may have initially been victims themselves.

Determining criminal liability is always a complex decision if a person has been exploited for sex, then used as a pawn to recruit others, said Lauren Hersh, a former sex-trafficking prosecutor in Brooklyn who now leads World Without Exploitation, an anti-trafficking organization.

"But for their own exploitation, they wouldn't do that," she said. "It becomes really, really tricky."

Ms. Robson, a former stripper and Olive Garden worker, was not among the four women given immunity in the Florida plea agreement. But her role in Mr. Epstein's operation was significant enough that Palm Beach Police detectives had planned to charge her more than a decade ago, according to an affidavit by the lead detective in Palm Beach.

She was also sued twice, and she described her role in Mr. Epstein's operation in a deposition.

When Mr. Epstein would fly into Florida, Ms. Robson said she would get a call on her cellphone from Ms. Kellen, who would tell her how many massages the financier needed for the upcoming visit. The two of them would hammer out logistics.

"I would have a girl that would be available for those dates and times," Ms. Robson said in a 2009 deposition.

Ms. Robson told lawyers she made $200 for every high school girl she brought to the Palm Beach mansion. She recruited the girls from her high school, including one who was 14. When she brought a 23-year-old, Mr. Epstein balked. Too old, he told her.

The girls knew what they were getting into, Ms. Robson said. The rules were unspoken, but understood.

"The more you do, the more you make," Ms. Robson said in the deposition. "If you were topless, if you were working in your thong, your bra, you're going to make more than a hundred."

Reached by The Times, Ms. Robson said, "I have nothing to say. I would appreciate if I was not contacted."

Douglas McIntosh, a lawyer who represented her in a civil case in Florida, called Ms. Robson "a lovely young lady," but declined to answer questions about her involvement with Mr. Epstein.

In her deposition, Ms. Robson said that she had debated suing Mr. Epstein, but decided against it.

"I just thought it was the easy way out," she said. "And then I decided this is my life and I have to take responsibility for my own actions because I did volunteer."

In connection with USAO-SDNY's defense of the Bureau of Prisons ("BOP") in ongoing Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA") litigation against The New York Times, on Friday, July 2, 2021, the USAO-SDNY plans to release approximately 2,700 pages of BOP documents related to Jeffrey Epstein's incarceration and suicide at the Metropolitan Correctional Center ("MCC"). These records were previously withheld due to the ongoing criminal prosecution against Tova Noel and Michael Thomas for falsifying records on the night of Epstein's suicide. As noted in UMR #2021-05-66021, USAO-SDNY entered into deferred prosecution agreements with Noel and Thomas in May 2021 and as such, USAO-SDNY no longer plans to assert a FOIA exception related to that criminal prosecution. The BOP documents the USAO-SDNY plans to release to The New York Times, which will be immediately available for publication by the Times, include: (i) internal BOP memoranda describing the events and circumstances of Epstein's incarceration and suicide, including the numerous failures that allowed Epstein the opportunity to kill himself; (ii) Epstein's psychological records from MCC; (iii) the autopsy report prepared by the New York City Office of the Medical Examiner ("OCME"); and (iv) internal emails within BOP and between BOP and USAO-SDNY from the day of Epstein's suicide reflecting generally a lack of understanding of what had happened. USAO-SDNY has notified our counterparts at the BOP and DOJ-OIG about the pending release.

DESCRIPTION:

On August 10, 2019, inmate Jeffrey Epstein committed suicide while housed in the Special Housing Unit at the MCC. USAO-SDNY is currently defending the BOP in connection with ongoing FOIA litigation filed by The New York Times seeking documents regarding Epstein. Previously, BOP had withheld a number of documents based on the pendency of the criminal prosecution of Tova Noel and Michael Thomas, the two guards on duty the night of Epstein's suicide who were accused of falsely indicating on BOP forms that they had completed required institutional counts and rounds. As noted in UMR # 2021-05-66021, in May 2021 USAO-SDNY entered into deferred prosecution agreements with Noel and Thomas and as such, USAO-SDNY has notified the presiding Judge in the FOIA litigation that BOP no longer plans to assert a FOIA exception related to that criminal prosecution. Accordingly, pursuant to Court-ordered deadlines in the FOIA litigation, the USAO-SDNY must produce the previously-withheld documents, which number approximately 2,700 pages, by July 2, 2021 to The New York Times, who will then be free to publish those materials.

The materials primarily consist of internal BOP memoranda, reports, emails, and documents, as well as emails with USAO-SDNY, as well as the autopsy report prepared by OCME. As noted above, the documents include the following topics and materials: (i) internal BOP memoranda from the day and night of Epstein's suicide; (ii) a photograph of a sign that was hung in the Special Housing Unit that stated that rounds on Epstein were mandatory, signed "God," which had been defaced to include a question mark after "mandatory"; (iii) Epstein's psychological records at MCC, which generally show that he claimed not to be suicidal, attempted to manipulate staff, and received some special treatment at MCC; (iv) internal BOP memoranda evaluating the circumstances and failures that led to the conditions in which Epstein could kill himself, including the failure to reassign a cellmate, to perform counts or rounds, to ensure adequate staffing at MCC, and other failures at the institution; (v) emails within BOP and between BOP and USAO-SDNY from the day of Epstein's suicide which show efforts to find out what was happening at MCC and frustration that MCC was not providing information; (vi) emails showing that Main Justice took an interest following Epstein's suicide, and sent individuals to tour MCC; and (vii) the OCME autopsy report concluding that Epstein committed suicide by hanging. Pursuant to established case law, BOP plans to redact photographs of Epstein's corpse and photographs from the autopsy, as well as the names of AUSAs and lower-level BOP staff members. As noted above, USAO-SDNY has notified our counterparts at the BOP and DOJ-OIG regarding this pending release.

Title 18, United States Code, Section 1349 ..... 2

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

The Government respectfully submits this memorandum of law in opposition to the motions for a bill of particulars filed by defendants Hamid Akhavan and Ruben Weigand, respectively.

The 16-page single-count, speaking indictment, S3 20 Cr. 188 (JSR) (the "Indictment"), describes the charged bank fraud scheme in great detail. The Indictment explains how the defendants deceived U.S.-based banks and financial institutions (the "Issuing Banks") into approving credit and debit transactions that they otherwise would not have approved had they been aware of the true nature of the transactions, that is, that they involved the sale of marijuana-based products. In particular, the Indictment explains that while the defendants were in fact facilitating credit and debit purchases for marijuana products sold by marijuana dispensaries, the defendants fraudulently caused Issuing Banks to believe that they were facilitating credit and debit purchases for a number of innocuous products. As the Indictment further explains, the defendants accomplished this fraud by creating "phony merchants," i.e., fictitious merchants engaged in the purported sale of legal products designed to mask that the transactions being processed by the Issuing Banks actually involved the sale of marijuana (the "Phony Merchants"). A number of these Phony Merchants are specifically identified in the Indictment.

As discussed further below, in addition to the Indictment, the Government has produced a substantial amount of discovery that contains the information that the defendants claim is needed to defend this case. That discovery includes, among other things, pertinent financial records, email and other recorded communications involving the defendants related to the scheme, records from the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company and a marijuana dispensary connected to the scheme, and documents and records obtained from a cooperating witness who engaged in the scheme together with the defendants. As to defendant Weigand, the Government also provided a description of his role in the scheme in the context of twice opposing his request for release on conditions of bail, and in connection with a search warrant affidavit filed in support of a warrant to search his electronic devices. The Government has similarly produced a search warrant affidavit for the search of defendant Akhavan's electronic devices; this affidavit likewise details Akhavan's conduct. There is no further information that the defendants need to understand the charge against them or to prepare for trial.

BACKGROUND

I. The Indictment

The Indictment was filed under seal on March 9, 2020, charging the defendants in a single count of conspiracy to commit bank fraud, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 1349. Over its 16 pages, the Indictment sets forth extensive allegations supporting the sole count of bank fraud conspiracy. In particular, the Indictment provides substantial detail regarding, among other things: (a) the operation of the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company that employed the defendants' services (Indictment ¶¶ 3-6); (b) how credit card and debit card transactions are ordinarily processed, and the various entities involved in the processing of such transactions (Id. ¶¶ 7-11), and (c) the scheme employed by the defendants to cause Issuing Banks to process marijuana transactions for the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company, which those Issuing Banks otherwise would not have processed (Id. ¶¶ 1-2, 12-14).

In describing the fraud scheme, the Indictment explains how Akhavan, Weigand, and others created the Phony Merchants—fraudulent online companies purporting to sell legal products, including "dog products, dive gear, carbonated drinks, green tea, and face creams"—and established Visa and MasterCard merchant accounts with offshore banks to accept payments directed to those Phony Merchants. (Id. ¶ 13). The Indictment specifies that Akhavan, Weigand, and others used over a dozen such Phony Merchants for this purpose, and identifies eight specific websites associated with some of those Phony Merchants. (Id.). The Indictment further alleges that many of the Phony Merchants purported to have the same physical address, and despite being based outside of the United States, claimed to maintain U.S.-based customer service numbers. (Id.) The Indictment alleges that over $100 million in marijuana credit and debit card transactions were processed through the Phony Merchant accounts. (Id. ¶ 14). The transactions were "miscoded" with incorrect "merchant category codes," or "MCCs," to give the false appearance that the transactions were "completely unrelated to marijuana." (Id.). The Indictment further specifies that some of the MCCs reported for the marijuana transactions processed on behalf of the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company referred to "stenographic services, music stores/pianos, and cosmetic stores." (Id.)

II. Procedural History

Defendant Weigand was arrested on March 9, 2020, at Los Angeles International Airport in California. He was presented in the Central District of California the following day, and was ordered detained. This Court subsequently held two bail hearings related to Weigand, the first on March 17, 2020, and the second on April 24, 2020, culminating in an Order dated April 27, 2020, ordering the defendant's continued detention pending trial. Defendant Akhavan surrendered to the U.S. Marshals in the Central District of California on March 27, 2020, and was presented and released on a series of bail conditions the same day.

On May 12, 2020, the Court arraigned both defendants on the Indictment, and scheduled, among other things, the trial in this matter beginning on December 1, 2020.

III. Discovery Materials and Other Disclosures

The Government has made substantial disclosures to the defendants, both in discovery productions and during proceedings held before the Court. As part of its Rule 16 discovery productions, the Government has provided, among other things: (a) email and chat message communications between the defendants and others in connection with the charged scheme; (b) call and text detail records for a phone used by Akhavan; (c) subscriber and other non-content records for online accounts used by Akhavan and Weigand; (d) search warrant materials related to searches conducted on devices belonging to the defendants seized by the Government; (e) search warrant returns on email accounts and electronic devices belonging to the defendants; (f) materials related to post-arrest statements made by each of the defendants; (g) records from the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company related to the charged scheme; (h) records from a marijuana dispensary connected to the charged scheme; (i) communications and records from an employee of Akhavan related to the scheme; (j) bank records from banks that issued credit cards used by customers to make purchases from the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company; (k) financial records from Visa and MasterCard associated with purchases made from the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company under Phony Merchant names; (l) screenshots of fake websites associated with various Phony Merchants; (m) recordings of meetings and telephone calls between the defendants and a cooperating witness ("CW-1"); (n) a full forensic analysis of a cell phone used by CW-1 to communicate with the defendants and others about the charged scheme; and (o) documents and records provided by CW-1 related to the operation of the charged scheme, including photographs of the defendants attending one or more meetings related to the scheme.

Of particular note, the Government has produced search warrant affidavits which further detail the charged bank fraud conspiracy, including information provided by a cooperating witness involved in the charged bank fraud scheme. The search warrant affidavits describe, among other things, specific communications involving Akhavan and Weigand relating to the execution of the scheme, and their conduct in connection with the scheme. Moreover, in briefing related to Weigand's bail applications, the Government described Weigand's role in detail, stating that "Weigand's primary role in the Transaction Laundering Scheme was to manage an international network of bank accounts used by the Phony Merchants to process payments on behalf of the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company . . . In this role, Weigand was responsible for, among things, finding European banks to process the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company's marijuana transactions, and reviewing and then submitting fraudulent application packages for the Phony Merchants to his contacts at these overseas banks." (Gov't Ltr. of Apr. 23, 2020, Dkt. No. 27, at 3). The Government's briefing further noted that "[o]ne of Weigand's responsibilities was to submit fraudulent applications on behalf of the Phony Merchants to these offshore banks in order to open merchant bank accounts for the Phony Merchants." (Id.).[1]

DISCUSSION

I. Applicable Law

Under Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 7(f), the "court may direct the government to file a bill of particulars." It is well established that the proper scope and function of a bill of particulars is to provide sufficient information about the nature of the charge to enable a defendant to prepare for trial, to avoid unfair surprise, and to preclude a second prosecution for the same offense. United States v. Torres, 901 F.2d 205, 234 (2d Cir. 1990), abrogated on other grounds by United States v. Marcus, 628 F.3d 36, 41 (2d Cir. 2010). "A bill of particulars should be required only where the charges of the indictment are so general that they do not advise the defendant of the specific acts of which he is accused." Id. (internal quotation marks omitted).

[1] At Weigand's bail hearing on April 24, 2020, the Government further stated: "[T]he goal . . . was to find way to process marijuana transactions for this company, and the solution that the defendant was intimately involved with was using phony merchant bank accounts in offshore banks around the world. He was responsible for that network. That was his role in the conspiracy." (Apr. 24, 2020 Hr'g Tr. at 20-21).

In exercising its broad discretion to determine whether the charges are "so general" that they require supplementing, the Court should consider not just the text of the Indictment, but also discovery and other information supplied to the defendant to date. If the information the defendant seeks "is provided in the indictment or in some acceptable alternate form," no bill of particulars is required. See United States v. Bortnovsky, 820 F.2d 572, 574 (2d Cir. 1987) (per curiam); United States v. Morales, 280 F. Supp. 2d 262, 274 (S.D.N.Y. 2003); see, e.g., United States v. Kazarian, No. 10 Cr. 895 (PGG), 2012 WL 1810214, at *25 (S.D.N.Y. May 18, 2012) (noting the "enormous amount of discovery material" which "provide [the defendant] with much of the information sought in the request for a bill of particulars"); United States v. Monserrate, No. 10 Cr. 965 (CM), 2011 WL 3480957, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 4, 2011) (denying request for bill of particulars where discovery materials and indictment were "sufficient to apprise the defendant of the charge against him" and to allow him to prepare for trial); United States v. Samsonov, No. 07 Cr. 1198(CM), 2009 WL 176721, at *4 (S.D.N.Y. Jan. 23, 2009) (denying bill of particulars request where indictment, discovery letters, and discovery materials gave defendant adequate information to prepare for trial); United States v. Bonventre, 10 Cr. 228 (LTS), 2013 WL 2303726, at *7 (S.D.N.Y. 2013) ("The Government's opposition brief sufficiently alerts [defendant] as to its theories concerning the crimes with which he is charged.").

The defense cannot use a bill of particulars as a general investigative tool, United States v. Strawberry, 892 F. Supp. 519, 526 (S.D.N.Y. 1995), or as a device to compel disclosure of the Government's evidence prior to trial. See United States v. Triana-Mateus, No. 98 Cr. 958 (SWK), 2002 WL 562649, at *5 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 15, 2002) (citing United States v. Gottlieb, 493 F.2d 987, 994 (2d Cir. 1974)). "The Government is not required to disclose the manner in which it will attempt to prove the charges, nor the means by which the crimes charged were committed." Triana-Mateus, 2002 WL 562649, at *5; United States v. Zemlyansky, 945 F. Supp. 2d 438, 485 (S.D.N.Y. 2013) ("It is improper to use a bill of particulars to compel the Government to disclose the manner in which it will prove the charges or preview its evidence or legal theory." (internal citation and alteration omitted)). Nor should a bill of particulars be employed in an attempt to "lock the government into its proof." United States v. Rigas, 258 F. Supp. 2d 299, 304 (S.D.N.Y. 2003); see also United States v. Mahabub, No. 13 Cr. 908 (AJN), 2014 WL 4243657, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 26, 2014) ("The government's presentation of evidence at trial is limited to the particulars contained in the bill, so care must be taken not to overly restrict the government's proof while still protecting the defendant from unfair surprise"); Samsonov, 2009 WL 176721, at *3 (bill of particulars "must not be misused to compel disclosure of how much the Government can prove, nor to foreclose the Government from using proof it may develop as the trial approaches").

Thus, the ultimate test is whether the information sought is necessary, not whether it is helpful. See United States v. Trippe, 171 F. Supp. 2d 230, 240 (S.D.N.Y. 2001); United States v. Payden, 613 F. Supp. 800, 816 (S.D.N.Y. 1985) ("It is not enough that the information would be useful to the defendant; if the defendant has been given adequate notice of the charges against him, the government is not required to disclose additional details about its case."). Accordingly, under the relevant legal standard, the Government is not required to: (a) "particularize all of its evidence," United States v. Cephas, 937 F.2d 816, 823 (2d Cir. 1991); (b) disclose the precise manner in which the crimes charged in the indictment were committed, see Torres, 901 F.2d at 233-34; or (c) provide the defendant with a preview of the Government's case or legal theory, see United States v. Muyet, 945 F. Supp. 586, 598-99 (S.D.N.Y. 1996).

There are good reasons why bills of particulars are warranted only where the allegations in an indictment, as supplemented by discovery and elsewise, are so general as to render it impossible to prepare a defense. Because a bill of particulars "confines the Government's proof to particulars furnished," it can "restrict unduly the Government's ability to present its case." United States v. Feola, 651 F. Supp. 1068, 1132 (S.D.N.Y. 1987); see also Mahabub, 2014 WL 4243657, at *2. Moreover, the Government's provision of particulars tantamount to an itemized preview of its proof creates the very real danger that a defendant will "tailor [his] testimony to explain away the Government's case." United States v. Henry, 861 F. Supp. 1190, 1197 (S.D.N.Y. 1994) (citing United States v. Cimino, 31 F.R.D. 277, 279 (S.D.N.Y. 1962)); United States v. Sindone, 01 Cr. 517 (MBM), 2002 WL 48604, at *1 (S.D.N.Y. Jan. 14, 2002) ("The stakes in a criminal case are high, and temptations of perjury, subornation and intimidation are ever present. Accordingly, the government is not required to turn over information that will permit a defendant to preview the government's case and tempt him to tailor proof to explain it away, or see to it that the government's proof is not presented."). These concerns animate the rule that "if the defendant has been given adequate notice of the charges against [him] and can prepare fully for trial with reasonably diligent efforts, the Government cannot be required to disclose additional details about its case." Henry, 861 F. Supp. at 1197.

Applying these principles, courts in this district routinely deny motions for bills of particulars that are, at bottom, demands for additional details of the manner in which the offense was committed or how the Government intends to prove its case at trial. See, e.g., United States v. Carroll, No. 19 CR 545 (CM), 2020 WL 1862446, at *25 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 14, 2020); United States v. Middendorf, No. 18-CR-36 (JPO), 2018 WL 3956494, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. Aug. 17, 2018); United States v. Salas, No. 07 CR.557 (JGK), 2008 WL 4840872, at *13 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 5, 2008); United States v. Mitlof, 165 F. Supp. 2d 558, 569 (S.D.N.Y. 2001) (denying request for bill of particulars identifying "each act of 'fraud, neglect, connivance, misconduct, and violation of law' upon which the Government will base its case," and noting that "the Government may not be compelled to disclose manner in which it will prove charges, manner in which defendant committed the crime charged, or a preview of Government's evidence or legal theories"); United States v. Leonelli, 428 F. Supp. 880, 882 (S.D.N.Y. 1977) (rejecting request for bill of particulars regarding the names, dates and places for the entire case as "an attempt to discover the minutia of the Government's case").

II. A Bill of Particulars Is Not Warranted In This Case, as the Defendants Improperly Seek Evidentiary Detail, and the Government Has Otherwise Made Sufficient Disclosures of the Information Sought

The defendants do not need a bill of particulars to defend this case. Indeed, much of what the defendants seek amounts to a request for a presentation of the Government's proof, and much of it is already contained in the Government's disclosures, which the defendants have ample time to review. In short, the defendants' requests do not represent an appropriate use of Rule 7(f), and should therefore be denied.

A. Identification of Uncharged Co-Conspirators

Both defendants seek the identities of all alleged unindicted co-conspirators, including principals of the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company, as well as third party payment processors. (See Akhavan Req. 1; Weigand Req. 7, 9, 10).

As an initial matter, the law in this Circuit generally does not require the Government to identify alleged co-conspirators as part of its Rule 16 discovery. See Torres, 901 F.2d at 233-34 (upholding district court's denial of a bill of particulars where the defendant had requested, in part, "the identity of those other persons 'known and unknown' as alleged in . . . the indictment"); United States v. Murgio, 209 F. Supp. 3d 698, 721 (S.D.N.Y. 2016) ("courts in this circuit frequently exercise their discretion to deny requests to identify co-conspirators through a bill of particulars") (citing United States v. Mahaffy, 446 F. Supp. 2d 115, 120 (E.D.N.Y. 2006)); United States v. Cook, No. 13 Cr. 777 (AJN), 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 182268, at *15 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 10, 2014) (denying motion for bill of particulars identifying other co-conspirators where "the co-conspirators are alleged to have worked directly with one another"); Trippe, 171 F. Supp. 2d at 240 ("[D]emands for particular information with respect to where, when, and with whom the Government will charge the defendant with conspiring are routinely denied."). That is particularly true where, as here, "the Government has provided discovery that will enable a defendant to adequately prepare his defense." Murgio, 209 F. Supp. 3d at 721-22; see also Bortnovsky, 820 F.2d at 574 ("Generally, if the information sought by defendant is provided in the indictment or in some acceptable alternate form, no bill of particulars is required.").

Here, the materials provided to the defendants as part of the Government's discovery productions—including, but not limited to email and message communications including Akhavan and/or Weigand, as well as communications involving other individuals involved in effectuating the scheme on their behalf—are more than sufficient to allow the defendants to identify the other co-conspirators and entities in the charged bank fraud conspiracy and to prepare a defense. These communications include, for example, communications involving officers and employees of the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company; communications involving individuals responsible for various aspects of creating and maintaining the Phony Merchants used to deceive Issuing Banks; communications involving associates of defendant Akhavan's company; and Phony Merchant account application documents and associated communications.

Importantly, as this Court observed in United States v. Pinto-Thomaz, 352 F. Supp. 3d 287, 303 (S.D.N.Y. 2018) (Rakoff, J.)—a case relied upon by both defendants—in deciding whether to direct the Government to identify unindicted co-conspirators, "the Court must balance the risk of surprise to the defendant, which is enhanced if 'there are a large number of co-conspirators and a long-running conspiracy' with legitimate law enforcement concerns, such as the 'potential danger to co-conspirators and the risk of compromising continuing investigations.'" Id. at 303 (quoting United States v. Bin Laden, 92 F.Supp.2d 225, 241 (S.D.N.Y. 2000)). While this scheme involves the participation of more than the two charged defendants, the risk of surprise to them is substantially mitigated in light of the communications described above and produced in discovery. Moreover, unlike in Pinto-Thomaz, where the Government did not oppose the defendant's request for particulars on this point and did not proffer that its investigation was continuing, here the Government's investigation of this scheme and related targets is active and ongoing. Requiring the Government to identify uncharged co-conspirators would jeopardize the Government's investigation of them yet would not meaningfully benefit the defendants, given the nature and scope of the discovery provided to them in this case.[2]

In short, in light of the disclosures made in this case to date, requiring the Government to specifically identify unindicted co-conspirators is not necessary for the defendants to understand the charges or prepare for trial, and would prejudice the Government's continuing investigation.

B. Identification of Specific Misrepresentations

As described above, the bank fraud conspiracy charged in the Indictment involves a scheme by the defendants and others to make and cause to be made misrepresentations to numerous Issuing Banks in the United States regarding the nature of credit and debit transactions facilitated by the defendants. The defendants both request a bill of particulars identifying the particular misrepresentations made by the defendants in connection with the scheme, including the dates of those misrepresentations. (See Akhavan Req. 7; Weigand Req. 2, 5).

As an initial matter, in the context of a bank fraud conspiracy charge, the Government has no obligation to prove any particular transaction or misrepresentation. Rather, the Government intends to prove an overall fraud scheme—in which both defendants knowingly participated—that involved concealing the true nature of credit and debit transactions to Issuing Banks that otherwise would not have approved those transactions. The Indictment explains how each and every one of the transactions that was facilitated through the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company—through the creation of Phony Merchants—represented a misrepresentation made or caused to be made by the Issuing Banks. In discovery, the Government has produced returns from credit card companies relating to marijuana transactions conducted through and concealed by the Phony Merchants. Each of these transactions—which as described above, reflects a misrepresentation made or caused to be made to the Issuing Banks—includes, among other things, the date of the transaction, and reveals the identity of the relevant Phony Merchant. The Indictment's specific allegations, further detailed through discovery, need not be supplemented by a bill of particulars.

[2] Other cases cited by the defendants are similarly distinguishable. See, e.g., United States v. Savin, No. 00 Cr. 45, 2001 WL 243533, at * 5 (S.D.N.Y. Mar. 7, 2001) (granting request for bill of particulars as to names of unindicted co-conspirators; civil actions in relation to charged events proceeding simultaneously without incident, conspiracy spanned up to six years, government did not allege harm to investigation); Bin Laden, 92 F. Supp. 2d at 241 (ordering Government to identify co-conspirators, as conspiracy was allegedly still ongoing and had operated for ten years, and many of the co-conspirators used several aliases to conceal their identities; however, Government need not identify co-conspirators if it showed that such identification would expose the co-conspirator to harm or otherwise compromise an investigation).

As numerous courts have found, where specific examples are offered, as here, the Government need not produce a bill of particulars containing an inventory of every act it plans to prove that constituted part of the fraud. See, e.g., Bonventre, 2013 WL 2303726, at *5-*7 (in case involving largest Ponzi scheme in U.S. history, which spanned decades, denying request for bill of particulars identifying, among other things, all "allegedly false records upon which the Government intends to rely to prove its case," "the specific entries [in specific books and records] that the Government alleges [the defendants] knew were false," "the specific arbitrage trades in which [a defendant] was involved that the Government alleges are fraudulent," the "dates and stock names for all alleged backdated transactions," and "all unnamed clients and allegedly fake trades referred to in" a particular count); United States v. Levy, 11 Cr. 62 (PAC), 2013 WL 664712, at *4, 13 (S.D.N.Y. Feb. 25, 2013) (in case charging stock manipulation through false representations by corrupt brokers, request for bill of particulars recounting "each specific misrepresentation and omission alleged" denied as "simply a request to compel the production of the very type of evidentiary minutiae that is not appropriate in a bill of particulars") (citation and quotation marks omitted). In this case, the entire nature of the scheme alleged is such that the defendants facilitated the processing of over one million miscoded transactions, all of which misrepresented the true nature of the goods purchased and the merchants involved. It is neither practical nor necessary for the Government to provide particulars as to each of these transactions.

C. Identification of Victim Banks

Both defendants seek particulars regarding the identities of U.S. banks and financial institutions deceived as a result of the charged bank fraud conspiracy. (See Akhavan Req. 4; Weigand Req. 1). Detail regarding victim entities is not properly within the scope of a bill of particulars, particularly where, as here, the discovery materials already contain that information. See, e.g., United States v. Russo, 483 F. Supp. 2d 301, 311 (S.D.N.Y. 2007) (identification of particular "investors" referenced in the indictment was beyond the scope of a bill of particulars); United States v. Fea, No. 10 CR. 708 (PKC), 2011 WL 2119708, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. May 24, 2011) (denying bill of particulars request seeking identities of victims in loansharking case, where discovery materials already contained victim information); United States v. Gall, No. 95 Cr. 98 (AHN), 1996 WL 684404, at *7 (D. Conn. Aug. 12, 1996) (denying bill of particulars request demanding identities of insurance fraud victims and "the manner in which the financial statements [the defendant] submitted to insurance companies and state agencies were false"). Notably, the identities of many such Issuing Banks may be readily discerned from discovery materials already produced to the defendants, including Visa and MasterCard records. Those records reflect Issuing Banks associated with individuals who made purchases from the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company disguised as Phony Merchant transactions. Moreover, the defendants have received ample notice from the Indictment and other disclosures that all Issuing Banks through which such transactions were processed are victims of the scheme.[3] Nonetheless, the Government will also provide a non-exhaustive list of U.S.-based issuing banks to the defendants, including Issuing Banks located within the Southern District of New York.[4]

D. Other Evidentiary Detail

Finally, Akhavan and Weigand seek an order compelling the Government to set forth a multitude of details concerning their participation and the participation of others in the charged scheme. The requested evidentiary detail includes: (1) the identities of all marijuana dispensaries, offshore acquiring banks, and Phony Merchants associated with the scheme (Akhavan Req. 2, 3, [3] Contrary to Akhavan's suggestion, the decision in United States v. Orena, 32 F.3d 704, 714-15 (2d Cir. 1994), does not require the Government to provide particulars concerning victim identities. In Orena, the court rejected the defendant's argument that the indictment was fatally defective for failing to identify intended murder victims. In so doing, the court determined that the Government's identification of victims in the context of responding to a bill of particulars was sufficient to provide Orena with adequate notice of the charge against him. Id. at 714-715. In this case, as discussed above, the Government has furnished discovery identifying all victims known to it, and further plans to provide the defendants with a non-exhaustive list of U.S.-based issuing banks. This is sufficient to provide the defendants with sufficient notice of the charges and enable them to prepare a defense.

[4] Notably, Weigand's argument concerning the failure of the Indictment to allege that the charged scheme deprived any bank of funds is entirely meritless. All that must be alleged to satisfy Section 1344(1) or Section 1344(2) is that the defendants engaged in a fraudulent "scheme . . . to obtain money from a bank." United States v. Nejad, No. 18-CR-224 (AJN), 2019 WL 6702361, at *14 (S.D.N.Y. Dec. 6, 2019) (emphasis added) (citing Shaw v. United States, 137 S. Ct. 462, 466 (2016) ("[F]or purposes of [Section 1344(1) of] the bank fraud statute, a scheme fraudulently to obtain funds from a bank depositor's account normally is also a scheme fraudulently to obtain property from a 'financial institution.'"); Loughrin v. United States, 573 U.S. 351, 355 (2014) (Section 1344(2) "requires that the defendant intend 'to obtain any of the moneys . . . or other property owned by, or under the custody or control of, a financial institution.'")). Weigand's suggestion that the Supreme Court's recent decision in Kelly v. United States, __S. Ct.__, No. 18-1059, 2020 WL 2200833 (May 7, 2020) would in any way affect the outcome of this case is likewise misplaced. Unlike in Kelly, and as described in detail in the Indictment, the scheme to defraud charged here involved an effort to obtain money under the custody or control of banks, and not merely "an exercise of regulatory power." Id. at *2.

8; Weigand Req. 6);[5] (2) the compensation earned by Weigand in connection with his participation in the scheme (Weigand Req. 3); (3) the dates Weigand participated in the scheme (Weigand Req. 4); (4) Weigand's use of fraudulent methods, creation of Phony Merchants and websites, participation in miscoding, opening of merchant bank accounts, and use of strategies to trick United States banks (Weigand Req. 5, 6); and (5) the dates that various co-conspirators joined the scheme and the roles that they played (Weigand Req. 9).[6] These requests seek evidentiary detail amounting to disclosure of how the Government will attempt to prove the charge at trial and the exact manner in which the criminal conduct occurred, which is plainly not appropriate. Moreover, the discovery materials provided by the Government already contain much of the requested information.

A bill of particulars "'is not a general investigative tool, a discovery device or a means to compel the government to disclose evidence or witnesses to be offered at trial.'" United States v. Rivera, No. 16 CR. 175 (LGS), 2017 WL 1843302, at *3 (S.D.N.Y. May 8, 2017) (quoting United States v. Abakporo, 959 F. Supp. 2d 382, 389 (S.D.N.Y. 2013)); United States v. Salazar, 485 F.2d

[5] Citing to paragraph seven of the Indictment, Akhavan also seeks "[t]he identities of the United States banks and other financial institutions that 'offer[ed] payment processing services directly to merchants,'" and "[t]he identities of the United States banks and other financial institutions that used Independent Sales Organizations or other third parties to process payments." (Akhavan Req. 5, 6). Paragraph seven provides background on how credit and debit card transactions are typically processed, and does not purport to describe how such transactions were processed in the course of the charged bank fraud scheme.

[6] Akhavan additionally requests information regarding "[w]hether the illegal cannabis transactions allegedly involved the distribution of medical marijuana." (Akhavan Req. 9). The Government notes that whether the transactions at issue related to medical marijuana is of no moment, given that the charged scheme involves misrepresentations made to banks about the sale of any kind of marijuana, medical or not. Nonetheless, the Government will provide the defendants with information regarding the approximate percentage of transactions involving medical marijuana during different periods in the course of the scheme.

Therefore, "demands for particular information with respect to where, when, and with whom the Government will charge the defendant with conspiring are routinely denied." Trippe, 171 F. Supp. 2d at 240 (collecting cases); see, e.g., United States v. Barrera, 950 F. Supp. 2d 461, 478 (E.D.N.Y. 2013) ("As a general rule, a defendant is not entitled to receive details of the government's conspiracy allegations in a bill of particulars."); United States v. Wilson, 493 F. Supp. 2d 364, 372 (E.D.N.Y. 2006) (same, denying motion for a bill of particulars as to the dates on which the defendant and his co-conspirators joined the charged conspiracy); Rivera, 2017 WL 1843302, at *3 (citing Torres, 901 F.2d at 233-34 (affirming denial of bill of particulars about when defendant was "alleged to have joined" the conspiracy, the identities of co-conspirators and the "precise dates and locations" of overt acts)); United States v. Nachamie, 91 F. Supp. 2d 565, 575 (S.D.N.Y. 2000) (defendant not entitled to particulars regarding his participation in submission of false Medicare claims, including manner in which he caused such claims to be submitted); United States v. Mittal, No. 98 Cr. 1302, 1999 WL 461293, at *9 (S.D.N.Y. July 7, 1999) ("[C]ourts have consistently rejected demands for particulars as to the formation of a conspiracy or the entry into the conspiracy of a particular defendant or confederate.") (citing cases); United States v. Johnson-Guzman, No. 98 CR. 350 (RWS), 1998 WL 730327, at *7 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 16, 1998) ("With respect to conspiracy charges in particular, since the Government is not required to prove exactly when or how a conspiracy was formed or when or how a particular defendant joined the scheme, and as the circumstantial proof on which the government usually relies to prove the existence of a scheme often does not reveal such details, the courts have consistently rejected demands for particulars as to the formation of a conspiracy or the entry into the conspiracy of a particular defendant or confederate."); United States v. Perez, 940 F. Supp. 540, 552 (S.D.N.Y. 1996) (government not required to specify particular acts in which defendants alleged to have "participated in, had knowledge of, or are being held responsible for") (citations omitted).

The evidentiary detail sought by the defendants is well outside the scope of a proper request for a bill of particulars. Rather, in the face of clear case law to the contrary—holding that "[t]he Government may not be compelled to provide a bill of particulars disclosing the manner in which it will attempt to prove the charges, the precise manner in which the defendant committed the crime charged, or a preview of the Government's evidence or legal theories," Mitlof, 165 F. Supp. 2d at 569—the defendants are attempting to commandeer Rule 7(f) as a part of a fishing expedition. Moreover, the defendants already have in their possession much of the information they seek. The Indictment and Rule 16 discovery materials contain, among other things, a list of marijuana dispensaries served by the Online Marijuana Marketplace Company that are connected to the charged scheme, identities of the Phony Merchants known to the Government, website addresses associated with the Phony Merchants known to the Government (including several screenshots of those websites), and acquiring banks/payment processors associated with the Phony Merchants known to the Government.[7] Accordingly, the defendants' request for the evidentiary detail described above should be swiftly denied.

III. Contrary to the Defendants' Arguments, the Discovery Produced in This Case Renders Defendants' Requests for Particulars Unnecessary, and Does Not Impermissibly Shift the Burden of Proof

As discussed above in connection with the defendants' specific requests, the Government's disclosures in this case—through Rule 16 and otherwise—combined with the 16-page speaking Indictment, provide sufficient information and detail to permit the defendants to understand the charge against them and defend against it.

The defendants nonetheless complain that the discovery is voluminous, and therefore that particulars should be required. In fact, the opposite is true. As an initial matter, comprehensive discovery has often been cited by courts in denying motions for a bill of particulars because the discovery provides defendants with more than sufficient information to prepare for trial. See Kazarian, 2012 WL 1810214, at *25; Monserrate, 2011 WL 3480957, at *4; Samsonov, 2009 WL 176721, at *4; United States v. Mandell, 710 F. Supp. 2d 368, 385 (S.D.N.Y. 2010) (the "mere existence of a 'mountain of documents' does not entitle" a defendant to a bill of particulars).

While the Government has produced a significant amount of material to the defendants, it is not an unusual quantity of discovery in a fraud case such as this one and, as noted above, the defendants have ample time to review it. Indeed, while defendant Akhavan points out that the Government produced a one-terabyte drive of discovery, he omits the fact that that the material therein consists of his own emails. Similarly, the two-terabyte drive recently produced to Weigand contains the contents of his own electronic devices. Courts in this Circuit have routinely denied motions for a bill of particulars based on the mere fact that discovery is voluminous, especially in situations where the defendants have had (or will have) many months to review it. See, e.g., United States v. Wey, No. 15 Cr. 611 (AJN), 2017 WL 237651, at *21 (S.D.N.Y. Jan. 18, 2017) ("[T]he discovery volume alone simply does not necessitate a bill of particulars."); Levy, 2013 WL 664712, at *13 (denying request for bill of particulars based on amount of discovery and noting that "[w]hile the Court may sympathize with counsel's task of reviewing a large quantity of materials that continue to be produced by the Government, the applicable Indictment was filed almost eight months ago, and counsel has had the opportunity to review discovery materials as the Government has produced them"). This case is no different.

Perhaps most significantly, unlike the cases cited by the defendants, this is not a case where the Government intends to prove that only certain discrete transactions were fraudulent but fails to identify such transactions, creating a needle-in-a-haystack problem for the defendants. Rather, in this case the Government contends that every transaction processed through the Phony Merchants—which are named in the Indictment itself and contained in the discovery—constituted a fraudulent event. Accordingly, the authorities relied upon by the defendants compelling the Government to identify particular transactions or false representations contained in voluminous discovery are inapposite. For example, both defendants rely on Bortnovsky, 820 F.2d at 575, a RICO insurance fraud case in which the Government did not identify before trial which of the fifteen burglaries and four thousand documents were alleged to have been fabricated. At trial the Government ultimately alleged that only four burglaries and only three of four thousand documents were false. The Second Circuit found that under these circumstances the burden had impermissibly shifted to the defendants, who were "forced to explain the events surrounding eight actual burglaries and to confront numerous documents unrelated to the charges pending." Id. at 574-75. There is no such risk in this case.

Equally unhelpful to the defendants is United States v. Savin, No. 00 Cr. 45 (RWS), 2001 WL 243533 (S.D.N.Y. 2001), which is also relied upon by both of them. In Savin, the indictment alleged that an investment advisor had misappropriated client funds over a six-year period through "an unspecified series of 'intercompany transfers' without identifying the amounts, dates, means, corporate entities, or co-conspirators involved." Id. at *3. Because the Government had produced voluminous documents evidencing fund transfers without specifying which transfers were alleged to be improper, the court granted in part a bill of particulars request. Id. at *2. Other authorities cited by the defendants are of the same ilk, and thus not on point here. See, e.g., United States v. Davidoff, 845 F.2d 1151, 1154 (2d Cir. 1988) (cited by Akhavan) (bill of particulars should have been ordered to identify the companies defendant was alleged to have extorted as part of a RICO scheme, when he was indicted for extortionate schemes directed at one company but confronted at trial with evidence of extortions aimed at entirely different companies).

Simply put, the defendants have before them extensive information about the alleged bank fraud and how it will be proven, including transaction records reflecting miscoded transactions and Phony Merchants, pertinent communications, a list of participating marijuana dispensaries, and Phony Merchant bank applications. This is well within the quantum of information that courts routinely find is sufficient for defendants to prepare for trial, and the defendants have a substantial amount of time to review it. In these circumstances, a burdensome bill of particulars effectively seeking disclosure of the Government's trial evidence is neither necessary nor appropriate.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court should deny the defendants' respective requests for particulars.

Re: United States v. Ghislaine Maxwell
S2 20 Cr. 330 (AJN)

Dear Judge Nathan;

I write to update the Court regarding MDC ongoing interference with attorney-client communication between Ghislaine Maxwell and her counsel.

Since December 2019, video teleconferences ("VTCs") between Ms. Maxwell and her counsel have been conducted via defense counsel's WebEx platform. There were no problems with VTCs with the exception of when the MDC placed the VTC monitor inside a box with a screen, which severely impacted Ms. Maxwell's ability to see counsel and documents shown to her. That issue, which arose on June 14, 2021, was resolved between defense counsel and the MDC.

However, on August 6, 2021, MDC Legal sent counsel an email stating that starting Monday (August 9th) we could no longer use defense counsel's WebEx platform for the VTCs, and instead had to use any of four Zoom access codes provided by the MDC. When questioned why the platform was being changed from WebEx to Zoom, MDC Legal stated the VTC platform was changed due to complaints made by Ms. Maxwell. Upon information and belief, the complaints concerned visual evidence that someone on MDC's end of the WebEx connection, other than Ms. Maxwell, appeared on the screen as a VTC participant called "NER/BRO," adjusted the volume during the VTC, and moved the viewing box used to view documents on the screen. During the past several weeks, interruption in Ms. Maxwell's VTC signal and bandwidth suggested that her connection was split, causing her VTC sessions to go in and out, and her screen often turned green and became blurry. No other participants experienced such disruption.

When Ms. Maxwell raised these concerns to various staff members, no one seemed surprised. The fact that MDC immediately provided a "more secure" link (in their words) suggests there was some type of breach or interference with the attorney-client VTC which impinged upon confidentiality of privileged attorney-client communication and is placing an on-going chill on communication between Ms. Maxwell and her defense team.

It is my understanding that the new MDC Zoom platform does not preclude third parties who have the access information to the Zoom "Courtrooms" from interfering (inadvertently or intentionally) with Ms. Maxwell's privileged communication. That concern manifested itself on August 12th when third parties accessed the Zoom room used by Ms. Maxwell and counsel. This breach was reported to, and I believe witnessed by, MDC staff, including an MDC technician named Leon who is tasked with dealing with Ms. Maxwell's electronics issues.

By email dated August 12th to MDC Legal, with government counsel copied, I reported that this purported breach severely impacts confidential privileged attorney-client communication and is especially concerning in this high-profile case. I requested that the VTC revert to the original WebEx platform controlled by defense counsel.

In an email response, dated August 13th, MDC Legal stated:

> There was a miscommunication on our end internally. There was no breach. The address provided was a very secure line, however, it was already one being used. We are creating a line as secure as possible. We are hoping for this to be complete by the 9:30 scheduled call, but I cannot confirm it will be ready by then.

On August 16th, I again emailed MDC Legal, with government counsel copied, requesting clarification as to why the VTC is still not proceeding, as it did not on Friday, and renewed my request that VTCs be reinstated on defense counsel's WebEx platform because the substituted Zoom platform is not secure and seems to have caused cancellation of Ms. Maxwell's VTCs. I also informed MDC Legal, with government counsel copied, that during my in-person visit with Ms. Maxwell on Saturday, August 14th, both Ms. Maxwell and I were told we could not pass documents. This restriction frustrated and affected the productivity of a four-hour visit.

In a reply email later that day, MDC Legal stated:

> Please understand this is not a simple process and may take a few days. With that said you have had access to your client via telephone. Additionally, as you have had weekend visit on weekend with Ms. Maxwell, we can gladly arrange for the same on any day moving forward.
> As far as your weekend legal visit- the staff who did not allow the passing of legal documents have been informed of the appropriate instructions.

The restrictions placed on Ms. Maxwell, including limiting the quantity of legal documents she may bring to the VTC room or day room and the prohibition on review of documents during in-person legal conferences- coupled with problems with conducting confidential legal conference VTCs - has limited Ms. Maxwell's ability to prepare for trial. Legal calls do not suffice because we cannot share documents. For example, Ms. Maxwell received new discovery today and yet again a significant amount is not viewable on the hardware and software provided by the government. Because we cannot share documents, that discovery remains unviewable by Ms. Maxwell. Further, ongoing delays in bringing Ms. Maxwell to the day room continue, which reduces the time she is permitted to work on her case and limitations of the quantity of legal materials she is permitted to use during working session severely hamper her ability to prepare her defense for trial.

On August 17th, the third day without VTC for Ms. Maxwell and counsel, I told MDC Legal that the defense has reason to be concerned that VTCs between Ms. Maxwell and counsel may have been tape recorded by the MDC, a concern that accords with our belief that there has been inference with the VTCs on the MDC's end. Notably, when Ms. Maxwell reported to MDC staff her concern that VTCs were being taped, she received no response. Likewise, counsel have received no response from MDC Legal regarding this concern.

As of the writing of this letter, there has been no resumption of VTCs, and the MDC has provided no information.

Any interference by the MDC, BOP, or other government entity with confidential privileged communication between Ms. Maxwell and her counsel is a serious breach of BOP policy, professional ethics, ABA standards and a violation of Ms. Maxwell's constitutional rights. Further, it is seriously impacting her ability to prepare for trial, a situation already compromised by the conditions of her detention.

Based on the foregoing, I request that the Court direct MDC Legal to show cause

- Why the VTC platform has been changed.
- Why resumption of VTCs has been delayed.
- Why VTCs cannot be reinstated on defense counsel's WebEx platform.

Further, it is requested that MDC legal provide a sworn statement regarding whether any VTCs between Ms. Maxwell and counsel have been interfered with, listened to, and/or recorded.

Your consideration is greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

/s/

Ghislaine Maxwell,

Defendant.

20-cr-330 (AJN)

OPINION & ORDER

ALISON J. NATHAN, District Judge:

Maxwell moves to suppress evidence obtained through a grand jury subpoena to a law firm involved in earlier civil litigation against her. She contends that because the documents sought by the subpoena were previously subject to a protective order, the Government obtained them in violation of her rights against compelled self-incrimination, against unreasonable searches and seizures, and to due process of law. For the reasons that follow, the Court concludes that the evidence should not be suppressed and that Maxwell is not entitled to an evidentiary hearing.

I. Background

In late 2015, [redacted] sued Maxwell for defamation. See [redacted] v. Maxwell, No. 15-cv-7433 (S.D.N.Y.). [redacted] alleged that Maxwell defamed her by accusing her of lying about Maxwell and Jeffrey Epstein sexually abusing her. The law firm Boies Schiller Flexner LLP (BSF) represented [redacted] in the dispute. The parties litigated the case for about two years before signing a confidential settlement agreement.

Early in the civil litigation, one of the attorneys representing [redacted] approached an Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) in the Southern District of New York and requested a meeting to provide the Government information on possible criminal conduct. The AUSA met with three attorneys who represented [redacted] on February 29, 2016. The AUSA's notes from the meeting reflect that it focused primarily on Epstein. However, the notes also identify Maxwell as Epstein's "head recruiter" of underage girls. The attorneys sent a few follow-up emails to the AUSA in the following weeks. The United States Attorney's Office did not pursue a criminal investigation at that time.

Maxwell claims based on a New York Daily News article published in October 2020 that a second meeting took place between federal prosecutors and a principal of BSF in the summer of 2016. The Government has represented to the Court that the AUSA who participated in the February 29, 2016 meeting did not participate in a second meeting with BSF attorneys and that the Government has "uncovered no evidence that such a meeting ever occurred." Dkt. No. 204, at 92. However, for purposes of deciding this motion, the Court assumes that it occurred.

About two weeks after the February 29, 2016 meeting, the judge presiding over the civil case entered a protective order that allowed the parties in that case to designate documents produced in discovery as confidential. See Dkt. No. 134-1. That order prohibited the parties from disclosing confidential documents to anyone other than people involved in the case. Although BSF initially proposed language that would allow disclosure of documents to law enforcement without a court order, the final version of the protective order included no such exception. The protective order did not require the parties to obtain the court's approval to mark a document as confidential. It allowed the court to modify the order at any time for good cause after notice to the parties. It also allowed the parties to use any confidential information at trial, at which point that information would become public. It required the parties to return or destroy confidential records after the case ended.

Following entry of the protective order, Maxwell testified in two depositions in the civil case. The parties designated the depositions as confidential under the protective order. Counts five and six of the S1 superseding indictment in this case (and counts seven and eight of the S2 superseding indictment) charge that Maxwell made false statements under oath in each of the depositions.

The Government represents that the Office of the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York formally opened its investigation into Epstein on November 30, 2018, following a series of articles in the Miami Herald about Epstein's conduct and the lenient plea deal he received in the Southern District of Florida. The same day, the AUSA who attended the February 2016 meeting forwarded the emails she received from attorneys in the civil case to the prosecutors working on the fledgling investigation. There is no indication that she was involved in the decision to begin the investigation into Epstein in 2018.

About two months later, the Government served a grand jury subpoena on BSF seeking to obtain documents for its investigation of Epstein. BSF informed the Government that many of the requested documents fell under the protective order. The Government then applied for an ex parte order modifying the protective order to allow BSF to comply with the subpoena. The Government made a second, similar application in connection with a protective order in a different case.

The judge who presided over the civil case passed away in March 2019, and so then-Chief Judge McMahon heard the Government's ex parte application. In a hearing on March 26, 2019, Judge McMahon explained that she believed the Second Circuit's decision in Martindell v. International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., 594 F.2d 291 (2d Cir. 1979), governed the Government's application. Martindell held that a party should not provide documents subject to a protective order to the Government absent a formal motion or subpoena. It further held that a court should modify a protective order that a party reasonably relied on only if the order had been improvidently granted or upon a showing of extraordinary circumstances or compelling need.

Judge McMahon held a second ex parte hearing on April 9, 2019. At that hearing, citing a district court case called Chemical Bank for the proposition that civil litigants ought not foment criminal investigations against their opponents to gain strategic advantage, she asked the Government about contacts between the U.S. Attorney's Office and BSF on the subject of the Government's investigation. The Government explained that BSF had informed the Government that some of the documents the Government sought were covered by a protective order. The Government did not mention any of the communications with BSF attorneys in 2016.

Judge McMahon issued a sealed order granting the Government's application followed by a sealed opinion dated April 9, 2019. In the opinion, she explained that Martindell governed the Government's application, but that two of the Martindell factors supported modification of the protective order. First, Maxwell did not reasonably rely on the protective order because it was subject to modification. Second, the Government had shown extraordinary circumstances supporting modification of the protective order because it could not otherwise obtain information about the high-profile targets of its investigation without tipping them off. Magistrate Judge Netburn denied the Government's similar application in another case, applying the same standard but concluding that the Government had not shown extraordinary circumstances or compelling need.

Following Judge McMahon's order, BSF turned over its records from the civil litigation to the Government. Those documents included transcripts of Maxwell's depositions. The Second Circuit later held that the court in the civil case withheld far too many documents from public view and ordered that many of them be made publicly available. Brown v. Maxwell, 929 F.3d 41, 53 (2d Cir. 2019). Much of what the Government obtained through its subpoena, including the bulk of the deposition transcripts Maxwell now seeks to suppress, have since been unsealed by court order in the civil case. See [redacted] No. 15-cv-7433, Dkt. Nos. 1137, 1212.

II. Discussion

Maxwell objects both to the Government obtaining documents covered by the protective order and to the Government's conduct in doing so. She contends that she agreed to testify in the civil case only because of the protective order, and thus that the Government's use of her deposition testimony against her would violate her right against compelled self-incrimination. She contends that she had a reasonable expectation of privacy in the documents covered by the protective order, and thus that the Government should not have been able to obtain them without a warrant. And she contends that the Government circumvented the requirements of Martindell and violated her due process rights by misleading Judge McMahon about the Government's prior communications with BSF.

The Court finds that none of these arguments support suppression of evidence or justify an evidentiary hearing. The Court begins with Maxwell's claim that the Government violated her right against compelled self-incrimination by obtaining her deposition testimony from the civil case. It next turns to her claim that the Government violated her right against unreasonable searches and seizures. Finally, it addresses Maxwell's claim that the Government misled Judge McMahon in seeking modification of the protective order in the earlier civil case.

A. The Government did not violate Maxwell's right against self-incrimination

The Fifth Amendment provides that "[n]o person . . . shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself." U.S. Const. amend. V. "The [Supreme] Court has held repeatedly that the Fifth Amendment is limited to prohibiting the use of 'physical or moral compulsion' exerted on the person asserting the privilege." Fisher v. United States, 425 U.S. 391, 397 (1976) (quoting Perlman v. United States, 247 U.S. 7, 15 (1918)). It does not prohibit the Government from using a defendant's voluntary statements in a subsequent criminal prosecution.

To establish a violation of the right against compelled self-incrimination, Maxwell must "demonstrate the existence of three elements: 1) compulsion, 2) a testimonial communication, and 3) the incriminating nature of that communication." In re Grand Jury Subpoena, 826 F.2d 1166, 1168 (2d Cir. 1987). Maxwell contends that the Government violated her right against compelled self-incrimination by obtaining copies of her deposition transcripts from her earlier civil case. She acknowledges that she could have, but did not, invoke her Fifth Amendment rights to avoid providing incriminating testimony. See, e.g., Pillsbury Co. v. Conboy, 459 U.S. 248, 263–24 & n.24 (1983). However, she contends that she testified only because she believed the protective order in that case would prevent the Government from obtaining her testimony and using it in a subsequent criminal case against her.

Second Circuit precedent expressly forecloses Maxwell's argument. "A Rule 26(c) protective order, no matter how broad its reach, provides no guarantee that compelled testimony will not somehow find its way into the government's hands for use in a subsequent criminal prosecution." Andover Data Servs. v. Stat. Tabulating Corp., 876 F.2d 1080, 1083 (2d Cir. 1989). As the Second Circuit has explained, a civil protective order may (as here) be overturned or modified by another court in another proceeding. Id. A civil protective order may (as here) be limited by its terms to pretrial proceedings, in which case the parties must expect that confidential documents will come to light as the case progresses. See In re Agent Orange Prod. Liab. Litig., 821 F.2d 139, 147 (2d Cir. 1987); Dkt. No. 134-1 ¶ 13. A court may (as here) unseal documents covered by a civil protective order in the public interest. See Brown, 929 F.3d at 47; [redacted] v. Maxwell, 827 F. App'x 144, 145 (2d Cir. 2020); Lugosch v. Pyramid Co. of Onondaga, 435 F.3d 110, 126 (2d Cir. 2006). Civil litigants have neither a reasonable basis nor legal entitlement to rely on a civil protective order against the use of their testimony in a subsequent criminal proceeding.

Maxwell thus has failed to establish the first and most fundamental element of a violation of her right against compelled self-incrimination: compulsion. Because the protection typically afforded by a civil protective order is both porous and ephemeral, the Second Circuit has held that "a non-consenting witness may not be forced to answer potentially incriminating questions in reliance upon such an order." Andover, 876 F.2d at 1084. Maxwell was free to assert her Fifth Amendment rights in her civil case and refuse to offer incriminating testimony. Longstanding precedent made clear that if she did not do so, the Government could use any such testimony that it learned of against her in a later criminal case. Because the Government did not compel Maxwell to offer incriminating testimony, it did not violate her right against compelled self-incrimination.

Maxwell's alternative argument that BSF's act of turning over her deposition transcripts was itself compelled testimony is likewise without merit. The Supreme Court has held that the act of producing documents in response to a subpoena implicates the Fifth Amendment only in narrow circumstances—when the existence of responsive documents, rather than their content, is inculpatory. Fisher, 425 U.S. at 410–11. This is no such case. The existence of deposition transcripts in Maxwell's civil case is not inculpatory. It is the content of those transcripts that is at issue.

In the face of these straightforward precedents, Maxwell relies primarily on a single district court case decided the year before the Second Circuit's decision in Andover that quashed a subpoena for deposition testimony covered by a civil protective order. See Dkt. No. 140, at 16–17 (citing United States v. Oshatz, 700 F. Supp. 696 (S.D.N.Y. 1988)); Dkt. No. 212, at 12–13 (same). Oshatz does not suggest that the use of civil deposition testimony in a subsequent criminal trial would violate a defendant's right against compelled self-incrimination—and if it did, that view would be plainly inconsistent with the Second Circuit's later, precedential opinions. Instead, the case simply describes the standard for whether a court should modify a protective order to allow a government subpoena. Maxwell cites no case in which a court has suppressed evidence because another court erred in modifying a protective order. Even if Maxwell were right that the protective order should not have been modified, it would not transform her earlier deposition testimony into the product of coercion.

The Government would also be entitled to use Maxwell's deposition testimony against her in her perjury trial notwithstanding any violation of her right against compelled self-incrimination. The Supreme Court has held that a defendant may be prosecuted for false statements in unlawfully compelled testimony. See United States v. Wong, 431 U.S. 174, 179 (1977); United States v. Knox, 396 U.S. 77, 82 (1969). As in Knox, Maxwell seeks to suppress her deposition transcripts not because they are inculpatory "for a prior or subsequent criminal act" but because her statements in those depositions were themselves allegedly criminal. Knox, 396 U.S. at 82. In these circumstances, the Fifth Amendment does not bar the Government's use of her testimony in a prosecution for perjury.

The Court thus concludes that Maxwell is not entitled to suppress her deposition transcripts based on her right against compelled self-incrimination.

B. Maxwell had no reasonable expectation of privacy in documents produced in civil litigation

"The Fourth Amendment protects '[t]he right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures.'" Carpenter v. United States, 138 S. Ct. 2206, 2213 (2018) (alteration in original) (quoting U.S. Const. amend. IV). Government activity qualifies as a search under the Fourth Amendment only if it involves a physical intrusion into a constitutionally protected space or the violation of a person's "reasonable expectation of privacy." United States v. Jones, 565 U.S. 400, 406–07 (2012) (quoting Katz v. United States, 389 U.S. 347, 360 (1967) (Harlan, J., concurring)). Thus, government agents need a warrant to rummage through someone's home, listen in on their phone calls, or search through their phones seized incident to arrest. The Fourth Amendment imposes no limitation on their ability to gather evidence of public activity or review public records.

A person has a reasonable expectation of privacy only if they seek to keep something private and have an objectively reasonable expectation that it will remain private. Smith v. Maryland, 442 U.S. 735, 740 (1979). The Supreme Court has held that people generally lack a reasonable expectation of privacy in information they voluntarily disclose to others. See id. at 743–44; United States v. Miller, 425 U.S. 435, 440 (1976). This is true even if they expect that information to be safeguarded and used only for specific purposes. Thus, the Supreme Court has held that police may obtain bank records or a list of phone numbers a person has dialed without a warrant. Smith, 442 U.S. at 742; Miller, 425 U.S. at 440. In a lone exception to this rule, the Supreme Court has held that people have a reasonable expectation of privacy in geographical information obtained from their cell phones, because that information provides a comprehensive account of a person's movements akin to invasive physical surveillance. See Carpenter, 138 S. Ct. at 2219–20.

Under this standard, Maxwell had no reasonable expectation of privacy in the documents produced during the civil litigation. Those documents may not have been public, but they were hardly private. The protective order allowed them to be shared freely with each of the following categories of people:

- The parties to the case.
- Attorneys involved in the case.
- People employed by or associated with attorneys involved in the case.
- Expert witnesses.
- Fact witnesses.
- Potential witnesses.
- Court personnel and stenographers.

It also allowed any documents to be publicly used at trial. This is not a case like Carpenter where new technology has allowed police to access heretofore "unknowable" information about a person's private life. Id. at 2218. This is a case where Maxwell shared information with third parties through the routine process of civil litigation and now objects that they shared it with the Government, too.

Second Circuit precedent makes clear that Maxwell had no reasonable expectation that documents covered by the protective order would remain shielded from view of the public or prosecutors. The Second Circuit has cautioned civil litigants that a civil protective order is no guarantee against the use of evidence in a subsequent criminal prosecution. See Andover, 876 F.2d at 1083. Second Circuit precedent allows a court in a subsequent proceeding to modify a protective order. Id. And if confidential materials turn out to be relevant to a court's ruling, Second Circuit precedent creates a strong presumption that they will be made public notwithstanding any protective order. See Lugosch, 435 F.3d at 126. These are not remote or theoretical possibilities. Each of them predictably came to pass in this case. See Brown, 929 F.3d at 48 & n.22; [redacted], 827 F. App'x at 145. It is "unrealistic" to believe that deposition testimony central to a civil case of high public interest will remain effectively sealed indefinitely. Andover, 876 F.2d at 1083.

Maxwell claims that she did not expect the Government to be able to obtain her deposition testimony, and that if she knew it would, she never would have testified. If Maxwell subjectively harbored this belief, it was nonetheless unreasonable. See Smith, 442 U.S. at 743. The Court further notes that Maxwell was ably represented by a number of attorneys during the civil litigation, who the Court is confident were familiar with the precedents governing protective orders and public access to judicial documents.

Because Maxwell had no reasonable expectation of privacy in documents shared with third parties during the civil case, the Government did not engage in a search when it obtained those documents from a third party by subpoena. Maxwell also makes a half-hearted argument that obtaining those documents was a seizure of her personal property. Copies of documents held by a law firm that represented Maxwell's adversary in a civil case were not Maxwell's personal property. Thus, the Government engaged in neither a search nor a seizure, and so it did not violate Maxwell's Fourth Amendment right against unreasonable searches and seizures.

The Government also contends that even if it improperly obtained documents pursuant to the grand jury subpoena, the Court should not suppress those documents because the Government acted in good faith and would have obtained the documents anyway. See Nix v.

Williams, 467 U.S. 431, 446 (1984); United States v. Leon, 468 U.S. 897, 922 (1984). The Court agrees that, at the very least, the exception to the exclusionary rule for inevitable discovery applies to the documents that have since been unsealed and made public in the civil case. But because the Court finds no violation of the Fourth Amendment, it concludes that none of the documents should be suppressed.

C. Maxwell is not entitled to suppression under due process or the Court's inherent authority

Maxwell next argues that the materials must be suppressed because the Government violated her due process rights in obtaining them. The gravamen of this claim is that the Government misrepresented its prior contacts with BSF to Judge McMahon. Maxwell contends that this misrepresentation violated her due process rights, or alternatively that the Court should exercise its inherent authority to suppress the evidence obtained through the subpoena as a sanction for governmental misconduct. She contends that even an inadvertent misstatement to a court requires suppression of evidence obtained as a result. She further seeks an evidentiary hearing to explore whether any misrepresentation by the Government in that hearing was intentional.

The Supreme Court has recognized that federal courts have a limited inherent authority to suppress evidence obtained in "willful disobedience of law." United States v. Payner, 447 U.S. 727, 735 n.7 (1980) (quoting McNabb v. United States, 318 U.S. 332, 345 (1943)). But it has also cautioned that courts must exercise this power with restraint. Id. Thus, "the court should not exercise its inherent or supervisory power 'as a substitute for Fourth Amendment jurisprudence.'" United States v. Lambus, 897 F.3d 368, 401 (2d Cir. 2018) (quoting United States v. Ming He, 94 F.3d 782, 792 (2d Cir. 1996)). In situations where the Fourth Amendment or another substantive constitutional provision supplies a standard for the suppression of evidence, courts must follow that standard, not invent their own. See Payner, 447 U.S. at 735.

Maxwell has not established a violation of due process or justified the exercise of the Court's inherent supervisory authority. Not every misstep by the Government during a criminal investigation justifies suppressing relevant evidence. The Supreme Court has repeatedly explained that the exclusionary rule weighs the interest in deterring investigatory misconduct against the truth-seeking function of the judicial process. That balance "do[es] not change because a court has elected to analyze the question under the supervisory power instead of" some other constitutional provision. Id. at 736. Due process provides an independent basis to suppress evidence only when the Government engages in conduct that is "fundamentally unfair or shocking to our traditional sense of justice" or is "so outrageous that common notions of fairness and decency would be offended were judicial processes invoked to obtain a conviction against the accused." United States v. Schmidt, 105 F.3d 82, 91 (2d Cir. 1997) (internal quotation marks omitted). "Ordinarily such official misconduct must involve either coercion or violation of the defendant's person." Id. (citations omitted). This case involves neither. Omitting information about communications with BSF years earlier falls well short of the sort of extreme misconduct supporting suppression as a matter of due process.

To the extent Maxwell asks the Court to engage in a freewheeling exercise of its inherent supervisory power instead, the Court declines to do so. To begin with, suppression under a court's supervisory authority is only appropriate, if at all, when the Government has engaged in "willful disobedience of law." Payner, 447 U.S. at 735 n.7 (emphasis added). Maxwell all but concedes that the present record does not show willful misconduct, contending instead that it "doesn't matter" whether the prosecutor knew his statements to Judge McMahon were misleading. Dkt. No. 134, at 14. In any event, the Court is not without guidance on when a prosecutor's misrepresentation requires a court to suppress evidence. Precedent requires courts to adhere to the standards governing analogous Fourth Amendment claims when asked to suppress evidence under their inherent authority. See Lambus, 897 F.3d at 401–02.

The Supreme Court has set out a clear standard governing when a misrepresentation to a magistrate in a warrant affidavit justifies suppression of evidence obtained as a result. See Franks v. Delaware, 438 U.S. 154 (1978). That standard requires more than an inadvertent misstatement. "To suppress evidence obtained pursuant to an affidavit containing erroneous information, the defendant must show that: (1) the claimed inaccuracies or omissions are the result of the affiant's deliberate falsehood or reckless disregard for the truth; and (2) the alleged falsehoods or omissions were necessary to the issuing judge's probable cause finding." United States v. Canfield, 212 F.3d 713, 717–18 (2d Cir. 2000) (cleaned up). The Supreme Court's decision in Franks forecloses the argument that all misstatements to a court—even all intentional misstatements—necessarily require suppression. A defendant cannot circumvent this standard by couching the same arguments in due process or the court's inherent authority instead. See Payner, 447 U.S. at 736.

Franks also defines the standard governing when a defendant is entitled to an evidentiary hearing on a motion to suppress based on the Government's misrepresentation to a court. To justify an evidentiary hearing, a defendant must make a "substantial preliminary showing" of a deliberately or recklessly false statement and that the alleged false statement was necessary to the court's decision. Franks, 438 U.S. at 155. "Allegations of negligence or innocent mistake are insufficient." Id. at 171.

Although Maxwell relied on Franks in her opening brief, she argues in reply that she need not satisfy that standard. See Dkt. No. 134, at 16; Dkt. No. 285, at 23. However, she provides no explanation for why Franks should not apply. To the extent she offers any alternative framework in her reply, it is that an evidentiary hearing is required whenever any factual issue related to a motion to suppress is in dispute. That formulation is far too broad.

The Court agrees with the Government (and the suggestion in Maxwell's opening brief) that Franks provides the appropriate standard for whether Maxwell is entitled to an evidentiary hearing on her motion. To be sure, these cases are not identical. Franks dealt with an alleged false statement in a warrant affidavit. This case involves an alleged false statement in a hearing to modify a protective order to allow a grand jury subpoena. Franks involved a claim under the Fourth Amendment, while Maxwell couches hers in the Fifth. But while not identical, these settings are closely analogous. Each involves alleged misstatements to a court that allowed the Government to obtain evidence. Each presents a risk of a defense fishing expedition where no wrongdoing appears on the face of the Government's application. Each requires balancing similar interests—deterrence of deliberate misconduct on the one hand, and suppression of evidence inevitably discovered or obtained through innocent error on the other. The Second Circuit has already extended Franks past its precise factual context to a motion to suppress based on alleged misrepresentations in a wiretap application. See United States v. Rajaratnam, 719 F.3d 139, 151 (2d Cir. 2013). The Court concludes that Maxwell must at least meet this standard for a similar claim invoking the Court's inherent authority.

Maxwell must thus make a substantial preliminary showing on each of Franks' requirements to justify an evidentiary hearing. United States v. Salameh, 152 F.3d 88, 113 (2d Cir. 1998). That is, she must first make a substantial preliminary showing that the Government deliberately or recklessly misrepresented facts to Judge McMahon. Second, she must make a substantial preliminary showing that Judge McMahon would have denied the Government's application absent any such misrepresentation. The Court finds that Maxwell has not made a substantial preliminary showing on either prong.

Maxwell's argument here centers on the Government's statements to Judge McMahon during the second proceeding on April 9, 2019, concerning its application to modify the protective order. At that proceeding, Judge McMahon explained that she wanted to make sure the Government's request did not present a similar situation to that in Chemical Bank v. Affiliated FM Ins. Co., 154 F.R.D. 91 (S.D.N.Y. 1994), where a party in civil litigation urged prosecutors to instigate a criminal investigation and then provided confidential documents in violation of a protective order. To that end, she asked the Government to explain "contacts between the United States Attorney's Office and the Boies Schiller firm prior to the issuance of the subpoena on the subject of your investigation." The prosecutor at that hearing informed Judge McMahon about all communications between the U.S. Attorney's Office and BSF after the current investigation began—namely, that the Government told the firm that it intended to make a document request and that the firm told the Government that some of the materials were subject to a protective order. Although the prosecutor was included on an email several months earlier from the AUSA who met with [redacted] attorneys in 2016, he did not inform Judge McMahon about any communications with BSF before the current investigation began.

Maxwell has not made a substantial preliminary showing that the Government's statement was a deliberate or reckless misrepresentation. The AUSA could reasonably have understood Judge McMahon's question to concern only communications about the Government's current investigation. Maxwell contends that the question asked for any communications between BSF and the Government related to Epstein or Maxwell. But an equally plausible understanding of the phrase "on the subject of your investigation" is "related to the investigation itself." That interpretation is all the more reasonable in context, because Chemical Bank involved communications between a party subject to a protective order and prosecutors during a pending criminal investigation. See Chemical Bank, 154 F.R.D. at 93. It was not unreasonable for the prosecutor to assume that Judge McMahon was concerned with those sorts of communications, not communications years earlier that did not lead to a criminal investigation. The Government has represented that its present investigation into Epstein (and later Maxwell) began only following publication of the Miami Herald exposé in 2018. Maxwell has made no substantial preliminary showing to the contrary.

The Court also concludes that Maxwell has made no substantial preliminary showing that Judge McMahon would have denied the Government's application to modify the protective order if she knew about the 2016 communications. Materiality under Franks requires more than that a fact be important. It allows suppression only if "the allegedly false statement is necessary" to the court's finding. Franks, 438 U.S. at 156 (emphasis added). If Judge McMahon would still have ruled that the Government was entitled to ex parte modification of the protective order even after setting aside the Government's alleged misrepresentation, then Maxwell is not entitled to suppression. Judge McMahon's opinion reflects that she would have.

Judge McMahon's ruling rested on two independent grounds. Analyzing the Government's application under Martindell, she first held that Maxwell could not have reasonably relied on the protective order to keep the Government from obtaining documents produced during the civil litigation. Judge McMahon reasoned that a civil litigant ordinarily may not rely on a protective order subject to modification to keep evidence out of the hands of prosecutors. As the Court has explained above, this is consistent with the Second Circuit's statement that a protective order "provides no guarantee that [evidence] will not somehow find its way into the government's hands for use in a subsequent criminal prosecution." Andover, 876 F.2d at 1083. Judge McMahon further reasoned that Maxwell could only have reasonably relied on the protective order insofar as it prohibited BSF from fomenting an investigation against her with confidential documents. If Judge McMahon had known of the 2016 meeting, it is arguable—albeit far from certain—that she might have instead concluded that BSF breached Maxwell's reasonable reliance interests.

But Judge McMahon also held that the Government had shown extraordinary circumstances justifying ex parte modification of the protective order. She observed that modification of the protective order would serve a "significant public interest" and that the Government had demonstrated good cause to obtain the sought materials through a grand jury subpoena without alerting potential targets of its criminal investigation. Extraordinary circumstances or compelling need provide a sufficient, independent basis to modify a protective order under Martindell notwithstanding the parties' reasonable reliance on that order. See Minpeco S.A. v. Conticommodity Servs., Inc., 832 F.2d 739, 742 (2d Cir. 1987) (citing Martindell, 594 F.2d at 296). Thus, even assuming that the Government should have told Judge McMahon about communications with BSF in 2016, and even assuming that information was material to her analysis of Maxwell's reasonable reliance on the protective order, Judge McMahon would still have granted the Government's application. Because the Government's alleged misrepresentation was not necessary to Judge McMahon's ruling, it cannot support suppression under Franks.

The Court thus finds that Maxwell has not made a substantial preliminary showing under either prong of Franks, and thus that she is not entitled to an evidentiary hearing. For the same reasons, and because the present record does not establish a violation of due process, the Court declines to suppress the evidence obtained by the Government's grand jury subpoena.

D. Martindell provides no independent basis for suppression

The Court turns finally to Maxwell's argument that Martindell provides an independent basis for suppression. Maxwell cites no authority in her opening brief for the proposition that a court may suppress evidence because it disagrees with another court's decision to modify a protective order under Martindell. Indeed, there is no such authority. No court has ever granted a motion to suppress on this ground. The Court declines to review Judge McMahon's decision, because Martindell provides no basis to suppress evidence even if this Court were to disagree with it.

Even if Maxwell were right that this Court should review Judge McMahon's decision on the merits, that decision—like a magistrate's probable cause determination—would be entitled to "great deference." Leon, 468 U.S. at 914. Courts will uphold another judge's decision to allow the Government to obtain evidence on a motion to suppress so long as there is a "substantial basis" for the decision. Salameh, 152 F.3d at 113 (quoting Illinois v. Gates, 462 U.S. 213, 238–39 (1983)). Judge McMahon found that the Government had established exceptional circumstances to modify the protective order based on the factual record before her. Judge McMahon concluded that modification was necessary under the circumstances to allow the Government to investigate a high-profile matter in secrecy and so not to tip off the target of the investigation. Although reasonable minds may differ—indeed, Judge Netburn reached the opposite conclusion—there was a substantial basis for Judge McMahon's decision and it is thus entitled to deference. As discussed, the Court is aware of no authority suggesting review of Judge McMahon's modification order is necessary or appropriate in these circumstances. If necessary, the Court would afford it deference and would not disturb Judge McMahon's reasoned and supported decision.

Maxwell's reply brief recasts her claim for suppression under Martindell as simply another argument for suppression under due process or the Court's inherent authority. Because, in her view, the Government did not satisfy the requirements of Martindell, its attempt to modify the protective order violated her due process rights. And because, she alleges, the Government misrepresented facts to Judge McMahon, this Court should exercise its inherent authority to suppress evidence as a sanction for governmental misconduct.

The Court is not persuaded. For the reasons set forth above, the Government's application for modification of the protective order did not violate Maxwell's due process rights. Due process does not categorically bar an ex parte modification to a protective order, and Judge McMahon found that the Government had shown extraordinary circumstances to do so. To the extent Maxwell seeks suppression based on an alleged misrepresentation to Judge McMahon, for the reasons set forth above, she has not met the high bar for a due process violation or made the required showing under Franks that would entitle her to an evidentiary hearing. Whether Maxwell advances these arguments under Martindell or directly under due process, they do not support suppression.

Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, the Court finds that the Government did not violate Maxwell's constitutional rights when it obtained evidence covered by a protective order in her earlier civil case. It further finds that Maxwell is not entitled to suppression of any evidence or to an evidentiary hearing. The Court thus DENIES Maxwell's motions to suppress (Dkt. Nos. 133, 139).

Hi Tracy,

I hope you had a nice weekend, and thanks again for the call last week. I've attached the FedEx records for which we are looking for a records custodian. According to a log, the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Florida sent FedEx a subpoena in February 2008, and the FedEx point of contact was [redacted] If we find any front matter, like an internal tracking number, we'll let you know.

Thanks again for your assistance with this. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Hey guys,

To answer your questions:

- [redacted] you should have [redacted] 302's from [redacted] by now.
- These photos are still under review.
- We have not forgotten about the .avi files they are also still being processed.

Hi [redacted] and [redacted],

Just wanted to check in on a few tasks for Maxwell. Not a huge rush, but wanted to make sure these stay on your radar:

- Please send me the draft 302s from the 1/20 and 1/21 interviews of [redacted] [redacted] for review
- Review of images in FBI office for photos of [redacted]
- The .avi files from Reiter ([redacted], I know CART has been under water with the Capitol investigation, but wanted to ping on this to make sure we don't forget it)
- Finding PBPD witness who can authenticate the message pads and other items that were seized from Epstein's Palm Beach residence. On this, I've gone through the reports, and below are the PBPD personnel who I think might be able to provide this testimony. If you could please get me contact information for a point of contact at PBPD, I'm happy to hound them for contact info for these individuals (ranked in order of how likely they are to be useful witnesses for these purposes):
    - Evidence Specialist [redacted] (inventory return, documentation of property receipts, and collection and bagging of evidence – ideally we could just call her to authenticate everything that was seized from the property)
    - [redacted] (searched garage, towel closet and pantry off the kitchen, kitchen phone message book, office room, green bathroom on first floor, closet by green bathroom, two bedrooms on second floor with sex toys, pool cabana, [redacted] living quarters)
    - [redacted] (searched garage, towel closet and pantry off the kitchen, kitchen phone message book, officer room, green bathroom on first floor, closet by green bathroom, two bedrooms on second floor with sex toys, pool cabana, [redacted] living quarters)
    - [redacted] (read warrant, video scene)
    - CSI [redacted] (photographer)
    - [redacted] (pantry next to kitchen, yellow and blue room with photos, main entrance, blue room with photos, sliding glass door room, cars)
    - Detective [redacted] (pantry next to kitchen, yellow and blue room with photos, main entrance, blue room with photos, sliding glass door room, cars)

Hi Tracy,

We'd like someone to sign an affidavit for now, but we'd also like to identify someone who could testify at trial if need be. The trial is for Ghislaine Maxwell, scheduled to start in New York in November.

I've attached a proposed declaration, though if FedEx has its own standard format, that will likely work too.

Thanks,

Hi Tracy,

I hope you had a nice weekend, and thanks again for the call last week. I've attached the FedEx records for which we are looking for a records custodian. According to a log, the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Florida sent FedEx a subpoena in February 2008, and the FedEx point of contact was Tracy Ferrara. If we find any front matter, like an internal tracking number, we'll let you know.

Thanks again for your assistance with this. Please let me know if you have any questions.

Declaration of Custodian of Records

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1746, I, the undersigned, hereby declare:

My name is TRACY CHAPELL.
(name of declarant)

I am a United States citizen and I am over eighteen years of age. I am a custodian of records of the business named below (the "Business"), or I am otherwise qualified as a result of my position with the Business to make this declaration.

I have reviewed records[1] of the Business, which have been provided to law enforcement in connection with an investigation and prosecution by the United States Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York. Those records consist of the following (collectively, the "Records"):

FedEx Express Invoices Numbered 4-397-85573, dated October 14, 2002, for Account Number 1144-2081-6, billed to Jeffrey Epstein, 457 Madison Avenue, New York, NY 10022-6843

Pursuant to Rules 902(11) and 803(6) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, I hereby certify that the foregoing Records of the Business:

(1) were made at or near the time of the occurrence of the matters set forth in the records, by, or from information transmitted by, a person with knowledge of those matters;

(2) were kept in the course of regularly conducted business activity; and

(3) were made by the regularly conducted business activity as a regular practice.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on July 7, 2021.

Hello [redacted]

My name is Christopher Brennan and I am an American reporter based in Paris, France.

I am looking to write a story about the role that Le Bourget airport in Paris played in the travels of Jeffrey Epstein before his death. As the case in NYSD is closed, I was wondering if I could speak to someone from your team about it, specifically about Epstein's modus operandi in regards to travel including airports.

Feel free to call me at my Skype number, which acts as a normal New York number and is [redacted].

Best,

I just got a call from one of our agents at FBI, who told me that she received a CBP alert that Epstein is scheduled to fly from Paris to Teterboro airport tomorrow, landing at around 5:30. She said the agents plan to be ready at the airport before the flight arrives, and that they intend to coordinate with CBP so that he is held upon arrival. Given the timing, we expect this would be a Monday presentment.

The agents plan to execute the search warrant at the NYC residence immediately following the arrest on Saturday night—I'm about to reach out to the duty magistrate in the hopes of swearing it out today.

Regarding approaches, I checked with our agent and she told me that they should be able to make approaches starting on Sunday morning.

I'll keep everyone updated—

NON-PROSECUTION AGREEMENT

IT APPEARING that the City of Palm Beach Police Department and the State Attorney's Office for the 15th Judicial Circuit in and for Palm Beach County (hereinafter, the "State Attorney's Office") have conducted an investigation into the conduct of Jeffrey Epstein (hereinafter "Epstein");

IT APPEARING that the State Attorney's Office has charged Epstein by indictment with solicitation of prostitution, in violation of Florida Statutes Section 796.07;

IT APPEARING that the United States Attorney's Office and the Federal Bureau of Investigation have conducted their own investigation into Epstein's background and any offenses that may have been committed by Epstein against the United States from in or around 2001 through in or around September 2007, including:

(1) knowingly and willfully conspiring with others known and unknown to commit an offense against the United States, that is, to use a facility or means of interstate or foreign commerce to knowingly persuade, induce, or entice minor females to engage in prostitution, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 2422(b); all in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 371;

(2) knowingly and willfully conspiring with others known and unknown to travel in interstate commerce for the purpose of engaging in illicit sexual conduct, as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2423(f), with minor females, in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 2423(b); all in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 2423(e);

(3) using a facility or means of interstate or foreign commerce to knowingly persuade, induce, or entice minor females to engage in prostitution; in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 2422(b) and 2;

(4) traveling in interstate commerce for the purpose of engaging in illicit sexual conduct, as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2423(f), with minor females; in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Section 2423(b); and

(5) knowingly, in and affecting interstate and foreign commerce, recruiting, enticing, and obtaining by any means a person, knowing that the person had not attained the age of 18 years and would be caused to engage in a commercial sex act as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 1591(c)(1); in violation of Title 18, United States Code, Sections 1591(a)(1) and 2; and

IT APPEARING that Epstein seeks to resolve globally his state and federal criminal liability and Epstein understands and acknowledges that, in exchange for the benefits provided by this agreement, he agrees to comply with its terms, including undertaking certain actions with the State Attorney's Office;

IT APPEARING, after an investigation of the offenses and Epstein's background by both State and Federal law enforcement agencies, and after due consultation with the State Attorney's Office, that the interests of the United States, the State of Florida, and the Defendant will be served by the following procedure;

THEREFORE, on the authority of R. Alexander Acosta, United States Attorney for the Southern District of Florida, prosecution in this District for these offenses shall be deferred in favor of prosecution by the State of Florida, provided that Epstein abides by the following conditions and the requirements of this Agreement set forth below.

If the United States Attorney should determine, based on reliable evidence, that, during the period of the Agreement, Epstein willfully violated any of the conditions of this Agreement, then the United States Attorney may, within ninety (90) days following the expiration of the term of home confinement discussed below, provide Epstein with timely notice specifying the condition(s) of the Agreement that he has violated, and shall initiate its prosecution on any offense within sixty (60) days' of giving notice of the violation. Any notice provided to Epstein pursuant to this paragraph shall be provided within 60 days of the United States learning of facts which may provide a basis for a determination of a breach of the Agreement.

After timely fulfilling all the terms and conditions of the Agreement, no prosecution for the offenses set out on pages 1 and 2 of this Agreement, nor any other offenses that have been the subject of the joint investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the United States Attorney's Office, nor any offenses that arose from the Federal Grand Jury investigation will be instituted in this District, and the charges against Epstein if any, will be dismissed.

Terms of the Agreement:

1. Epstein shall plead guilty (not nolo contendere) to the Indictment as currently pending against him in the 15th Judicial Circuit in and for Palm Beach County (Case No. 2006-cf-009495AXXXMB) charging one (1) count of solicitation of prostitution, in violation of Fl. Stat. § 796.07. In addition, Epstein shall plead guilty to an Information filed by the State Attorney's Office charging Epstein with an offense that requires him to register as a sex offender, that is, the solicitation of minors to engage in prostitution, in violation of Florida Statutes Section 796.03;

2. Epstein shall make a binding recommendation that the Court impose a thirty (30) month sentence to be divided as follows:

   (a) Epstein shall be sentenced to consecutive terms of twelve (12) months and six (6) months in county jail for all charges, without any opportunity for withholding adjudication or sentencing, and without probation or community control in lieu of imprisonment; and

   (b) Epstein shall be sentenced to a term of twelve (12) months of community control consecutive to his two terms in county jail as described in Term 2(a), supra.

3. This agreement is contingent upon a Judge of the 15th Judicial Circuit accepting and executing the sentence agreed upon between the State Attorney's Office and Epstein, the details of which are set forth in this agreement.

4. The terms contained in paragraphs 1 and 2, supra, do not foreclose Epstein and the State Attorney's Office from agreeing to recommend any additional charge(s) or any additional term(s) of probation and/or incarceration.

5. Epstein shall waive all challenges to the Information filed by the State Attorney's Office and shall waive the right to appeal his conviction and sentence, except a sentence that exceeds what is set forth in paragraph (2), supra.

6. Epstein shall provide to the U.S. Attorney's Office copies of all proposed agreements with the State Attorney's Office prior to entering into those agreements.

7. The United States shall provide Epstein's attorneys with a list of individuals whom it has identified as victims, as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2255, after Epstein has signed this agreement and been sentenced. Upon the execution of this agreement, the United States, in consultation with and subject to the good faith approval of Epstein's counsel, shall select an attorney representative for these persons, who shall be paid for by Epstein. Epstein's counsel may contact the identified individuals through that representative.

8. If any of the individuals referred to in paragraph (7), supra, elects to file suit pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2255, Epstein will not contest the jurisdiction of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Florida over his person and/or the subject matter, and Epstein waives his right to contest liability and also waives his right to contest damages up to an amount as agreed to between the identified individual and Epstein, so long as the identified individual elects to proceed exclusively under 18 U.S.C. § 2255, and agrees to waive any other claim for damages, whether pursuant to state, federal, or common law. Notwithstanding this waiver, as to those individuals whose names appear on the list provided by the United States, Epstein's signature on this agreement, his waivers and failures to contest liability and such damages in any suit are not to be construed as an admission of any criminal or civil liability.

9. Epstein's signature on this agreement also is not to be construed as an admission of civil or criminal liability or a waiver of any jurisdictional or other defense as to any person whose name does not appear on the list provided by the United States.

10. Except as to those individuals who elect to proceed exclusively under 18 U.S.C. § 2255, as set forth in paragraph (8), supra, neither Epstein's signature on this agreement, nor its terms, nor any resulting waivers or settlements by Epstein are to be construed as admissions or evidence of civil or criminal liability or a waiver of any jurisdictional or other defense as to any person, whether or not her name appears on the list provided by the United States.

11. Epstein shall use his best efforts to enter his guilty plea and be sentenced not later than October 26, 2007. The United States has no objection to Epstein self-reporting to begin serving his sentence not later than January 4, 2008.

12. Epstein agrees that he will not be afforded any benefits with respect to gain time, other than the rights, opportunities, and benefits as any other inmate, including but not limited to, eligibility for gain time credit based on standard rules and regulations that apply in the State of Florida. At the United States' request, Epstein agrees to provide an accounting of the gain time he earned during his period of incarceration.

13. The parties anticipate that this agreement will not be made part of any public record. If the United States receives a Freedom of Information Act request or any compulsory process commanding the disclosure of the agreement, it will provide notice to Epstein before making that disclosure.

Epstein understands that the United States Attorney has no authority to require the State Attorney's Office to abide by any terms of this agreement. Epstein understands that it is his obligation to undertake discussions with the State Attorney's Office and to use his best efforts to ensure compliance with these procedures, which compliance will be necessary to satisfy the United States' interest. Epstein also understands that it is his obligation to use his best efforts to convince the Judge of the 15th Judicial Circuit to accept Epstein's binding recommendation regarding the sentence to be imposed, and understands that the failure to do so will be a breach of the agreement.

In consideration of Epstein's agreement to plead guilty and to provide compensation in the manner described above, if Epstein successfully fulfills all of the terms and conditions of this agreement, the United States also agrees that it will not institute any criminal charges against any potential co-conspirators of Epstein, [redacted]. Further, upon execution of this agreement and a plea agreement with the State Attorney's Office, the federal Grand Jury investigation will be suspended, and all pending federal Grand Jury subpoenas will be held in abeyance unless and until the defendant violates any term of this agreement. The defendant likewise agrees to withdraw his pending motion to intervene and to quash certain grand jury subpoenas. Both parties agree to maintain their evidence, specifically evidence requested by or directly related to the grand jury subpoenas that have been issued, and including certain computer equipment, inviolate until all of the terms of this agreement have been satisfied. Upon the successful completion of the terms of this agreement, all outstanding grand jury subpoenas shall be deemed withdrawn.

By signing this agreement, Epstein asserts and certifies that each of these terms is material to this agreement and is supported by independent consideration and that a breach of any one of these conditions allows the United States to elect to terminate the agreement and to investigate and prosecute Epstein and any other individual or entity for any and all federal offenses.

By signing this agreement, Epstein asserts and certifies that he is aware of the fact that the Sixth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States provides that in all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial. Epstein further is aware that Rule 48(b) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure provides that the Court may dismiss an indictment, information, or complaint for unnecessary delay in presenting a charge to the Grand Jury, filing an information, or in bringing a defendant to trial. Epstein hereby requests that the United States Attorney for the Southern District of Florida defer such prosecution. Epstein agrees and consents that any delay from the date of this Agreement to the date of initiation of prosecution, as provided for in the terms expressed herein, shall be deemed to be a necessary delay at his own request, and he hereby waives any defense to such prosecution on the ground that such delay operated to deny him rights under Rule 48(b) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure and the Sixth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States to a speedy trial or to bar the prosecution by reason of the running of the statute of limitations for a period of months equal to the period between the signing of this agreement and the breach of this agreement as to those offenses that were the subject of the grand jury's investigation. Epstein further asserts and certifies that he understands that the Fifth Amendment and Rule 7(a) of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure provide that all felonies must be charged in an indictment presented to a grand jury. Epstein hereby agrees and consents that, if a prosecution against him is instituted for any offense that was the subject of the grand jury's investigation, it may be by way of an Information signed and filed by the United States Attorney, and hereby waives his right to be indicted by a grand jury as to any such offense.

ADDENDUM TO THE NON-PROSECUTION AGREEMENT

IT APPEARING that the parties seek to clarify certain provisions of page 4, paragraph 7 of the Non-Prosecution Agreement (hereinafter "paragraph 7"), that agreement is modified as follows:

7A. The United States has the right to assign to an independent third-party the responsibility for consulting with and, subject to the good faith approval of Epstein's counsel, selecting the attorney representative for the individuals identified under the Agreement. If the United States elects to assign this responsibility to an independent third-party, both the United States and Epstein retain the right to make good faith objections to the attorney representative suggested by the independent third-party prior to the final designation of the attorney representative.

7B. The parties will jointly prepare a short written submission to the independent third-party regarding the role of the attorney representative and regarding Epstein's Agreement to pay such attorney representative his or her regular customary hourly rate for representing such victims subject to the provisions of paragraph C, infra.

7C. Pursuant to additional paragraph 7A, Epstein has agreed to pay the fees of the attorney representative selected by the independent third party. This provision, however, shall not obligate Epstein to pay the fees and costs of contested litigation filed against him. Thus, if after consideration of potential settlements, an attorney representative elects to file a contested lawsuit pursuant to 18 U.S.C. s 2255 or elects to pursue any other contested remedy, the paragraph 7 obligation of the Agreement to pay the costs of the attorney representative, as opposed to any statutory or other obligations to pay reasonable attorneys fees and costs such as those contained in s 2255 to bear the costs of the attorney representative, shall cease.

By signing this Addendum, Epstein asserts and certifies that the above has been read and explained to him. Epstein hereby states that he understands the clarifications to the Non-Prosecution Agreement and agrees to comply with them.

FROM: UNITED STATES ATTORNEY
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK
PHONE: 212-637-2200

DISTRICT POC: Geoffrey S. Berman, U.S. Attorney
Phone [redacted]
[redacted]

SYNOPSIS:

The USAO-SDNY plans to indict Jeffrey Epstein on one count of sex trafficking of a minor and one count of conspiracy to commit sex trafficking of a minor. The charges stem from Epstein's sexual abuse of minor girls in Palm Beach, Florida, and New York, New York, from at least in or about 2002, through up to and including in or about 2005. We plan to seek the indictment on or about July 2, 2019.

DESCRIPTION:

Since approximately December 2018, the USAO-SDNY has been investigating Jeffrey Epstein, a wealthy financier who during the relevant period maintained multiple residences in the continental United States and elsewhere, including in New York, New York (the "New York Residence"), and Palm Beach, Florida (the "Palm Beach Residence"). Beginning in at least 2002, Epstein enticed and recruited, and caused to be enticed and recruited, dozens of minor girls to engage in sex acts with him at the New York Residence and the Palm Beach Residence in exchange for money. In both New York and Florida, Epstein perpetrated this abuse in similar ways. Victims were initially recruited to provide "massages" to Epstein, which would be performed nude or partially nude, became increasingly sexual in nature, and would typically include one or more sex acts. Epstein paid his victims several hundred dollars in cash for each encounter. Moreover, Epstein paid certain of his victims to recruit additional minor girls to be similarly sexually abused. In this manner, Epstein maintained a steady supply of new victims to exploit. In particular, three victims in New York and Florida have described this pattern of conduct and abuse; each of the three victims also recruited other girls for Epstein to victimize in exchange for payment from Epstein.

Epstein previously was investigated for this conduct by the Southern District of Florida U.S. Attorney's Office ("SDFL"), which entered into a non-prosecution agreement with Epstein (the "NPA"). By its terms, the NPA does not purport to bind any prosecuting authority other than the SDFL, and only purports to provide coverage for certain listed Florida victims. Here, the substantive count does not include as a victim any individuals based in Florida. Additionally, although the charged conduct occurred some time ago, for each count the sexual abuse occurred, in part, after April 2003, when 18 U.S.C. § 3283 was revised to permit the prosecution of sex offenses against minors at any time during the lifetime of the minor victim. Related, although currently the statute for conspiring to commit sex trafficking is 18 U.S.C. § 1594, that statute was not enacted until 2008, after the conduct described herein; accordingly, we intend to charge a conspiracy under 18 U.S.C. § 371.

The USAO-SDNY intends to indict Epstein on one count of sex trafficking of a minor, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1591, and one count of conspiracy to commit sex trafficking of a minor, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 371.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF FLORIDA

CASE NO. 08-80736-CIV-MARRA

JANE DOE 1 AND JANE DOE 2,

Petitioners, vs.

UNITED STATES,

Respondent.

OPINION AND ORDER

This cause is before the Court upon Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment (DE 361); the United States's Cross-Motion for Summary Judgment (DE 408); Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2's Motion to Compel Answers (DE 348) and Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2's Motion for Finding Waiver of Work Product and Similar Protections by Government and for Production of Documents (DE 414). The Motions are fully briefed and ripe for review. The Court has carefully considered the Motions and is otherwise fully advised in the premises.

I. Background

The facts, as culled from affidavits, exhibits, depositions, answers to interrogatories and reasonably inferred, for the purpose of these motions, are as follows:

From between about 1999 and 2007, Jeffrey Epstein sexually abused more than 30 minor girls, including Petitioners Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2 (hereinafter, "Petitioners"), at his mansion in Palm Beach, Florida, and elsewhere in the United States and overseas. (Government Resp. to Petitioner's Statement of Undisputed Material Facts (hereinafter, "DE 407" at ¶ 1.) Because

Epstein and his co-conspirators knowingly traveled in interstate and international commerce to sexually abuse Jane Doe 1, Jane Doe 2 and others, they committed violations of not only Florida law, but also federal law. (DE 407 at ¶ 2.) In addition to his own sexual abuse of the victims, Epstein directed other persons to abuse the girls sexually. (DE 407 at ¶ 3.) Epstein used paid employees to find and bring minor girls to him. Epstein worked in concert with others to obtain minors not only for his own sexual gratification, but also for the sexual gratification of others. (DE 407 at ¶ 8.)

In 2005, the Town of Palm Beach Police Department ("PBPD") received a complaint from the parents of a 14 year old girl about her sexual abuse by Jeffery Epstein. The PBPD ultimately identified approximately 20 girls between the ages of 14 and 17 who were sexually abused by Epstein. (DE 407 at ¶ 4.) In 2006, at the request of the PBPD, the Federal Bureau of Investigation ("FBI") opened an investigation into allegations that Epstein and his personal assistants used the facilities of interstate commerce to induce girls between the ages of 14 and 17 to engage in illegal sexual activities. (DE 407 at ¶ 5.) The FBI ultimately determined that both Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2 were victims of sexual abuse by Epstein while they were minors. Jane Doe 1 provided information about her abuse and Jane Doe 2's abuse to the FBI on August 7, 2007. (DE 407 at ¶ 6.)

From January of 2007 through September of 2007, discussions took place between the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Florida ("the Office") and Jeffrey Epstein's attorneys. (DE 407 at ¶ 9.) On February 1, 2007, Epstein's defense team sent a 24-page letter to the Office going over what they intended to present during a meeting at the Office the same day. (DE 407 at ¶ 10.)

By March 15, 2007, the Office was sending letters to victims informing them of their rights pursuant to the Crime Victims' Rights Act ("CVRA"). (DE 407 at ¶ 11.) By May of 2007, the Office had drafted an 82-page prosecution memorandum and a 53-page indictment outlining numerous federal sexual offenses committed by Epstein. (DE 407 at ¶ 12.) On or about June 7, 2007, FBI agents had delivered to Jane Doe 1 a standard CVRA victim notification letter.[1] The notification letter promised that the Justice Department would make its "best efforts" to protect Jane Doe 1's rights, including "the reasonable right to confer with the attorney for the United States in the case" and " to be reasonably heard at any public proceeding in the district court involving [a] . . . plea." The notification further stated that, "[a]t this time, your case is under investigation." (DE 407 at ¶ 13.) Jane Doe 1 relied on those representations and believed that the Government would protect those rights and keep her informed about the progress of her case. (DE 407 at ¶ 14.)

On July 6, 2007, Epstein's lawyers sent a 23-page letter lodging numerous arguments to persuade the Office that no federal crimes had been committed by him. (DE 407 at ¶ 15.) By August 3, 2007, the Government had rejected Epstein's various arguments against federal

Initially, Jane Doe 2 was unwilling to provide any information to the FBI or the Office unless she was assured her statements would not be used against her. She also described Epstein as "an awesome man" and stated that she hoped "nothing happens to" him. (DE 415 at ¶¶ 14-15.) This was during the time period where Jane Doe 2 had obtained counsel paid for by Epstein. (Jane Doe 2 Decl. ¶¶ 5-7.)

Assistant United States Attorney ("AUSA") [redacted] ("line prosecutor" "[redacted]") testified that both Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2 received letters describing their rights under the CVRA. Although Jane Doe 1 and 2 were given Ms. [redacted] and the FBI agent's name and phone number, neither contacted either of them. ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 5, DE 403-19.)

charges and sent a letter to Epstein's counsel stating, "[w]e would reiterate that the agreement to Section 2255 [a civil restitution provision] liability applies to all of the minor girls identified during the federal investigation, not just the 12 that form the basis of an initial planned charging instrument." (DE 407 at ¶ 17.) On September 10, 2007, multiple drafts of a non-prosecution agreement ("NPA") had been exchanged between Epstein's counsel and the Office. (DE 407 at ¶ 18.)

On September 12, 2007, while attempting to create alternative charges against Epstein, the Office expressed concern about "the effect of taking the position that Mr. Epstein's house is in the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States" because the Government had "no evidence of any assaults occurring either on Mr. Epstein's plane or offshore from his residence." (DE 407 at ¶ 19.) On September 13, 2007, the line prosecutor emailed Epstein's counsel indicating an effort to come up with a solution to the aforementioned concern and she stated that she had been "spending some quality time with Title 18 looking for misdemeanors." The line prosecutor further indicated, "I know that someone mentioned there being activity on an airplane. I just want to make sure that there is a factual basis for the plea that the agents can confirm." Epstein's counsel responded, "[a]lready thinking about the same statutes." (DE 407 at ¶ 20.)

On September 14, 2007, after having spoken on the telephone about the subject matter of the September 13 emails, Epstein's counsel and the line prosecutor exchanged emails including a proposed plea agreement for Epstein to plead guilty to assaulting one of his coconspirators. (DE 407 at ¶ 21.) On September 15, 2007, the line prosecutor sent an email to the Epstein defense team raising concerns about a resolution that would not involve one of

Epstein's minor victims and stating:

> I have gotten some negative reaction to the assault charge with [a co-conspirator] as the victim, since she is considered one of the main perpetrators of the offenses that we planned to charge in the indictment. Can you talk to Mr. Epstein about a young woman named [Jane Doe]? We have hearsay evidence that she traveled on Mr. Epstein's airplane when she was under 18, in around the 2000 or 2001 time frame.

(DE 407 at ¶ 22.)

On September 16, 2007, the line prosecutor corresponded with Epstein's counsel about having Epstein plead guilty to obstruction of justice for pressuring one of his co-conspirators not to turn over evidence or complying with a previously-served grand jury subpoena. (DE 407 at ¶ 23.) The Office also stated, "On an 'avoid the press' note, I believe that Mr. Epstein's airplane was in Miami on the day of the [co-conspirator] telephone call. If he was in Miami-Dade County at the time, then I can file the charge in the District Court in Miami, which will hopefully cut the press coverage significantly." They also discussed having Epstein plead guilty to a second charge of assaulting a different co-conspirator. (DE 407 at ¶ 24.)

On September 16, 2007, the line prosecutor wrote to Epstein's counsel indicating that the Office did not like the factual basis for the proposed charges as the Office was "not investigating Mr. Epstein [for] abusing his girlfriend." (DE 407 at ¶ 25.) The correspondence further stated:

> [redacted] [i.e., AUSA [redacted]] recommended that some of the timing issues be addressed only in the state agreement, so that it isn't obvious to the judge that we are trying to create federal jurisdiction for prison purposes.
> I will include our standard language regarding resolving all criminal liability and I will mention 'co-conspirators,' but I would prefer not to highlight for the judge all of the other crimes and all of the other persons that we could charge. Also, we do not > have the power to bind Immigration . . . there is no plan to try to proceed on any immigration charges against either Ms. [co-conspirator] or Ms. [coconspirator]

(Ex. 7, DE 361-7.)

In the same email, the line prosecutor wrote to defense counsel about a meeting outside the U.S. Attorney's Office: "Maybe we can set a time to meet. If you want to meet 'off campus' somewhere, that is fine." (DE 407 at ¶ 27.) On about September 16, 2007, Epstein's counsel provided a proposed NPA to the Government that extended immunity from federal prosecution not only to Epstein, but also to certain co-conspirators. (DE 407 at ¶ 28.)

On September 17, 2007, the line prosecutor wrote to defense counsel Jay Lefkowitz: "Please send [a document] to my home e-mail address – [redacted] and give me a call on my cell [redacted] so I can be ready for some discussions tomorrow." (DE 407 at ¶ 29.) On September 17, 2007, Lefkowitz responded: "[D]o you have another obstruction proffer I can review that you have drafted? Also, if we go that route, would you intend to make the deferred prosecution agreement public?" (DE 407 at ¶ 30.)

On September 18, 2007, the Office responded: "A non-prosecution agreement would not be made public or filed with the Court, but it would remain part of our case file. It probably would be subject to a FOIA request, but it is not something that we would distribute without compulsory process." (DE 407 at ¶ 31.) On September 20, 2007, the U.S. Attorney's Office wrote: "On the issue about 18 USC 2255, we seem to be miles apart. Your most recent version not only had me binding the girls to a trust fund administered by the state court, but also promising that they will give up their 2255 rights.… In the context of a non-prosecution agreement, the office may be more willing to be specific about not pursuing charges against others." (DE 407 at ¶ 32.)

On September 21, 2007, Palm Beach County State Attorney Barry Krischer wrote the line prosecutor about the proposed agreement and added: "Glad we could get this worked out for reasons I won't put in writing. After this is resolved I would love to buy you a cup at Starbucks and have a conversation." (DE 407 at ¶ 33.) On September 21, 2007, the line prosecutor emailed Epstein's counsel stating, "I think that the attached addresses the concerns about having an unlimited number of claimed victims, without me trying to bind girls whom I do not represent." (DE 407 at ¶ 34.) On September 23, 2007, the U.S. Attorney's Office sent an email to Lefkowitz stating: "It is factually accurate that the list we are going to give you are persons we have identified as victims. If we did not think they were victims, they would have no right to bring suit." (DE 407 at ¶ 35.)

On September 24, 2007, the line prosecutor sent an e-mail to a prospective representative for the Epstein victims, entitled "Conflict Check." The email confirmed the girls' status as victims, stating: "Please keep this confidential because these are minor victims. This is a preliminary list." Later on September 24, 2007, the line prosecutor sent an email to Lefkowitz stating: "I have compiled a list of 34 confirmed minors." (DE 407 at ¶ 36.) As correspondence continued on September 24, 2007, and the NPA was being executed, Lefkowitz sent an email to the line prosecutor stating: "[redacted] – Please do whatever you can to keep this [i.e., the NPA] from becoming public." (DE 407 at ¶ 37.)

On September 24, 2007, Epstein and the Office formally reached an agreement whereby the United States would defer federal prosecution in favor of prosecution by the State of Florida. Epstein and the Office accordingly entered into a NPA reflecting such an agreement. (DE 407 at ¶ 38.) The NPA provided that "the United States, in consultation with and subject to the good faith approval of Epstein's counsel, shall select an attorney representative for [the victims], who shall be paid for by Epstein." The NPA also provided that if any of the victims elected to bring suit under 18 U.S.C. § 2255, they must agree to waive any other claim for damages. As part of the NPA, Epstein would not contest the jurisdiction of the United States District Court and waived his right to contest liability and damages. (NPA, DE 361-62.)

Among other provisions, the NPA expanded immunity to any "potential coconspirator" of Epstein's: "In consideration of Epstein's agreement to plead guilty and to provide compensation in the manner described above, if Epstein successfully fulfills all of the terms and conditions of this agreement, the United States also agrees that it will not institute any criminal charges against any potential co-conspirators of Epstein, including but not limited to [redacted]." (DE 407 at ¶ 40.) The NPA also provided that: "The parties anticipate that this agreement will not be made part of any public record. If the United States receives a Freedom of Information Act request or any compulsory process commanding the disclosure of the agreement, it will provide notice to Epstein before making that disclosure." (DE 407 at ¶ 41.)

From the time the FBI began investigating Epstein until September 24, 2007—when the NPA was concluded—the Office never conferred with the victims about a NPA or told the victims that such an agreement was under consideration. ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 7, DE 361-64; DE 407 at ¶ 43.) Many, if not all, other similarly-situated victims received standard CVRA victim notification letters substantively identical to those sent to Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2. (DE 407 at ¶ 44.) The Office did not consult or confer with any of the victims about the NPA before it was signed. (DE 407 at ¶¶ 45-46.)

Epstein's counsel was aware that the Office was deliberately keeping the NPA secret from the victims and, indeed, had sought assurances to that effect. (DE 407 at ¶ 48.) After the NPA was signed, Epstein's counsel and the Office began negotiations about whether the victims would be told about the NPA. (DE 407 at ¶ 49.) It was a deviation from the Government's standard practice to negotiate with defense counsel about the extent of crime victim notifications. (DE 407 at ¶ 50.)

On September 24, 2007, the Office sent an email to Lefkowitz:

> Thank you, Jay. I have forwarded your message only to [United States Attorney] Alex [Acosta], [redacted], and [redacted]. I don't anticipate it going any further than that. When I receive the originals, I will sign and return one copy to you. The other will be placed in the case file, which will be kept confidential since it also contains identifying information about the girls.
> When we reach an agreement about the attorney representative for the girls, we can discuss what I can tell him and the girls about the agreement. I know that [redacted] promised [redacted] an update when a resolution was achieved.… [redacted] is calling, but [redacted] knows not to tell [redacted] about the money issue, just about what crimes Mr. Epstein is pleading guilty to and the amount of time that has been agreed to. [redacted] also is telling [redacted] not to disclose the outcome to anyone.

(DE 407 at ¶ 52.)

On September 25, 2007, the line prosecutor sent an e-mail to Lefkowitz stating: "And can we have a conference call to discuss what I may disclose to . . . the girls regarding the agreement." (DE 407 at ¶ 53.) Also on September 25, 2007, the line prosecutor sent an email to Lefkowitz which stated in part: "They [Ted Babbitt, Stuart Grossman, Chris Searcy, [L]ake Lytal] are all very good personal injury lawyers, but I have concerns about whether there would be an inherent tension because they may feel that THEY might make more money (and get a lot more press coverage) if they proceed outside the Terms of the plea agreement. (Sorry – I just have a bias against plaintiffs' attorneys.) One nice thing about Bert is that he is in Miami where there has been almost no coverage of this case." (DE 407 at ¶ 54.)

On September 26, 2007, the line prosecutor sent an e-mail to Lefkowitz in which she stated: "Hi Jay – Can you give me a call at 561-[xxx-xxxx] this morning? I am meeting with the agents and want to give them their marching orders regarding what they can tell the girls." (DE 407 at ¶ 55.) On September 27, 2007, the attorney representative for the victims emailed the Office and asked whether he could get a copy of the indictment or plea agreement to find out "exactly what Epstein concedes to in the civil case." (Sept. 27, 2007 email, DE 362-2.) Upon inquiry from the Office, Lefkowitz responded by stating that the attorney representative "certainly [] should not get a copy of any indictment." (DE 407 at ¶ 57.) That same day, the line prosecutor informed Epstein's counsel of concerns raised by the attorney representative for the girls. Specifically, "[t]he concern is, if all 40 girls decide they want to sue, they don't want to be in a situation where Mr. Epstein says this is getting too expensive, we won't pay anymore attorneys' fees." (DE 407 at ¶ 58.)

Also on that same day, the line prosecutor sent an email to state prosecutors [redacted]: "Can you let me know when Mr. Epstein is going to enter his guilty plea and what judge that will be in front of? I know the agents and I would really like to be there, 'incognito.'" (DE 407 at ¶ 59.)

On October 3, 2007, the Office sent a proposed letter that would have gone to a special master for selecting an attorney representative for the victims under the NPA's compensation procedure. The letter described the facts of the Epstein case as follows: "Mr. Epstein, through his assistants, would recruit underage females to travel to his home in Palm Beach to engage in lewd conduct in exchange for money. Based upon the investigation, the United States has identified 40 young women who can be characterized as victims pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 2255. Some of those women went to Mr. Epstein's home only once, some went there as many as 100 times or more. Some of the women's conduct was limited to performing a topless or nude massage while Mr. Epstein masturbated himself. For other women, the conduct escalated to full sexual intercourse." (DE 407 at ¶ 60.)

On October 10, 2007, Lefkowitz sent a letter to U.S. Attorney Alex Acosta stating, in pertinent part: "Neither federal agents nor anyone from your Office should contact the identified individuals to inform them of the resolution of the case, including appointment of the attorney representative and the settlement process. Not only would that violate the confidentiality of the agreement, but Mr. Epstein also will have no control over what is communicated to the identified individuals at this most critical stage. We believe it is essential that we participate in crafting mutually acceptable communication to the identified individuals." The letter further proposed that the attorney representative for the victims be instructed that "[t]he details regarding the United States's investigation of this matter and its resolution with Mr. Epstein is confidential. You may not make public statements regarding this matter." (DE 407 at ¶ 61.)

U.S. Attorney Acosta then met with Lefkowitz for breakfast and Lefkowitz followed up with a letter stating, "I also want to thank you for the commitment you made to me during our October 12 meeting in which you . . . assured me that your Office would not . . . contact any of the identified individuals, potential witnesses, or potential civil claimants and their respective counsel in this matter." (DE 407 at ¶ 63.)

On October 24, 2007, AUSA [redacted] sent a letter to Jay Lefkowitz, proposing an addendum to the NPA clarifying the procedures for the third-party representative for the victims under the NPA's compensation provisions. (DE 407 at ¶ 64.) On October 25, 2007, AUSA [redacted] sent a letter to Retired Judge Davis about selecting an attorney to represent the victims under the

NPA's compensation procedure. (DE 407 at ¶ 65.)

On about October 26 or 27, 2007, Special Agents [redacted] and [redacted] met in person with Jane Doe 1. They explained that Epstein would plead guilty to state charges, he would be required to register as a sex offender for life, and he had made certain concessions related to the payment of damages. (DE 407 at ¶ 70.) According to Jane Doe 1, the Agents did not explain that the NPA had already been signed. (Jane Doe 1 Decl. ¶ 5, DE 361-26.) Jane Doe 1's understanding was that the federal investigation would continue. (Jane Doe 1 Decl. ¶ 6.) In contrast, Special Agent [redacted] stated that the meeting with Jane Doe 1 was to advise her of the main terms of the NPA.[2] ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 8, DE 403-18.) After the meeting, Special Agent [redacted] became concerned about what would happen if Epstein breached the NPA, and thought that if the victims were aware of the NPA, the provision about monetary damages could be grounds for impeachment of the victims and herself. ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 9.) According to Special Agent [redacted], the investigation of Epstein continued through 2008. ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 11.)

In addition to Jane Doe 1, FBI agents only talked to two other victims out of the 34 identified victims about the "general terms" of the NPA, including the provision providing a federal civil remedy to the victims. (DE 407 at ¶ 76.) After these meetings with three victims, Epstein's defense team complained. (DE 407 at ¶ 77.)

On about November 27, 2007, AUSA [redacted] sent an e-mail to Lefkowitz, (with a copy to U.S. Attorney Acosta) stating that the Office had a statutory obligation to notify the victims about Epstein's plea to state charges that was part of the NPA:

[2] Special Agent [redacted] also stated that on August 7, 2007, Jane Doe 1 never asked to confer with anyone from the government about charging decisions or any resolution of the matter. ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 7.)

> The United States has a statutory obligation (Justice for All Act of 2004) to notify the victims of the anticipated upcoming events and their rights associated with the agreement entered into by the United States and Mr. Epstein in a timely fashion. Tomorrow will make one full week since you were formally notified of the selection. I must insist that the vetting process come to an end. Therefore, unless you provide me with a good faith objection to Judge Davis's selection [as special master for selecting legal counsel for victims pursuing claims against Epstein] by COB tomorrow, November 28, 2007, I will authorize the notification of the victims. Should you give me the go-head on [victim representative] . . . selection by COB tomorrow, I will simultaneously send you a draft of the letter. I intend to notify the victims by letter after COB Thursday, November 29th.

On November 28, 2007, the Government sent an email to Lefkowitz attaching a letter dated November 29, 2007 (the apparent date upon which it was intended to be mailed) and explained that "I am writing to inform you that the federal investigation of Jeffrey Epstein has been completed, and Mr. Epstein and the U.S. Attorney's Office have reached an agreement containing the following terms." The proposed letter then spelled out a number of the provisions in the NPA, including that because Epstein's plea of guilty to state charges was "part of the resolution of the federal investigation," the victims were "entitled to be present and to make a statement under oath at the state sentencing." (DE 407 at ¶ 80.)

On November 29, 2007, Lefkowitz sent a letter to U.S. Attorney Acosta objecting to the proposed victim notification letter, stating that it is inappropriate for any letter to be sent to the victims before Epstein entered his plea or had been sentenced. Lefkowitz also told the Government that the victims should not be invited to the state sentencing, that they should not be encouraged to contact law enforcement officials, and that encouraging the attorney representative to do anything other than get paid by Epstein to settle the cases was to encourage an ethical conflict. (DE 407 at ¶

On about November 30, 2007, U.S. Attorney Acosta sent a letter to one of Epstein's defense attorneys, Kenneth Starr, stating: "I am directing our prosecutors not to issue victim notification letters until this Friday at 5 p.m., to provide you with time to review these options with your client." The letter also explained that the line prosecutor had informed U.S. Attorney Acosta "that the victims were not told of the availability of Section 2255 relief during the investigation phase of this matter" despite the fact that the "[r]ule of law . . . now requires this District to consider the victims' rights under this statute in negotiating this Agreement." (DE 407 at ¶ 83.) On December 5, 2007, Starr sent a letter to U.S. Attorney Acosta (with copy to AUSA [redacted]) asking about issuance of victim notification letters and stating: "While we believe that it is wholly inappropriate for your Office to send this letter under any circumstances, it is certainly inappropriate to issue this letter without affording us the right to review it." (DE 407 at ¶ 85.)

On about December 6, 2007, AUSA [redacted] sent a letter to Lefkowitz stating in part:

> [E]ach of the listed individuals are persons whom the Office identified as victims. [T]he Office is prepared to indict Mr. Epstein based upon Mr. Epstein's 'interactions' with these individuals. This conclusion is based upon a thorough and proper investigation - one in which none of the victims was informed of any right to receive damages of any amount prior to the investigation of her claim.
> [T]he Office can say, without hesitation, that the evidence demonstrates that each person on the list was a victim of Mr. Epstein's criminal behavior.
> Finally, let me address your objections to the draft Victim Notification Letter. You write that you don't understand the basis for the Office's belief that it is appropriate to notify the victims. Pursuant to the 'Justice for All Act of 2004,' crime victims are entitled to: 'The right to reasonable, accurate, and timely notice of any public court proceeding … involving the crime' and the 'right not to be excluded from any such public court proceeding.…' 18 U.S.C. § 3771(a)(2) & (3). Section 3771 also commands that 'employees of the Department of Justice . . . engaged in the detection, investigation, or prosecution of crime shall make their best efforts to see that crime > victims are notified of, and accorded, the rights described in subsection (a).' 18 U.S.C. § 3771(c)(1)….

> With respect to notification of the other information that we propose to disclose, the statute requires that we provide a victim with the earliest possible notice of: the status of the investigation, the filing of charges against a suspected offender, and the acceptance of a plea. 42 U.S.C. 10607(c)(3). Just as in 18 U.S.C. 3771, these sections are not limited to proceedings in a federal district court. Our Non-Prosecution Agreement resolves the federal investigation by allowing Mr. Epstein to plead to a state offense. The victims identified through the federal investigation should be appropriately informed, and our Non-Prosecution Agreement does not require the U.S. Attorney's Office to forego its legal obligations. [T]he Office believes that it has proof beyond a reasonable doubt that each listed individual was a victim of Mr. Epstein's criminal conduct while the victim was a minor. The law requires us to treat all victims "with fairness and with respect for the victim's dignity and privacy." 18 U.S.C. 3771(a)(8).

The letter included a footnote stating: "Unlike the State's investigation, the federal investigation shows criminal conduct by Mr. Epstein at least as early as 2001, so all of the victims were minors at the time of the offense." (DE 407 at ¶ 83.)

On December 7, 2007, defense attorney Lilly Ann Sanchez sent a letter to AUSA [redacted], requesting "that the Office hold off on sending any victim notification letters." No letters were sent in December of 2007. (DE 407 at ¶ 88.) On December 13, 2007, the line prosecutor sent a letter to Lefkowitz stating that "You raised objections to any victim notification, and no further notifications were done." (DE 407 at ¶ 89.) On December 19, 2007, U.S. Attorney Acosta sent a letter to Lilly Ann Sanchez stating, "I understand that the defense objects to the victims being given notice of time and place of Mr. Epstein's state court sentencing hearing. We intend to provide victims with notice of the federal resolution, as required by law. We will defer to the discretion of the State Attorney regarding whether he wishes to provide victims with notices of the state proceedings. (DE 407 at ¶ 90.)

In January of 2008, any requirement that Epstein carry out his obligations under the NPA was delayed while he sought higher level review within the Justice Department. (DE 407 at ¶ 92.) On January 10, 2008, Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2 were sent victim notification letters from the FBI advising them that "[t]his case is currently under investigation. This can be a lengthy process and we request your continued patience while we conduct a thorough investigation." (DE 407 at ¶ 93.) The January 10, 2008 notification letters did not disclose that the Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2 case in the Southern District of Florida was the subject of the NPA entered into by Epstein and the Office, or that there had been any potentially binding resolution. (DE 407 at ¶ 94.) Other victims received the same letters as sent to Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2. (DE 407 at ¶ 95.)

According to the declaration of Jane Doe 1, she believed that criminal prosecution of Epstein was important and she wanted to be consulted by prosecutors before any resolution. Based on the letters received, she believed the Government would contact her before reaching any final resolution. (Jane Doe 1 Decl. ¶ 9.) On January 31, 2008, Jane Doe 1 met with FBI Agents and an AUSA from the U.S. Attorney's Office. She provided additional details of Epstein's sexual abuse of her. The AUSA did not disclose to Jane Doe 1 at this meeting that they had already negotiated a NPA with Epstein. (DE 407 at ¶ 97.) According to the declaration of Jane Doe 2, while she recognizes she did not initially help the investigation, she later tried to cooperate with the investigation but was never given an opportunity to cooperate with the investigation.[3] (Jane Doe 2

[3] The Government believed that a negotiated resolution was in the best interest of the Office and the victims as a whole based on information obtained from the victims and the agents assigned to the case. ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 19.) The Government also believed that Epstein was trying to set aside the NPA and therefore the Government needed to be prepared for a prosecution. ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 34.) Petitioners object to this evidence, claiming the Government previously claimed work product and similar protections over internal materials. Given that the Court is ruling in favor of Petitioners on the present motions, the Court need not address this

Decl. ¶ ¶ 13-14, DE 361-27.)

On March 19, 2008, the line prosecutor sent a lengthy email to a prospective pro bono attorney for one of Epstein's victims who had been subpoenaed to appear at a deposition. The email listed the attorneys representing Epstein, the targets of the investigation, and recounted in detail the investigation that had been conducted to that point. The email did not reveal the fact that Epstein had signed the NPA in September 2007. (DE 407 at ¶ 98.)

On May 30, 2008, Jane Doe 5, who was recognized as an Epstein victim by the Office, received a letter from the FBI advising her that "[t]his case is currently under investigation. This can be a lengthy process and we request your continued patience while we conduct a thorough investigation." (DE 407 at ¶ 99.) The May 30, 2008 victim letter to Jane Doe 5 also acknowledged the victims' rights under the CVRA . (DE 407 at ¶ 100.)

In mid-June of 2008, Mr. Bradley Edwards, the attorney for Petitioners, contacted the line prosecutor to inform her that he represented Jane Doe 1 and, later, Jane Doe 2. Edwards asked to meet to provide information about the federal crimes committed by Epstein against these victims. The line prosecutor and Edwards discussed the possibility of federal charges being filed in the future. Edwards was led to believe federal charges could still be filed, with no mention whatsoever of the existence of the NPA or any other possible resolution to the case. (DE 407 at ¶ 101.)

At the end of the call, the line prosecutor asked Edwards to send any information that he wanted considered by the Office in determining whether to file federal charges. The line prosecutor did not inform Edwards about the NPA. (DE 407 at ¶ 102.) On June 19, 2008, Edwards issue. To the extent it might have an impact on future rulings, Petitioners may reassert this argument if and when appropriate.

sent an email to the line prosecutor requesting to meet and discuss plans. (DE 407 at ¶ 103.)

On June 23, 2008, the line prosecutor sent an email to Lefkowitz stating that the Deputy Attorney General had completed his review of the Epstein matter and "determined that federal prosecution of Mr. Epstein's case [wa]s appropriate. Accordingly, Mr. Epstein ha[d] until the close of business on Monday, June 30, 2008, to comply with the terms and conditions of the agreement between the United States and Mr. Epstein." (DE 407 at ¶ 105.)

On or about June 27, 2008, the Office called Edwards to provide notice to his clients regarding the entry of Epstein's guilty plea in state court. (DE 407 at ¶ 107.) According to Edwards, the line prosecutor only told him that Epstein was pleading guilty to state solicitation of prosecution. He was not told that the state plea was related to the federal investigation or that the state plea would resolve the federal crimes. Edwards claims he was not told his clients could address the state court. (Edwards Decl. ¶ ¶17-18, DE 416-1.) In contrast, the line prosecutor claims she told Edwards that his clients could address the state court. ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 38, DE 403-19.)

On or before June 30, 2008, the Office prepared a draft victim notification to be sent to the victims. The notification was designed to inform the victims of the provisions of the deferral of federal prosecution in favor of state charges. The notification letter began by describing Epstein's guilty plea in the past tense: "On June 30, 2008, Jeffrey Epstein … entered a plea of guilty to violations of Florida statutes forbidding the solicitation of minors to engage in prostitution and felony solicitation of prostitution." Later, a substantively identical letter was prepared for Epstein's and his counsel's review. (DE 407 at ¶ 110.)

On June 30, 2008, the Office sent an e-mail to Epstein's counsel: "The FBI has received several calls regarding the Non-Prosecution Agreement. I do not know whether the title of the document was disclosed when the Agreement was filed under seal, but the FBI and our office are declining comment if asked." (DE 407 at ¶ 111.) That same day, Epstein pled guilty to state law solicitation of prostitution charges. (DE 407 at ¶ 112.) Immediately following the June 30, 2008 hearing, the line prosecutor told one of the victims' attorneys that Epstein had "pled guilty today in state court." (DE 407 at ¶ 113.) Also after the plea, the line prosecutor emailed the assistant state attorney a copy of the NPA to be filed under seal. (July 1, 2008 email, DE 362-38.)

On June 30, 2008, based on what she had been told by the Government, Jane Doe 1 thought that the Office was still investigating and pursuing her case. She did not receive notice that Epstein's state guilty plea affected her rights in any way. If she had been told that the state plea had some connection to blocking the prosecution of her case, she would have attended and tried to object to the judge to prevent that plea from going forward. (Jane Doe 1 Decl. ¶ 13.) According to the line prosecutor, Edwards did not tell her that Jane Doe 1 wanted to meet with her before a resolution was reached. ([redacted] Decl. ¶ 37, DE 403-19.)

On July 3, 2008, as specifically directed by the Office, Edwards sent a letter to the Office communicating the wishes of Jane Doe 1, Jane Doe 2, and Jane Doe 5 that federal charges be filed against Epstein: "We urge the Attorney General and our United States Attorney to consider the fundamental import of the vigorous enforcement of our Federal laws. We urge you to move forward with the traditional indictments and criminal prosecution commensurate with the crimes Mr. Epstein has committed, and we further urge you to take the steps necessary to protect our children from this very dangerous sexual predator." (DE 407 at ¶ 118.)

On July 7, 2008, the line prosecutor corresponded with Epstein's counsel seeking his signed agreement concerning a notification letter to the victims before beginning the distribution of that letter. (DE 407 at ¶ 120.) That same day, Jane Doe 1 filed an emergency petition for enforcement of her rights under the CVRA. (DE 407 at ¶ 126.) On July 9, 2008, Edwards saw the first reference to the NPA when the Government filed its responsive pleading to Jane Doe's emergency petition. (Edwards Decl. ¶ 21.)

On July 8, 2008, the line prosecutor sent a letter to Epstein's counsel stating that victims would be informed about the civil compensation provision of the NPA the next day:

> In accordance with the terms of the Non-Prosecution Agreement, on June 30, 2008, the United States Attorney's Office provided you with a list of thirty-one individuals "whom it was prepared to name in an Indictment as victims of an enumerated offense by Mr. Epstein." . . . In deference to your vacation, we allowed you a week to provide us with any objections or requested modifications of the list and/or the Notification language. Yesterday, I contacted you via telephone and e-mail, but received no response. Accordingly, the United States hereby notifies you that it will distribute the victim notifications tomorrow, July 9, 2008, to each of the thirty-two identified victims, either directly or via their counsel.

(DE 407 at ¶ 127.)

On July 9, 2008, Epstein's counsel sent a letter to the line prosecutor raising concerns about the notifications, and suggesting modifications to the notification letter. Epstein's counsel also objected to the victim notification letters containing certain information about the NPA. (DE 407 at ¶ 128.) The line prosecutor responded: "Without such an express Acknowledgment by Mr. Epstein that the notice contains the substance of that Agreement, I believe that the victims will have justification to petition for the entire agreement, which is contrary to the confidentiality clause that the parties have signed." (DE 407 at ¶ 129.) That same day, the U.S. Attorney's Office sent victim notification letters to Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 5, via their attorney, Edwards, and to other identified victims of Epstein. That notification contained a written explanation of some of the civil compensation provisions of the NPA. The notification did not provide the full terms of the NPA.

On July 10, 2008, Epstein's counsel continued to protest victim notification as evidenced by an email to the line prosecutor stating, "we respectfully request a reasonable opportunity to review and comment on a draft of the modified notification letter you intend to mail before you send it." (DE 407 at ¶ 131.)

On August 10, 2008, Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2 filed a motion seeking release of the NPA. (DE 407 at ¶ 136.) On August 14, 2008, the line prosecutor emailed Epstein's counsel stating that the court has "ordered us to make the Agreement available to the plaintiffs." (DE 407 at ¶ 141.)

On August 18, 2008, Lefkowitz wrote the line prosecutor that Epstein objected to disclosure of the terms of the NPA, but that Epstein would "cooperate with the government to reach an agreement as to substance of the notification to be sent to the government's list of individuals. Based on the Agreement, the information contained in the notification should be limited to (1) the language provided in the Agreement dealing with civil restitution (paragraphs 7-10) and (2) the contact information of the selected attorney representative. We object to the inclusion of additional information about the investigation of Mr. Epstein, the terms of the Agreement other than paragraphs 7-10 and the identity of other identified individuals." (DE 407 at ¶ 143.) On August 21, 2008, the Government sent a letter to Epstein's counsel stating that, "[c]opies of the victim notifications will continue to be provided to counsel for Mr. Epstein."

Jane Doe 2 was not informed of the contents of the NPA until August 28, 2008, when the line prosecutor provided a copy to Edwards. (DE 407 at ¶ 146.) On September 2, 2008, the line prosecutor sent an email to Epstein's counsel stating, "I will start sending out the victim notifications today. In accordance with your request, I have changed the language regarding the victims' right to receive a copy of the Agreement." (DE 407 at ¶ 147.) On September 2 and 3, 2008, the Office sent to Jane Doe 1 and other identified victims amended notification letters, stating "the United States has agreed to defer federal prosecution in favor of this state plea and sentence." (Sept. 3, 2008 letter, DE 363-66; (DE 407 at ¶ 148.)

On September 16, 2008, attorney Jeffrey Herman, who represented several Epstein victims, wrote to the line prosecutor to object to the restitution procedures established in the NPA after learning that another attorney, established through the NPA, would be making unsolicited contacts to the victims. Mr. Herman explained that the notification letters were "misleading" because they referred generally to a waiver of "any other claim for damages," without informing them that this waiver might include a valuable punitive damages claim against an alleged billionaire. (DE 407 at ¶ 152.) On September 17, 2008, the line prosecutor sent an email to State Attorney Barry Krischer, explaining that the NPA "contain[ed] a confidentiality provision that require[ed] us to inform Mr. Epstein's counsel before making any disclosure." (DE 407 at ¶ 153.)

Around this same time period, Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2 filed actions in Palm Beach County, seeking money damages from Epstein from sexually abusing them. (Petitioners' Resp. to Gov't's Statement of Undisputed Material Facts (hereinafter "DE 415") at ¶ ¶ 8-9.) Eventually, they received monetary settlements of their lawsuits. (DE 415 at ¶ 12.)

violated Petitioners' right to confer under the CVRA: (1) when the Government was negotiating and signing the NPA; (2) when the Government sent letters telling Petitioners to be patient while the Government completed its investigation and (3) when the Government did not tell the victims that the state plea would extinguish the federal case. Petitioners also claim the Government violated their right to be treated with fairness under the CVRA by concealing the negotiations of the NPA. Additionally, Petitioners contend the Government violated their rights to reasonable and accurate notice when it concealed that the NPA and the federal investigation were implicated in the state court proceeding.

In moving for and responding to summary judgment, the Government contends that there is no right to notice or conferral about a NPA; it was reasonable for the Government to send letters to victims while continuing to investigate the case because the Government could not assume that Epstein would plead guilty; and the line prosecutor contacted Petitioners' attorneys about the state court plea hearing. The Government also claims it did not violate the right to reasonable, accurate and timely notice because the CVRA does not create any right to notice of state court proceedings and, in any event, the Government gave notice. The Government asserts it did not treat the victims unfairly and used its best efforts to comply with the CVRA, including complying with the Attorney General's guidelines for victim assistance. Furthermore, the Government argues that Petitioners are equitably estopped from challenging the NPA because they relied upon the NPA in their state court civil actions against Epstein. Lastly, the Government contends that Petitioners are judicially estopped from challenging the validity of the NPA because they have asserted mutually inconsistent positions; namely, that the NPA is invalid in federal court but was binding on Epstein in state court.

II. Summary Judgment Standard

The Court may grant summary judgment "if the movant shows that there is no genuine dispute as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law." Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(a). The stringent burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of material fact lies with the moving party. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986). The Court should not grant summary judgment unless it is clear that a trial is unnecessary, Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255 (1986), and any doubts in this regard should be resolved against the moving party. Adickes v. S.H. Kress & Co., 398 U.S. 144, 157 (1970).

The movant "bears the initial responsibility of informing the district court of the basis for its motion, and identifying those portions of [the record] which it believes demonstrate the absence of a genuine issue of material fact." Celotex Corp., 477 U.S. at 323. To discharge this burden, the movant must point out to the Court that there is an absence of evidence to support the nonmoving party's case. Id. at 325.

After the movant has met its burden under Rule 56(a), the burden of production shifts and the nonmoving party "must do more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material facts." Matsushita Electronic Industrial Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586 (1986). "A party asserting that a fact cannot be or is genuinely disputed must support the assertion by citing to particular parts of materials in the record . . . or showing that the materials cited do not establish the absence or presence of a genuine dispute, or that an adverse party cannot produce admissible evidence to support the fact." Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c)(1)(A) and (B).

Essentially, so long as the non-moving party has had an ample opportunity to conduct discovery, it must come forward with affirmative evidence to support its claim. Anderson, 477

U.S. at 257. "A mere 'scintilla' of evidence supporting the opposing party's position will not suffice; there must be enough of a showing that the jury could reasonably find for that party." Walker v. Darby, 911 F.2d 1573, 1577 (11th Cir. 1990). If the evidence advanced by the non-moving party "is merely colorable, or is not significantly probative, then summary judgment may be granted." Anderson, 477 U.S. 242, 249-50.

III. Discussion

The CVRA was designed to protect victims' rights and ensure their involvement in the criminal justice process. United States v. Moussaoui, 483 F.3d 220, 234 (4th Cir. 2007); Kenna v. U.S. Dist. Court, 435 F.3d 1011, 1016 (9th Cir. 2006) ("The [CVRA] was enacted to make crime victims full participants in the criminal justice system."). The statute enumerates the following ten rights:

> (1) The right to be reasonably protected from the accused.
> (2) The right to reasonable, accurate, and timely notice of any public court proceeding, or any parole proceeding, involving the crime or of any release or escape of the accused.
>
> (3) The right not to be excluded from any such public court proceeding, unless the court, after receiving clear and convincing evidence, determines that testimony by the victim would be materially altered if the victim heard other testimony at that proceeding.
>
> (4) The right to be reasonably heard at any public proceeding in the district court involving release, plea, sentencing, or any parole proceeding.
>
> (5) The reasonable right to confer with the attorney for the Government in the case.
>
> (6) The right to full and timely restitution as provided in law.
> (7) The right to proceedings free from unreasonable delay.
> (8) The right to be treated with fairness and with respect for the victim's dignity and > privacy.

> (9) The right to be informed in a timely manner of any plea bargain or deferred prosecution agreement.
> (10) The right to be informed of the rights under this section and the services described in section 503(c) of the Victims' Rights and Restitution Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 10607(c)) and provided contact information for the Office of the Victims' Rights Ombudsman of the Department of Justice.

18 U.S.C. § 3771(a).

This Court previously held the following with respect to the CVRA: First, the rights under the CVRA attach before the Government brings formal charges against a defendant. Does v. United States, 817 F. Supp. 2d 1337, 1341 (S.D. Fla. 2011). Second, the CVRA authorizes the rescission or "reopening" of a prosecutorial agreement, including a non-prosecution agreement, reached in violation of a prosecutor's conferral obligations under the statute. Doe v. United States, 950 F. Supp. 2d 1262, 1267 (S.D. Fla. 2013). Third, section 3771(d)(5) of the CVRA authorizes the setting aside of pre-charge prosecutorial agreements, despite the fact that the particular statutory enforcement provision expressly refers to the reopening of a plea or sentence. Id. at 1267. Fourth, the "reasonable right to confer . . . in the case" extends to the pre-charge state of criminal investigations and proceedings. Id. Fifth, the federal sex offense crimes involving minors allegedly committed by Epstein renders these Petitioners crime victims under the CVRA. Id. at 1269. Sixth, "questions pertaining to [the] equitable defense[s] are properly left for resolution after development of a full evidentiary record." Id. at 1269 n. 6.

Here, it is undisputed that the Government entered into a NPA with Epstein without conferring with Petitioners during its negotiation and signing. Instead, the Government sent letters to the victims requesting their "patience" with the investigation even after the Government entered into the NPA. At a bare minimum, the CVRA required the Government to inform Petitioners that it intended to enter into an agreement not to prosecute Epstein. Although the binding effect of the NPA was contingent upon Epstein pleading guilty to the state charges, that contingency was out of the control of the Government. The Government's hands were permanently tied if Epstein fulfilled his obligations under the NPA. Thus, Petitioners and the other victims should have been notified of the Government's intention to take that course of action before it bound itself under the NPA. Had the Petitioners been informed about the Government's intention to forego federal prosecution of Epstein in deference to him pleading guilty to state charges, Petitioners could have conferred with the attorney for the Government and provided input. In re Dean, 527 F.3d 391, 394 (5th Cir. 2008) (there are rights under the CVRA including the "reasonable right to confer with the attorney for the Government"). Hence, the Government would have been able to "ascertain the victims' views on the possible details of the [non-prosecution agreement]." Id. Indeed, it is this type of communication between prosecutors and victims that was intended by the passage of the CVRA. See United States v. Heaton, 458 F. Supp. 2d 1271 (D. Utah 2006)(government motion to dismiss charge of using facility of interstate commerce to entice minors to engage in unlawful sexual activity would not be granted until government consulted with victim); United States v. Ingrassia, No. CR-04-0455ADSJO, 2005 WL 2875220, at *17 n. 11 (E.D.N.Y. Sept. 7, 2005) (Senate debate supports the view that the contemplated mechanism for victims to obtain information on which to base their input was conferral with the prosecutor concerning any critical stage or disposition of the case).

Particularly problematic was the Government's decision to conceal the existence of the NPA and mislead the victims to believe that federal prosecution was still a possibility.[4] When the Government gives information to victims, it cannot be misleading. While the Government spent untold hours negotiating the terms and implications of the NPA with Epstein's attorneys, scant information was shared with victims. Instead, the victims were told to be "patient" while the investigation proceeded.

The Government, however, interprets the CVRA as only obligating the prosecutor to answer inquiries by a crime victim and does not impose a duty on the prosecutor to give notice about case developments, other than what is required in section 3771(a)(2). Such an interpretation is in direct contravention of the intent of the CVRA. See Ingrassia, 2005 WL 2875220, at *17 n.11 (Senate debate explaining the right to confer is "intended to be expansive" including the right of victim to confer "concerning any critical state of disposition of the case"). In any event, no meaningful conferral could take place as long as the Government chose to conceal the existence of the NPA from the victims.[5]

Nor does the Court agree with the Government that the 2015 amendment to the CVRA, section 3771(a)(9), which gave victims the "right to be informed in a timely manner of any plea

[4] Even if the Court accepted the Government's version of the facts relative to the Agent having told Jane Doe 1 the "main terms" of the NPA (which is left undefined), the victims were not told about it until after it was signed and the Government was bound. This precluded the Government from obtaining any input from the victims.

[5] The Government devotes time to distinguishing between the words "confer" and "notice" and suggesting that "confer" is more limited in scope than "notice." Nothing about the definition of confer, however, suggests it is limited to one party bearing the burden of communication. See Merriam-Webster Online Dictionary, https://www.merriam-webster.com/dictionary (last visited January 7, 2019) ("to compare views or take counsel"); Blacks Law Dictionary (10th ed. 2014) ("to hold a conference, to consult with one another").

bargain or deferred prosecution agreement" specifically excluded the right of victims to be informed of a non-prosecution agreement. Prior to this amendment, this Court held that the right to confer extended to the pre-charge state of criminal investigations and proceedings. Doe, 950 F. Supp. 2d at 1267; see also 157 Cong. Rec. S7060-01, 157 Cong. Rec. S7060-01, S7060 (CVRA co-sponsor Senator Jon Kyl's 2011 letter to the Attorney General, explaining that "Congress intended the CVRA to broadly protect crime victims throughout the criminal justice process-from the investigative phases to the final conclusion of a case.")

The 2015 amendment did not serve to repeal or restrict the obligations of the Government to confer with victims in the early stages of a case. Instead, the 2015 amendment clarified that certain events, such as plea agreements or deferred prosecution agreements, must be conveyed to the crime victim. Put another way, the 2015 amendment codified what the courts had been interpreting the CVRA to require, such as entitlement to notice of a plea bargain. See In re Dean, 527 F.3d at 394 ("the government should have fashioned a reasonable way to inform the victims of the likelihood of criminal charges and to ascertain the victims' views on the possible details of a plea bargain"); United States v. Okun, No. CRIM. 3:08CR132, 2009 WL 790042, at *2 (E.D. Va. Mar. 24, 2009) (the statutory language of the CVRA gives the victims' rights before the accepting of plea agreements).

To the extent the Government relies upon the "interpretive canon, expressio unius est exclusio alterius, 'expressing one item of [an] associated group or series excludes another left unmentioned'" the Court is not persuaded. Chevron U.S.A. Inc. v. Echazabal, 536 U.S. 73, 80 (2002) (quoting United States v. Vonn, 535 U.S. 55, 65 (2002)). "The force of any negative implication . . . depends on context." Marx v. General Revenue Corp., 568 U.S. 371, 381 (2013).

"[T]he expressio unius canon does not apply unless it is fair to suppose that Congress considered the unnamed possibility and meant to say no to it, and that the canon can be overcome by contrary indications that adopting a particular rule or statute was probably not meant to signal any exclusion." Id. (internal citations and quotation marks omitted).

The expansive context of the CVRA lends itself to only one interpretation; namely, that victims should be notified of significant events resulting in resolution of their case without a trial. See Kenna v. U.S. Dist. Court for C.D.Cal., 435 F.3d 1011, 1016 (9th Cir. 2006) ("[t]he statute was enacted to make crime victims full participants in the criminal justice system"); Heaton, 458 F. Supp. 2d at 1273 (the right to confer is "not limited to particular proceedings" but is "expansive" and applies broadly to "any critical stage or disposition of the case"). Reading into the statute a negative implication that victims need not be informed of non-prosecution agreements, and only informed of the more common events of plea bargains or deferred prosecution agreements, would be inconsistent with the goal of the CVRA.[6] In the context of plea agreements, the CVRA provides victims with rights prior to the acceptance of plea agreements. See In re Dean, 527 F.3d at 394; United States v. Okun, No. CRIM. 3:08CR132, 2009 WL 790042, at *2 (E.D. Va. Mar. 24, 2009). Furthermore, victims obtain rights under the CVRA even before prosecution. Okum, 2009 WL 790042, at *2 (citing In re Dean, 527 F.3d at 394). Based on this authority, the Court concludes that the CVRA must extend to conferral about non-prosecution agreements.

[6] A NPA entered into without notice has a more damaging impact on the victims than a plea agreement entered into without notice. When a plea agreement is entered into without notice, the victims will at least have an opportunity to provide input to a judge at sentencing. Once a NPA is entered into without notice, the matter is closed and the victims have no opportunity to be heard regarding any aspect of the case.

Next, the Government claims it did not violate the right to confer when, in January of 2008, it sent letters to the victims counseling patience because, at that time, Epstein's attorneys were seeking review of the NPA at higher levels within the Department of Justice. As indicated previously, however, at this point, the Government had bound itself to the terms of the NPA unless Epstein failed to comply with its terms. It was a material omission for the Government to suggest to the victims that they have patience relative to an investigation about which it had already bound itself not to prosecute. While Epstein was within his rights to attempt to persuade higher authorities within the Department of Justice to overrule the prosecutorial decisions of the U. S. Attorney's Office in the Southern District of Florida, the CVRA was designed to give the victims the same opportunity to attempt to affect prosecutorial decisions before they became final. Instead, the Office engaged in lengthy negotiations with Epstein that included repeated assurances that the NPA would not be "made public or filed with the Court." (DE 407 at ¶ 31.)

Nor did the Justice Department guidelines create an exemption from the CRVA's statutory requirements. Although the Government points to guidelines that conflicted with the requirements of the CVRA (by restricting CVRA rights until after a formal indictment), the Court is not persuaded that the guidelines were the basis for the Government's decision to withhold information about the NPA from the victims. If that had been the case, the Government would not have sent the victim letters telling them that they had rights protected under the CVRA. Nor would they have told Epstein's attorneys that it had obligations to notify the victims. In any event, an agency's own "'interpretation' of a statute cannot supersede the language chosen by Congress." Mohasco Corp. v. Silver, 447 U.S. 807, 825 (1980).

Next, the Court rejects the Government's contention that Jane Doe 2 is not protected by the CVRA because she made statements favorable to Epstein early in the investigation.[7] There is no dispute that Epstein sexually abused Jane Doe 2 while she was a minor. Therefore, regardless of her comments to the prosecutor, she was a victim. See 18 U.S.C. § 3771(e) (the CVRA defines a victim as "a person directly and proximately harmed as a result of the commission of a Federal offense"); In re Stewart, 552 F.3d 1285, 1288 (11th Cir. 2008) ("to determine a crime victim, then, first, we identify the behavior constituting 'commission of a Federal offense.' Second, we identify the direct and proximate effects of that behavior on parties other than the United States. If the criminal behavior causes a party direct and proximate harmful effects, the party is a victim under the CVRA.").

The Court need not resolve the factual questions surrounding what and when the victims were told about the state court proceeding and whether a state court proceeding is covered by the CVRA. Under the facts of this case, once the Government failed to advise the victims about its intention to enter into the NPA, a violation of the CVRA occurred.

Nor does the Court need to consider the Government's estoppel arguments at this time. These arguments relate only to the remedy, and not the determination of whether there was a CVRA violation. Therefore, the Court will address this issue at the appropriate juncture.

Lastly, the Court will address the Government's argument that its prosecutorial discretion permitted it to enter into the NPA. The Government correctly notes that the CVRA provides that "[n]othing in this chapter shall be construed to impair the prosecutorial discretion of the Attorney General or any officer under his direction." 18 U.S.C.A. § 3771(d)(6). The Court is not ruling that the decision not to prosecute was improper. The Court is simply ruling that, under the facts of this case, there was a violation of the victims rights under the CVRA.

[7] In fact, the Office considered Jane Doe 2 a victim as early as August of 2006 when it sent her a CVRA letter.

IV. Conclusion

Accordingly, it is hereby ORDERED AND ADJUDGED as follows:

1) Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment (DE 361) is GRANTED to the extent that Petitioners' right to conferral under the CVRA was violated.

2) The United States's Cross-Motion for Summary Judgment (DE 408) is DENIED.

3) Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2's Motion to Compel Answers (DE 348) is DENIED WITHOUT PREJUDICE.

4) Jane Doe 1 and Jane Doe 2's Motion for Finding Waiver of Work Product and Similar Protections by Government and for Production of Documents (DE 414) is DENIED WITHOUT PREJUDICE.

5) The parties should confer and inform the Court within 15 days of the date of entry of this Order how they wish to proceed on determining the issue of what remedy, if any, should be applied in view of the violation.

DONE AND ORDERED in Chambers at West Palm Beach, Palm Beach County, Florida, this 21st day of February, 2019.

KENNETH A. MARRA
United States District Judge

For everyone's SA, the ADIC requested a case brief Monday at 3:30 so we will have a 3:20ish hard stop.

Human Trafficking Meeting with [redacted]
February 15, 2019
Agenda

1. SDNY's Human Trafficking Program [JK]

- Approximately 50 investigations and 10-15 charged cases at any given time

OFFICIAL RECORD

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date of entry 09/06/2019

OFFICER 1, Corrections Officer at Bureau of Prison's (BOP) METROPOLITAN CORRECTIONAL CENTER (MCC), 150 Park Row, New York, New York, [redacted], was interviewed by FBI Special Agent (SA) [redacted], FBI Task Force Officer (TFO) [redacted], and Office of the Inspector General (OIG) SA [redacted] at the United States Attorneys Office (USAO), Southern District of New York (SDNY), 1 St. Andrews Plaza, New York, New York. TFO [redacted] advised OFFICER 1 that there is an on-going criminal investigation and he has an obligation to answer questions truthfully and that it would be a federal crime to lie to a federal agent during the meeting. SA [redacted] provided OFFICER 1 with an OIG "Warnings and Assurances to Employee Requested to Provide Information on a Voluntary Bases" form, which OFFICER 1 signed and was witnessed by SAs [redacted] and [redacted]. SA [redacted] retained the original and a copy is attached in the 1A section of this report.

After being advised of the identity of the interviewing investigators and the nature of the interview, OFFICER 1 provided the following information:

OFFICER 1 has worked for BOP for four years. OFFICER 1 was working an overtime shift in the Special Housing Unit (SHU), 10 South, on a 12am-8am shift at the time that JEFFREY EPSTEIN was found unresponsive in his cell. OFFICER 1 couldn't recall the exact date but did recall that it was the previous Saturday. OFFICER 1 had worked a 12pm-8pm shift the previous day, had a four hour break, and then started the overtime shift of 12a-8a. Unit 10 South is a completely locked down unit where the Corrections Officer is alone in the unit.

OFFICER 1 recalled he did the 12am count with OFFICER 2 and that Officer NOEL helped him do the 3am and 5am counts. OFFICER 1 further stated that for the 3am and 5am counts, the control center had called about the counts and he advised control that he wanted someone to assist him in doing the counts because he was by himself. OFFICER 1 said that there should always be a double staff count and that he always wanted a partner to do the count and wouldn't do a count without a partner. OFFICER 1 advised that while doing the counts, an officer should see breathing flesh. When OFFICER 1 and NOEL did the 3am and 5am counts, they counted five inmates.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

Officer THOMAS relieved OFFICER 1 at some point during the shift to give him a break. OFFICER 2 came by at some point to check on OFFICER 1, however, OFFICER 1 didn't remember the exact time.

OFFICER 1 was in 10 South when the call came over, referring to when EPSTEIN was found unresponsive in his cell. OFFICER 1 then worked another shift in the SHU, 8am-4pm.

OFFICER 1 stated that he once fed EPSTEIN because EPSTEIN had not received his meal and that EPSTEIN was grateful. OFFICER 1 said that EPSTEIN didn't appear to be dangerous and that EPSTEIN never offered him money for anything. OFFICER 1 stated that he was shocked that this had happened, referring to EPSTEIN's death. OFFICER 1 said that EPSTEIN was supposed to be watched more closely and that the rounds should have been conducted regardless of whether EPSTEIN had previously been on suicide watch or not.

OFFICER 1 was then shown a picture of [redacted]. When OFFICER 1 looked at the picture, OFFICER 1 said that he wanted a lawyer. Investigators discontinued questioning at that time.

On his own accord, OFFICER 1 then stated something to the effect of "I want to be clear, I never brought stuff into the jail or allowed stuff in. I never did that."

OFFICER 1 was advised that his cell phone, which had been surrendered at the security checkpoint at the entrance of the USAO, was seized by the FBI. The cell phone, a Motorola G6/XT1921-5, IMEI 99000544589395, was seized pursuant to a search warrant issued by SDNY. OFFICER 1 was then told that he could get his phone back that day if he gave investigators his passcode. OFFICER 1 told investigators that he was not going to give them his passcode. OFFICER 1 was given an FD-597, receipt for property, which was signed by OFFICER 1 and TFO [redacted].

Re: United States v. Ghislaine Maxwell, 20 Cr. 330 (AJN)

Dear Judge Nathan:

The Government writes in response to defense counsel's letter of August 19, 2021 (Dkt. No. 323). The Court denied defense counsel's sealed, ex parte motion for an order authorizing four Rule 17(c)(3) subpoenas in a sealed opinion dated August 13, 2021, and the Court ordered defense counsel to inform the Court whether they seek any sealing or redactions. (Dkt. No. 318). The defense has responded that they seek no redactions, and that they believe the burden to justify any redactions is on the Government. (Dkt. No. 323).

Because the Government does not have a copy of the sealed motion papers or the Court's Opinion and Order, the Government is unable to propose or justify any redactions. For instance, it appears that the motion papers include the names of victims and potential witnesses (id. at 1), which the Government would likely move to redact. The Government has conferred with defense counsel, who have informed the Government that they are unable to provide a copy of those documents absent further order of this Court. Accordingly, the Government moves for a limited unsealing of the Court's August 13, 2021 opinion and the underlying motion papers so that the Government may review those documents and propose any redactions.

Respectfully submitted,

Counsel,

We write to meet and confer about Judge Nathan's order (Dkt. No. 322) and some other issues. Please let us know if you are free to speak by phone tomorrow before 3 pm or Tuesday after 2:30 pm.

Also, please let us know some dates and times that you would like to review the hard drives and boots in Colorado.

Laura,

Thank you for your email and for your patience as I track down answers for you.

By the end of this week, I expect to have a production ready for you, which will contain two categories of images responsive to the discussions we have been having:

- First, the production will include several thousand images that the FBI has de-designated from Highly Confidential down to Confidential. These will be produced in a format that should provide you with all available metadata together with each image. This production is the culmination of the de-designation review process that the FBI has completed over the past few months.
- Second, the production will include all of the approximately 40,000 images previously produced to you, which were extracted from CDs seized from Epstein's New York residence. This production will be in a new format that should provide you with all available metadata together with each image.

For this production, we will need two 500GB hard drives (one for counsel's copy and one for Ms. Maxwell's copy) on which to load the materials.

I have also discussed your request that the FBI relocate certain items to the field office in Colorado to facilitate your review. The FBI is able to make such a transfer of two of the items you requested:

- The FBI will send hard drives containing the remaining highly confidential image and video files seized from Epstein's devices and CDs to Colorado, where you may review them. As was the case in New York, these will need to be reviewed on a government laptop in the presence of an FBI employee and cannot be copied, photographed, or removed from FBI property.
- The FBI will also send the boots that were recently taken into evidence at 1B items to Colorado, where you may review them. You may examine and photograph the boots in the presence of an FBI employee, but they may not be removed from FBI property.
- The photographs provided by [redacted] cannot be shipped out of the New York office because they are logged as 1A items and must remain with the case file in New York. We are happy to arrange a time for the defense to examine those photographs in person in New York. You may examine and photograph the photos in the presence of an FBI employee, with the understanding that any photographs of these materials must be treated as Confidential under the Protective Order in this case. There are relatively few photographs, so any review of these should not be time-intensive.

Both of the case agents on our team are out of the office this week and next week, but we are working to find other agents who can help us coordinate shipping the drives and the boots to Colorado. My hope is that they will get to Colorado by next week. Please let me know what date(s) you would like to review those items later this month, and I will coordinate with the FBI to schedule your review.

Best,

I am writing to inquire regarding the status of the HC material review and de-designation (highlighted #2 below, from May 14) and also to discuss how we may go about reviewing the additional 30,000 HC materials that we were not made available to us when we traveled to NY for that purpose.

Do you know when the de-designation process will be complete? And when do you expect the de-designated documents will be disclosed?

Also, regarding the remaining HC materials (highlighted #1 below), we would propose that they be made available for our review at the FBI office here in Colorado within the next 30 days. We also would like to inspect at the same time and place (a) the originals of the VRG photos that you located after our evidence review and (b) the boots that you recently took possession of.

I am happy to schedule a time to discuss logistics if that would be easier.

Thanks,
Laura

Laura,

Thank you for your email. Below please find updates regarding these outstanding issues:

1. I have confirmed with the FBI that the larger number contained in the 302 is accurate. I have not been able to figure out where the disconnect arose between the actual number and the number that was verbally conveyed to me, which I then conveyed to you. I apologize for the mistake, which was unintentional.

2. The FBI's review of the Highly Confidential material and de-designation remains ongoing. I have reached out to the case agent for an update on timing and will let you know when I have an estimate of when that process will be complete.

3. My office did not create the empty Excel spreadsheet. It was included on a hard drive provided to our vendor by the FBI containing the images from CDs seized from Epstein's residence and spreadsheets created by the FBI during its review of those CDs. I do not know the origins of that third blank spreadsheet, and the FBI has informed me that it only created two spreadsheets in connection with its review of the CDs. My best guess is that the blank document was a temporary file that was automatically created when the spreadsheets were copied onto the drive, but I do not know that for certain. To the best of my knowledge, there are no blank files that my office created.

4. Our paralegals have been working to look into the thousands of Bates numbers you listed as unviewable at the MDC. Attached please find a spreadsheet our paralegals created providing the status of each document. You will see that the spreadsheet is divided into separate tabs for each category of problem you identified. Next to each identified Bates number, the paralegals have noted the status of each image and/or document. Below please find a key explaining each of these different status entries:

- Blanks
  - "Confirmed Blank" means the document has no content.
  - "Not Blank" means there is content to the document. For documents in this category, please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "No Native" means there is no corresponding native with the image.
  - "N/A – Not PAE Export" means the document was not produced by our vendor.
- Not Supported
  - ".raf files " means we are unable to open these files on our system and are asking our vendor and IT for assistance. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.

    - ".txt file (blank)" means the document has no content.
- Can't Read – Won't Open
    - "Image Opens" means there is content to the image. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
    - "Image Opens – Black Box(es)" means these images contained redactions of nudity. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
    - "Native Opens" means there is content to the native. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
    - "No native" means there is no corresponding native with the image.
    - "Document Produced Natively" means that a cover sheet was produced instead of an image for this document.
    - "Corrupt" means the document has no viewable content.
    - "Native Password Protected" means we are unable to open this document and are asking our vendor for assistance. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
    - "N/A – Not PAE Export" means the document was not produced by our vendor.
- Missing
    - "Image Opens" means there is content to the image. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
    - "No native" means there is no corresponding native with the image. We are conferring with our vendor regarding certain documents for which the image cover sheet indicates the document was produced natively but for which we do not have a corresponding native. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
    - "Document Produced Natively" means that a cover sheet was produced instead of an image for this document.
    - "Not Missing – Opens" means there is content to the native. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
    - "Image for this document is not exported" means that we do not have these images. We are conferring with our vendor regarding these documents and will reach back out once we have obtained assistance.
    - "Blank" means the image file is blank.
    - "Not Missing – Corrupt" means the document has no viewable content.
- Corrupt
    - "Document Produced Natively" means that a cover sheet was produced instead of an image for this document.
    - "Not Corrupt" means there is content to the document. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
    - "Password Locked" means we are unable to open this document and are asking our vendor for assistance. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
    - "Blank File" means the native file we have is blank. We are checking with our vendor for assistance with such files and will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
    - "Blank" means the image file is blank.
    - "Corrupt" means the document has no viewable content.
    - "No Native File" means there is no corresponding native with the image.
    - "N/A – Not PAE Export" means the document was not produced by our vendor.
    - "Lazer Scan" means that the file is part of the 3D scan of Epstein's private island. As you may recall, there were difficulties producing the 3D scan to counsel in a viewable format, and we reproduced these documents to counsel on multiple occasions. Within the lazer scan production there are pdf files that should be viewable and should reflect the substance of the 3D scan.

Following up on the below, as I believe these are the outstanding issues from this email chain.

1. When do you expect to have clarification from the FBI regarding the discrepancy in highly confidential material count?
2. Same for the de-designated HC materials?
3. Your answer regarding Bates-stamped but content-less files only addressed those that you took off of Epstein devices. I asked about a file that your office created – an Excel spreadsheet – that did not have content yet you Bates-stamped and produced it. Are there others?
4. When do you expect to have answers to the list of documents that our client is unable to view at the MDC? It is a few days shy of a month since I forwarded that list to you and I am hoping that you will have answers in the next few days.

I will wait for answer to 1 and 2 above before I can adequately address your position on the HC materials. It may be that we need to go back to the Court to address your definition of highly confidential which is unlike I have seen on even child pornography cases.

Thanks for your prompt attention to these matters.

Laura,

I have responded to your comments below in red.

I am working with the FBI to understand the discrepancy you pointed out, which I did not appreciate until receiving your May 7, 2021 email. The 2,100 estimate was the amount of files that the FBI verbally informed me had been loaded onto the second hard drive when I was arranging for your review of evidence at 500 Pearl. At the time, I did not recall that the 302 had a different number, and I did not check the number the FBI provided verbally against the 302. As soon as I receive clarification from the FBI, I will reach back out to you.

As for your request to have access to Highly Confidential images and videos, paragraph 12 of the Protective Order in this case defines Highly Confidential information as discovery material that "contains nude, partially-nude, or otherwise sexualized images, videos, or other depictions of individuals." That definition does not limit this category to child pornography. Paragraph 14 of the Protective Order further provides that any Highly Confidential materials "Shall be made available for inspection by Defense Counsel and the Defendant, under protection of law enforcement officers or employees." Given those provisions, as well as the importance of maintaining the security of nude images of third parties, including victims, we are not prepared to provide you with copies of nude or partially-nude images from the hard drives. However, we appreciate your concern that images that do not contain nudity appear to have been designated as Highly Confidential. Accordingly, I am working with the FBI to de-designate any images that do not depict genitals, breasts, or buttocks. Once those images have been de-designated, our office will produce them to you.

Best,
[redacted]

[redacted] –

Thank you for your response of April 23. I haven't heard back from you last week as promised on this or my April 28 request, so I'm writing to follow up. I have responses to specific questions of yours below in blue.

Additionally, I have more questions regarding your production of "highly confidential" ("HC") images and videos. When we met the week of April 13 in NY, during which time I requested to view all evidence in the government's possession, including all highly confidential material, you described for me two hard-drives that contained all of the HC images and videos from this case.

- First, one of those hard-drives you said contained all of the materials extracted from the disks contained in the black binders. There were approximately 40,000 or so images (Excel spreadsheet SDNY_GM_00467567) of which 3,400 images were deemed HC and tagged "#nudity" by your team (SDNY_GM_00467568). (I still await a response regarding the problems with your metadata overlay).

- Second, the other hard-drive contained images extracted from Epstein's devices which were searched pursuant to a warrant. You said the responsive image/video files were contained on that second hard-drive, and there were approximately 2,100 "nude" or HC images on that hard-drive. You did not produce the metadata for those images because it was still present on the files which had been digitally extracted.

As I understood it then, there were approximately 5,500 HC images that you made available for review. However, the FBI Report dated January 27, 2021 (produced at SDNY_GM_02742399) indicates there are approximately 33,747 HC images and 895 HC videos that were identified by a digital review of CART-processed evidence; I presume based on the CART numbers that this list is the same as the images extracted from Epstein's devices, or as I understood it, the content on your hard-drive #2 above.

I am completely unclear as to why you informed me that there were 2,100 nude images from Epstein's devices, but this report seems to indicate there were approximately 34,000 HC images and videos. Please let me know if I am misunderstanding what you told me and if so, what the correct information is.

I reiterate my request that you provide to us hard-drives with all of the HC material minus any child pornography.

I am available to discuss if that would be more convenient.

Thanks,
Laura

Subject: RE: US v. Maxwell - [conferral re photo and other discovery deficiencies]

Laura,

I am working with our team as quickly as we can to address the issues you raised in the below email. In particular:

- I have asked our vendor to look into the issues with SDNY_GM_00467566. When I attempt to access that document on our Relativity database, I also receive an error message saying that the document is corrupt. I am not sure what this spreadsheet is because the only two spreadsheets that I'm aware of that correspond with the SDNY_PROD011 contained in the November 9, 2020 production are the two other Excel spreadsheets you referenced. In any event, I am looking into the issue.

  I understand from your subsequent email that the Excel spreadsheet at 467566 does not have any content. Are there any other "Bates-stamped" documents without content?

It is possible that there are additional items that were recovered from electronic devices and storage media that do not have content. For example, as Chris and I discussed in a separate email exchange, certain attachments to emails on Epstein's devices were only partially recovered. Because they were attached to responsive emails, we produced those partially recovered attachments, even though many did not have content.

- I am similarly working with our vendor to understand how to best identify for you which Bates number corresponds with the metadata in the index contained in the Excel spreadsheets.

  We received your overlay on April 27. On April 28, I wrote you back with the persistent problems despite the overlay. I do not see that you have responded to those concerns. Can you please advise?

I have been working with our vendor and paralegals to look into this issue and will respond to your April 28 email shortly.

- Can you please provide me with a list of the photos that you are unable to view? Once I have that list, I will check to see whether we are able to open them on our end.

  I am not able to provide you a list of the photos I am unable to view, for a number of reasons including my work-product protections. I can highlight the file types that are contained on the disk and perhaps your vendor can tell us which reader will work with those file types:

I will forward this response to the vendor and see what, if any, assistance we can provide.

- Can you be more specific in identifying photographs that you believe should have been produced but have been omitted, please? We have endeavored with the FBI to produce copies of all non-nude photographs recovered from searches of Epstein's residence to the defense, and I am not aware of any intentional omissions.

  See above.

Without specifics, I cannot address this issue further.

- I am discussing with the FBI your request that we produce all Highly Confidential images to you. I will respond to that request next week.

  I do not believe I received a response to this last week as indicated. Can you please update me?

Please see above.

- Once we have a firm trial date, I will let you know by what date I expect to be able to provide you with a list of the Highly Confidential photographs we may introduce at trial.

Please advise.

We will discuss this request as a team now that we have a trial date of November 29, 2021.

- I am working with our paralegals to assess the list of files that your client is unable to review at the MDC. As soon as we have finished looking into those issues, I will let you know.

Is there any update on this project?

As I mentioned above, our paralegals are still working through this list of documents. As soon as I have information to provide on this score, I will reach out.

Best,

[redacted]:

I'm writing to follow-up on our discussion last Thursday regarding the photo evidence and to address a number of other critical problems with the discovery provided to date.

Unfortunately, both in the production to defense counsel and on the hard-drive supplied by your office to our client at MDC, there are thousands, if not hundreds of thousands, of photos that are still unreadable. We have spent countless hours, and a chunk of our client's resources, trying to rectify a number of these problems ourselves, to no avail. Our ability, and our client's ability, to review all of the discovery in this case is absolutely critical and is constitutionally guaranteed. Unless you can quickly propose a solution, we believe we need to raise this with the Court.

- We do not have a functional copy the Excel spreadsheet located at SDNY_GM_00467566. I have confirmed that the original spreadsheet provided to us is corrupt and the vendor and [redacted]-discovery provider cannot open it.

- The other two Excel spreadsheets from the production (and presumably the one we cannot open) are insufficiently detailed to tell us which photo goes with which meta-data.
  - The index contains multiple instances of the same "file name" with different hash values.
  - The index does not match any particular file with a Bates stamp.
  - The index does not indicate which files were withheld as "highly confidential."

- Many of the photo files that were provided in discovery ([redacted]., SDNY011) do not have a discernible reader. I cannot open them. Ms. Maxwell does not have a reader on her MDC laptop that can read them. If the government is able to view them, then we should be provided the means to view them as well.

- A number of photo files appear to be missing from the MDC laptop and are not highly confidential, based on my review of documents last week. Because we do not have a list of what was/was not produced, however, we cannot confirm.

- As you know, the 2 x "highly confidential hard-drives" in NY did not work until Thursday once an appropriate reader was added to the laptop. I did not have enough time to view all of the files. I do not have the reader that you ultimately added to that laptop.

- The discs that I attempted to view in NY (from various binders) would not load on the government laptop. I was unable to match up disks with potential files on the hard-drives. Because I did not have a functioning Excel spreadsheet, I also was not able to match any highly confidential photos from the hard-drives with the associated metadata.

I am requesting that you produce to defense counsel replicas of the two hard-drives that you made available for review last week, subject to all of the strictures of the protective order.

I recognize that you have designated as "highly confidential" photos that you contend contain "nude, partially-nude, or otherwise sexualized images, videos, or other depictions of individuals." Among the photos on the hard-drive that I was able to view, there were a lot of "nude" and "partially-nude" photos of adults, but I did not see anything that would qualify as child pornography under the statute. Some of the photos only showed a woman's back or shoulder. If you have reason to believe that there is child pornography contained on the two hard-drives, then certainly defense counsel is not asking to possess that material; you can designate it as such and we can view it at an acceptable location as occurs in any CP case.

Otherwise, I think the burden of reviewing adult nudity only in the government's office or courthouse imposes an extraordinary cost on our client and prevents us from analyzing the metadata, having our experts review the file structures, keeps us from preparing photos for use at trial, and generally impedes our defense.

In a similar vein, can you let me know when you are willing to disclose any photos that you intend to introduce at trial? As to any of those, I will need sufficient information and time to analyze them for foundation and admissibility purposes with an appropriate expert.

Finally, I am attaching an incomplete list of the documents that our client still cannot read at MDC. It is a small sample, as she has had to spend hours of her "review" time communicating to our staff which files she cannot read. Also, the manner in which the discovery was provided to her (load file format) precludes her from comparing the "image" and the "native" files (they do not, for example, have clearly labeled bates-stamps).

I would appreciate as prompt a response as you can provide so that we can address any issues with the Court on Friday.

Thanks,
Laura

Counsel,

We write to meet and confer about Judge Nathan's order (Dkt. No. 322) and some other issues. Please let us know if you are free to speak by phone tomorrow before 3 pm or Tuesday after 2:30 pm.

Also, please let us know some dates and times that you would like to review the hard drives and boots in Colorado.

Best,

Laura,

Thank you for your email and for your patience as I track down answers for you.

By the end of this week, I expect to have a production ready for you, which will contain two categories of images responsive to the discussions we have been having:

- First, the production will include several thousand images that the FBI has de-designated from Highly Confidential down to Confidential. These will be produced in a format that should provide you with all available metadata together with each image. This production is the culmination of the de-designation review process that the FBI has completed over the past few months.
- Second, the production will include all of the approximately 40,000 images previously produced to you, which were extracted from CDs seized from Epstein's New York residence. This production will be in a new format that should provide you with all available metadata together with each image.

For this production, we will need two 500GB hard drives (one for counsel's copy and one for Ms. Maxwell's copy) on which to load the materials.

I have also discussed your request that the FBI relocate certain items to the field office in Colorado to facilitate your review. The FBI is able to make such a transfer of two of the items you requested:

- The FBI will send hard drives containing the remaining highly confidential image and video files seized from Epstein's devices and CDs to Colorado, where you may review them. As was the case in New York, these will need to be reviewed on a government laptop in the presence of an FBI employee and cannot be copied, photographed, or removed from FBI property.
- The FBI will also send the boots that were recently taken into evidence at 1B items to Colorado, where you may review them. You may examine and photograph the boots in the presence of an FBI employee, but they may not be removed from FBI property.
- The photographs provided by [redacted] cannot be shipped out of the New York office because they are logged as 1A items and must remain with the case file in New York. We are happy to arrange a time for the defense to examine those photographs in person in New York. You may examine and photograph the photos in the presence of an FBI employee, with the understanding that any photographs of these materials must be treated as Confidential under the Protective Order in this case. There are relatively few photographs, so any review of these should not be time-intensive.

Both of the case agents on our team are out of the office this week and next week, but we are working to find other agents who can help us coordinate shipping the drives and the boots to Colorado. My hope is that they will get to Colorado by next week. Please let me know what date(s) you would like to review those items later this month, and I will coordinate with the FBI to schedule your review.

Best,

I am writing to inquire regarding the status of the HC material review and de-designation (highlighted #2 below, from May 14) and also to discuss how we may go about reviewing the additional 30,000 HC materials that we were not made available to us when we traveled to NY for that purpose.

Do you know when the de-designation process will be complete? And when do you expect the de-designated documents will be disclosed?

Also, regarding the remaining HC materials (highlighted #1 below), we would propose that they be made available for our review at the FBI office here in Colorado within the next 30 days. We also would like to inspect at the same time and place (a) the originals of the VRG photos that you located after our evidence review and (b) the boots that you recently took possession of.

I am happy to schedule a time to discuss logistics if that would be easier.

Thanks,
Laura

Laura,

Thank you for your email. Below please find updates regarding these outstanding issues:

1. I have confirmed with the FBI that the larger number contained in the 302 is accurate. I have not been able to figure out where the disconnect arose between the actual number and the number that was verbally conveyed to me, which I then conveyed to you. I apologize for the mistake, which was unintentional.

2. The FBI's review of the Highly Confidential material and de-designation remains ongoing. I have reached out to the case agent for an update on timing and will let you know when I have an estimate of when that process will be complete.

3. My office did not create the empty Excel spreadsheet. It was included on a hard drive provided to our vendor by the FBI containing the images from CDs seized from Epstein's residence and spreadsheets created by the FBI during its review of those CDs. I do not know the origins of that third blank spreadsheet, and the FBI has informed me that it only created two spreadsheets in connection with its review of the CDs. My best guess is that the blank document was a temporary file that was automatically created when the spreadsheets were copied onto the drive, but I do not know that for certain. To the best of my knowledge, there are no blank files that my office created.

4. Our paralegals have been working to look into the thousands of Bates numbers you listed as unviewable at the MDC. Attached please find a spreadsheet our paralegals created providing the status of each document. You will see that the spreadsheet is divided into separate tabs for each category of problem you identified. Next to each identified Bates number, the paralegals have noted the status of each image and/or document. Below please find a key explaining each of these different status entries:

- Blanks
  - "Confirmed Blank" means the document has no content.
  - "Not Blank" means there is content to the document. For documents in this category, please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "No Native" means there is no corresponding native with the image.
  - "N/A – Not PAE Export" means the document was not produced by our vendor.
- Not Supported
  - ".raf files " means we are unable to open these files on our system and are asking our vendor and IT for assistance. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
  - ".txt file (blank)" means the document has no content.
- Can't Read – Won't Open
  - "Image Opens" means there is content to the image. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "Image Opens – Black Box(es)" means these images contained redactions of nudity. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "Native Opens" means there is content to the native. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "No native" means there is no corresponding native with the image.
  - "Document Produced Natively" means that a cover sheet was produced instead of an image for this document.
  - "Corrupt" means the document has no viewable content.
  - "Native Password Protected" means we are unable to open this document and are asking our vendor for assistance. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
  - "N/A – Not PAE Export" means the document was not produced by our vendor.
- Missing
  - "Image Opens" means there is content to the image. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "No native" means there is no corresponding native with the image. We are conferring with our vendor regarding certain documents for which the image cover sheet indicates the document was produced natively but for which we do not have a corresponding native. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
  - "Document Produced Natively" means that a cover sheet was produced instead of an image for this document.
  - "Not Missing – Opens" means there is content to the native. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "Image for this document is not exported" means that we do not have these images. We are conferring with our vendor regarding these documents and will reach back out once we have obtained assistance.
  - "Blank" means the image file is blank.
  - "Not Missing – Corrupt" means the document has no viewable content.
- Corrupt
  - "Document Produced Natively" means that a cover sheet was produced instead of an image for this document.
  - "Not Corrupt" means there is content to the document. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "Password Locked" means we are unable to open this document and are asking our vendor for assistance. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.

- "Blank File" means the native file we have is blank. We are checking with our vendor for assistance with such files and will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
- "Blank" means the image file is blank.
- "Corrupt" means the document has no viewable content.
- "No Native File" means there is no corresponding native with the image.
- "N/A – Not PAE Export" means the document was not produced by our vendor.
- "Lazer Scan" means that the file is part of the 3D scan of Epstein's private island. As you may recall, there were difficulties producing the 3D scan to counsel in a viewable format, and we reproduced these documents to counsel on multiple occasions. Within the lazer scan production there are pdf files that should be viewable and should reflect the substance of the 3D scan.

Following up on the below, as I believe these are the outstanding issues from this email chain.

1. When do you expect to have clarification from the FBI regarding the discrepancy in highly confidential material count?
2. Same for the de-designated HC materials?
3. Your answer regarding Bates-stamped but content-less files only addressed those that you took off of Epstein devices. I asked about a file that your office created – an Excel spreadsheet – that did not have content yet you Bates-stamped and produced it. Are there others?
4. When do you expect to have answers to the list of documents that our client is unable to view at the MDC? It is a few days shy of a month since I forwarded that list to you and I am hoping that you will have answers in the next few days.

I will wait for answer to 1 and 2 above before I can adequately address your position on the HC materials. It may be that we need to go back to the Court to address your definition of highly confidential which is unlike I have seen on even child pornography cases.

Thanks for your prompt attention to these matters.

Laura,

I have responded to your comments below in red.

I am working with the FBI to understand the discrepancy you pointed out, which I did not appreciate until receiving your May 7, 2021 email. The 2,100 estimate was the amount of files that the FBI verbally informed me had been loaded onto the second hard drive when I was arranging for your review of evidence at 500 Pearl. At the time, I did not recall that the 302 had a different number, and I did not check the number the FBI provided verbally against the 302. As soon as I receive clarification from the FBI, I will reach back out to you.

As for your request to have access to Highly Confidential images and videos, paragraph 12 of the Protective Order in this case defines Highly Confidential information as discovery material that "contains nude, partially-nude, or otherwise sexualized images, videos, or other depictions of individuals." That definition does not limit this category to child pornography. Paragraph 14 of the Protective Order further provides that any Highly Confidential materials "Shall be made available for inspection by Defense Counsel and the Defendant, under protection of law enforcement officers or employees." Given those provisions, as well as the importance of maintaining the security of nude images of third parties, including victims, we are not prepared to provide you with copies of nude or partially-nude images from the hard drives. However, we appreciate your concern that images that do not contain nudity appear to have been designated as Highly Confidential. Accordingly, I am working with the FBI to de-designate any images that do not depict genitals, breasts, or buttocks. Once those images have been de-designated, our office will produce them to you.

Best,

Thank you for your response of April 23. I haven't heard back from you last week as promised on this or my April 28 request, so I'm writing to follow up. I have responses to specific questions of yours below in blue.

Additionally, I have more questions regarding your production of "highly confidential" ("HC") images and videos. When we met the week of April 13 in NY, during which time I requested to view all evidence in the government's possession, including all highly confidential material, you described for me two hard-drives that contained all of the HC images and videos from this case.

- First, one of those hard-drives you said contained all of the materials extracted from the disks contained in the black binders. There were approximately 40,000 or so images (Excel spreadsheet SDNY_GM_00467567) of which 3,400 images were deemed HC and tagged "#nudity" by your team (SDNY_GM_00467568). (I still await a response regarding the problems with your metadata overlay).

- Second, the other hard-drive contained images extracted from Epstein's devices which were searched pursuant to a warrant. You said the responsive image/video files were contained on that second hard-drive, and there were approximately 2,100 "nude" or HC images on that hard-drive. You did not produce the metadata for those images because it was still present on the files which had been digitally extracted.

As I understood it then, there were approximately 5,500 HC images that you made available for review. However, the FBI Report dated January 27, 2021 (produced at SDNY_GM_02742399) indicates there are approximately 33,747 HC images and 895 HC videos that were identified by a digital review of CART-processed evidence; I presume based on the CART numbers that this list is the same as the images extracted from Epstein's devices, or as I understood it, the content on your hard-drive #2 above.

I am completely unclear as to why you informed me that there were 2,100 nude images from Epstein's devices, but this report seems to indicate there were approximately 34,000 HC images and videos. Please let me know if I am misunderstanding what you told me and if so, what the correct information is.

I reiterate my request that you provide to us hard-drives with all of the HC material minus any child pornography.

I am available to discuss if that would be more convenient.

Thanks,
Laura

Laura,

I am working with our team as quickly as we can to address the issues you raised in the below email. In particular:

- I have asked our vendor to look into the issues with SDNY_GM_00467566. When I attempt to access that document on our Relativity database, I also receive an error message saying that the document is corrupt. I am not sure what this spreadsheet is because the only two spreadsheets that I'm aware of that correspond with the SDNY_PROD011 contained in the November 9, 2020 production are the two other Excel spreadsheets you referenced. In any event, I am looking into the issue.

  I understand from your subsequent email that the Excel spreadsheet at 467566 does not have any content. Are there any other "Bates-stamped" documents without content?

It is possible that there are additional items that were recovered from electronic devices and storage media that do not have content. For example, as Chris and I discussed in a separate email exchange, certain attachments to emails on Epstein's devices were only partially recovered. Because they were attached to responsive emails, we produced those partially recovered attachments, even though many did not have content.

- I am similarly working with our vendor to understand how to best identify for you which Bates number corresponds with the metadata in the index contained in the Excel spreadsheets.

  We received your overlay on April 27. On April 28, I wrote you back with the persistent problems despite the overlay. I do not see that you have responded to those concerns. Can you please advise?

I have been working with our vendor and paralegals to look into this issue and will respond to your April 28 email shortly.

- Can you please provide me with a list of the photos that you are unable to view? Once I have that list, I will check to see whether we are able to open them on our end.

  I am not able to provide you a list of the photos I am unable to view, for a number of reasons including my work-product protections. I can highlight the file types that are contained on the disk and perhaps your vendor can tell us which reader will work with those file types:

  attr avi bmp
  bup dat data db db-journal doc ds_store
  f catalog
  ifo images #1
  iphoto
  ivc

  pdf
  png pps ps psb psd raf tif tiff tropez
  txt

I will forward this response to the vendor and see what, if any, assistance we can provide.

- Can you be more specific in identifying photographs that you believe should have been produced but have been omitted, please? We have endeavored with the FBI to produce copies of all non-nude photographs recovered from searches of Epstein's residence to the defense, and I am not aware of any intentional omissions.

  See above.

Without specifics, I cannot address this issue further.

- I am discussing with the FBI your request that we produce all Highly Confidential images to you. I will respond to that request next week.

  I do not believe I received a response to this last week as indicated. Can you please update me?

Please see above.

- Once we have a firm trial date, I will let you know by what date I expect to be able to provide you with a list of the Highly Confidential photographs we may introduce at trial.

  Please advise.

We will discuss this request as a team now that we have a trial date of November 29, 2021.

- I am working with our paralegals to assess the list of files that your client is unable to review at the MDC. As soon as we have finished looking into those issues, I will let you know.

  Is there any update on this project?

As I mentioned above, our paralegals are still working through this list of documents. As soon as I have information to provide on this score, I will reach out.

Best,

[redacted]:

I'm writing to follow-up on our discussion last Thursday regarding the photo evidence and to address a number of other critical problems with the discovery provided to date.

Unfortunately, both in the production to defense counsel and on the hard-drive supplied by your office to our client at MDC, there are thousands, if not hundreds of thousands, of photos that are still unreadable. We have spent countless hours, and a chunk of our client's resources, trying to rectify a number of these problems ourselves, to no avail. Our ability, and our client's ability, to review all of the discovery in this case is absolutely critical and is constitutionally guaranteed. Unless you can quickly propose a solution, we believe we need to raise this with the Court.

- We do not have a functional copy the Excel spreadsheet located at SDNY_GM_00467566. I have confirmed that the original spreadsheet provided to us is corrupt and the vendor and [redacted]-discovery provider cannot open it.

- The other two Excel spreadsheets from the production (and presumably the one we cannot open) are insufficiently detailed to tell us which photo goes with which meta-data.
    - The index contains multiple instances of the same "file name" with different hash values.
    - The index does not match any particular file with a Bates stamp.
    - The index does not indicate which files were withheld as "highly confidential."

- Many of the photo files that were provided in discovery (□., SDNY011) do not have a discernible reader. I cannot open them. Ms. Maxwell does not have a reader on her MDC laptop that can read them. If the government is able to view them, then we should be provided the means to view them as well.

- A number of photo files appear to be missing from the MDC laptop and are not highly confidential, based on my review of documents last week. Because we do not have a list of what was/was not produced, however, we cannot confirm.

- As you know, the 2 x "highly confidential hard-drives" in NY did not work until Thursday once an appropriate reader was added to the laptop. I did not have enough time to view all of the files. I do not have the reader that you ultimately added to that laptop.

- The discs that I attempted to view in NY (from various binders) would not load on the government laptop. I was unable to match up disks with potential files on the hard-drives. Because I did not have a functioning Excel spreadsheet, I also was not able to match any highly confidential photos from the hard-drives with the associated metadata.

I am requesting that you produce to defense counsel replicas of the two hard-drives that you made available for review last week, subject to all of the strictures of the protective order.

I recognize that you have designated as "highly confidential" photos that you contend contain "nude, partially-nude, or otherwise sexualized images, videos, or other depictions of individuals." Among the photos on the hard-drive that I was able to view, there were a lot of "nude" and "partially-nude" photos of adults, but I did not see anything that would qualify as child pornography under the statute. Some of the photos only showed a woman's back or shoulder. If you have reason to believe that there is child pornography contained on the two hard-drives, then certainly defense counsel is not asking to possess that material; you can designate it as such and we can view it at an acceptable location as occurs in any CP case.

Otherwise, I think the burden of reviewing adult nudity only in the government's office or courthouse imposes an extraordinary cost on our client and prevents us from analyzing the metadata, having our experts review the file structures, keeps us from preparing photos for use at trial, and generally impedes our defense.

In a similar vein, can you let me know when you are willing to disclose any photos that you intend to introduce at trial? As to any of those, I will need sufficient information and time to analyze them for foundation and admissibility purposes with an appropriate expert.

Finally, I am attaching an incomplete list of the documents that our client still cannot read at MDC. It is a small sample, as she has had to spend hours of her "review" time communicating to our staff which files she cannot read. Also, the manner in which the discovery was provided to her (load file format) precludes her from comparing the "image" and the "native" files (they do not, for example, have clearly labeled bates-stamps).

I would appreciate as prompt a response as you can provide so that we can address any issues with the Court on Friday.

Thanks,
Laura

I made a few clarifying edits and think this is ready to go with one exception:

You have added to this a request related to Epstein's and Maxwell's border crossings. We can ask for that, but I think this will make the UKCA pause and give this greater scrutiny. They might think that we are trying to get information about P. Andrew, which will cause them to spend time wringing their hands. Ordinarily, we would make an inquiry about border crossing information on a police to police basis first, to see what is there. This one has a tight deadline, and is sensitive, so an MLA request (if you really need this stuff) should be on record.

I can submit the request as attached (with the Epstein and Maxwell border crossing request in it), but it has a higher likelihood of getting hung up in UK government analysis.

We are available to review the hard-drives and boots this Thursday (8/26), next Tuesday (8/31) or on September 1st. Let me know which FBI office and any local officer I need to coordinate with for entry to the building.

On the topic of HC materials, I don't believe I have yet received an explanation for [redacted] statement below ("I have confirmed with the FBI that the larger number contained in the 302 is accurate. I have not been able to figure out where the disconnect arose between the actual number and the number that was verbally conveyed to me, which I then conveyed to you. I apologize for the mistake, which was unintentional."). Can someone please provide an explanation for the reason those two numbers differed so dramatically? What is the current count of HC photos? Where did all of the HC photos come from?

We may need more than one session of viewing, depending on the size of the hard drives. I also may need to re-review with an expert once I have had an opportunity to view any new materials for the first time. I also likely will need to sort out a method of viewing these with my client.

Finally, given the volume of HC materials, [redacted] offered when we were in NY at some point to specify which if any HC materials the government seeks to introduce at trial. If you are able to do that now (prior to my review), it certainly will cut-down on the time needed to review and potential expert fees. Obviously if I am unable to view the materials in sufficient time, we may need to seek extra accommodations to complete the task, and a means of reviewing these new HC materials with Ms. Maxwell, as is her right.

Let me know if those dates work and an explanation.

Thank you,
Laura

Laura,

By the end of this week, I expect to have a production ready for you, which will contain two categories of images responsive to the discussions we have been having:

- First, the production will include several thousand images that the FBI has de-designated from Highly Confidential down to Confidential. These will be produced in a format that should provide you with all available metadata together with each image. This production is the culmination of the de-designation review process that the FBI has completed over the past few months.
- Second, the production will include all of the approximately 40,000 images previously produced to you, which were extracted from CDs seized from Epstein's New York residence. This production will be in a new format that should provide you with all available metadata together with each image.

For this production, we will need two 500GB hard drives (one for counsel's copy and one for Ms. Maxwell's copy) on which to load the materials.

I have also discussed your request that the FBI relocate certain items to the field office in Colorado to facilitate your review. The FBI is able to make such a transfer of two of the items you requested:

- The FBI will send hard drives containing the remaining highly confidential image and video files seized from Epstein's devices and CDs to Colorado, where you may review them. As was the case in New York, these will need to be reviewed on a government laptop in the presence of an FBI employee and cannot be copied, photographed, or removed from FBI property.
- The FBI will also send the boots that were recently taken into evidence at 1B items to Colorado, where you may review them. You may examine and photograph the boots in the presence of an FBI employee, but they may not be removed from FBI property.
- The photographs provided by [redacted] [redacted] cannot be shipped out of the New York office because they are logged as 1A items and must remain with the case file in New York. We are happy to arrange a time for the defense to examine those photographs in person in New York. You may examine and photograph the photos in the presence of an FBI employee, with the understanding that any photographs of these materials must be treated as Confidential under the Protective Order in this case. There are relatively few photographs, so any review of these should not be time-intensive.

Both of the case agents on our team are out of the office this week and next week, but we are working to find other agents who can help us coordinate shipping the drives and the boots to Colorado. My hope is that they will get to Colorado by next week. Please let me know what date(s) you would like to review those items later this month, and I will coordinate with the FBI to schedule your review.

Best,

[redacted] –

I am writing to inquire regarding the status of the HC material review and de-designation (highlighted #2 below, from May 14) and also to discuss how we may go about reviewing the additional 30,000 HC materials that we were not made available to us when we traveled to NY for that purpose.

Do you know when the de-designation process will be complete? And when do you expect the de-designated documents will be disclosed?

Also, regarding the remaining HC materials (highlighted #1 below), we would propose that they be made available for our review at the FBI office here in Colorado within the next 30 days. We also would like to inspect at the same time and place (a) the originals of the VRG photos that you located after our evidence review and (b) the boots that you recently took possession of.

I am happy to schedule a time to discuss logistics if that would be easier.

Thanks,
Laura

Laura,

Thank you for your email. Below please find updates regarding these outstanding issues:

1. I have confirmed with the FBI that the larger number contained in the 302 is accurate. I have not been able to figure out where the disconnect arose between the actual number and the number that was verbally conveyed to me, which I then conveyed to you. I apologize for the mistake, which was unintentional.

2. The FBI's review of the Highly Confidential material and de-designation remains ongoing. I have reached out to the case agent for an update on timing and will let you know when I have an estimate of when that process will be complete.

3. My office did not create the empty Excel spreadsheet. It was included on a hard drive provided to our vendor by the FBI containing the images from CDs seized from Epstein's residence and spreadsheets created by the FBI during its review of those CDs. I do not know the origins of that third blank spreadsheet, and the FBI has informed me that it only created two spreadsheets in connection with its review of the CDs. My best guess is that the blank document was a temporary file that was automatically created when the spreadsheets were copied onto the drive, but I do not know that for certain. To the best of my knowledge, there are no blank files that my office created.

4. Our paralegals have been working to look into the thousands of Bates numbers you listed as unviewable at the MDC. Attached please find a spreadsheet our paralegals created providing the status of each document. You will see that the spreadsheet is divided into separate tabs for each category of problem you identified. Next to each identified Bates number, the paralegals have noted the status of each image and/or document. Below please find a key explaining each of these different status entries:

- Blanks
  - "Confirmed Blank" means the document has no content.
  - "Not Blank" means there is content to the document. For documents in this category, please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "No Native" means there is no corresponding native with the image.
  - "N/A – Not PAE Export" means the document was not produced by our vendor.
- Not Supported
  - ".raf files " means we are unable to open these files on our system and are asking our vendor and IT for assistance. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
  - ".txt file (blank)" means the document has no content.
- Can't Read – Won't Open
  - "Image Opens" means there is content to the image. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "Image Opens – Black Box(es)" means these images contained redactions of nudity. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "Native Opens" means there is content to the native. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
  - "No native" means there is no corresponding native with the image.
  - "Document Produced Natively" means that a cover sheet was produced instead of an image for this document.
  - "Corrupt" means the document has no viewable content.

    - "Native Password Protected" means we are unable to open this document and are asking our vendor for assistance. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
    - "N/A – Not PAE Export" means the document was not produced by our vendor.
- Missing
    - "Image Opens" means there is content to the image. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
    - "No native" means there is no corresponding native with the image. We are conferring with our vendor regarding certain documents for which the image cover sheet indicates the document was produced natively but for which we do not have a corresponding native. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
    - "Document Produced Natively" means that a cover sheet was produced instead of an image for this document.
    - "Not Missing – Opens" means there is content to the native. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
    - "Image for this document is not exported" means that we do not have these images. We are conferring with our vendor regarding these documents and will reach back out once we have obtained assistance.
    - "Blank" means the image file is blank.
    - "Not Missing – Corrupt" means the document has no viewable content.
- Corrupt
    - "Document Produced Natively" means that a cover sheet was produced instead of an image for this document.
    - "Not Corrupt" means there is content to the document. Please let us know if you are requesting that we reproduce these documents to Ms. Maxwell at the MDC.
    - "Password Locked" means we are unable to open this document and are asking our vendor for assistance. We will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
    - "Blank File" means the native file we have is blank. We are checking with our vendor for assistance with such files and will reach back out once we have obtained that assistance.
    - "Blank" means the image file is blank.
    - "Corrupt" means the document has no viewable content.
    - "No Native File" means there is no corresponding native with the image.
    - "N/A – Not PAE Export" means the document was not produced by our vendor.
    - "Lazer Scan" means that the file is part of the 3D scan of Epstein's private island. As you may recall, there were difficulties producing the 3D scan to counsel in a viewable format, and we reproduced these documents to counsel on multiple occasions. Within the lazer scan production there are pdf files that should be viewable and should reflect the substance of the 3D scan.

Best,

Following up on the below, as I believe these are the outstanding issues from this email chain.

1. When do you expect to have clarification from the FBI regarding the discrepancy in highly confidential material count?

2. Same for the de-designated HC materials?
3. Your answer regarding Bates-stamped but content-less files only addressed those that you took off of Epstein devices. I asked about a file that your office created – an Excel spreadsheet – that did not have content yet you Bates-stamped and produced it. Are there others?
4. When do you expect to have answers to the list of documents that our client is unable to view at the MDC? It is a few days shy of a month since I forwarded that list to you and I am hoping that you will have answers in the next few days.

I will wait for answer to 1 and 2 above before I can adequately address your position on the HC materials. It may be that we need to go back to the Court to address your definition of highly confidential which is unlike I have seen on even child pornography cases.

Thanks for your prompt attention to these matters.

Laura,

I have responded to your comments below in red.

I am working with the FBI to understand the discrepancy you pointed out, which I did not appreciate until receiving your May 7, 2021 email. The 2,100 estimate was the amount of files that the FBI verbally informed me had been loaded onto the second hard drive when I was arranging for your review of evidence at 500 Pearl. At the time, I did not recall that the 302 had a different number, and I did not check the number the FBI provided verbally against the 302. As soon as I receive clarification from the FBI, I will reach back out to you.

As for your request to have access to Highly Confidential images and videos, paragraph 12 of the Protective Order in this case defines Highly Confidential information as discovery material that "contains nude, partially-nude, or otherwise sexualized images, videos, or other depictions of individuals." That definition does not limit this category to child pornography. Paragraph 14 of the Protective Order further provides that any Highly Confidential materials "Shall be made available for inspection by Defense Counsel and the Defendant, under protection of law enforcement officers or employees." Given those provisions, as well as the importance of maintaining the security of nude images of third parties, including victims, we are not prepared to provide you with copies of nude or partially-nude images from the hard drives. However, we appreciate your concern that images that do not contain nudity appear to have been designated as Highly Confidential. Accordingly, I am working with the FBI to de-designate any images that do not depict genitals, breasts, or buttocks. Once those images have been de-designated, our office will produce them to you.

Best,

[redacted] –

Thank you for your response of April 23. I haven't heard back from you last week as promised on this or my April 28 request, so I'm writing to follow up. I have responses to specific questions of yours below in blue.

Additionally, I have more questions regarding your production of "highly confidential" ("HC") images and videos. When we met the week of April 13 in NY, during which time I requested to view all evidence in the government's possession, including all highly confidential material, you described for me two hard-drives that contained all of the HC images and videos from this case.

- First, one of those hard-drives you said contained all of the materials extracted from the disks contained in the black binders. There were approximately 40,000 or so images (Excel spreadsheet SDNY_GM_00467567) of which 3,400 images were deemed HC and tagged "#nudity" by your team (SDNY_GM_00467568). (I still await a response regarding the problems with your metadata overlay).

- Second, the other hard-drive contained images extracted from Epstein's devices which were searched pursuant to a warrant. You said the responsive image/video files were contained on that second hard-drive, and there were approximately 2,100 "nude" or HC images on that hard-drive. You did not produce the metadata for those images because it was still present on the files which had been digitally extracted.

As I understood it then, there were approximately 5,500 HC images that you made available for review. However, the FBI Report dated January 27, 2021 (produced at SDNY_GM_02742399) indicates there are approximately 33,747 HC images and 895 HC videos that were identified by a digital review of CART-processed evidence; I presume based on the CART numbers that this list is the same as the images extracted from Epstein's devices, or as I understood it, the content on your hard-drive #2 above.

I am completely unclear as to why you informed me that there were 2,100 nude images from Epstein's devices, but this report seems to indicate there were approximately 34,000 HC images and videos. Please let me know if I am misunderstanding what you told me and if so, what the correct information is.

I reiterate my request that you provide to us hard-drives with all of the HC material minus any child pornography.

I am available to discuss if that would be more convenient.

Thanks,
Laura

Subject: RE: US v. Maxwell - [conferral re photo and other discovery deficiencies]

Laura,

I am working with our team as quickly as we can to address the issues you raised in the below email. In particular:

- I have asked our vendor to look into the issues with SDNY_GM_00467566. When I attempt to access that document on our Relativity database, I also receive an error message saying that the document is corrupt. I am not sure what this spreadsheet is because the only two spreadsheets that I'm aware of that correspond with the SDNY_PROD011 contained in the November 9, 2020 production are the two other Excel spreadsheets you referenced. In any event, I am looking into the issue.

  I understand from your subsequent email that the Excel spreadsheet at 467566 does not have any content. Are there any other "Bates-stamped" documents without content?

It is possible that there are additional items that were recovered from electronic devices and storage media that do not have content. For example, as Chris and I discussed in a separate email exchange, certain attachments to emails on Epstein's devices were only partially recovered. Because they were attached to responsive emails, we produced those partially recovered attachments, even though many did not have content.

- I am similarly working with our vendor to understand how to best identify for you which Bates number corresponds with the metadata in the index contained in the Excel spreadsheets.

  We received your overlay on April 27. On April 28, I wrote you back with the persistent problems despite the overlay. I do not see that you have responded to those concerns. Can you please advise?

I have been working with our vendor and paralegals to look into this issue and will respond to your April 28 email shortly.

- Can you please provide me with a list of the photos that you are unable to view? Once I have that list, I will check to see whether we are able to open them on our end.

  I am not able to provide you a list of the photos I am unable to view, for a number of reasons including my work-product protections. I can highlight the file types that are contained on the disk and perhaps your vendor can tell us which reader will work with those file types:

  bup
  doc ds_store

jpg mov
pdf
png pps
tif

I will forward this response to the vendor and see what, if any, assistance we can provide.

- Can you be more specific in identifying photographs that you believe should have been produced but have been omitted, please? We have endeavored with the FBI to produce copies of all non-nude photographs recovered from searches of Epstein's residence to the defense, and I am not aware of any intentional omissions.

  See above.

Without specifics, I cannot address this issue further.

- I am discussing with the FBI your request that we produce all Highly Confidential images to you. I will respond to that request next week.

  I do not believe I received a response to this last week as indicated. Can you please update me?

Please see above.

- Once we have a firm trial date, I will let you know by what date I expect to be able to provide you with a list of the Highly Confidential photographs we may introduce at trial.

  Please advise.

We will discuss this request as a team now that we have a trial date of November 29, 2021.

- I am working with our paralegals to assess the list of files that your client is unable to review at the MDC. As soon as we have finished looking into those issues, I will let you know.

  Is there any update on this project?

As I mentioned above, our paralegals are still working through this list of documents. As soon as I have information to provide on this score, I will reach out.

Best,

Subject: US v. Maxwell - [conferral re photo and other discovery deficiencies]

[redacted]:

I'm writing to follow-up on our discussion last Thursday regarding the photo evidence and to address a number of other critical problems with the discovery provided to date.

Unfortunately, both in the production to defense counsel and on the hard-drive supplied by your office to our client at MDC, there are thousands, if not hundreds of thousands, of photos that are still unreadable. We have spent countless hours, and a chunk of our client's resources, trying to rectify a number of these problems ourselves, to no avail. Our ability, and our client's ability, to review all of the discovery in this case is absolutely critical and is constitutionally guaranteed. Unless you can quickly propose a solution, we believe we need to raise this with the Court.

- We do not have a functional copy the Excel spreadsheet located at SDNY_GM_00467566. I have confirmed that the original spreadsheet provided to us is corrupt and the vendor and [redacted]-discovery provider cannot open it.

- The other two Excel spreadsheets from the production (and presumably the one we cannot open) are insufficiently detailed to tell us which photo goes with which meta-data.
  - The index contains multiple instances of the same "file name" with different hash values.
  - The index does not match any particular file with a Bates stamp.
  - The index does not indicate which files were withheld as "highly confidential."

- Many of the photo files that were provided in discovery ([redacted]., SDNY011) do not have a discernible reader. I cannot open them. Ms. Maxwell does not have a reader on her MDC laptop that can read them. If the government is able to view them, then we should be provided the means to view them as well.

- A number of photo files appear to be missing from the MDC laptop and are not highly confidential, based on my review of documents last week. Because we do not have a list of what was/was not produced, however, we cannot confirm.

- As you know, the 2 x "highly confidential hard-drives" in NY did not work until Thursday once an appropriate reader was added to the laptop. I did not have enough time to view all of the files. I do not have the reader that you ultimately added to that laptop.

- The discs that I attempted to view in NY (from various binders) would not load on the government laptop. I was unable to match up disks with potential files on the hard-drives. Because I did not have a functioning Excel spreadsheet, I also was not able to match any highly confidential photos from the hard-drives with the associated metadata.

I am requesting that you produce to defense counsel replicas of the two hard-drives that you made available for review last week, subject to all of the strictures of the protective order.

I recognize that you have designated as "highly confidential" photos that you contend contain "nude, partially-nude, or otherwise sexualized images, videos, or other depictions of individuals." Among the photos on the hard-drive that I was able to view, there were a lot of "nude" and "partially-nude" photos of adults, but I did not see anything that would qualify as child pornography under the statute. Some of the photos only showed a woman's back or shoulder. If you have reason to believe that there is child pornography contained on the two hard-drives, then certainly defense counsel is not asking to possess that material; you can designate it as such and we can view it at an acceptable location as occurs in any CP case.

Otherwise, I think the burden of reviewing adult nudity only in the government's office or courthouse imposes an extraordinary cost on our client and prevents us from analyzing the metadata, having our experts review the file structures, keeps us from preparing photos for use at trial, and generally impedes our defense.

In a similar vein, can you let me know when you are willing to disclose any photos that you intend to introduce at trial? As to any of those, I will need sufficient information and time to analyze them for foundation and admissibility purposes with an appropriate expert.

Finally, I am attaching an incomplete list of the documents that our client still cannot read at MDC. It is a small sample, as she has had to spend hours of her "review" time communicating to our staff which files she cannot read. Also, the manner in which the discovery was provided to her (load file format) precludes her from comparing the "image" and the "native" files (they do not, for example, have clearly labeled bates-stamps).

I would appreciate as prompt a response as you can provide so that we can address any issues with the Court on Friday.

Thanks,
Laura

United States District Judge
United States Courthouse

Re: United States v. Ghislaine Maxwell
S2 20 Cr. 330 (AJN)

Dear Judge Nathan:

The government cannot resist the opportunity to gratuitously cast Ghislaine Maxwell in a negative light while it defends the Metropolitan Detention Center at all costs, regardless of the facts. [Dkt. 326]. The government accuses Ms. Maxwell of using a cart to barricade the door to the VTC room. The cart was never used to barricade. The government has chosen to make this an issue - when it never was - to justify the restriction placed on the amount of legal materials Ms. Maxwell can bring into the VTC room on any given day.

The government mischaracterizes facts to which it does not have first-hand knowledge. Ms. Maxwell continues to use the cart daily to bring legal material into the VTC room and to remove those documents at the end of the VTC session. Most of her legal papers are kept in a separate room. She is only allowed to bring a certain portion of documents to any given VTC session and is not allowed to leave the VTC room to collect additional documents that may be needed for review and discussion with counsel. The amount of legal material Ms. Maxwell can access depends upon rules that fluctuate with each team rotated into the MDC every two weeks to guard her.

This limitation impacts the productivity of VTC and in-person legal conferences and compromises Ms. Maxwell's ability to prepare for trial.

Very truly yours,

/s/

Whatever I did in the Epstein case was probably transcribed and you have the transcript. Other than that whatever notes I had were destroyed as it was more than 5 years ago. [redacted],

Please call when you get this information.

I have attached Registration information for N331JE and N722JE. N722JE is the entire aircraft registration file. N331JE is just the section that appeared to contain all relevant information to your case. I can give you the entire file if you think there is more that might be applicable, and certified copies of the entire files can be obtained if they need to be used in court. In my experience, sending the entire aircraft registration file from the start usually is daunting for the investigators, and leads to tons of questions just trying to figure out what might be relevant. Sometimes aircraft files are 300 pages or more, and that can be frustrating when maybe only 20 were relevant to the SUBJECT.

I have also attached the LLC Documents for Hyperion Air LLC which is the registered owner for both N331JE and N722JE.

I have attached the Airman File for the SUBJECT, which is encrypted due to PII. I will send the password in a follow-on e-mail. I looked at the medical file, but I believe the information contained therein has limited value to your investigation. I have created a separate encrypted document with only the information that may be helpful, so that you can evaluate potentially relevant information while maintaining medical privacy. If the information in the airman file or the document I created turns out to be critical evidence for your case, then certified copies of the airman and/or medical file can be obtained at a later date.

As I mentioned previously, I want to clarify some details regarding the helicopters. What I found appeared to be slightly different from what was included in the original e-mail to me below.

Hi [redacted]

It was nice talking with you yesterday. Thanks for your assistance with this. Please see the below email of aircraft information.

Below are the aircrafts we believe Maxwell has/had been using. The helicopter we know that she personally piloted, while the jets we know her to be a passenger. You'll notice some of the aircrafts will be associated with Jeffrey Epstein, as she traveled with him frequently. Any information you are able to provide would be helpful. If there is additional passenger manifests for each of these aircrafts we'd like to know that as well. I know we discussed that sometimes that's not available. As you can imagine, this case is high profile, so I appreciate any discretion you can make on your part.

Please let me know if I left something out that would be able to assist you in any way.

Thanks again,

COVID-19

WaPo: [OPINION] "There's another coronavirus crisis brewing: Fraud," Michael D'Ambrosio and Terry Wade, April 14, 2020, 2:49 PM
As the United States and the world grapple with the immediate public health and economic fallout of the coronavirus pandemic, a related crisis has simultaneously emerged: a wave of criminals seeking to prey upon an anxious public. To those of us in law enforcement, this is a situation we anticipated — yet dreaded. Swindles, scams and outright thefts have long been features of major disasters. [Continue Reading]

WIAT-CBS (Birmingham, AL): [VIDEO] "US Attorney Jay Town warns public about rise of coronavirus scams in Alabama," Unattributed, April 14, 2020, 2:48 PM (EDT)
As more people are becoming more aware of their hygiene in the midst of the coronavirus pandemic, U.S. Attorney Jay Town is reminding people they should also be aware of people trying to take advantage of them. In an interview with CBS 42's Alissa Rothermich Tuesday morning, Town said there are plenty of scams going around by people trying to take advantage of the public over the viral outbreak. [WATCH]

Reuters: "Ex-Trump campaign manager Manafort seeks home confinement, as COVID-19 spreads in prisons," Sarah N. Lynch, April 14, 2020, 2:12 PM
President Donald Trump's former campaign manager, Paul Manafort, became the latest high-profile federal inmate to request release on home confinement due to the coronavirus outbreak, according to an April 13 letter seen by Reuters. In the letter, Manafort's attorneys ask the Bureau of Prisons director and the warden at FCI Loretto in Pennsylvania to let Manafort serve the remainder of his 7-1/2-year prison term at his home in Virginia, saying he is at a greater risk of complications if he contracts COVID-19, the potentially lethal respiratory illness caused by the coronavirus. WSJ: "Political Consultants Sue for Access to Small Business Loans," Brody Mullins, Ted Mann, April 14, 2020, 12:56 PM
A trade association of political consultants is suing the Trump administration, arguing that the Small Business Administration is violating the First Amendment rights of its members by barring pollsters, lobbyists and campaign operatives from receiving emergency loans. At issue for the political consulting industry are a few words in the $2 trillion economic recovery legislation approved by Congress, as well as existing federal rules, that prohibit certain industries from applying for loans from the government. ## MARIJUANA LEGALIZATION

Rolling Stone: "During COVID-19, Marijuana Is 'Essential' -- But Essential for Who?," Mary Jane Gibson, April 14, 2020, 2:12 PM
As the coronavirus spread across the country in March, and stay-at-home orders began to go into effect, every state with a regulated cannabis system allowed weed sales to continue in some form, deeming medical-marijuana businesses essential during the pandemic, along with groceries and pharmacies. This, The New York Times declared, was "official recognition that for some Americans, cannabis is as necessary as milk and bread." [Continue Reading]

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

On 11/8/2021, [redacted], date of birth(DOB): [redacted], Email: [redacted] was interviewed at the United States Attorney's Office (USAO), 1 Saint Andrews Plaza, New York, NY 10007. Present for the interview was, Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) for the Southern District of New York (SDNY) [redacted], AUSA [redacted], Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Special Agent (SA) [redacted], Defense Attorney [redacted]. After being advised of the identities of the interviewers and the nature of the interview, AUSA [redacted] briefed [redacted] on the terms of the proffer agreement. [redacted] then provided the following information:

[redacted] attended [redacted] High School up to the 11th grade and then went on to receive his General Educational Development (GED) certificate from [redacted] GED prep in 2001. [redacted] grew up in the Bedstuy and Bushwick areas of Brooklyn. Previous jobs that [redacted] had held included working at Summit Security for 6 months,the New York Police Department(NYPD)Traffic Enforcement in 2002-2003 for 3 years and Sanitation Enforcement in 2005 for a few months. In 2006, [redacted] began working for the Bureau of Prisons(BOP) as a General Schedule 5 (GS-5) Corrections Officer (CO)at the Metropolitan Correctional Center (MCC). [redacted] worked at the MCC his entire career as a CO. [redacted] started working on the Disturbance Control Team (DCT) in 2007. Other members of the DCT included Officers, [redacted] operated as the Lead Instructor. Lieutenants([redacted]) [redacted] have all lead the DCT teams at one point.

The responsibility of the DCT was to respond to and deal with disturbances, riots and hostage situations. [redacted] recalled one time when the DCT was activated when all of the inmates were switched between units 5 South and 11 South. The DCT received tactical, munitions, less than lethal, crowd control and firearms training. Officers received training on and were required to qualify with the 9mm, AR-15, shotgun and sub-machine gun(SMG). The DCT also received annual update training on the code of conduct. [redacted] stated that Officers were able to carry firearms outside of the facility and [redacted] carried a Glock-19 that was his personally owned weapon. All facility weapons were kept in the armory at the MCC. The Law Enforcement Officer Safety Act (LEOSA) allowed [redacted] to carry his firearm outside of work.

The highest grade that [redacted] reached was GS-8, Senior Officer Specialist and his highest position was Acting [redacted]. [redacted] worked off and on as the acting [redacted] for about a year. As Acting [redacted], if [redacted] worked the night shift (4pm-12am), he would be 3rd in command of the entire facility. As a CO, [redacted] normal duties was as internal security. Internal Security runs the elevators in the facility. [redacted] worked as internal security for 8 years. On the schedule, [redacted] worked as internal security #2 for 2 years prior to 2020.

[redacted] recalled working in the Special Housing Unit (SHU)in 2006. [redacted] stated that he eventually stayed away from the SHU as much as possible due to there being too many regulations. [redacted] stated that all of the regulations made it easy to get into trouble. All officers that worked in the SHU received annual training on the regulations of the SHU. Topics such as maintaining key control and transporting inmates were some of the topics covered. Examples of key control would be ensuring that the grill key does not enter the tier. [Agent Note: The grill key pertains to the key that opens the main door of the tier. Grill relates to the vertical bars on the entrance resembling a cooking grill].

Inmates that were placed in the SHU on Disciplinary Segregation (DS) had limitations on the items that they could have but were able to keep items such as radios and hygiene items. Inmates were allowed to put in formal requests for items to be brought to them in the SHU. [redacted] stated that inmates in the SHU were allowed to give items to other inmates. [redacted] stated that an inspection of the items must happen before the item is passed between inmates. Items are inspected because contraband such as cigarettes, K2, pills, razors or anything can be found in the items. [redacted] stated that he had not witnessed any items get passed that had not been inspected first. [redacted] stated that he had not passed items that were not inspected first. [redacted] explained that an inspection consisted of ensuring that the items were not tamported with in any way. Another way of inspecting would be if the item being passed was a book, [redacted] would open it and shake the pages to ensure that nothing is in it. [redacted] explained that even inside of a book you could find drugs.

It is an unwritten rule that you can pass items from one inmate to another in the SHU. [redacted] stated that there are no regulations that state that you can or cannot pass items only that you cannot pass contraband. Any contraband that is found is taken to the bubble. A [redacted] is then called and the item is taken to the Special Investigative Section (SIS). As internal security, [redacted] would go and retrieve contraband and deliver it to the [redacted]. As Acting [redacted], [redacted] would go and get the contraband items himself. SIS has a drop box on the 3rd floor for contraband to be placed into. Internal's duty would include getting the inmate from their cell, pat searching them and transport them to the SHU.

In 2018, a female CO wanted an inmate to go to the SHU and [redacted] decided to not take the inmate to the SHU. [redacted] recalled some of the contraband he has seen which included cigarettes, weed, K2, shanks, and razors made into weapons. [redacted] recalled finding a lot of scalpels. [redacted] stated that he did not know where the scalpels were coming from but assumed they came from medical or visitors because the scalpels were thin enough not to set off the metal detectors.

[redacted] stated that he was off on the day of Jeffrey Epstein's death. [redacted] does not remember working overtime in the SHU after Epstein's death and does not have knowledge of any restrictions put in place in the SHU. The focus of the facility was on the SHU because of the spotlight after Epstein's death. [redacted] stated that he would help move inmates from the SHU but would not be posted there. [redacted] was not asked to work the SHU because everyone including the Captain and [redacted] knew [redacted] would not work in the SHU. Darden was the [redacted] at that time.

[redacted] stated that his whole family worked in corrections at different levels. [redacted] older sister, [redacted] works as a CO at the Metropolitan Detention Center (MDC) and his brother (non-biological), [redacted] [redacted] worked at the MCC as a CO. [redacted] calls [redacted] his brother because [redacted] was raised by [redacted] father.

[redacted] stated that him being placed on administrative leave was due to the Associate Warden's(AW) personal vendetta against [redacted]. The MCC DCT was activated last minute at the end of February 2020. Other DCT from other facilities were activated first. [redacted] was told first that they were being activated but they did not know why. [redacted] had been working at the MCC all day due to working a double shift. The [redacted] said that the building needed to be locked down. [redacted] and the other officers were told that they could not go home. [redacted] stated that he argued with [redacted] about them not telling the Officers what was going while DCT were dealing with and fighting inmates while one of them could potentially have a gun. [redacted] stated that he found out about the gun through the media. DCT from Fort Dix, Canaan and Danbury were activated and briefed on the situation. [redacted] recalled sitting with [redacted] Doctor and other MCC staff in the Attorney conference room on the 3rd floor. [redacted] was at home at that time.

At 8pm, the MCC DCT was activated. [redacted] had found out everything through the media. [redacted] stated that he ran into [redacted] and confronted him. [redacted] said to [redacted] that he did not have to tell [redacted] anything. [redacted] told [redacted] that DCT was activated. [redacted] had been forced to come in. [redacted] stated "Im not doing shit". [redacted] stated that he eventually changed his mind because [redacted] was loyal to [redacted]. [redacted] stated that he kept his cellphone in a locker at the MCC and would communicate via radio or sallyport phones. [redacted] had came to [redacted] in-person to ask for help. MCC DCT were told to help with the shakedown on the units by [redacted]. The first unit that the MCC DCT went to was 5 South. [redacted] recalled himself, [redacted], [redacted], [redacted] and maybe [redacted] being present. They were instructed to shakedown the unit and look for contraband. 1 team would conduct the strip search and the other team would help strip the cells. [redacted] stated that he conducted the pat searches and did not search the cells.

[redacted] remembered an inmate named [redacted] on unit 7 North. [redacted] believed that [redacted] was taken to Receiving and Dispatch (R&D) and [redacted] was told to sit with [redacted] while the others retrieved a body scanner. [redacted] stated that the inmate asked [redacted] what was going on and [redacted] replied that he did not know. All of the MCC DCT was in

R&D. The Special Investigative Agent (SIA) was there too. [redacted] believes that the SIA had called for the DCT team to come to R&D but they were not in R&D long. The inmate was taken to the SHU by the entire team and was left in a holding cell. From there, the DCT resumed shakedowns. [redacted] worked from 8am-7am the next morning. [redacted] was instructed to return at 4pm that same day. The same officers from before came back to do shakedowns. Every unit was searched except unit 7 North.

[redacted] recalled an Officer on 5 South calling [redacted] over from 5 North. [redacted] does not remember the officers name but the Officer needed help with an inmate. [redacted] stated that he told [redacted] that [redacted] would go over to 5 South to assist. [redacted] took all 5 people from the MCC DCT with him. [redacted] stated that he pulled the inmate out of his cell and spoke to him. [redacted] does not remember the inmates name but asked the inmate what his problem was. [redacted] had told the inmate to calm down. [redacted] was there along with the other DCT members during this exchange. [redacted] stated that the DCT had left their non-legal weapons on 5 North. [redacted] stated that he took the inmate to an area by the gym. After the exchange, [redacted] took the inmate back to the cell. The cell was searched and an item was found on the bunkmate. Both inmates were taken to the SHU. [redacted] thinks that the item that was found was a cellphone because that is what [redacted] was told by other officers. All 5 officers went to the SHU to put the inmates in a cell. [redacted] believed that both of the inmates were going to the SHU because of the circumstances at that time.

[redacted] stated that he was called to assist with the inmate because he is not an asshole to them. [redacted] talks to the inmates, build rapport with them and is treated with respect because of his time on. [redacted] stated that he is well known at the MCC. MCC staff and inmates at the facility called him [redacted] even before he was acting [redacted] because [redacted] was always looked at as an authority figure.

The SIA had went to [redacted] and told MCC DCT to escort the inmates to the SHU. [redacted] believes that they were put in cells. Afterwards, the DCT was told by [redacted] that they had be deactivated. [redacted] stated that the DCT was deactivated for no real reason. [redacted] stated that himself and the other MCC DCT members had went to [redacted] office and quit by throwing their t-shirts on the chair. [redacted] stated that once he quit, the other members followed suit. [redacted] stated that after that, he had went home.

[redacted] stated that he received a phone call from [redacted] stating that as of March 1st 2020, [redacted] was placed on administrative leave. [redacted] assumed that he would only be on administrative leave for a couple weeks and that he would return to work. [redacted] had spoken to [redacted] about the incident and no one else had been put on administrative leave. A week later, [redacted] was also placed on adminstrative leave. [redacted] stated that he tried to call the United States Attorney's Office at 1 Saint Andrews Plaza. [redacted] stated that he spoke to a Marshal. Both [redacted] and [redacted] had considered coming to 1 Saint Andrew personally. [redacted] believes he was put on adminstrative leave as a form of retalitation for his argument with [redacted]. [redacted] believes that [redacted] was also put on administrative leave because they are close. [redacted] stated that he last saw [redacted] on Saturday (11/6/2021) in the Bronx and they spoke about [redacted] coming to speak to the government. [redacted] knew how to get in touch with the government because of [redacted] who also had gotten [redacted] in touch with an attorney. [redacted] had told [redacted] good luck. [redacted] stated that he also hangs out with officer [redacted] from the MCC.

[Interviewers asks [redacted] about past disciplinary actions] [redacted] provided the following:

[redacted] recalled a time four years on the job that he had gotten in trouble for opening the cell door of an inmate in the SHU. The infraction was caught on camera and [redacted] was suspended for 5 days. The rule for opening a door in the SHU is that the ratio must be 2-1 (2 COs for 1 inmate). The COs should outnumber the inmates. During this time, [redacted] was working in the SHU. Another incident was also in the SHU when [redacted] gave an inmate their property and [redacted] was reported by [redacted]. [redacted] stated that the property was books and food that were left over. [redacted] was cleared of any wrongdoing after the SIA investigated.

[Interviewers asks [redacted] about the whereabouts of his personal Glock-19] [redacted] provided the following:

DRAFT

The NYPD is in possession of the Glock 19. Following his shooting, [redacted] had given it to the NYPD to test it. [redacted] stated that he did not use the gun during the shooting. [redacted] stated that he is allowed to carry concealed. [redacted] stated that he went to Connecticut to qualify but has not qualified since being on administrative leave. [redacted] stated that even while suspended, he was allowed to have his BOP credentials.

[redacted] stated that he read about the recent arrests. [redacted] stated that he did not know [redacted] and only knew [redacted] through work. [redacted] and [redacted] worked different shifts. [redacted] mother had worked at the MCC during [redacted] whole career. [redacted] stated the [redacted] and [redacted] were rookies so he did not have much interaction with them. [redacted], (started as a CO around the same time as [redacted] and [redacted]) and [redacted] did not talk to each other over a female CO named [redacted]. [redacted] does not remember her first name but she is [redacted] girlfriend. [redacted] had dated [redacted] first when they were working as Shelter police with the NYC Department of Homeless Services (DHS). [redacted] knows of [redacted] because they had interacted a few times. [redacted] stated that most of those interactions occurred because [redacted] was fighting. [redacted] stated that he knew [redacted]. [redacted]'s nickname is Kongo and not Kingo. [redacted] knows Kongo because Kongo had been at the MCC for a while. [redacted] stated that he does not know [redacted]. Inmates that are higher-ups in gangs will run the unit. It could help make the COs jobs easier depending on if the inmate would listen. [redacted] is a member of 9 Trey gangs. Other leaders of units included Trinitario, MS-13 and Blood gang members. [redacted] recalled some of the young kids from the Bronx being affiliated with the Bloods.

[redacted] recognized the SHU and recognized himself and [redacted] as the individuals in the video.

Video 3:21 mark- [redacted] does not remember if he was working the SHU. [redacted] stated that he might be there to clean out the cell and put inmates in.

DRAFT

[redacted] acknowledged passing an item in the SHU but it was not an item that the inmate was not allowed to have. [redacted] stated that he inspected the item by only looking at it. [redacted] stated that he might have been asked by an inmate to pass the item for them. [redacted] does not remember what the item was but it was something the inmate was allowed to have. [redacted] believes he would not have passed it unless the inmate was allowed to have it. [redacted] stated that it might have been soap or other toiletries. [redacted] stated that he did not report that he had passed the item from one cell to another. [redacted] believes that he would not do anything such as pass contraband because of the amount of people in the building and everyone watching.

On 8/3/2021, [redacted], date of birth(DOB) [redacted] was interviewed at the United States Attorney's Office (USAO), 1 Saint Andrews Plaza, New York, NY 10007. Present for the interview was, Assistant United States Attorney (AUSA) for the Southern District of New York (SDNY) [redacted], AUSA [redacted], Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) Special Agent (SA) [redacted], SDNY SA [redacted], Defense Attorney [redacted] and Intern [redacted]. After being advised of the identities of the interviewers and the nature of the interview, AUSA [redacted] briefed [redacted] on the terms of the proffer agreement. [redacted] then provided the following information:

[redacted] stated that he was born at St. Vincent's hospital in Manhattan but grew up in The Bronx. He received his high school education from [redacted] Academy and attended [redacted] college in 2004 where he earned 9 credits. [redacted] worked many jobs including part-time construction, eckard pharmacy, NYPD homeless services in 2005-2006. [redacted] began working for the Bureau of Prisons (BOP) after. [redacted] started working at the Metropolitan Correctional Center (MCC) in July 2011. MCC is the only facility that [redacted] has worked at. [redacted] recently served as a Senior Officer Specialist (2015-16) but was a Corrections Officer (CO) before. [redacted] also served as a member of the Disturbance Control Team (DCT)(2013-2014) and became a DCT instructor (since 2014-2016). Responsibilities as a DCT member includes cell extraction, riots, escorting and fires. Working on the DCT is a voluntary collateral duty with no extra pay. [redacted] recalled when he was out for almost 2 years. [redacted] had come back in 2017 after having 2 knee surgeries. [redacted] does not remember the Warden's name at that time. When [redacted] returned to MCC, there was no longer any DCT training and many of the COs had stopped volunterring. In 2019, there were about 8 or 9 COs on the team. [redacted] served on the DCT with [redacted]. [redacted] could not remember the rest of the members. [redacted]) [redacted] was the team leader and Officer [redacted] was squad leader/ assistant team leader. [redacted] role as team leader was to arrange training and speak to the Warden. The team leader role was more of an admin type position.

While at the MCC, [redacted] mostly worked the 4pm-12am shift (2019-2020) doing transport on the elevators. [redacted] stated that he worked a lot of overtime hours. [redacted] assisted with counts, food trays and escorting visitors. [redacted] explained that COs always conducted count with another CO present unless there were less than 4 inmates. When contraband was seized, a chain of custody was created for the items. [redacted] has found shanks, scapels, cell phone, K2, marijuana and suboxone. Inmates would drop notes to the COs telling them which inmates had phones. COs were required to conduct 5 searches a day. Certain inmates that worked as cadre were able to go outside, drive and take out trash. Contraband would be in the trash cans outside for the inmates to bring into the building. [redacted] recalled a cell in 7 south that had a hole in the window with a rope and basket attached so that people on the outside could put contraband inside.

[redacted] stated that in 2019-2020, he would work in the SHU for overtime. The rules in the SHU were to have the inmates designated as DS (disciplinary), cuffed at all times. 2 guards were required for inmates to go to the shower. Inmates received less shower time and had less items inside of the cell. Inmates in the SHU designated as AD (protective custody) were able to have more items in their cells. All inmates in the SHU received larger food trays.

In 2015-2016, [redacted] worked permanently in the SHU. [redacted] explained that only items that were provided from a CO were allowed to go into the food slot. Inmates would pass paper if an inmate wanted to write a letter to their family. [redacted] stated that he would check the items before passing them off.

On the day of the gun lockdown, [redacted] was working overtime on day watch (8am-4pm). [redacted] stated that there was a lot of chatter over the radio and around close to 4pm, he had noticed a lot of officers had shown up from other prisons. When [redacted] asked what was going on, he did not receive an answer. [redacted] had received a call from a CO that was transferred saying that there was a gun in the building. [redacted] told [redacted] not to worry about it. [redacted] was planning to go home so he told Lt

[redacted] that if he wanted the DCT members to stay, then tell them at that moment. [redacted] told [redacted] to leave. [redacted] stated that when he got home, less than 2 hours later, the DCT was activiated. [redacted] initially told everyone that he was not going in. [redacted] called [redacted] and asked him if he could come in because [redacted] and [redacted] were the only 2 at the MCC. [redacted] stated that he spoke to [redacted] and told them he was going to go. [redacted] was sick so he did not go in.

Officers from Federal Correctional Institute (FCI) Fort Dix and Danbury were at the MCC. [redacted] stated that they searched 5 North and 5 South. They were instructed by [redacted] to pull the inmates out, search them, search their cells, gather any contraband and put it in the command center. During the search, all of the top bosses were in the command center. [redacted] stated that he could not remember if they searched 7 North or 5 North on the first night. [redacted] stated that they completed searches on 2-3 units that night. [redacted] did not leave the MCC until after midnight. [redacted] told the COs to go home. The next day, [redacted] worked the night shift. [redacted] had interviewed an inmate in Receiving and discharge (R&D). The inmate was described as a young kid with dark skin, stock, dark eyes, Bloods member. They felt that the inmate knew about the gun. [redacted], [redacted] and [redacted] sat with the inmate. The inmate said that he had nothing to do with the gun. The inmate was in the room for about 15-30 minutes. [redacted] stated that he might have seen the inmate back in the unit.

[redacted] recalled on his last day, he was on 5 North searching cells. [redacted] had asked [redacted] to help in 5 South because the inmates were giving her trouble. [redacted] told [redacted], [redacted], and [redacted] to go. [redacted] stated that they went and spoke to the inmates about being cooperative. One inmate was upset, so they pulled him out of his cell and took him to the stripe room and spoke to him. [redacted] knew the inamte by face. [redacted] stated that they put the inmate back into his cell and that was it. Shortly after, a Captain from another prison said that he needed 10 guys. They all went to 5 south. [redacted] stated that he was called to R&D but does not remember if it was over the radio. [redacted], [redacted], [redacted] and maybe [redacted] had went to R&D. [redacted] was there and they said that an inmate and his cellmate had to go to the SHU. [redacted] had taken the inmates to the SHU. [redacted] recalled there was an issue with the cell such as the light or water not working. [redacted] went to the tier with the inmates and maybe passed the inmates off to J tier. [redacted] stated that [redacted], the SHU crew was there when this happened. [redacted] spoke to inmates on the tier, opened a closet and few cells. [redacted] had spoke to inmates as well.

[redacted] stated that he would not pass contraband. He would maybe pass a stamp to help out because it could make things worse by not passing items such as toilet paper. [redacted] admitted that he would pass items even in heightened situations.

[redacted] stated that [redacted] had a vendetta against him. [redacted] feels it was personal because [redacted] did not have the confidence of the COs. On the same night of the SHU incident, [redacted] spoke to [redacted] and [redacted] was upset because [redacted] had told them to go home. Everyone had quit the DCT. The next day while at home, [redacted] received a phone call about being placed on administrative leave. [redacted] explained that when you are put on admin leave, they make posters that says that certain people are not allowed in the building. [redacted] had received phone calls about the posters from the Captain. [redacted] called [redacted] and [redacted] and they had not received a phone call. [redacted] said he had received a call from the Captain about being placed on admin leave.

The following weeks, rumors were spread that [redacted] and [redacted] had passed a phone to an inmate. [redacted] stated that he heard the rumors from [redacted], [redacted] and [redacted]. [redacted] explained that he and [redacted] are very close. [redacted] told [redacted] that they were probably after him ([redacted]). [redacted] stated that he and [redacted] met in 2011, [redacted] has more time in but they used to work the elevators together.

[redacted] lives in Brooklyn and was recently involved in a shooting not too far from his house. [redacted] told [redacted] that the shooting had nothing to do with him. [redacted] stated that he has spent time with [redacted] brother, [redacted] but he does not know where he lives.

[redacted] stated that he was told by [redacted] that the phone that was found in the cell from the night he was placed on leave was vouchered the day before. [redacted] stated that someone would have had to go steal the phone from vouchering for it to have ended up in that cell.

[redacted] acknowledged that there is contraband at the MCC. [redacted]

US DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE NEWS

Politico: "Barr turns up the heat on tech companies and child exploitation," Alexandra S. Levine, March 05, 2020, 10:00 AM Barr is poised to make an announcement today — backed by leaders from Australia, Canada, New Zealand and the U.K. — on the Justice Department's efforts to address child sexual abuse online. What to expect: Officials are set to unveil "a set of 11 'voluntary principles' that target child sexual exploitation," The Washington Post reported earlier this week. "The proposal — crafted with the industry's aid, and backed by leaders of five countries — calls on tech companies to ensure search, social-networking, video streaming and chat tools aren't havens for child predators." [Continue Reading] See also: Axios, CNBC, The Hill, Washington Times

WFXT-FOX (Boston, MA): "DOJ: FBI's efforts to identify homegrown violent extremists were not as successful as expected," John Monahan, March 05, 2020, 12:35 AM
A new report from the U.S. Department of Justice found efforts from the Federal Bureau of Investigation to properly identify homegrown violent extremists through counterterrorism fell short. In the report, officials remark attacks on U.S. soil were led by individuals who had previously presented behavior that led them to be assessed or investigated - and yet, they were still able to carry out devastating attacks. DOJ Inspector General Michael Horowitz points out they "found at least 6 attacks committed in the US by individuals who the FBI had previously assessed or investigated." [Continue Reading]

West Virginia Metro News (Charleston, WV): "Huntington mayor to speak at National Opioid Summit," Shauna Johnson, March 05, 2020, 11:15 AM
The mayor of Huntington is one of the speakers for the U.S. Department of Justice's 2020 National Opioid Summit which was scheduled to wrap up Friday in Washington, D.C. "I'm going to talk about the partnership that I have with the U.S. attorney and with the federal apparatus — FBI, ATF, DEA, the U.S. Marshal Service — and how we've come together," Mayor Steve Williams said. His appearance as part of a panel focused on "Winning the Fight" was coordinated through the office of Mike Stuart, U.S. attorney for West Virginia's Southern District. Also on the speaker list for Friday was William Barr, U.S. attorney general. [Continue Reading]

FEDERAL LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCIES

Idaho Statesman (Boise, ID): "Did you see Lori Vallow or her children in Yellowstone? The FBI is asking for your photos," Ruth Brown, March 05, 2020, 12:10 PM
While Lori Vallow Daybell awaits trial for the disappearance of her children, the FBI and Rexburg Police are asking for the public's help as they continue to search for the children. Anyone who may have visited Yellowstone National Park on Sept. 8 is asked to submit photos and videos taken to the FBI. Police say Tylee Ryan, 17, and JJ Vallow, 7, were seen there with their mother and uncle, Alex Cox. Newsweek: "Why Did The Police Arrest Nicki Minaj's Husband Kenneth Petty?," Janice Williams, March 05, 2020, 10:21 AM
Rap star Nicki Minaj's husband Kenneth Petty's is facing legal trouble. The 41-year-old, who tied the knot with Minaj in October 2019, was arrested in Los Angeles on Wednesday. The U.S. Marshals Service confirmed Petty surrendered himself after failing to register as a sex offender in California, where he now resides with his wife. Petty has lived in Los Angeles with Minaj since July 2019. Under the Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act, offenders are legally required to update registration in "each jurisdiction they reside, are employed, or attend school." Failure to properly register and update personal information within a jurisdiction is considered a federal offense and can result in fines and a maximum 10-year prison sentence. [Continue Reading]

WFMZ-TV (Allentown, PA): "FBI's suspect previously convicted of firearms offenses," Unattributed, March 05, 2020, 10:08 AM Authorities on Wednesday released new details Wednesday about the man accused of opening fire on FBI agents earlier this week. The U.S. attorney's office said in a court filing that Rafael Vega-Rodriguez is a convicted felon. Officials said his criminal history includes felony convictions for crimes involving firearms. FBI agents were looking for Vega-Rodriguez on Sunday in connection with a series of federal and state crimes, according to the feds. They said he fired four gunshots at agents, and then hid out inside a home on Gordon Street, prompting an 18-hour standoff. Authorities later captured Vega-Rodriguez in Lancaster County. [Continue Reading]

Patch (Concord, NH): "SWAT Sent To Warner After Gunshots Near Fugitive's Former Home," Tony Schinella, March 05, 2020, 08:28 AM
The hunt for a career criminal and felon wanted on rape, second-degree assault, and bail violation charges led New Hampshire State Police back to Warner Wednesday for an incident that turned out to be a separate call not connected to the fugitive. State police, U.S. Marshals, and others are searching for Douglas C. Smith Jr., a former resident of Warner. Around 7 p.m., police received a report of shots fired on Parade Ground Cemetery Road — not far from a home where Smith used to reside. [Continue Reading]

The Buffalo News (Buffalo, NY): "How Gmail helped bust WNY's 'most prolific drug trafficking' ring," Maki Becker, March 05, 2020, 06:00 AM
A key moment in the case against what authorities call "perhaps the most prolific drug trafficking organization" in Western New York happened a year ago in Los Angeles. Eleazar Martinez Medina had just flown back from Buffalo and was stopped as he tried to leave the airport. Authorities found him with more than $658,000 in cash. A search warrant for Martinez Medina's Uber account led investigators to his Gmail account and they gained the ability to track his movements in Buffalo. Investigators learned that on the morning of Feb. 15, 2019, Martinez Medina arrived by vehicle to the back of 69 Bennett Village Terrace. His arrival was captured by a surveillance camera in the alley behind the townhouse, the same house where a team of federal agents and local police arrested David Washington almost a year later. WTTG-FOX (Washington, DC): "25 guns stolen during Vienna gun shop burglary: PD," Shirin Rajaee, March 05, 2020, 12:01 AM
Vienna Police are searching for the suspects who stole 25 firearms from a Virginia gun shop earlier this week. "We don't know what to expect next, we don't know what they're gonna do with those guns, Whose hands they're in. It's unsettling," said Clint Henderson, a neighboring business owner. Vienna Arsenal Gun Store is located at 386 Maple Ave East. It sits on the second floor of a commercial building. According to Vienna Police, the gun shop was burglarized around 6 a.m. Monday. [...] Local police and agents from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms (ATF) are investigating. No suspect description has been released. [Continue Reading]

Washington Times: [OPINION] " FISA court's ban of Carter Page spy guys doesn't go far enough," Cheryl K. Chumley, March 05, 2020, 09:42 AM
Federal agents who botched the whole Carter Page wiretapping process — and by botched, of course, it's meant politicized and weaponized — have been banned from pursuing spy permissions through the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court. And thank goodness for that. That's a common-sense move. If criminal charges aren't forthcoming against these rogue FBI agents, at the least, at the very least, they should be barred from using FISC to shoot FISA arrows against political enemies. In a 19-page just-released opinion, the chief judge of the FISA court, James Boasberg, wrote that "no DOJ or FBI personnel under disciplinary or criminal review relating to their work on FISA applications shall participate in drafting, verifying, reviewing, or submitting such applications to the Court." That's only sensible. [Continue Reading]

The Hill: "Russian disinformation efforts targeting 2020 elections began last year: study," Maggie Miller, March 05, 2020, 09:23 AM
Social media accounts linked to the Russian Internet Research Agency (IRA) began spreading "brazen" misinformation connected to the 2020 election last year, New York University's Brennan Center for Justice said in a report released Thursday. The report was based on "coordinated inauthentic behavior" originating in Russia that was removed by Facebook from its platform and from Instagram in October. The researchers tied that information to the IRA, a St. Petersburg-based state-sponsored group that, according to U.S. intelligence agencies and former special counsel Robert Mueller, was primarily responsible for pushing disinformation to sow division and promote the campaign of now-President Trump during the 2016 elections. Washington Examiner: "Mexican accused of spying for Russia pleads not guilty," Caitlin Yilek, March 04, 2020, 06:24 PM

A Mexican national pleaded not guilty to charges that he was working as a foreign agent for Russia. Hector Fuentes, 35, was arrested in February in Miami after the FBI suspected him of working for an official with Russia's Foreign Intelligence Service. Fuentes, who has not been charged with espionage, entered a not guilty plea Tuesday in federal court in Miami. A Russian government official tasked Fuentes with tracking down a vehicle belonging to a U.S. government informant, according to the affidavit. The confidential human source whom Fuentes spied on worked for the FBI's counterintelligence division, providing "information on Russian spying activities in South Florida." [Continue Reading]

WaPo: "Pentagon contract linguist in Iraq charged with espionage," Spencer S. Hsu, March 04, 2020, 04:00 PM
A contract linguist assigned to a U.S. Special Operations task force in Iraq was charged with espionage Wednesday over allegations that she turned over the names of human informants and other classified data to a Lebanese man with ties to the militant group Hezbollah. The Justice Department said Mariam Taha Thompson, 61, formerly of Rochester, Minn., was charged with one count of conspiracy and one count of delivering defense information to aid a foreign government. Prosecutors alleged that she passed the information to a man in whom she had a romantic interest. Thompson appeared in federal court in Washington on Wednesday. The FBI arrested her Feb. 27 at a U.S. military facility in Irbil, Iraq, where she worked, court filings said. [Continue Reading]

IMMIGRATION & BORDER SECURITY

CBS: "Officials ignored child separation warnings, report finds: "I was called a broken record"," Graham Kates and Camilo Montoya-Galvez, March 05, 2020, 12:42 PM
Months before "zero tolerance" briefly became the law of the land, formalizing the separation of children from their parents at the southern border, employees in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services raised alarm bells about the scope of separations and the harmful effects on minors in the agency's custody. At the highest levels in the agency tasked with caring for unaccompanied migrant children, those concerns were largely ignored, and employees were even warned not to put their concerns in writing, according to a scathing report released Thursday by the HHS Inspector General. Bloomberg Law: "Software Engineer's H-1B Visa Wrongly Denied, Judge Rules," Genevieve Douglas, March 05, 2020, 12:10 PM
Software provider InspectionXpert Corp. will get another chance at hiring a "quality engineer" on a temporary high-skilled visa, following a federal judge's ruling that the company's H-1B petition was unreasonably denied. U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services erred in its decision that the engineering position wasn't a "specialty occupation," and failed to consider all of the evidence the North Carolina company submitted to prove why Sathish Kasilingam's position qualified for an H-1B visa, Judge L. Patrick Auld of the U.S. District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina ruled Thursday. [Continue Reading]

ABC: "Judge orders former Nazi concentration camp guard to be removed from US," Alexander Mallin, March 05, 2020, 12:10 PM

A Tennessee resident who formerly served as a concentration camp guard in Nazi Germany has been ordered to be removed from the United States following a two-day trial in Memphis. Friedrich Karl Berger, according to the Justice Department, was ordered removed after admitting he served as an armed guard for a sub-camp of Neuengamme near Meppen, Germany, in which Jews, Poles, Russians, Danes and other political opponents of the Nazi regime, were subject to "atrocious" conditions working "to the point of exhaustion and death."
Berger admitted to investigators that he guarded prisoners during a two week journey after the camp had to be evacuated due to the advance of British and Canadian forces. Roughly 70 prisoners died during that journey, according to officials. [Continue Reading] See also: The Hill

Washington Times: "Immigration reversal as deportations top border arrests," Stephen Dinan, March 05, 2020, 12:07 PM
Illegal immigration across the southwestern border is down so much that Homeland Security is now deporting more people each month than it captures coming across, officials announced Thursday, saying they're now able to eat into the backlog of cases that built up during last year's surge. Acting Customs and Border Protection Commissioner Mark Morgan said illegal crossings did tick up slightly in February compared to January's numbers, but it's still far lower than the heights of last year's wave. WaPo: "A lawsuit against ICE reveals the danger of government-by-algorithm," Hannah Bloch-Wehba, March 05, 2020, 10:20 AM
It is the job of the U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement to determine — case by case — whether people arrested for immigration offenses ought to be detained, released on bond or just trusted to show up in court. For years, ICE has used an algorithm to help make this decision, one that weighs factors such as ties to the community, criminal history and past or present substance abuse. But something remarkable happened in ICE's New York field office not long after President Trump came into office: Even though, from 2013 into 2017, the algorithm had recommended about 47 percent of arrestees be released, after June 2017, the number plummeted to about 3 percent. KYMA-NBC (Yuma, AZ): "Border Patrol arrests Greyhound bus passenger with fake ID," Sumiko Keil, March 05, 2020, 09:56 AM
An undocumented immigrant with fake documents traveling in a Greyhound bus was arrested Monday, according to U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP). Wellton Border Patrol agents at the I-8 immigration checkpoint referred the greyhound to secondary inspection for an immigration inspection. Agents say they encountered a man that presented a birth certificate and a California state identification card, however, the person did not resemble the picture on the ID. According to CBP, the man did not speak English and was taken in for biometric analysis for proper identification. [Continue Reading]

WaPo: "On immigration, Attorney General Barr is his own Supreme Court. Judges and lawyers say that's a problem," Kim Bellware, March 05, 2020, 09:51 AM
Attorney General William P. Barr quietly intervened in an immigration asylum case last week when he issued a decision that narrowed the definition of torture for asylum seekers who invoke it as a grounds for staying in the United States. Barr used a process known as "certification," a historically little-used power of the attorney general that allows him to overrule decisions made by the Board of Immigration Appeals and set binding precedent. Immigration lawyers and judges say the Trump administration is using the power with greater frequency — to the point of abuse — as it seeks to severely limit the number of immigrants who can remain in the United States. The administration is also using it as a check on immigration judges whose decisions don't align with the administration's immigration agenda, experts say. [Continue Reading]

San Francisco Chronicle: "ICE arrests defendant outside SF courthouse, infuriating city officials," Evan Sernoffsky, March 05, 2020, 09:47 AM

Federal immigration agents arrested a man in front of San Francisco's Hall of Justice this week, prompting outrage from the city's public defender and district attorney, who claimed the arrest violated state law. The man, who was only identified as a San Francisco resident, was in front of the criminal courthouse at 850 Bryant St., on his way to a hearing, when agents took him into custody on Tuesday, according to the public defender's office and the man's attorney, Emi MacLean. The Arizona Republic (Phoenix, AZ): "The U.S. wrongly deported a Marine veteran in 2001. On Wednesday, he was allowed to return," Daniel Gonzalez, March 05, 2020, 09:47 AM
An immigration judge ordered Joel Diaz Rincon deported in 2001 after he was convicted of a nonviolent theft charge, even though the legal permanent resident had served three years in the U.S. Marines and had been shot in the leg by a fellow soldier during training exercises while stationed in Japan. But it turns out the immigration judge made an erroneous immigration court decision. On Wednesday, the 51-year-old veteran, who had been living in Arizona at the time he was deported, was allowed to return to the country he served. Diaz Rincon crossed through the San Ysidro border crossing near San Diego just before 10 a.m., setting foot on U.S. soil for the first time as a free man in nearly 20 years. [Continue Reading]

WDTN-NBC: "Migrants have 'hopes dashed' after court reversal on 'Remain in Mexico' policy," Sandra Sanchez, March 05, 2020, 06:53 AM
Immigration court proceedings for asylum-seekers resumed, as usual, Monday in a judicial tent city at the base of the Gateway International Bridge, three days after a federal circuit court in California blocked then suddenly reinstated the controversial "Remain in Mexico" policy, allowing migrants to be returned to Mexico. There had been initial speculation that court cases for thousands of asylum-seekers who are forced to remain in Mexico would be suspended, or perhaps canceled, after a three-judge panel of the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco on Friday afternoon temporarily halted the policy, which is formally called the Migrant Protection Protocols program. NYT: [ANALYSIS] "The Open Borders Trap," Jason DeParle, March 05, 2020, 04:24 AM
Plunge into the progressive discourse on immigration, and you'll quickly hear that it's not enough just to legalize America's 11 million unauthorized migrants, however cherished the goal may be and however long it has eluded reach. Outraged at a president who has gone as far as seizing toddlers from their undocumented parents, a progressive vanguard seeks to decriminalize border crossing, ban deportations, end detention, "abolish ICE" (the Immigration and Customs Enforcement agency) and make undocumented migrants eligible for government aid. Representative Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez of New York, the progressive standard-bearer, likens detention facilities to "concentration camps." Eight advocacy groups have released an immigration plan they call "Free to Move, Free to Stay," a slogan that suggests no limits. [Continue Reading]

US SUPREME COURT

Reuters: "Democratic U.S. Senator Schumer expresses regret for Supreme Court comments," Lawrence Hurley and Richard Cowan, March 05, 2020, 10:57 AM
Chuck Schumer, the top U.S. Senate Democrat, expressed regret on Thursday for remarks he made a day earlier that two Supreme Court justices appointed by President Donald Trump would "pay the price" if they rule in favor of abortion restrictions. "I'm from Brooklyn. We speak in strong language. I shouldn't have used the words I did. But in no way was I making a threat. I never, never would do such a thing," Schumer said on the Senate floor amid calls from Republicans that he apologize for his comments about Justices Neil Gorsuch and Brett Kavanaugh. ## JUDICIAL NOMINEES & APPOINTMENTS

WaPo: "Trump just got the chance to pick another judge for the influential appeals court in D.C.," Ann E. Marimow, March 05, 2020, 02:00 PM
The surprising retirement announcement Thursday of a judge on the influential appeals court in Washington gives President Trump another opportunity to make his mark on the federal judiciary. Judge Thomas B. Griffith told court officials he plans to retire in September just two months before the 2020 presidential election. The announcement clears the way for Trump to add a third judge to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the D.C. Circuit, which has been a pipeline for nominees to the Supreme Court. FBI Email Says Sessions Did Not Have To Disclose Foreign Contacts For Security Clearance.

CNN (12/10, Perez, Correspondent, 34.45M) reports on its website that an FBI email from March shows that the agency "told an aide to Attorney General Jeff Sessions that Sessions wasn't required to disclose foreign contacts that occurred in the course of carrying out his government duties when he was a senator." In the email, an agent who the FBI does not identify, "was responding in March to a query from Sessions' assistant" seeking "confirmation of what she said was an earlier conversation on the matter." The agent "affirmed" that Sessions "was not required to list foreign government contacts while in official government business unless he developed personal relationships from such contacts." CNN says the email "bolsters" the Justice Department's explanation "for why Sessions didn't disclose contacts with the Russian ambassador in his application for a US security clearance."

The Washington Examiner (12/8, Bedard, 301K) reports the "bottom line" is that Sessions' "two contacts with Kislyak in 2016 did not have to be revealed to the FBI on his SF-86 security clearance application, part of his confirmation process."

The Hill (12/10, Manchester, 1.6M) also reports on this story.

Sessions Holds Drug Policy Roundtable About Marijuana.

USA Today (12/8, 8.73M) reports Attorney General Jeff Sessions held a drug policy roundtable at the Justice Department Friday, with a focus on marijuana policy. Sessions said, "I'm of the general view that this is not a healthy substance. I think that's pretty clear." Sessions added, "I do believe, and I'm afraid that the public is not properly educated on some of the issues related to marijuana. That would be a matter that we could, all of us together, be helpful in working on it. That would allow better policy to actually be enacted."

Allegations Against Mueller Team Members Give Ammunition To Trump's Allies.

The Washington Examiner (12/10, Westwood, 301K) reports that revelations that Peter Strzok, an investigator on special counsel Robert Mueller's team, was demoted after "he allegedly sent anti-Trump, pro-Hillary Clinton text messages to his mistress," and prosecutor Andrew Weissman, also a member of Mueller's team, "sent an email to former acting Attorney General Sally Yates in late January praising her decision to defy Trump's travel ban executive order," have given President Trump's allies an "opportunity to push back" against the Russia investigation. E.J. Dionne writes in the Washington Post (12/10, 13.32M) that heretofore, "there was an underlying faith in much of the political world that if [Mueller's] investigation...turned up unmistakably damning material about Donald Trump, Republicans in Congress would feel obligated by their commitment to the country's well-being to accept Mueller's findings and challenge the president." However, "we learned last week that Republicans are deepening their complicity in derailing Mueller's investigation and burying the facts. The more Mueller imperils Trump, the more McCarthyite the GOP becomes."

Senate Minority Whip Durbin told CBS' Face The Nation (12/10, Dickerson, 3.65M) that he has the "highest confidence in Bob Mueller," and added, "I also have confidence that if he has any questions about motives or conduct of the staff he will act on it decisively and professionally."

Rivkin, Casey: Trump Cannot Be Criminally Prosecuted For Obstruction.

In the Wall Street Journal (12/10, Subscription Publication, 6.13M), David Rivkin and Lee Casey, who served in the White House Counsel's office and Justice Department in the Reagan and George H.W. Bush administrations, write that President Trump cannot be criminally prosecuted for obstruction of justice for firing James Comey as FBI director or for requesting that he, as Comey has said, "can see your way clear . . . to letting Flynn go." They argue that the president's executive authority includes the ability to appoint and remove executive branch officers, and a president is within his rights to ask about and direct FBI investigations.

Judge Jeanine Pirro: FBI, DOJ Need "Cleansing."

Fox News Insider (12/10) reports that in her "Opening Statement" of her Fox News show Saturday night, "Judge Jeanine Pirro said there needs to be a 'cleansing' at the FBI and the Department of Justice." She listed several official "who she said have been dedicated to protecting Hillary Clinton or destroying President Donald Trump, singling out" Mueller, Comey, Strzok, Deputy FBI Director McCabe, and former Associate Deputy Attorney General Bruce Ohr. She stated, "There have been times in our history where corruption and lawlessness were so pervasive, that examples had to be made. This is one of those times." Newsweek (12/10, Sinclair, 1.19M) reports that Pirro said the FBI and DOJ need "to be cleansed of individuals who should not just be fired but who need to be taken out in handcuffs."

Schiff: Republicans Using Mueller Team Firings To Discredit Institutions.

The Hill (12/10, Samuels, 1.6M) reports House Intelligence Committee ranking member Adam Schiff told CNN's "State of the Union" Sunday that recent accusations by Republicans of anti-Trump bias among members of Mueller's team are aimed at "discrediting Mueller, then discrediting the Justice Department, then discrediting the FBI, then discrediting the judiciary should the judiciary convict some of the people Mueller has charged or will charge in the future." Schiff said he thinks former FBI Director James Comey's decision not to disclose the status of the FBI's investigation into Hillary Clinton, but not the one into then-candidate Trump, is more significant than the suggested bias within the Mueller probe against Trump.

CNN (12/10, Vazquez, 34.45M) reports Schiff said the intent of Republicans' criticisms "is not to do oversight," it's "an effort to tear at the very idea that there is an objective truth." He added, "I think that this President, in an astonishing speed has remade the Republican Party in his own, deeply flawed image, and that will be ruinous to the Republican Party. But as we depend on a two-party system and two functional parties it will also be deeply damaging to the country. The discrediting of our institutions, the justice system, the judiciary, the press, is enormously destructive."

ABC News Radio (12/11) reports that after Strzok was removed from Mueller's team, veteran FBI agent David Archey, who was "briefly involved in the launch of the agency's probe into Hillary Clinton's private email server," has stepped in to join Mueller's ranks. He "quietly" joined the team over the summer. It's unclear what his exact role is, and it's also unclear if "Archey's enlistment had anything to do with Strzok." Colleagues describe Archey as a "utility man of sorts within the FBI." One source who worked along side Archey described him to ABC News as "very seasoned and smart." His only involvement in the Clinton probe was approving the decision for the FBI to actually launch the criminal probe into Clinton's server.

Senator Judiciary Committee Clashing Over Direction Of Russia, Clinton Probes.

The Hill (12/10, Carney, 1.6M) reports, "Partisan tensions are mounting on the Senate Judiciary Committee, with both parties accusing the other of stonewalling." Democrats are "publicly questioning" whether the panel's chairman, Chuck Grassley, is willing to look into the Trump Administration, including on the matter of potential obstruction of justice. Sen. Sheldon Whitehouse also "pounced on a New York Times story that referenced an anonymous GOP senator saying the president had urged them to open up a separate probe into Fusion GPS — the firm tied to a controversial research dossier on Trump." Whitehouse tweeted, "Who is this Republican Senator 'nudged' by the White House? Is this why full Judiciary hearings have veered in this direction instead of Russia/obstruction?" Grassley, meanwhile, "fired back at Democrats" on the panel. He said, "There is a double standard here in the way that they desperately want to go after the president but ignore all other potential wrongdoing in the previous administration," adding that Democrats have "visions of impeachment dancing in their heads."

WSJournal Critical Of Wray's Appearance Before House Panel.

In an editorial titled, "Christopher Wray's FBI Stonewall," the Wall Street Journal (12/10, Subscription Publication, 6.13M) criticizes FBI Director Wray's testimony last week before the House Judiciary Committee, saying he stonewalled the panel and seems to have joined an effort by the Justice Department to keep from the public the FBI's role in the 2016 election. On the other hand, on MSNBC's Morning Joe (12/8, 7.58M), Joe Scarborough said Wray "did a masterful job defending the honor and the integrity of the professionals who work in the FBI."

Breitbart (12/8, Wong, 3.03M) reported that on Thursday, Rep. Jim Jordan (R-OH), "during a remarkable exchange with...Wray...suggested that Peter Strzok – the FBI official who was removed from the special counsel team – was responsible for using the Clinton-funded dossier to get a warrant to spy on the Trump campaign." Breitbart adds: "If true, it would be a stunning development in the Russia investigation. It would mean that a top FBI official took what was an unverified piece of opposition research funded by Trump's political opponent, and used it to obtain a surveillance warrant on the Trump campaign."

Himes Says House Intel Panel May Subpoena Trump Jr.

NBC News (12/10, 4.59M) reports on its website that Rep. Jim Himes (D-CT) told NBC's Meet The Press Sunday that the House Intelligence Committee "is considering whether to subpoena Donald Trump Jr. to appear before the panel again in an effort to get more answers from President Donald Trump's oldest son." According to "multiple members of the committee," during a closed-door meeting last week, Trump Jr. "tried to use the defense of 'attorney-client privilege' to avoid having to describe conversations with his father about his meeting last year with a Russian lawyer at Trump Tower." Himes told NBC, "We may need to sort of subpoena him or get him back under a compulsory process." He added that "Trump Jr. was largely 'forthcoming' in his interview," but "because of the sort of novel claim of privilege, we don't know what happened in that conversation."

Eliana Johnson of Politico said on CNN's Inside Politics (12/10, 748K) that Trump Jr. "was a central player on the campaign and the fact that he's citing an absurd attorney, client privilege because there was an attorney present in the room does seem ridiculous on its face. It seems like a desperate measure to avoid answering questions which is somewhat troubling if, as he the President say, this meeting was completely inconsequential."

Following Trump Jr. Interview, King Sees No Indication Of Collusion.

The Washington Times (12/10, Sherfinski, 624K) reports that Rep. Peter King (R-NY), who is also a member of the intelligence panel, on Sunday told Fox News that based on Trump Jr.'s interview with the committee it is hard to conclude that any collusion took place between the Trump campaign and Russia. King said, "Nobody listening to that interview could come out of that thinking there was any collusion at all. This is totally phony." King also argued that Trump should not remove special counsel Robert Mueller because doing so would allow Democrats and the media to "blow this up and come up with another phony issue."

Schiff Says Evidence Of Coordination Between Russia, Trump Campaign "Pretty Damning."

Rep. Adam Schiff (D-CA) told CNN's State Of The Union (12/10, Tapper, 911K) Sunday that evidence of coordination between President Trump's campaign and Russia is "pretty damning," The Hill (12/10, Savransky, 1.6M) reports. Schiff said, "The Russians offered help. The campaign accepted help. The Russians gave help. And the president made full use of that help. ... And that's pretty damning, whether it is proof beyond a reasonable doubt of conspiracy or not."

Before Plea Deal, Papadopoulos Had Access To High Level Greek Officials.

The Washington Post (12/10, Witte, 13.32M) reports that in his ancestral homeland of Greece, George Papadopoulos, who pleaded guilty in October to "lying to the FBI about his extensive efforts to connect Trump's presidential campaign with senior Russian officials," was "regarded as a critical interlocutor, first to the Trump campaign and later to the incoming Trump White House." Papadopoulos "received access to officials at the highest levels of the Greek government, many of whom shared links to Russia and sympathies that would be unusual in other Western capitals." However, since his plea was made public in October, "Greek officials have largely avoided talking about him."

Fusion GPS Sought To Link Trump To Convicted Pedophile Epstein.

The Washington Times (12/10, Scarborough, 624K) reports that in addition to the Russia dossier, Fusion GPS "pitched other stories" about President Trump "to Washington reporters, including an attempt to tie him to a convicted pedophile who was once buddies with former President Bill Clinton." The Times cites "journalist sources" who said the firm's founder, Glenn Simpson "pushed the idea of a close relationship between Mr. Trump and Jeffrey Epstein, who pleaded guilty in 2008 to soliciting sex from an underage girl." Fusion also "pushed the story that a special email server existed between Trump Tower and Moscow's Alfa bank, the journalist source said."

Schools Adopt New Security Measures, Active-Shooter Training Following Newtown Massacre.

The Washington Post (12/10, Zezima, Svrluga, 13.32M)reports on its front page how in many schools across the country active-shooter training has become "as commonplace as fire drills" following the 2012 massacre at Sandy Hook Elementary School. While "little about the nation's federal gun laws has changed" in the aftermath of the shooting, the Post says "the Newtown shooting forever altered the way American schools approach safety and assess risk." As a result, schools are increasingly implementing police patrols, lockdown procedures, active-shooter training and other security measures to thwart another potential mass shooting.

Men Accused Plotting To Bomb Kansas Mosque Want Trump Voters On Jury.

The AP (12/9, Hegeman) reported three men accused of plotting to bomb a mosque and apartment complex housing Somali refugees in Garden City, Kansas, asked a federal judge Friday to "include prospective jurors from rural western Kansas because they are twice as likely to have voted for President Donald Trump." Defense attorneys wrote in their motion, "This case is uniquely political because much of the anticipated evidence will center around, and was in reaction to, the 2016 Presidential election." The US attorney's office said in an email that it was "evaluating the motion."

McCaul Releases December "Terror Threat Snapshot."

American Security Today (12/10) reports House Homeland Security Committee Chairman Michael McCaul (R-TX) released the "Terror Threat Snapshot" for December. American Security Today says some of the key points include testimony from DHS Deputy Secretary Elaine Duke, who said that DHS is "improving almost every stage of the vetting process for U.S.-bound travelers." Duke added, "Security checks are being brought into the digital age with measures like continuous immigration vetting, a real-time, systematic process that constantly analyzes visa files against law enforcement and intelligence holdings to identify possible matches to derogatory information."

Pentagon Envisions At Least Two More Years Of Combat In Somalia.

The New York Times (12/10, Savage, Schmitt, Subscription Publication, 16.07M) reports that as the US escalates its campaign of drone strikes in Somalia, the Pentagon has proposed an operational plan to the White House "that envisions at least two more years of combat against Islamist militants there, according to American officials familiar with internal deliberations." The plan seeks an exemption to a rule in President Trump's guidelines requiring annual vetting of operational plans for certain countries, and instead proposes waiting 24 months before reviewing how the Somalia plan is working. Furthermore, the officials said, the Defense Department "wants to conduct that review internally, without involvement from other agencies – a request that would further a Trump-era pattern of giving the Pentagon greater latitude and autonomy."

Swedish Police Arrest Three Individuals Following Firebombing Attack On Synagogue.

The New York Times (12/10, Anderson, Subscription Publication, 16.07M) reports three people were arrested in Sweden "after a masked gang hurled Molotov cocktails at a synagogue in the port city of Gothenburg as it hosted an event on Saturday night." The attack came following a day of protests in Sweden's third largest city, Malmo, during which protesters shouted anti-Semitic slogans. Swedish National Police Commissioner Dan Eliasson claimed "the threat level against Jewish interests in Sweden had increased" following the US announcement of the recognition of Jerusalem as the capital of Israel.

Continuing Coverage: Nielsen Announces Creation Of DHS Countering WMD Office.

In continuing coverage, Breitbart (12/8, Hayward, 3.03M) reported Secretary Nielsen announces the creation of the DHS Countering Weapons Of Mass Destruction, or CWMD, Office. Nielsen said the CWMD Office will work to "elevate and streamline DHS efforts to prevent terrorists and other national security threat actors from using harmful agents, such as chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear material and devices to harm Americans and U.S. interests." Nielsen also said the US "faces rising danger from terrorist groups and rogue nation states. That's why DHS is moving towards a more integrated approach. As terrorism evolves, we must stay ahead of the enemy and the establishment of this office is an important part of our efforts to do so."

Kaspersky Lab To Shut Down Washington-Area Headquarters.

In continuing coverage, Gizmodo (12/9, McKay, 1.77M) reports that Kaspersky Lab "has elected to shut down its D.C.-area headquarters" due to its products being banned from US government systems. Gizmodo says, "U.S. authorities grew concerned about the use of Kaspersky products on sensitive government systems earlier this year as part of an overall security reassessment tied to accusations of Russian meddling in the 2016 elections." Kaspersky Lab "has chalked up the matter as one big misunderstanding and committed to third-party review of its code," but "a three-month deadline for federal agencies to delete its software imposed by the Department of Homeland Security in September recently expired."

US Army Cyber Command Seeks To Build Partnership With University Of Georgia.

The AP (12/10) reports, "The University of Georgia and the U.S. Army's Cybersecurity Command could soon be exchanging students and workers." Civilian Army official Ronald Pontius "said the U.S. Army Cyber Command in east Georgia is looking to build partnerships with the University of Georgia. He suggested that possible collaborations with the university could include internships, research projects and young Cyber Command workers studying at UGA, among other ideas."

Defense Contractors Have Year-End Deadline To Meet Federal Cybersecurity Standards.

Newsday (NY) (12/10, Schachter, 1.31M) reports, "The clock is ticking for Long Island defense contractors facing a year-end deadline to meet new federal cybersecurity standards." Boeing Co. executive Camille Geiger is cited saying that prime contractors such as her company would be barred from dealing with vendors that do not meet the standards.

Midland Daily News: Local Governments Should Take Cybersecurity Seriously.

The Midland (MI) Daily News (12/9, 26K) editorializes Mecklenburg County, North Carolina's recent ransomware experience, saying the problems it dealt with "could be closer than you think." The Daily News says, "While hackers tend to gravitate toward large government bodies or corporations that could pay a sizable amount of ransom, it reminds us locally that nobody is immune." The Daily News adds, "We trust that the largest local government entities in this area are using best practices to keep our community and its information safe. But even the smallest government bodies must participate in cyber security – or become vulnerable."

Boyd: Internet-Enabled Toys May Pose Cybersecurity Risks.

Mozilla Foundation vice president for advocacy Ashley Boyd writes in the New York Times (12/8, Boyd, Subscription Publication, 16.07M) about the possibility of Internet-enabled toys being hacked. Boyd says that such toys, if compromised, can be used to spy or transmit messages to children. Boyd adds that the US lacks "very many rules or regulations defending consumers' online privacy," and this, combined with "limited accountability" for the use of consumer data, leads to people being "leery of a more connected future." Boyd says that "in the long term, smart policy and regulations can make a difference," and advises avoiding "products where the risks outweigh the value" in the short term.

SEC Reviews Cybersecurity Protocols, Delays Data Submissions.

Reuters (12/8, Schroeder) reports the SEC "said on Friday it would delay new submissions of portfolio data by mutual funds, as the regulator beefs up its cybersecurity." The delay "comes as the SEC reviews its cybersecurity protocols after a 2016 hack of its EDGAR filing system." Large mutual funds "will have an extra nine months before they are required to submit monthly details about their portfolio holdings to the agency."

Wisconsin Town Pays Ransom To Decrypt Computer System.

The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel (12/8, Martinez, 592K) reports the village of Nashotah, Wisconsin "recently paid an unidentified hacker a $2,000 ransom to decrypt its computer system after a hack in late November that left some residents' personal information exposed."

Some States Extending Cybersecurity Assistance To Local Governments.

Stateline (12/8, Bergal, 3K) reports that local governments "often don't have the resources to evaluate their cyber defenses or deal with cyberattacks," even though "their networks contain vast amounts of information about residents and businesses." Stateline says, "Some local governments say they can't necessarily rely on states for cyber aid because many are busy trying to deal with their own cyber preparedness," though some states "have decided to extend help to the locals." Stateline adds that the Multi-State Information Sharing and Analysis Center is an "option" for local governments subjected to a cyberattack.

The last week of the recent Supreme Court term brought two important decisions for supporters of religious liberty in education. As is often the case in school, the more popular one isn't necessarily the most likely to succeed. Espinoza v. Montana was the long-awaited Blaine Amendment case. It held that a state constitutional provision excluding religious schools from programs that fund private schools runs afoul of the First Amendment's Free Exercise Clause. As Chief Justice John Roberts explained, "A State need not subsidize private education. [Continue Reading]

The only Native American on federal death row is scheduled to be executed in August. The date for the execution of Lezmond Mitchell, 38, was set Wednesday over the objections of both the victims' family and the Navajo Nation, the tribe both Mitchell and his victims belong to. He is scheduled to be executed by lethal injection on Aug. 26, The Arizona Republic reported. He was convicted in 2003 on carjacking charges, as well as for murdering Alyce Slim, 63, and her 9-year-old granddaughter, Tiffany Lee. [Continue Reading]

WaPo: "Justice Dept. drops support for Michael Cohen gag order, clearing way for tell-all Trump book," Shayna Jacobs, July 30, 2020, 7:52 PM
The Justice Department on Thursday dropped its support for a gag order that would have prevented President Trump's ex-lawyer Michael Cohen from writing his forthcoming tell-all book or discussing it with the media, according to documents filed in federal court Thursday. The about-face was spelled out in a proposed settlement agreement sent to U.S. District Judge Alvin Hellerstein. [Continue Reading] See also: NBC

The full U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit says it has scheduled oral arguments in the case of former national security adviser Michael Flynn on Aug. 11. A smaller panel of judges within the D.C. Circuit ruled earlier that a lower-court judge must terminate the case against Flynn, as requested both by his attorneys and — in an unusual wrinkle — the Justice Department. Marijuana is becoming a key focus in one of the most heated Democratic congressional primaries in the country, the result of which could have far-reaching implications for legalization legislation on Capitol Hill. On September 1, voters in Massachusetts's first congressional district will decide between current Rep. Richard Neal (D-MA) and Holyoke Mayor Alex Morse (D). The mayor is making the case that, when it comes to drug policy, he has the vision and drive to move the country forward in a way that his opponent, who chairs a committee that has thus far declined to act on a pending legalization bill, cannot or will not. President Trump set a pretty high bar Thursday when he said expanding mail-in voting during coronavirus pandemic would lead to the most inaccurate and fraudulent election in history. There have been 58 presidential elections held so far and for the most part they've been remarkably free of fraud complaints at a level that could have shifted the outcome. But that doesn't mean there haven't been some doozies along the way. [Continue Reading]

MEMORANDUM FOR JEFFERY D. ALLEN, M.D., MEDICAL DIRECTOR
WASHINGTON, DC

FROM: [redacted], Warden [redacted]

SUBJECT: Multi-Level Mortality Chart Review
Consultant's Comments

This memorandum is in response to the multi-level mortality review dated October 29, 2019, whereas, several recommendations were made concerning the Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs) at MCC New York.

Please see the attachment, which addresses your recommendations. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me at [redacted].

MCC New York

Procedures for Monitoring, Testing and Inspecting Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs)

This procedural statement outlines procedures for monitoring, inspecting and testing all Automated External Defibrillators (AED) at MCC New York.

1. Every month, the Health Services Administrator (HSA) or designee will conduct an inspection and testing of all AEDs and document the findings on an inspection form. The inspection will consists of inspecting the condition of the batteries and pads and checking the expiration date, control number and location of all AEDs in the institution, to ensure they are properly functioning. All AEDs "in service and out of service" will be tested. This information will be reported to the quarterly Governing Body meeting, for one year.

2. All AEDs will be inspected and tested bi-annually by the contract biomedical company and a report will be provided by the company.

3. Back up batteries (LIFEPAK 1000) are available and are checked as per the manufacturer's recommendations, which are:

a. Inspect the fuel gauge, which provides an easy way to determine the available battery capacity.
b. Do not attempt to recharge.
c. Do not allow electrical connection between the battery contacts.
d. Use and store batteries in a location where temperatures are between 20° and 30°C (68° and 86°F). Higher temperatures accelerate the loss of charge and decrease battery life. Lower temperatures reduce battery capacity.
e. Dispose of expired or depleted nonrechargeable batteries according to national, regional and local regulations for battery disposal.

Consultant Comments:

Although there were no medical issues that contributed to this patient's death. The following is offered to strengthen and improve our medical processes:

1. Review Tracking system for diagnostic and screening tests when ordered. An FOBT and ECG were ordered for this patient on 7/6/19, date of admission to the institution. However, there is no documentation of results and no follow-up noted addressing lack thereof even though this patient was seen on 7/9/19 (History and Physical) and 7/14/19 (Chronic Care Clinic).
2. Review roles and responsibilities of staff responsible for inspecting, testing and maintaining your AED at all institutions. This is considered life support equipment requiring implementation of a process that assures that the AED is available and accessible on the event of a life threatening emergency. The suicide reconstruction review report noted that documentation of AED inspections in the institution was often incomplete.
3. Page 9 of the Suicide Reconstruction Report inaccurately reported that the patient's History and Physical was performed outside the required BOP policy. The BOP policy requires this to be done within 14 days of admission. This patient's History and Physical was conducted on 7/9/19. He entered the institution on 7/6/19. Unless the institution has a more stringent policy, the History and Physical was completed in compliance of policy.
4. Approximately 3 years ago, I recommended that a Health Services staff be added to the group/committee that meet to conduct the Psychological Reconstruction Review. A Health Services staff addition can provide clarification, but more importantly, strengthen our knowledge as part of the team providing comprehensive care for our patients.

Were there findings from the medication mortality review?

On July 23, 2019, at 2:00 a.m. he was placed on Suicide Watch for 31 hours and 5 minutes due to abrasion located on the lower anterior surface of his neck area. On July 24,2019 he was taken off Suicide Watch and was placed on Psychological Observation. On July 30,2019, he was removed from Psychological Observation and was placed in the Special Housing Unit where he was housed with a cell mate. On August 8, 2019, he was seen by Psychology Services and denied suicidal ideation, intention or plan.

On August 10, 2019, at 6:33 a.m. Special Housing Unit Staff found inmate Epstein unresponsive in his cell and attempted to wake him. The body alarm was activated in SHU and the Control Center announced a medical emergency. CPR was initiated by Special Housing Unit Staff. At 6:35 a.m. medical staff responded and continued CPR and the AED was applied. The Control Center called for an ambulance. The EMS arrived at 6:45 a.m. and the paramedics continued CPR. Inmate Epstein remained unresponsive. Inmate Epstein was intubated, and the ACLS Protocol was initiated by the EMS. No pulse found, no shock was advised and the inmate was prepared for transport to local hospital while continuing CPR. At 7:10 a.m. the EMS departed institution en route to New York Presbyterian Lower Manhattan Hospital. At 7:36 a.m. the inmate was pronounced dead by the ER Physician

MEMORANDUM FOR [redacted], REGIONAL DIRECTOR
NORTHEAST REGION

FROM: [redacted] Assistant Director
Reentry Services Division

SUBJECT: Psychological Reconstruction
Inmate Epstein, Jeffrey (76318-054)

Inmate Jeffrey Epstein (76318-054) died by suicide on August 10, 2019, while housed at the Metropolitan Correctional Center (MCC) in New York. The attached psychological reconstruction was completed by Drs. [redacted], National Suicide Prevention Coordinator, [redacted], Sex Offender Treatment Programs Coordinator, [redacted], Mental Health Treatment Coordinator and Mr. [redacted], Correctional Services Administrator, Northeast Regional Office. A summary review of these and other recent reconstruction findings is forthcoming. Distribution of this report is limited to staff named in this memorandum.

Recommendations at the conclusion of the report should prove beneficial to staff at the facility and will be used to inform our national suicide prevention program. Within sixty days of receipt of this memorandum and report, please provide me with a written response which outlines corrective actions as well as a plan for implementation, based on recommendations contained within. The institution response should be routed by the Warden through the Regional Director to the Assistant Director, Reentry Services Division.

If you have questions or concerns regarding this request, please contact me at [redacted].

PSYCHOLOGICAL RECONSTRUCTION OF INMATE DEATH

This is an interim report, due to an inability to gather all necessary data. Formal interviews were not conducted as a part of this reconstruction to avoid interference with pending investigations by other Department of Justice components. A copy of the video is normally made by Special Investigative Staff following a significant incident, but there was no such video in this case since the original video was confiscated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) prior to the beginning of this reconstruction. The absence of these two sources of information severely limited the ability to establish accurate timelines, confirm subjective reports, establish converging and diverging lines of facts, or discover new areas of inquiry. As a result, information typically gathered, reviewed and consolidated during a reconstruction to support actionable findings and recommendations is limited.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Mr. Jeffrey Epstein was a 66-year-old, White male who died on August 10, 2019, while housed at the Metropolitan Correctional Complex (MCC), in New York, New York. [redacted] former Acting Assistant Director, Reentry Services Division, appointed a team to conduct a psychological reconstruction. The team consisted of [redacted], National Suicide Prevention Coordinator, Central Office; [redacted], Sex Offender Treatment Programs Coordinator, Central Office; [redacted], Mental Health Treatment Coordinator, Central Office; and [redacted], Correctional Services Administrator, Northeast Regional Office. This reconstruction was established in accordance with Bureau of Prisons' (BOP) Program Statement 5324.08, Suicide Prevention Program.

Social History: Mr. Epstein did not have a Pre-Sentence Report (PSR) available at the time of the reconstruction; therefore, no official information regarding social history was accessible. The following was gathered from publicly available documents. Mr. Epstein was born in 1953 and grew up in a middle-class family in the neighborhood of Sea Gate on Coney Island, Brooklyn, New York, with one brother. After early promotion in two grades, Mr. Epstein graduated from Lafayette High School in 1969, at the age of 16. He attended Cooper Union and New York University but did not graduate from either. Mr. Epstein taught at the Dalton School, a private school on the Upper East Side of Manhattan from September 1974 until he was dismissed in June 1976 for inadequate development as a teacher. Following that, he held a number of positions in the financial industry to include a position as a limited partner at Bear Stearns until he was dismissed for unknown policy violations in 1981. He also worked as a financial consultant and founded at least two separate companies.

Mr. Epstein had two significant periods of employment. The first of these was his position as a consultant with Steven Jude Hoffenberg in the late 1980s. Mr. Hoffenberg was described as his first mentor. Mr. Hoffenberg was later convicted and incarcerated for running a large Ponzi scheme. He implicated Mr. Epstein in fraudulently diverting company funds for his own personal use. Years later, Leslie Wexner, Mr. Epstein's sole client at J. Epstein and Company, granted him power of attorney over his affairs. Despite also being identified as Mr. Wexner's mentee, Mr. Epstein was again accused of misappropriating funds—more than 46 million dollars. These large sums are believed to be the seed money Mr. Epstein used to establish his considerable fortune. These events are indicative of Mr. Epstein's highly-regarded intelligence and charismatic personality.

Legal History: Mr. Epstein had a history of adult criminal charges and convictions. In June 2008, he entered into a non-prosecution agreement and pleaded guilty to one count Solicitation of Prostitution and one count Procuring a Person Under the Age of 18 for Prostitution in the state of Florida. He was sentenced to 30 months: 18 months of incarceration and 12 months of probation. He was also mandated to register as a sex offender under the National Sex Offender Registration and Notification Act. Mr. Epstein served 13 of his 18-month incarceration and then successfully completed 12 months of probation. It is unclear whether he followed the sex offender registration guidelines in each place he owned a residence.

In regard to pending charges, Mr. Epstein was formally charged with Sex Trafficking Conspiracy in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 371 and Sex Trafficking in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1591(a), (b) (2), 2 on July 2, 2019. Specifically, he was accused of sexually exploiting and abusing minor females over the course of several years. Charging documents allege Mr. Epstein enticed and recruited minor females to engage in sexual activity. The minor females were reportedly compensated with cash following the sexual encounters and some were encouraged to find other minor females to accompany them to Mr. Epstein's residences in New York or Florida. He pleaded not guilty to these charges and was in pretrial status at the time of his death.

In a 37-page Decision & Order Remanding the Defendant, signed by Judge Richard M. Berman on July 18, 2019, 18 pages were dedicated to detailing the danger Mr. Epstein posed to others and the community. The document also alleged he was a flight risk. As a result, Mr. Epstein's proposed bail package was determined to be inadequate. He was denied pretrial release and held on remand.

EFTA00040943

Institutional History: On July 6, 2019, Mr. Epstein was arrested at Teterboro Airport in New Jersey upon his return from Paris, France. It is unknown whether he was anticipating this arrest. He was transported to MCC New York and keyed into SENTRY at 9:24 p.m. that evening. Mr. Epstein was placed in a general population housing unit for approximately 22 hours. On July 7, 2019, at approximately 7:20 p.m. he was moved to the Special Housing Unit (SHU) pending reclassification due to the significant increase in media coverage and awareness of his notoriety among the inmate population.

With regard to his adjustment to a correctional setting, Mr. Epstein received one incident report while in BOP custody for Self-Mutilation on July 23, 2019. As of August 15, 2019, the incident report had been expunged though it is unclear why it had been expunged and whether Mr. Epstein knew this. Also, a review of financial transactions associated with Mr. Epstein's prison account revealed one of his attorneys was depositing funds into his cellmate's (inmate Reyes) commissary account for unknown reasons.

HEALTH CARE AND PERSONALITY DESCRIPTION

BOP Electronic Medical Records (BEMR) indicate Mr. Epstein was diagnosed with hyperlipidemia, sleep apnea, hypertension, constipation, prediabetes, neuralgia, and neuritis unspecified. He was prescribed the following mediations: docusate sodium, milk of magnesia, omega 3, methylprednisone, and bisacodyl. Mr. Epstein was also prescribed insulin, and the prescription required him to go to the institution pharmacy for administration of this medication. However, the dates for which it was prescribed have a notation indicating "dose not indicated," thus it does not appear insulin was routinely medically necessary. The rest of the medications prescribed were self-carry. He also had a continuous positive airway pressure (CPAP) machine which is typically used to treat sleep apnea. Mr. Epstein was provided with his personal CPAP machine on July 30, 2019, per BEMR.

In regard to mental health history and treatment, there are no known available records. Any records that may have been maintained relating to Mr. Epstein's incarceration in Florida were not available for review as of the date of this report. With regard to Psychology Data System records in BEMR (PDS-BEMR), Dr. [redacted], Forensic Psychologist at MCC New York completed a routine Intake Screening on July 8, 2019. During this screening, Mr. Epstein denied any history of mental health problems, substance abuse, and treatment. No symptoms of mental illness were observed. He was classified as Mental Health Care Level 1 and was not diagnosed with a mental illness.

Following a consultation with Dr. [redacted], National Suicide Prevention Coordinator on July 8, 2019, Dr. [redacted], Chief Psychologist at MCC New York determined Mr. Epstein should be pre-emptively evaluated for suicide risk upon his return from court. Primary consideration was given to his various risk factors for suicide such as his high profile case and media attention, pending sex offense charges, pre-trial status, and an ongoing court proceeding. Mr. Epstein returned from court on July 8, 2019, after normal business hours. He denied suicidal thoughts at that time, but due to the potential for other risk factors listed above, the on-call psychologist placed Mr. Epstein on Psychological Observation in one of the suicide watch cells until he could be assessed in person by a BOP psychologist. Psychological Observation is a form of individual monitoring that is less restrictive than Suicide Watch. It is used for inmates who are stabilizing and not yet prepared for placement in general population or restrictive housing. It is often used to transition inmates off of Suicide Watch in order to monitor their transition and safety after an acute suicidal crisis. On July 9, 2019, Mr. Epstein underwent a formal, in-person suicide risk assessment with Dr. [redacted]. She determined that, while suicide watch was not warranted at that time, Mr. Epstein should remain on Psychological Observation status out of an abundance of caution. He was removed from Psychological Observation on July 10, 2019.

On July 23, 2019, Dr. [redacted], the on-call psychologist was notified Mr. Epstein had been found in his cell with a piece of orange cloth around his neck. Reportedly, he was observed lying in the fetal position on the floor with a noose around his neck. Medical staff evaluated Mr. Epstein and found friction marks and superficial reddening of the neck skin and one knee. He was placed on suicide watch by the Operations Lieutenant at approximately 1:40 a.m. pending a formal in-person suicide risk assessment. Dr. [redacted], Staff Psychologist at MCC New York, assessed Mr. Epstein for risk of suicide later in the morning of July 23, 2019, and determined he should remain on suicide watch. Mr. Epstein denied any knowledge of how he received marks on his neck and initially informed staff he believed his cellmate,Nicholas Tartaglione, had attempted to kill him. Special Investigative Services (SIS) staff opened an investigation to assess Mr. Epstein's safety and collect facts surrounding the episode. Despite this investigation, staff was unable to determine whether he was assaulted or engaged in self-directed violence. Mr. Epstein was removed from suicide watch on July 24, 2019, after 31 hours and 5 minutes. Thereafter, he remained in the suicide watch cell and was placed on Psychological Observation, where he remained housed until July 30, 2019, according to PDS-BEMR records. A discrepancy exists regarding when he was removed from Psychological Observation. His cell assignment, per SENTRY, indicates he was transferred back to the Special Housing Unit (SHU) on July 29, 2019, whereas PDS-BEMR indicates he was removed from Psychological Observation on July 30, 2019, at approximately 8:15 a.m.

Mr. Epstein attended a court hearing on July 31, 2019, and, upon his return, the United States Marshals Service (USMS) provided paperwork to Receiving and Discharge (R&D) staff that noted "suicidal tendencies." Dr. [redacted] was notified on August 1, 2019, about this paperwork. She consulted with Dr. [redacted] and then met with Mr. Epstein to conduct a suicide risk assessment. She determined suicide watch was not warranted at that time.

Mr. Epstein remained classified as a Mental Health Care Level 1 throughout his time at MCC New York. During his contacts with psychologists, Mr. Epstein routinely denied current mental health symptoms to include suicidal ideation, and he did not exhibit symptoms of a serious mental illness. However, there was evidence Mr. Epstein was experiencing challenges adjusting to his environment and changes in his lifestyle. He reported frequent complaints of difficulty sleeping. He did not have access to his CPAP machine until it was reportedly provided to him on July 30, 2019. Mr. Epstein also reported he was bothered by noise in the SHU. At times, he noted concerns related to his safety in SHU or on a general population housing unit. On two occasions, July 26, 2019, and July 27, 2019, he described himself as a coward and as someone who does not like pain. On July 28, 2019, he told Dr. [redacted] the toilet in his cell would not stop flushing for an extended period of time, and he then took to sitting in the corner with his hands over his ears. Mr. Epstein indicated he was agitated following this incident and was unable to sleep that night.

ANTECEDENT CIRCUMSTANCES

Mr. Epstein entered BOP custody on July 6, 2019, with a history of convictions for sexual offenses and allegations comprised of more serious charges. The current indictment alleged sexual crimes against minors, and he was facing up to 45 years in prison. On July 18, 2019, Mr. Epstein's request for bail and pretrial release was denied.

On July 23, 2019, Mr. Epstein was found unresponsive in his cell. The motivation and context were never fully determined. After 31 hours and 5 minutes on Suicide Watch, he was then placed on Psychological Observation. On July 30, 2019, Mr. Epstein was removed from Psychological Observation. Dr. [redacted] sent an e-mail reporting Mr. Epstein had been removed from Psychological Observation and needed to be housed with an appropriate cellmate. This e-mail was sent to 71 MCC New York staff and, as of August 13, 2019, only 27 staff members had opened the message.

On August 9, 2019, a federal court unsealed approximately 2,000 pages of documents into the public domain. These included graphic allegations against Mr. Epstein. Included was a book order receipt for titles such as SM 101: A Realistic Introduction; SlaveCraft: Roadmaps for Erotic Servitude; and Training with Miss Abernathy: A Workbook for Erotic Slaves and Their Owners. Additional high profile public figures were also named in the released documents. The documents were part of a defamation lawsuit filed by [redacted], a woman who alleged Mr. Epstein had victimized her, against a British socialite, Ghislaine Maxwell, who was Mr. Epstein's ex-girlfriend, associate, and alleged to have assisted with his criminal activities. According to staff report, Mr. Epstein was afforded telephone calls on two different days although it is unknown whether they were legal or social calls. No recording of the calls exist and it is not known with whom he was speaking. One occurred on or around July 16, 2019, and the other on August 9, 2019. Legal calls are not monitored, and would not be recorded. A social call would be recorded; given the limited information known about Mr. Epstein, knowledge of the content of any social calls would have been crucial to helping staff work with him.

Following his final telephone call on the evening of August 9, 2019, Mr. Epstein was moved into his SHU cell. He was single-celled at that time because his cellmate (Efrain Reyes #85993-054) did not return from court. The need for a cellmate was communicated between Day Watch (DW) and Evening Watch (EW) shifts in the SHU, but no cellmate was placed with him by the EW staff. According to a memorandum from Senior Officer Specialist [redacted], SHU staff were informed at approximately 1:50 p.m. that Mr. Epstein's cellmat would likely not return from court. Furthermore, Officer [redacted] noted Mr. Epstein would need a cellmate upon arrival from his attorney visit.

A review of the 30-minute rounds forms indicate unit rounds were completed for the entire MW shift on August 10, 2019. However, a memorandum from Lieutenant [redacted] indicates Officer Tova Noel and Material Handler Supervisor Michael Thomas made a statement after Mr. Epstein's death that they did not complete proper 30-minute rounds at 3:00 a.m. or 5:00 a.m.

DESCRIPTION OF SCENE

A detailed description of the scene was unavailable because the officers who discovered Mr. Epstein did not write memorandums and could not be interviewed. According to the Report of Incident, on August 10, 2019, at approximately 6:33 a.m., while serving the breakfast meal in the SHU, Range 9 South, Mr. Epstein was found unresponsive in his cell. Staff reportedly called for medical assistance, activated the body alarm, and began life-saving measures. Arriving staff stated they brought an automated external defibrillator (AED) and stretcher. Cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) reportedly continued while the AED was placed on Mr. Epstein. The AED reportedly indicated no shock advised and CPR was continued. Mr. Epstein was escorted to Health Services at approximately 6:39 a.m., and Emergency Medical Services (EMS) arrived at 6:43 a.m. He was transported to the local hospital at approximately 7:10 a.m. Mr. Epstein was pronounced deceased at 7:36 am. It was not possible to confirm this timeline without viewing video footage.

CONCLUSIONS/RECOMMENDATIONS

A general appreciation of risk factors for suicide specific to sex offenders is necessary when reviewing Mr. Epstein's death. These factors, as well as more general risk factors for suicide, were likely present. There are several common factors that increase risk for suicide in individuals with a history of a sexual offense. These include stigma due to the nature of sexually-based crimes (both within society and the prison system), a disruption of the ability to utilize sex as a coping mechanism (which can lead to increased levels of distress and negative affect), and grief about loss experienced in regards to arrest. This grief may be secondary to the loss of former lifestyle, loss of physical items or collections related to sexual offenses, and/or the loss of perceived relationships with victims. Other factors that may increase risk for suicide among individuals accused of a sex offense include safety concerns, potentially long sentences, and lack of skills necessary to navigate social relationships in prison.

Mr. Epstein was a high-profile, pretrial detainee awaiting trial on sex trafficking offenses. He had been a successful, wealthy businessman with a number of high-profile acquaintances that he accumulated through a combination of charisma, charm, and intelligence. Despite his many associates, he had limited significant or deep interpersonal ties. Although Mr. Epstein appeared to cultivate a large social and professional network, he was estranged from his only brother. Indeed, his identity appeared to be based on his wealth, power, and association with other high-profile individuals. Approximately two-and-a-half weeks before his death, Mr. Epstein appeared to attempt suicide, but ultimately denied it was a suicide attempt. He was convincing in his denial. On that occasion, he was saved because his cellmate notified BOP staff. In the weeks before his death, he made statements that he was "a coward" and was having difficulty adapting to his diminished circumstances. He also frequently referenced poor sleep and an inability to tolerate the noise of prison. On the day before his death, a number of documents in his case were unsealed, further eroding his previously-enjoyed elevated status and potentially implicating some of his associates. The lack of significant interpersonal connections, a complete loss of his status in both the community and among associates, and the idea of potentially spending his life in prison were likely factors contributing to Mr. Epstein's suicide.

The following recommendations concern institution operations:

1. Single Celling: It is recommended that all inmates be double-celled unless safety concerns or an odd number of inmates precludes this. Priority should be given to inmates with a history of mental illness, self-directed violence, recent stressors (e.g., losses, newly sentenced, etc.)

   It is recommended that a system of control be implemented explaining who will be notified when a Suicide Watch or Psychological Observation ends and how that communication will take place. Because this is a life safety issue, the system of control, once approved by the warden, should be reviewed in formal meetings such as staff recalls, department head meetings, and lieutenants meetings.

2. Rounds: 30-minute rounds are required by P5500.14, Correctional Services Procedures Manual.

3. Cellmate Assignments: When Mr. Epstein was placed in SHU on July 7, 2019, Executive Staff decided Mr. Tartaglione would be his cellmate. As explained by Dr. [redacted], input was not sought from Psychology Services and it is not clear if or how sex offender-specific needs and associated risk were incorporated into the housing plan. Mr. Tartaglione was also a high profile inmate—an ex-police officer charged in multiple murders. However, he and Mr. Epstein did not share the risk associated with being a sex offender and their pairing may have aggravated Mr. Epstein's risk for self-directed violence. In an effort to treat Mr. Epstein the same as other inmates, a statement repeated by multiple staff, Executive Staff may have inadvertently overlooked the need to consider unique risk factors associated with individuals who have been charged with and convicted of a sex offense. On July 25, 2019, Dr. [redacted] sent an e-mail to [redacted], Associate Warden explaining a consultation between Dr. [redacted] and Dr. [redacted], National Suicide Prevention Coordinator. In the e-mail, Dr. [redacted] reviewed the consult and recommendation from the Psychology Services Branch, Central Office that Mr. Epstein be housed with another inmate who had also been accused of committing a sex offense. There is no evidence this information was considered beyond this e-mail, and Mr. Epstein was never housed with another inmate charged or convicted of a sexual offense.

It is recommended Executive Staff and Correctional Services staff include a psychologist in decisions about cellmates as a means of incorporating expertise about suicide risk, mental health needs, and interventions for psychological stability.

4. Documentation Accuracy: On July 23, 2019, Mr. Epstein was found unresponsive in his cell. He had abrasions on his neck and knee. There are inconsistencies between documents describing the circumstances of the scene. In a General Administrative Note in PDS-BEMR, Dr. [redacted] documented information received from Operations Lieutenant [redacted] that Mr. Epstein, "was found with a string loosely hanging around his neck." In contrast, Officer [redacted], who responded to this emergency, wrote a memorandum dated July 23, 2019. In that memorandum, Officer [redacted] wrote he saw Mr. Epstein "laying down near his bunk with what appeared to be a piece of handmade orange cloth around his neck." It is critical that all descriptions of the incident accurately reflect objective evidence.

   Officer [redacted] wrote Mr. Epstein an incident report for Self-Mutilation on July 23, 2019, after he was found unresponsive in his cell but prior to having the necessary facts to determine whether he likely engaged in a Bureau violation. BOP policy expects staff to write an incident report within 24 hours of having the information that an inmate likely violated BOP rules but without making a presumptive decision about guilt. A Special Investigative Services Threat Assessment was completed August 2, 2019, but results were inconclusive as to whether Mr. Epstein engaged in self-directed violence, willingly fought with his cellmate, or was assaulted by his cellmate. It is recommended that staff remain open to all reasonable explanations for a behavior and take the appropriate actions when a final determination is made. Although the incident report was later expunged, inmates frequently experience significant stress when they contemplate the potential consequences associated with findings of guilt.

   Dr. [redacted] entered a Psychology Services Intake Screening into PDS-BEMR on July 8, 2010. The document has three typographical errors. She selected the No Sexual Offense Convictions check box when, in fact, Mr. Epstein was previously convicted of Solicitation of Prostitution and Procuring a Person Under the Age of 18 for Prostitution. Second, Mr. Epstein was erroneously identified as a Black male in this document. Finally, there is one instance where he was mistakenly referred to as Mr. Brown.

EFTA00040949

Dr. [redacted]r completed a Risk of Sexual Abusiveness document on July 8, 2019. She marked "History of prior prison sexual predation" in the affirmative. This is not accurate.

[redacted]n, Mid-Level Practitioner, completed a History and Physical on July 9, 2019. An Intake Screening should have been conducted within 24 hours of his entry into Bureau custody which was on July 6, 2019, according to P6031.04, Patient Care.

Officer [redacted]s was responsible for observing Mr. Epstein and documenting his behavior while on suicide watch on July 23, 2019. Officer [redacted]s mistakenly used a Suicide Watch Log Book intended for inmate companion documentation between 1:40 a.m. and 6:00 a.m. on July 23, 2019, when he should have been using the Staff Suicide Watch Log Book. Ms. [redacted]s, Drug Treatment Specialist, reportedly noticed this error and subsequently hand copied all of Officer [redacted]' entries from 1:40 a.m. to 6:00 a.m. into a Staff Suicide Watch Log Book. She then initialed these entries, and this makes it appear as if she was the one conducting the watch. This information was discovered and conveyed in an e-mail from Ms. [redacted], Associate Warden to Dr. [redacted]r with a carbon copy to Warden [redacted] on August 12, 2019. Of note, Ms. [redacted]s did not make an entry explaining why she was making the log book changes. Additionally, Ms. [redacted]s then wrote entries for 6:15, 6:30, 6:45 and 7:00 a.m. in the Staff Suicide Watch Log Book. These were not a part of the original entries made by Officer [redacted]s nor was Ms. [redacted]s assigned to work the Suicide Watch post. Due to the inability to interview staff at this time, it is unknown why Ms. [redacted]s attempted to correct Officer [redacted]' error, or made any of the subsequent log entries. It is recommended that if a staff member makes an entry error (e.g., writes in the incorrect suicide watch log book), the staff member should describe the error in the correct log book, to include indicating when they became aware of the error. The staff member should then notify the Chief Psychologist.

A review of Special Housing Unit Records (BP-A0292) revealed a number of incomplete entries. This document is used to monitor provision and receipt of basic services such as recreation, medical rounds, showers, meal consumption, etc. The Officer in Charge signature is missing on 10 occasions and a medical provider's signature is missing in seven instances. There are six instances in which it is not clear if Mr. Epstein ate his meal. There are nine instances in which it is not clear if Mr. Epstein took a shower. There are ten instances in which it is not clear if Mr. Epstein was offered recreation. P5500.15, Correctional Services Manual requires accurate and complete information on the BP-A0292.

A review of Psychology Observation Log Books revealed significant discrepancies from the approved Psychological Observation Procedural Memorandum, dated April 15, 2019. A Correctional Officer is required to complete hourly rounds and sign the log book; 179 out of 183 round signatures were missing. The lieutenant is required to sign the log book one time per shift and signatures were missing in 10 of 23 instances. A Physician Assistant is required to sign one time per shift and 16 of 16 instances were missing. It is recommended that a further review of Psychological Observation procedures be conducted.

5. Telephone Calls: In a PDS-BEMR note written by Dr. [redacted] on July 16, 2019, she was informed by an unnamed staff member that a lieutenant facilitated two telephone calls for Mr. Epstein. It is unknown when and to whom these calls were placed and no evidence that they took place on a monitored telephone.

   According to a memorandum from Unit Manager [redacted] on August 10, 2019, Mr. Epstein terminated his legal visit early on August 9, 2019, in order to place a telephone call to his family. Mr. [redacted] (who was the Institutional Duty Officer that week) escorted Mr. Epstein to SHU around 7:00 p.m. that evening and he was placed in the shower area on G tier. While there, he was provided the telephone to make a call. Since Mr. Epstein reportedly did not have his PAC or PIN number, which is required to use the inmate telephone system, the Unit Manager placed the call, dialing a number that reportedly began with area code 347. Mr. Epstein told Mr. [redacted] he was calling his mother who, according to public records, has been deceased since 2004.

   It is recommended that all telephone calls, other than legal calls, be made on monitored lines to be available for post-call review or on a speaker phone so staff can monitor what is discussed.

6. Direct Observation: Mr. Epstein was on suicide watch from July 23, 2019, until July 24, 2019. While on suicide watch on July 23, 2019, Mr. Epstein attended an attorney visit from approximately 12:40 p.m. until 7:15 p.m. During this time, he was without "direct, continuous observation" by a dedicated BOP staff member as required by P5324.08. While on Psychological Observation, he attended attorney visits on July 24, 2019, for 11.25 hours; on July 25, 2019, for 11.25 hours; on July 26, 2019, for 9.25 hours; on July 27, 2019, for 11.33 hours; on July 28, 2019, for 10.5 hours; and on July 29, 2019, for 8 hours. On July 30, 2019, Psychology Observation was terminated. During these visits, continuous observation by a dedicated BOP staff member was not maintained as required by MCC New York's Procedural Memorandum for Psychological Observation.

7. Follow-Up: Mr. Epstein arrived at MCC New York on Saturday, July 6, 2019. While conducting the 10:00 p.m. institution count that evening, [redacted], Facilities Assistant reported she observed Mr. Epstein in his cell. In an e-mail she sent to Drs. [redacted] and [redacted] nd Lieutenant [redacted] later that evening, she described Mr. Epstein as "distraught, sad and a little confused." She said she then asked Mr. Epstein if he was okay, and he reportedly said he was. However, Ms. [redacted] noted in her e-mail she was not convinced of this, adding, "He seems dazed and withdrawn." She went on to say, "So just to be on the safe side and prevent any suicidal thoughts can someone from Psychology come and talk with him." Despite the fact that Lieutenan[redacted] opened the e-mail there is no evidence that he contacted the on-call psychologist as is required by P5324.08, Suicide Prevention Program. Additionally, if Ms. [redacted] was concerned about suicide risk, P5324.08, Suicide Prevention Program, requires her to maintain direct, continuous observation of Mr. Epstein. When Dr. [redacted] opened the e-mail the following Monday morning, Mr. Epstein was evaluated by Dr. [redacted] at approximately 9:30 a.m.

Mr. Epstein was denied bail on Thursday, July 18, 2019. This was a significant disappointment for Mr. Epstein and likely challenged his ability and willingness to adapt to incarceration. Given the potential impact of the judge's decision, a psychologist should have assessed Mr. Epstein's mental status upon his return to the institution. The BOP developed a SENTRY assignment of PSY ALERT for purposes such as this. Specifically PSY ALERT is used "to ensure, if movement occurs, that all staff consider the special psychological and management-related risks associated with the inmate." Furthermore, P5324.07, SENTRY Psychology Alert Function states, "When a decision to move [any PSY ALERT] inmate occurs, any special psychological needs of the inmate are reviewed and considered by Psychology Services staff [and] any safety and security concerns are highlighted for non-Psychology Services staff." Psychologists should use the PSY ALERT assignment more frequently with high profile cases and with inmates who have a history or charge of sex offense. Both of these groups of inmates are susceptible to exaggerated or unrealistic fears about correctional settings and experience stress associated during movement and periods of transition (e.g., cell/unit changes, movement to and from court, institutional movement, and release of information through the media).

Mr. Epstein was reportedly in court on July 31, 2019. It is unknown what time he departed or returned to MCC New York because this information was not entered in SENTRY. Regardless, upon his return, the United States Marshals Service (USMS) provided R&D staff with a Prisoner Custody Alert Notice regarding Mr. Epstein. The notice indicated Mr. Epstein had "MTL Mental Concerns Suicidal Tendencies." The USMS requested R&D staff sign the form, and they then departed with the signed copy. On August 1, 2019, at 8:46 a.m., Dr. [redacted] sent Dr. [redacted] an e-mail reporting she had just become aware of the above information. In the absence of additional information about this notation, this should have been considered a referral to Psychology Services about a potentially suicidal inmate and procedures should have been followed as outlined in P5324.08, Suicide Prevention Program. Specifically, when a staff member becomes aware an inmate may be thinking about suicide during normal working hours, that staff member must contact Psychology Services and maintain the inmate under direct, continuous observation until he is placed on Suicide Watch or seen by a psychologist. There is no evidence Mr. Epstein was monitored under these conditions from the time he returned from court until he was seen by Dr. [redacted] for a suicide risk assessment on August 1, 2019, at approximately 1:30 p.m.

8. Inmate Accountability and Assignment Accuracy: According to a SENTRY quarters roster generated on August 10, 2019, at 12:51 a.m., there were three inmates assigned to Mr. Epstein's SHU cell, Z04-206LAD, including him, at the time of his death. However, his SHU cell was only a double occupancy cell. Inmate Patrick Avila (#86710-054), inmate Gregory Ferrer (#79793-054), and Mr. Epstein were all assigned to the same cell. On August 13, 2019, at 12:06 p.m. and 12:08 p.m., a quarters history roster was generated for inmate Avila and Ferrer, respectively. Inmate Avila's cell assignment was Z04-206LAD from August 5, 2019, until August 11, 2019, when he was moved to cell Z04-212UAD. Inmate Ferrer's cell assignment was Z04-206UAD from August 1, 2019, until August 11, 2019, when he was moved to cell Z04-207LAD. A quarters history roster was generated for Mr. Epstein on August 13, 2019, at 9:07 a.m. His cell assignment was Z04-206LAD from July 29, 2019, until August 10, 2019.

   On Monday, August 12, 2019, photographs of nametags on SHU cell doors and SHU locator forms were sent to the Correctional Service Department in the Northeast Region. The SHU locator form is dated August 9, 2019. It shows inmate Ferrer in cell 207L (SENTRY states he was moved to this cell on August 11, 2019), inmate Avila in cell 212U (SENTRY states he was moved to this cell on August 11, 2019), inmate Epstein in cell 220L (SENTRY never shows him in this cell) along with inmate Reyes (#85993-054). The locator shows inmate Copper (#92299-054) and inmate Dockery (#60685-050) in cell 206. The photo sheets show the cell being 220 with inmates Epstein and Reyes' identification cards on the door. Inmate Reyes, Efrain, Reg. No. 85993-054 was in cell Z06-220U from August 5, 2019 to August 9, 2019.

   MCC New York has four suicide watch cells and each is for single occupancy use. The suicide watch cells are located in Health Services. Each cell is abbreviated with the unit code H01 in SENTRY followed by the four-digit cell number. The doors are identified by a painted number from one to four. Two reviews were conducted. The first revealed Mr. Epstein was in H01-001L according to SENTRY but the Suicide Watch Log Books indicate he was in cell 4. A second review was conducted on August 13, 2019, while there were four inmates on in these cells. SENTRY showed two inmates assigned to HO1-001L, one assigned to H01-002L, and the fourth inmate assigned to a general population housing unit. Through physical observation of the dedicated suicide watch cells there were four H01 cells, however a review of the BOPWARE Inmate Housing Format, only shows three cells.

EFTA00040953

Inmate movement and assignments are not accurately reflected in SENTRY as required by P5500.14, Correctional Service Procedures Manual.

9. Attorney Log Books: Four log books were not secured following Mr. Epstein's death. Specifically, three Attorney Log Books located in the Attorney Visiting and Front Lobby areas and an Inmate Search Log Book located in the Attorney Visiting area were not secured. All four books were still in use at the outset of the reconstruction and after the reconstruction team advised staff to secure them. P5324.08 states, "In the event of a suicide, institution staff, particularly Correctional Services staff, and other law enforcement personnel, will handle the site with the same level of protection as any crime scene in which a death has occurred." This policy further states, "All possible evidence and documentation will be preserved to provide data and support for subsequent investigators doing a psychological reconstruction."

   Further, a review of the attorney log books identified many errors and signify a systemic concern. For example, there were two concurrently open attorney log books in the Attorney Visiting area. Further, the different purposes of the two attorney log books, one in the Attorney Visit area and one in the Front Lobby, could not be explained. BOP staff were unable to articulate a system of control for the log books, and during the reconstruction, some of the log books could not be accounted for. Within the log books, entries were made out of chronological order, attorneys did not consistently sign in and out, significant information was illegible or missing, columns were not consistently labeled, log book opening and closing dates were inconsistent, and the cover had been torn off of several books. At the current time, these log books are not functioning as an adequate system of control and monitoring.

10. Automatic External Defibrillators: A review of available AEDs in the institution revealed that the list used for accountability and inspection purposes was inaccurate and incomplete.

11. Post Orders & SHU Training: SHU Post Orders Sign-In Sheets were reviewed for the 3rd Quarter, spanning June 9, 2019, to September 7, 2019. Officer [redacted] failed to sign post orders for SHU #3 post.

    Quarterly SHU Training Sign-In Sheets were reviewed. The 2019 3rd Quarter SHU Training was conducted on June 6, 2019. Three staff assigned to the 3rd Quarter SHU Roster in SHU did not attend or receive the SHU Training: Officer [redacted], Officer [redacted], and Officer [redacted].

12. Staffing: The Drug Abuse Program Coordinator positon at MCC New York was abolished during Phase I of the staff realignment during fiscal year 2018. Re-establishing the Drug Abuse Program Coordinator position would provide the institution with an additional supervisory psychologist to provide critical clinical services.

Staffing in the Correctional Services department is relevant to the reconstruction. However, the details about this topic are provided in an After Action Review completed separately from this report.

13. Sex Offense Risk Factors: A broad understanding of risk factors associated with sex offenders, by staff at MCC New York, did not appear to be present in all staff but was vital to his adjustment and safety in prison. A more focused management strategy is recommended, particularly in complex and high profile cases. Supplemental training on sex-offender specific risk factors is recommended for all staff and should be provided by Executive Staff and Psychology Services.

MEMORANDUM FOR [redacted], REGIONAL DIRECTOR
NORTHEAST REGION

FROM: [redacted], M.D.
Medical Director

SUBJECT: Multi-Level Mortality Chart Review
Consultant's Comments

The Office of Quality Management, Health Services Division, conducts reviews of all inmate deaths through the multi-level mortality review process as part of the Bureau of Prisons' quality improvement function. Following this review, a consultant, [redacted], M.D., provides her independent analysis of the medical records of the inmates who have died during the year. She conducted a review on September 19, 2019.

Five mortality cases were reviewed from your region. Four cases demonstrated appropriate care. One case from your region had quality of care or risk management issues identified. This case from your region will require a corrective action response.

- EPSTEIN, Jeffrey, #76318-054 died on 8/10/2019 at MCC New York.
  - Quality of care or risk management issues at MCC New York.

Please see the attachment for further information. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me or have your staff contact [redacted], Chief, Office of Quality Management, Health Services Division, at (202)514-2136.

Mr. Epstein was a 66-year-old male with a history of obstructive sleep apnea, hypertriglyceridemia, L4-L5 stenosis, and no past mental health history. On 7/23/2019, at 2:00 am, Mr. Epstein was placed on suicide watch for 31 hours and 5 minutes due to abrasion found on the lower anterior surface of his neck area. On 7/24/2019, he was taken off suicide watch and was placed on psychological observation. On 7/30/2019, he was removed from psychological observation and placed in the Special Housing Unit where he was housed with a cell mate. On 8/8/2019, he was seen by Psychology Services and denied any suicidal ideation, intention or plan. On 8/10/2019, at 6:33 a.m., Special Housing Unit staff found Mr. Epstein unresponsive in his cell and attempted to wake him. A medical emergency was called and CPR was initiated by Special Housing Unit staff. At 6:35 a.m., medical staff responded and continued CPR, the AED was applied, and EMS was called. The EMS arrived at 6:45 a.m. and ACLS protocol was initiated by the EMS. No pulse found, no shock was advised and the inmate was prepared for transport to local hospital. He was pronounced dead at 7:36 am by the ER Physician.

Consultant Comments: There were quality of care issues identified in this case. However, these issues did not contribute to directly Mr. Epstein's cause of death.

Review roles and responsibilities of staff responsible for inspecting, testing and maintenance of AED units at each location at your institution. This is considered life support equipment requiring implementation of a process that assures that the AED is available and accessible to all staff in the event of a life threatening emergency.
In addition, the Health Service staff should be added to the group/committee convene to conduct the Psychological Reconstruction review for suicide. Adding the Health Services staff not only provides clarification of medical response but more importantly strengthen the review to identify risk management issues and corrective actions.

Recommendations: The Health Services leadership needs to develop a protocol and put procedure in place for monitoring AEDs throughout the institution. The QI Staff should monitor this in the quarterly Governing Body meeting. The institution, Regional and Central Office leadership will look into adding an appropriate Health Service staff member to all Psychology Suicide Reconstruction cases. The Clinical Director, HSA and the Quality Improvement staff need to develop a corrective action plan and provide necessary training to all staff involved to disseminate these expectations. Please submit the corrective action plan along with training sign-in sheet to the HSD/Quality Management~@bop.gov mailbox and carbon-copying the respective Regional Director, RHSA, and RIOP within 45 days of the Warden's receipt of this notification.

Epstein arrival at MCC

From [redacted]

To [redacted], [redacted]

Date 2019/08/12 13:17

Subject: Epstein arrival at MCC

Attachments: TEXT.htm

Please review for accuracy before I send to [redacted].

7/6/19: Arrived at NYM (Saturday) in the Receiving and Discharge area. Moved by staff to general population (apparently USMS did not indicate that he was a high profile inmate and staff were unaware that he was coming so no pkans had been established).
7/7/19: Warden idenfied him as high profile and moved him to Special Housing Unit due to his concerns for his personal safety in general population.
7/8/19: Upon return of Psych Svc Staff on Monday, he was moved to Psychology Observation for evaluation by Psych Svc Staff. This is NOT suicide watch and the system notes reflect suicide watch not warranted. He was under 24 hour observation during this time to assess his readiness to move to SHU.
7/10/19: Returned to SHU with cell mate. Remains until 7/23.

Good morning all,

Per the above article, the Court was advised by the USAO that MCC did not preserve video from outside the cell shared by [redacted] and Epstein at the time of [redacted] alleged first suicide attempt. However, per the attached, SIS advised the footage was preserved. What search for the footage was performed prior to advising the USAO the footage could not be found? I would recommend searching again for the missing video. I have a call with the AUSAs in 20 minutes and will advise as to what other issues arose at [redacted] hearing.

Thank you,
[redacted]

Hello [redacted],

It was good to see you yesterday. Thank you for accommodating my visit with [redacted] and giving him extra time to review his discovery. We very much appreciate that.

I am writing to request the preservation of all video surveillance that captures the hallway outside of [redacted] cell on the date and time of the Epstein incident that is currently being investigated. I believe that the date and time is July 23 during the early morning hours. Accordingly, I would ask that all video surveillance from July 22 at 11 pm to July 23 at 4 am is preserved. If it is your understanding that the incident occurred at a different time, please let me know and preserve the relevant footage, including an hour before the incident and an hour afterwards. If the responding officers were wearing body cameras that captured the inside of the cell in the aftermath of the incident, I am requesting that such footage also be preserved.

We will be officially requesting this material through the appropriate means, but please consider this email a formal preservation request.

Thank you.

August 22, 2019
Report of Suicide of High Profile Inmate at MCC New York
Provided by [redacted] at the request of
[redacted], ABV Solicitors

Jeffrey Epstein, a high profile, pre-trial inmate, Southern District of New York, was found unresponsive in his cell at MCC New York on August 10, 2019, at approximately 6:40 am. A short time later, he was taken to an outside community hospital where he was pronounced dead. His death was ruled been a suicide by hanging following an autopsy which was performed by the New York Medical Examiner. Two investigations, to be conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and Office of Inspector General(OIG), were ordered by United States Attorney General (AG), [redacted] and are currently ongoing.

At a press conference held on Monday, August 11, 2019, AG [redacted] stated, "the Department of Justice is learning about those "deeply concerning" irregularities at the MCC New York. I was appalled - and indeed the whole Department was - and frankly angry to learn of the [redacted] failure to adequately secure this prisoner." AG [redacted] further commented, "Mr. [redacted] death raises serious questions that must be answered." On Tuesday, August 12, 2019, AG [redacted] directed the Warden of MCC be reassigned to the Bureau of Prisons Northeast Regional Office and two other MCC employees, who had been assigned to Mr. [redacted] housing unit (9-South-Special Housing Unit), were placed on Administrative Leave. A Justice Department spokesperson stated "Additional actions may be taken as the circumstances warrant."

On August 19, 2019, AG [redacted] appointed a new Director and new Deputy Director to the Bureau of Prisons. The Acting Director will return to his regular duties. While it is a positive step to have these top positions filled, the concerns within the prisons remain unchanged.

Chronology of Events

July 23, 2019 - Law enforcement sources state Epstein was found unconscious in his jail cell with injuries to his neck. It was not clear if the injuries were self-inflicted as a result of a suicide attempt or if he had been the victim of an assault. He was placed on Suicide Watch.

July 29, 2019 - Epstein is reportedly removed from Suicide Watch and returned to the Special Housing Unit (SHU), where he is placed with a cellmate. It is common practice to place inmates whose suicide watch has ended in a cell with another inmate, rather than to be housed alone. This provides some measure of safeguard. Termination of a Suicide Watch can only be made by a trained member of the Psychology Department. Dr. [redacted], Chief Psychologist, MCC New York, would have been involved in the decision to terminate [redacted] July 2019, Suicide Watch. Dr[redacted]rovided a Declaration o the Court in the case of [redacted]. In this case, because of [redacted] notoriety, it would not be uncommon to have several levels of review, to include the [redacted] input and possibly officials at a higher level. Details outlining the reasons [redacted] Suicide Watch terminated are uncertain. In my experience, inmates are not kept on suicide watch indefinitely. A typical suicide watch would normally last two to four days.
If an inmate is persuasive, they can formulate an argument to talk their way off of a suicide watch and manipulate the Psychologist into believing they no longer pose a danger to themselves.

August 9, 2019 - Thousands of documents are unsealed in Court in connection with a defamation case against a woman accused of recruiting underage girls for Epstein. These documents revealed the names of dozens of high-profile individuals who were connected to Epstein. They allegedly indulged in parties with him and flew on his private plane. These documents included allegations of impropriety against several of these "prominent individuals."

At some point on Friday, August 9, 2019, [redacted] cellmate was moved to another location or or transferred. For reasons the investigators are still exploring, he did not receive a new cellmate. This contradicts usual protocol as Epstein should not have been in his SHU cell alone, having recently been removed from Suicide Watch.

The Washington Post reported in an article published on August 11, 2019, the Correctional Officers assigned that night to the SHU Unit, had not checked on Epstein for several hours before he was found hanging in his cell Saturday morning. This was just one in a series of missteps in the hours leading up to his death.

The New York Times and Associated Press reported the Correctional Officers slept through the 30-minute required checks and then falsified records to cover that up. They cite their source as Law Enforcement Officials. Surveillance video reviewed following the incident is said to have confirmed this information.
Procedure and Post Orders require Officers to conduct physical checks of all inmates every 30 minutes. It has been reported by several sources that these 30-minute checks were not being conducted by either of the two staff members working that morning shift in SHU unit. Additionally, the Union President of MCC advised both staff were working overtime and one of the individuals did not normally work as a Corrections Officer. It is my understanding from a source who currently is employed at MCC that the second individual assigned to SHU that shift is employed by the Warehouse and he had volunteered to work the overtime on Friday night/Saturday morning in SHU.

The Union President stated that MCC is currently functioning with less than 70 percent of the needed correctional officers, forcing many to work mandatory overtime and 60 to 70 hour work weeks. The Union President went on to say in an interview, "If it wasn't Mr. Epstein, it would have been somebody else because of the conditions at the institution. It wasn't a matter of how it happened or it happening, but it was only a matter of time for it to happen. It was inevitable. Our Staff is severely overworked."

August 9-10, 2019

According to several sources, Correctional Officers assigned to SHU did not check on Epstein for several hours, despite policy requiring physical checks of all SHU inmates every 30 minutes. Both staff were working overtime at the understaffed facility. One of the Officers was mandated to work the overtime and the Warehouse Employee volunteered to work the overtime in the midst of an 80-hour work week.

August 10, 2019

EFTA00041040

Epstein is found unconscious/unresponsive in his cell. He is later pronounced dead from an apparent suicide. Further it has been reported that Epstein committed suicide by hanging with the use of a bed sheet.

August 11, 2019

The investigations begin and the autopsy is performed. It is anticipated it will be several days before any official information is reported.

Conditions of Confinement at MCC New York

[redacted], an Investigative New York Journalist, has extensively covered conditions of confinement at MCC New York over the last several years. Much of what she claims have recently been reported by numerous media outlets. The following excerpts were written by Ms. [redacted] and published August 2019, in the Columbia Journalism Review and June 2018, in the [redacted]. Additional excerpts from the June 2018 and August 2019 publications of the [redacted], of former inmates of MCC, Attorneys, Prison Experts, Professors and other sources are also provided in the following section.

August 20, 2019 Columbia Journalism Review - ([redacted])
"WHEN I AWOKE LAST SATURDAY to the news of Jeffrey [redacted] death, I realized that the moment had come: the Metropolitan Correctional Center (MCC), the federal prison where he died, was about to get its fifteen minutes of fame. As a freelance investigative reporter who frequently covers the prison system, I'd spent years trying to pitch stories about that facility, often without success. Last summer, I managed to publish an investigation into conditions at the MCC on the website, [redacted]. The story documented that MCC was overcrowded and understaffed, plagued by vermin and overflowing toilets, dogged by allegations of corruption and abuse, and beset by an almost total lack of medical care. None of that got much attention at the time. But as soon as news of [redacted] death started circulating, so did my piece."

"Half a block behind [redacted] federal courthouse, two blocks from City Hall, three blocks from the Brooklyn Bridge, and less than a mile from the hustle-and-bustle of Wall Street, sits a detention center that has been condemned by a United Nations human rights expert for exposing its inmates to conditions akin to torture.

While reports of the horrendous conditions on Rikers Island helped spur Mayor Bill de [redacted] pledge to shutter the [redacted] violence-plagued facilities, far less attention has been paid to the environment inside the Metropolitan Correctional Center, the federal jail which mainly holds people who have been charged but not yet convicted of crimes, who in the eyes of the law are still presumed innocent.

Yet those locked up at the MCC are subject to their own indignities and rights violations, say those who have spent time there on both sides of the bars. These include filthy conditions, vermin infestations, substandard medical care, and violence and abuse at the hands of guards. Interviews with a dozen people who have spent time locked up there as recently as 2017, as well as with attorneys who have represented clients at MCC, human rights groups, and others with direct knowledge of the prison, confirm that those incarcerated at MCC often endure a rat-infested, high-rise hell just yards from the federal courts that send them there.

"I thought there was nowhere worse than Rikers Island," [redacted], who spent three weeks at MCC, told [redacted]. In October 2016, [redacted] was arrested in the Bronx on federal charges for selling drugs to a confidential informant, as part of the largest gang raid in New York City history.

[redacted] said the bug and rodent infestation at MCC was particularly horrifying. "The cells [are] very small and at nighttime you hear the mouses, see waterbugs in the shower," he told [redacted]. At least one former MCC prisoner said the mice would find their way into commissary boxes, and gnaw away at their food.

"You asked about the conditions," wrote [redacted], another young man indicted as part of the Bronx gang raid. "We saw rats so big it seemed like they could only be in the sewer."

"But they wasn't in the streets or the sewers," [redacted] added.

EFTA00041043

"They were more like roommates."

In a special jail-within-a-jail called 10 South, alleged terrorists, mobsters and drug kingpins are subject to some of the most brutal conditions of solitary confinement in the nation. This extreme isolation, reserved for those charged with the most heinous crimes, was described as "a punitive measure that is unworthy of the United States as a civilized democracy," according to a former special monitor on torture and punishment for the United Nations who investigated the case of one prisoner held there for three years."

"Hundreds of people indicted in the Southern District of New York, as well as many individuals indicted in the Eastern District, based in [redacted] federal court across the river, end up at the jail awaiting trial for federal offenses including drug-related crimes, fraud, bribery, and sex offenses. Defendants facing terrorism charges have spent more than three years at the facility, attorneys say. But even those facing less high-profile charges generally spend at least one or two years there before their criminal cases are resolved."

New York attorney [redacted], who has represented clients at the notorious [redacted]. facility at Guantanamo, says "in some regards, MCC—particularly 10 South — is worse." [redacted] said he has represented nearly a dozen people who have served time on 10 South, and countless others in MCC. He describes the prison as "soul-negating."

"[redacted] physically, mentally, psychologically, emotionally—as unaccommodating to the idea of being human as any place I've been," [redacted] told [redacted].

[redacted], a New York Attorney who has visited clients at MCC described the institution as "infested with rats and mold." He went on to state, "The Facility is run with a bad combination of laziness and cruelty," citing the Epstein death is one of the results. He describes the Special Housing Unit as "a place where an inmate sits in a box and stares at the wall."

[redacted] is a Distinguished Professor of Political Science at Brooklyn College who has written extensively about conditions at MCC.

"If I described these conditions to you—filthy, freezing, no natural light, isolation so extreme that you're punished for speaking through the walls, absurd rules like prisoners not getting to see the newspapers unless they're 30 days old, secrecy so deep that people are force-fed and lawyers can be punished for describing the conditions their clients are experiencing—you'd be forgiven for thinking that this was Iran or Russia," she said.

"But in fact this gulag exists right here in lower Manhattan."

[redacted], a civil rights attorney who has filed several lawsuits challenging conditions at the [redacted] two federal jails in New York City, recalled suing the BOP on behalf of a prisoner at MCC who had had his fingertip chopped off by a cell door. Rather than being placed in an ambulance, alleges [redacted], the man was chained at his ankles and wrists and brought to the hospital by correctional officers, bleeding profusely.

"I think [redacted] a human rights violation," [redacted] says of the medical care at MCC. "I think [redacted] an Eighth Amendment violation—deliberate indifference."

In the past 15 years, at least one correctional officer at MCC has been convicted of beating an inmate, and at least three guards have been convicted of sexually assaulting inmates. In 2016, a former correctional officer at MCC was sentenced to seven years for raping an inmate. Most recently a former MCC Staff Member was convicted of taking bribes to smuggle food, alcohol and cellphones into the facility.

In a 2011 letter to then-Attorney General [redacted], Amnesty International expressed concern that conditions on 10 South "fall short of international standards for humane treatment" and "appear incompatible with the presumption of innocence." The brutal nature of life on the unit, including its extreme conditions of isolation, were also documented in a 2014 Human Rights Watch Report, about human rights abuses in US terrorism prosecutions.

During his six-year term as the UN Special Rapporteur for Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment, which ended in October 2016, the BOP prevented [redacted] from speaking to suspected or convicted terrorists. [redacted] was able to investigate the conditions at 10 South by interviewing family members of the incarcerated and contacting the State Department about the allegations. He ultimately determined that international human rights protections had been violated.

While there has been increasing advocacy for reforms to local jail and prison conditions, federal prisons remain a kind of political orphan, a situation compounded in the Trump era. "Rikers is a good example of the power of people in a democracy to hold their elected officials accountable," said [redacted], "but in the federal context—federal facilities house people from all around the country, and so [redacted] no natural constituency in the state, city, county they're located in" to express concern about [redacted] happening on the inside.

As a result, for people locked up at MCC, [redacted] little hope that conditions will improve anytime soon.

That could be exactly the way jailers and prosecutors want it. Pre-trial detention, which often lasts years, can become not only unsafe, but coercive; as a result, individuals are pressured to provide information to prosecutors or accept plea deals in their desperation to be released, say former prisoners.

"You want to plead guilty and get out of this dump to a prison," said [redacted], the former inmate. "The feds have a 98% conviction rate for a reason," [redacted], another former prisoner said. "They mentally break you."

Asked why he thought MCC has received so much less coverage than Rikers, [redacted] replied, "I think [MCC] went unnoticed because people think just because [redacted] the feds the conditions are better. There are certain things that go on in these places that the government covers so the public would never know."

But for years, MCC has been plagued by filthy conditions, abusive guards, and a severe lack of medical care, as [redacted] documented in an extensive investigation last year. Defense attorneys, former inmates, and others with direct knowledge of conditions at MCC said [redacted] death epitomized how all individuals, even the most infamous people on the planet, are treated in the facility.

[redacted] has been working as a federal defense attorney and representing clients at MCC for about 30 years, and described the [redacted] recent condition as "the worst that [redacted] ever been."

[redacted] said that one of her clients, a young man, has been in the Special Housing Unit—the unit where Epstein died—for the three and a half years.

"His entire window is covered in mold," she said, and because the hot and cold water in the cell come out of different taps, her client can't even take a shower without getting frozen or scorched.

She recalled that she'd had one client at the facility who was charged with observing and safeguarding suicidal prisoners, since there weren't enough correctional officers to do the job.

"So they have inmates patrolling the suicide block so that they keep an eye on the people rather than people [who] get paid by the government doing it," [redacted] said. "Do they really care? Do they watch? Who knows!"

[redacted] described a third client who suffers from mental health issues as well as severe asthma, but has been unable to get the nebulizer treatment she says she needs to control the disease. During one visit, [redacted] said her [redacted] breathing was so labored she couldn't carry on a conversation: "I couldn't talk to her, because she couldn't breathe."

Over the spring, [redacted] was in touch with two women held at the facility, who said they were denied basic medical care, and that their cells routinely flooded with sewage.

"Toilet waste and feces were all over the floors of all the cells, common area, and other departments on the floor and the female inmates were the ones who had to clean it all up without proper equipment," one detainee wrote in a message. The woman, whose name is being withheld at her request out of fear of retaliation, described how her floormates got feces on "their hands, legs, faces, hair, all over" and said the "difficulty breathing due to the smell was and is indescribable."

[redacted] said that it makes little difference to the Correctional Officers at MCC whether an inmate is a billionaire financier or not—everyone is regarded with disdain. "[The prisoners would] be lucky if they were treated like dirt under somebody [redacted] shoe, but they're not even treated that well."

These conditions persist at MCC despite the fact that people held there have not yet been convicted of a crime, and thus are supposed to benefit from the presumption of innocence.

The following excerpt was taken from an article published in the Intercept, February 3, 2019, edition, written by [redacted], an inmate incarcerated in the 10 South Unit of MCC New York.

"AT THE TAIL end of the Obama administration, I was locked up a [redacted] throw away from [redacted]" [redacted] at the Federal Bureau of Prisons' infamous Metropolitan Correctional Center, New York, or MCC NY, in downtown Manhattan, where [redacted] is currently being held during his ongoing federal trial. I was there writing and waging a hunger strike when [redacted] first arrived. Much has been written about [redacted] trial, but close to nothing about the conditions of his confinement, as the security around him has made access off limits to any journalist other than me.

I'm an imprisoned human rights activist and political journalist focusing on protecting institutionalized children from common tortures in America like these:

I'm currently suing the Bureau of Prisons and MCC NY for both state and federal civil rights violations, related to the conditions where [redacted] is held, and I'm exploring classaction certification. My lawsuit against MCC NY offers a new and rare glimpse into prison life in the solitary confinement cells that [redacted] has now called home for nearly two years. Besides simply recovering my fees and costs, however, my goals aren't financial. Instead I'm asking the court to force MCC NY to respect human dignity, the First Amendment, federal regulations, and other human and civil rights."

In a letter written from MCC to officials at the Justice Department, the Federal Bureau of Prisons, and the Office of the Inspector General at the Justice Department, Mr. [redacted] calls attention to what he describes as appalling conditions inside the facility.
In his letter, he alleges there are severe threats to health, including rodent and insect infestations at the facility. "Roaches are found in the food, and I have personally observed insect eggs as well," [redacted] adds.

He describes how the heat is, for the most part, not functioning during the winter. A number of the cells are in the "50-degree range while others are much colder." Meanwhile, pools of water stand in the facility from leaks and are a "breeding ground for infections."

"The facility itself is trash, with cockroach-infested meal trays and frigid, leaky cells. One inmate resorted to drinking from his toilet when the water was shut off."

[redacted] a lot of mystery surrounding the 10-South unit at MCC where [redacted] is being housed. Much of that is fueled by the effects of it being a "SAMs" or "special administrative measures" unit. As such, the inmates aren't supposed to come into any visual or other contact with other inmates.

Even magazines they receive in the mail must be prescreened by the FBI for the supposed reason of intercepting hidden messages. Outbound communications are similarly restricted and monitored in real time.

Amnesty International

Amnesty International previously condemned the use of MCC to "house pretrial detainees in solitary confinement for months or even years before they face trial." With regards to the Special Housing Unit at MCC, the human rights organization says "detainees have little access to natural light and no provision for outdoor exercise." Amnesty International characterized

"the combined effects of prolonged confinement to sparse cells with little natural light, no outdoor exercise and extreme social isolation amount[ing] to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment."

United States Representative [redacted] - August 1, 2018 and August 14, 2019

August 1. 2018 - A federal lawmaker is demanding officials running a prison in lower Manhattan detail how long it takes for those in the lockup to get medical care.
[redacted]. Rep. [redacted] is demanding answers as allegations of abuse continue to surface at the Metropolitan Correctional Center some prisoner advocates have compared to a gulag. "When inmates are placed at the mercy of our government, we have a moral responsibility to ensure they are treated humanely, something which MCC has allegedly failed to do," [redacted] said in a statement. "I am asking for a full explanation and immediate steps to ensure the safety of prisoners housed there." On Wednesday, she sent a letter to the Federal Bureau of Prisons citing "alarming conditions" at the prison which houses highprofiled terrorists and drug lord [redacted]) [redacted]. The missive demands the number of violent incidents as well as the time it typically takes for prisoners to receive medical care.

The allegations of abuse, including prisoners forced to wait two months to be seen by a doctor, were first reported in [redacted]. Prison advocates have long argued that the facility is more restrictive than the Guantanamo Bay detention camp.
August 14, 2019 - Rep. [redacted] on Wednesday joined the growing number of officials calling for a soup-to-nuts investigation into the apparent suicide of accused child sex trafficker Jeffrey Epstein in the federal Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan.

[redacted] said she wrote a letter to the Justice [redacted] inspector general and the head of the FBI demanding answers not only about [redacted] death but about what she called other rampant abuses of detainees at the lockup.

"I write to voice concerns about the continued alleged culture of mismanagement and inadequate leadership at this facility," she said. She cited several other incidents at the MCC, in which corrections staff allegedly abused detainees.

Representative [redacted] posted the following on her Facebook Social Media account on August 14, 2019: "MCC is in our District, #NY7. I've been pressing for greater oversight of this institution for many years now!"

"Not only does [redacted] suicide raise questions about how his custody was handled, but it hearkens back to a litany of previous problems we've seen at this facility," [redacted] told The News.
"I'm glad DOJ and FBI are looking into this most recent episode and all of us, including his victims, need to know how Epstein died," she added. "Still, I think [redacted] also needed is a comprehensive review of the culture and management problems at MCC."

Conclusion/Opinions/Observations

MCC New York, like many other Federal Prisons nationwide is overpopulated and understaffed. It is reported the MCC was built to accommodate 474 inmates. On the day of Mr. [redacted] suicide, the [redacted] inmate population count was 763, almost twice the number it was designed to house.

Much talk and attention has been on the staffing shortages. Mainly, as a result of the 2017 Trump Administration Hiring Freeze, the Bureau of Prisons lost 7,300 employees.

MCC New York was recently described by Attorney General [redacted] as an institution with "deeply concerning irregularities." AG [redacted] expressed outrage and says he was "appalled and angry" to learn of [redacted] "failure to adequately secure this prisoner." Other sources familiar with current conditions at MCC described it as "deplorable," and "bordering on inhumane treatment."

I personally maintain contact with several individuals who are currently employed with the Bureau of Prisons as well as MCC New York. Three current MCC Staff Members very recently described to me the current sanitation conditions at the facility. One stated, "The facility is so disgusting [redacted] like a prison in a third-world country. Cleaning supplies are not issued on a regular basis." The individual further advised, "Pest Control is horrible and ineffective, rats, mice and bugs are everywhere." Another Correctional Officer told me, "There are mice and bugs everywhere including inmates' cells." This information is consistent with my Court testimony on July 3, 2019, and my assessment in Paragraph 20 of my Declaration in the case of Mr. [redacted]. Further, it corroborates the many news reports, regarding the "rodent-infested MCC."

On a different, yet equally concerning topic, an MCC Correctional Officer advised me this past week, that there is blatant racial discord within the institution, especially amongst Correctional Officers. I did not witness this when I was Warden at MCC, and my contact advises it began a short time following my departure.

It is my belief that the excerpts I've cited in this report and statements from various sources of the MCC are credible and honest. The Staff have nothing to gain by sharing this information with me other than to express their dissatisfaction and frustration with current practices and conditions at MCC.

In my July 3, 2019, testimony in the London Court for the extradition case of [redacted] [redacted], I expressed concerns with MCC New York in regards to staff shortages, staff from other departments being "augmented" to fill in for correctional officer vacancies on a regular basis, conditions of confinement at MCC and various other matters related to the institution. I stated in my testimony and also in my Declaration that MCC New York or any other federal prison could not prevent anyone who is persistent from taking their own life. At best, they could only delay an inmate from committing suicide by placing his on a suicide watch. A suicide watch does not continue indefinitely. As previously stated in this report, a usual amount of days for a suicide watch would be two to four days, depending on circumstances. Once the suicide watch ends, that also ends the 24 hours of continuous inmate observation.

If Mr. [redacted] is extradited to the United States and housed at MCC or MDC, I am confident his mental health needs, given his propensity to commit self harm, will not be adequately addressed. I am more convinced of this now, following the Epstein suicide, numerous documents and recent information revealed, than I was during my testimony to the Court in July 2019. It appears the current conditions within the prison are extremely dire and certainly far worse than when I was assigned at MCC as Warden.

Numerous individuals have come forward in the last few weeks, including some former Bureau of Prisons' Wardens. They fervently state some serious missteps occurred at the MCC surrounding the death of Mr. Epstein. These individuals have been quick to point fingers and assign blame to top executives, psychology staff and correctional officers. Many are quick to say that Mr. Epstein should not have been removed from Suicide Watch or if he were removed, extra precautions/safeguards should have been in place. Some sources view the actions of staff who were assigned to [redacted] Housing Unit, as a blatant indifference to the care and welfare of inmates. Others, including Union Officials, are suggesting the Officers' disregard of conducting the required 30-minute cell checks were justified because of the long hours staff are forced to work, as a result of the institution being so understaffed.

While all of the investigations continue, it is premature to conclude exactly what did occur leading up to the death of Mr. Epstein. What we do know is that several policies were not followed or were simply ignored, several departments within MCC were involved and shortcuts were taken. MCC New York is heavily in the spotlight and under a microscope these past two weeks and likely for the next several weeks. It is my opinion that this only received such widespread attention because of the notoriety of Epstein. Had this been another inmate, less known, who was not a public figure, they likely would not have received media attention.

Once the investigations are concluded, it is probable that several recommendations will be provided. In order to correct problems that exist, one must look at the root of the cause and be willing to fix that also. Only time will tell if any future additional measures put in place will be adequate. If what is being reported by countless sources, is in fact what actually occurred, and staff completely ignored their responsibilities, no recommendations and no additional measures would have changed the unfortunate outcome of what occurred on August 10, 2019, at the Metropolitan Correctional Center, New York.

The current problems at the MCC cannot, in my opinion, be cured by any quick fix solution. Even with the current spotlight on MCC, and assuming the Bureau of Prisons will put forth their best efforts to eradicate the broken parts, one still must account for human error and agency needs. Staff will continue to work overtime, staff will continue to take shortcuts, staff will continue to be tired on the job and fall asleep. No amount of effort on [redacted] part can change that and one can only hope that when these things occur, nothing bad happens. It would take many years to resolve the issues and problems that plague MCC, provided there is a real desire to make changes. This will not give any comfort to Mr [redacted] or the U.K Courts as to whether he or his mental health needs will be adequately managed if extradited to the United States.

Jeffrey Epstein jail 'a gulag' in lower Manhattan

12 August 2019

Jeffrey Epstein death

CHRIS HONDROS

Questions are being asked how Jeffrey Epstein died in custody in New York while being held on sex trafficking charges. So what is the detention facility like where he spent his final days?

Built in 1975, the 12-story Metropolitan Correctional Center in lower Manhattan - where the financier died in a suspected suicide on Friday night - holds around 800 people awaiting trial or sentencing at the federal court house just a few blocks away.

The brick building has detained such high-profile criminals as Mexican drug kingpin [redacted], Gambino mafia crime boss John Gotti and World Trade Center bomber Ramzi Yousef.

Like other federal prisons, the Metropolitan Correctional Center (MCC) suffers from shortages of staff and resources, prisoner overcrowding and is plagued by violence and poor sanitary conditions.

The conditions

The jail was built to accommodate 474 inmates, but held 763 male prisoners at the time of [redacted] death, according to a statement from the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Prisoners have described seeing large rats in their cells, air conditioner units so noisy it is impossible to sleep, and absence of any natural light or sanitary water.

As he was sent down for the rest of his life, Mexican drug cartel leader [redacted]" [redacted] took the opportunity to call the place "torture".

GETTY IMAGES

"Since the government will send me to a jail where my name will not ever be heard again, I take this opportunity to say there was no justice here," he said at his sentencing in July.

"It has been psychological and mental torture 24 hours a day."

Brooklyn College professor Jeanne Theoharis, who has written extensively about MCC, told the [redacted] website in June that the jail resembles conditions found in countries such as "Iran or Russia".

Calling the place a "gulag", she described conditions as "filthy, freezing, no natural light, isolation so extreme that you're punished for speaking through the walls, absurd rules like prisoners not getting to see the newspapers unless they're 30 days old, secrecy so deep that people are force-fed".

GETTY IMAGES

Lawyer [redacted], who is suing the US government after his client was beaten to death in MCC in 2015, says the [redacted] Island prison, which is run by the city, is much more violent than MCC.

He says [redacted] too early to know whether [redacted] wealth may have played a role in his death, amid speculation in the US that he could have bribed guards to be left alone.

He notes that other ultra-rich white collar criminals from Wall Street, only blocks away, are frequent guests of MCC, including Bernie Madoff who was arrested in 2008 for running a multi-million dollar Ponzi scheme.

Mr [redacted] says that more important than a [redacted] profile or means is the crime itself and the publicity it receives in the media. Sex criminals like Epstein, he says, are more likely to face issues from other inmates, making it unusual that Epstein was not being more closely watched.

The staffing

A representative for workers at the jail told CBS News in New York that the Epstein death is not surprising. Staffing, the representative says, is "completely inadequate", with many workers putting in more than 60 hours per week leaving them "overwhelmed" and "not alert".

According to the Associated Press (AP), the jail is so under-staffed that correctional officers are being offered a $10,000 bonus to transfer there from other facilities.

Guards sometimes work 16 hours a day, according to the AP. A person familiar with the Epstein case told the news agency that a guard overseeing Epstein was working a fifth straight day of overtime - and another was working mandatory overtime - on the day the wealthy [redacted] body was found.

Staff shortages were worsened after a government shutdown triggered by a budget stand-off between the White House and Democrats over President Donald [redacted] insistence on funding for a southern border wall.

In January, during the shutdown, inmates staged a hunger strike over claims they were being denied family visitation rights.

The Bureau of Prisons is already under scrutiny for the death of Boston gangster James Whitey Bulger, who was fatally beaten by another inmate shortly after arriving at a West Virginia lock-up last October.

In February 2018, a British court ruled against extraditing accused hacker Lauri Love - who is diagnosed with Aspergers syndrome and would have probably been held in the MCC - on the grounds that he would present a high-risk of suicide if he was sent there.

Where Epstein stayed

According to the New York Times, Epstein had recently been moved from suicide watch to the Special Housing Unit where he was meant to be on 24-hour monitoring and given daily psychiatric evaluations.

He was ordered there after he was found on the floor of his cell two weeks earlier with neck injuries, in an apparent attempted suicide.

According to the paper, two guards were meant to check on him every 30 minutes, but those procedures were not followed on the night of his death.

He was also meant to be housed with one other inmate, but his cellmate had reportedly been transferred and no replacement had yet arrived.

REUTERS

Mr [redacted], the lawyer, says CCTV captures what goes on in the Special Housing Unit, as well as for those prisoners being kept on suicide watch.

He says [redacted] too early to know what contributed to [redacted] death, until an FBI investigation is complete, but either way the prison is facing a "grossly negligent situation".

Investigative reporter [redacted], who spent a year researching the conditions at MCC, found that the facility shared a single psychiatrist with the other federal prison in New York, the Metropolitan Detention Center in Brooklyn, and only had a handful of psychologists on staff.

The two facilities had only one psychiatrist to oversee the more than 500 prisoners with diagnosed serious mental illnesses, she says, in addition to any prisoners that have been temporarily placed on suicide watch.

"When you're on suicide watch and a psychologist comes to speak with you, [redacted] not as though you're in a private room having a conversation. [redacted] like through a slot in the door," she tells BBC News.

REUTERS

Experts on prison safety say they are puzzled as to why Epstein, who had attempted to take his own life earlier, was not kept under closer watch.

Cameron Lindsey, a former warden at the federal jail in Brooklyn, told the Times that the psychological evaluation can only reveal so much about a [redacted] state of mind.

He said that the steady release of embarrassing and incriminating evidence against Epstein could have made him wish to kill himself, and that other prisoners would consider him a target due to his fame and the nature of his alleged crimes.

"A psychologist is going to think one way, but a warden needs to think a different way," said Mr Lindsey. "You have to take the conservative, safe route and keep an individual like this on suicide watch."

Union and lawmakers have long warned of 'dire' federal prison staffing shortages

By Evan Perez, Mark Morales and Kara Scannell, CNN

[redacted]: Appalled and angry over failures to secure Epstein 00:45

(CNN) — Staffing shortages at the Bureau of Prisons are dire and widespread, according to agency employees and lawmakers who say they've been warning the Justice Department about the problem and demanding changes for years.

Attorney General [redacted] has launched investigations into Jeffery [redacted] death. But earlier this year, he referred to delays in hiring new people at the Bureau of Prisons as a "snafu" caused by bureaucracy in the federal prison system.

[redacted] suicide has exposed what the employee union says are chronically overworked and short-staffed conditions at the Metropolitan Correction Center in Manhattan, including forced overtime and officers reassigned to guard duty.

A key US Senate committee has also repeatedly told the Justice Department to hire full-time correctional staff and end an "overreliance" on the type of reassignments that have existed in the MCC and elsewhere.

The Justice Department said Tuesday that it was reassigning the warden at the MCC and it was suspending two guards at the facility. The department didn't identify the guards or say whether they were the ones on duty and assigned to monitor Epstein when he died.

Days after [redacted] death, BOP officials and FBI investigators are still piecing together even basic details of the incident such as how he was found and how long he was dead before an employee found him, people briefed on the matter said. Some employees have refused to cooperate with investigators and have hired lawyers, people briefed on the matter said.

Related Article: CNN Exclusive: The rise of the Jeffrey Epstein mystique

There were cameras with a view of the hallway outside [redacted] cell but whether they showed anything or were operational -- and if not, why -- remain in question. That some basic details aren't clear suggests that whatever video exists doesn't show what happened.

A BOP suicide reconstruction team began working Tuesday to try to determine why Epstein killed himself. A BOP after action team, which looks into major incidents, is slated to arrive Wednesday to begin its work. That team is led by [redacted] southeast regional director and will bring in others from outside the northeast to review the Epstein case.

Two MCC guards were on duty and responsible for checking on Epstein every 30 minutes -- checks that weren't made for hours.

Of the two officers who would have had responsibility to monitor Epstein, one is not currently a detention guard, but was temporarily reassigned to that post, according to a person briefed on the matter. The guard, a man not identified by officials, had previously been trained as a corrections officer but had moved to another position. BOP rules allow for people who work in other jobs, such as teachers and cooks, to be trained to fill in at posts usually manned by corrections officers.

The second guard on Epstein duty, a woman, was a fully trained corrections officer, according to the person briefed on

Eric Young, national president of the American Federation of Government Employees, Council of Prison Locals, which represents BOP employees, says a hiring freeze put in place at the start of President Donald [redacted] presidency is the root of nationwide problems at federal prisons.

He called the situation "dire," with decreased staffing levels the root cause of issues from contraband getting in to safety of correctional workers and inmates.

AFGE represents workers at 122 facilities nationwide and BOP employs roughly 33,000, according to Young. That number was once at 38,000 workers but after the Trump hiring freeze, the problem was never fixed.

The Justice Department says [redacted] lifted the freeze in April and that BOP has been recruiting to fill positions. It typically takes months to bring on new federal employees.

"We felt betrayed," Young said of the hiring freeze. "Mr. President, we work for you. You say you're a law and order president and we thought we were going to reap the benefits of that, but we didn't."

In addition, more vacancies could soon be on the way; Young says an estimated 5,000 people are eligible for retirement at the end of the year.

A Justice official says the [redacted] hiring freeze applied to positions in BOP regional offices and at the [redacted] headquarters, not to prison facilities. The official said the [redacted] hiring practices -- filling positions one at a time -- caused delays in hiring. The bureau also faced staff losses from retirements. [redacted] in April ordered the bureau to speed up hiring by filling open positions concurrently.

The Justice official also disputed perceptions that BOP faced a Trump budget squeeze. [redacted] budget increased from nearly $6.8 billion in the 2014 fiscal year to $7.25 billion in fiscal 2019.

At the same time, employee and inmate numbers decreased. Prisoner releases have accelerated as a result of criminal justice revisions in the Obama and Trump administrations.

The bureau had 38,496 employees in 2014, compared with 35,123 in fiscal 2018.

Bonuses, augmentation

To combat the drop in workers, BOP officials have been offering a retention bonus, which gives workers a 5% bonus if they decide to stay instead of retiring, Young said. They also have allowed retired correctional officers to come back on a part-time basis to ease the staffing issues at hard-to-staff prisons, Young said. The agency also approved the addition of 3,000 temporary positions for entry level workers.

Officials also offered workers a 10% relocation bonus if they opted to work at facilities that are hard to staff like MCC in New York, Hazelton in West Virginia, the Metropolitan Detention Center in Los Angeles and others. Part of the relocation agreement is for staffers to stay at the facility for at least two years.

Young draws the correlation of fewer guards to safety, saying the problem came to a head early Saturday morning in New York.

"Time was not on our side before Epstein killed himself," Young said. "We were on the right course of hiring but we just couldn't do it fast enough. We were stalemated by Trump."

The BOP has tried to address staffing shortages in part by using a practice called augmentation to temporarily assign employees who aren't corrections officers to staff posts intended for detention guards.

In October, four senators led by Democrat Joe Manchin of West Virginia, wrote a letter to then-Attorney General Jeff Sessions expressing their "deep concerns" about the use of augmentation and staffing levels at federal prisons in Pennsylvania and West Virginia following the deaths of a correctional officer and inmates.

Related Article: For Jeffrey [redacted] accusers and their quest for justice, what now?

"We cannot allow these dangerous staffing practices to continue," the senators wrote.

They noted that twice when approving [redacted] budget, a Senate committee had issued a report that "included clear directions" to the Justice Department to stop "its overreliance on augmentation" in favor of hiring full-time correctional staff.

Four days later, James "Whitey" Bulger, the Boston mob boss was brutally beaten and killed at the federal prison in Hazelton.

RELATED: Questions raised about decision to transfer 'Whitey' Bulger to prison where he died

Last June, the Senate Appropriations Committee reiterated its demand.

"The Committee again directs BOP to curtail its overreliance on augmentation, particularly in housing units" the [redacted] report said. "BOP should instead hire additional full-time correctional staff before continuing to augment existing staff."

A February 2018 letter from 52 members of Congress was sent to Sessions asking him to reconsider eliminating 6,000 unfilled positions at federal prisons nationwide. "Augmentation was designed as a temporary solution to short-term staffing conflicts, not a long-term solution to respond to budget pressure," the lawmakers said.

Soon after [redacted] took office this year, he acknowledged to lawmakers that the Justice Department had "stumbled" in addressing the problem. In testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee in April, he called the staffing shortages at prison facilities a "snafu" and blamed bureaucracy within the prison hiring system, not the hiring freeze.

"The shortages out in the prison facilities themselves was not the freeze." [redacted] said. "I think what it is is, frankly, [redacted] said he believes the agency begins the process of hiring a new person into a position vacated by internal job shifts too late.

"It takes months and months and months to get that person on board. That makes no sense because every year we lose 2,600 of these correctional officers. So my view is we just have to turn on the spigot and keep these new entry level people coming in at a rate where we're going to be able to get up to and maintain our enacted level," [redacted] said.

"I think this is largely a snafu by the department and [redacted] how I interpret it and [redacted] how I'm approaching it," he added.

Following Jeffrey [redacted] death, [redacted] has filed an additional report by former-warden [redacted] and attached news articles about the conditions at the MCC.

The attorneys in the UK handling the extradition have asked for our response. They recognize that we may not be able to address all of their questions in light of ongoing investigations, but is there any information we can provide with respect to the following (or could you let us know the proper person/people to talk to)?

i. With regards to the warden of the MCC and two staff members whom are said to have been reassigned since the death of Mr Epstein, are you able to confirm that their roles have been filled with suitable alternatives? In particular please provide any information about the knowledge and experience of the new warden that you are able to. [page 1, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

ii. Is it possible to comment on the decision to take Mr Epstein off suicide watch and whether either, that decision was justified in the circumstances or if considered to be the wrong decision, that new measures are now in place to ensure any mistakes are not repeated. Please detail any new measures on this particular issue now in place if you are able to. [page 2, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

iii. Can you provide any explanation as to why Mr Epstein did not have a new inmate sharing his cell in the Special Housing Unit ("SHU") on 9 August 2019 afterhis other cellmate was moved? Do you accept that there should have been someone sharing his cell in light of his recent apparent suicide attempt? If so, have any new protocols been put in place to ensure this does not happen again? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures are in place to ensure people who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt share a cell with others where possible? [page 2, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

iv. Is it correct that the two correctional officers due to be carrying out half-hourly checks on Mr Epstein did not carry out any check upon him for a period of several hours before he was discovered in his cell and were instead sleeping? If you accept this is correct what steps have been taken, if any, to prevent this occurring in future? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures are in place to monitor those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt, and how is it ensured that those measures are safely carried out by staff members? [page 2/3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

v. Is it correct that the correctional officers concerned falsified records in regards to the checks they should have carried out? If you accept this is correct what steps have been taken if any to prevent this occurring in future? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures if any are in place to ensure correctional officers do not falsify records and carry out their duties as required with regards to those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

vi. Ms [redacted], as well as a number of news reports, state that of the two staff members assigned to monitor Mr Epstein, one of them was not usually a corrections officer but rather was employed by the warehouse and had volunteered to work an extra shift. If you accept this is correct, do you consider it to be appropriate to have such staff members carrying out that type of task and if so what measures are in place to ensure they are able to carry out that particular role safely? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures if any are in place to ensure staff members who do not usually work as correctional officers carry out the task of monitoring those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt in a safe manner? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

vii. In a news article, it is said that the BOP had tried to address staffing shortages "in part by using a practice called augmentation to temporarily assign employees who aren't corrections officers to staff posts intended for detention guards". Do you accept that this occurred at the MCC? If so, is this practice still in place and what general measures if any are in place to ensure staff members who do not usually work as correctional officers are able to safely carry out the work of correctional officers, (for example do they receive special training on security or monitoring prisoners considered to be a suicide risk). [CNN Politics Website, "Union and lawmakers [redacted]]

viii. Ms [redacted], as well as a number of news reports, state that of the two staff members assigned to monitor Mr Epstein, one of them (the corrections officer) had been working overtime and the other staff member was in the midst of an 80 hour week. Do you agree that many of the correctional officers at the MCC are required to work 60 – 70 hour weeks and if so what measures, if any, are in place to ensure that the prison is still run safely and suicidal prisoners are properly monitored? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

needed correctional officers. Do you accept that the MCC is operating with less than 70% of the needed correctional officers and if not, how would you describe the current staffing levels? If you agree that the MCC is 70% staffed, what measures, if any, are in place to ensure that the prison is still run safely and suicidal prisoners are properly monitored? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

x. Ms [redacted] states that the MCC was designed to house 474 inmates but that on the day of Mr [redacted] death its population was 763. Do you agree with those figures, and if so is the prison able to safely house that sized population, and what measures, if any, are in place to deal with a prison population of that size and ensure the conditions they are housed in remain humane? [page 14, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

xi. Ms [redacted] states the following with regards to the sanitation conditions at MCC:

> "Three current MCC Staff Members very recently described to me the current sanitation conditions at the facility. One stated, "The facility is so disgusting [redacted] like a prison in a third-world country. Cleaning supplies are not issued on a regular basis." The individual further advised, "Pest Control is horrible and ineffective, rats, mice and bugs are everywhere." Another Correctional Officer told me, "There are mice and bugs everywhere including inmates' cells." This information is consistent with my Court testimony on July 3, 2019, and my assessment in Paragraph 20 of my Declaration in the case of Mr. [redacted]. Further, it corroborates the many news reports, regarding the "rodent-infested MCC."

Do you have any comment to make on those observations? [page 15, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

xii. Ms [redacted] further states:

> "On a different, yet equally concerning topic, an MCC Correctional Officer advised me this past week, that there is blatant racial discord within the institution, especially amongst Correctional Officers. I did not witness this when I was Warden at MCC, and my contact advises it began a short time following my departure."

Do you have any comment to make on those observations? [page 15, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

xiii. One news article referred to the fact that there was only one psychiatrist shared between the MCC and the other federal prison in New York, and a "handful of psychologists on the staff". It further states that conversations between psychologists and individuals on suicide watch occur "through a slot in the door" rather than in person. Is it still the case that there is a single psychiatrist shared between the MCC and the MDC? Do you agree with the characterisation that there are a handful of psychologists and consultations are carried out through a slot in the door? Have any changes or improvements been made to psychiatric and psychological care provision and staffing in the wake of the death of Mr Epstein or are any planned in the near future? Do you have any comment to make on the observations made generally? [News article "Jeffrey Epstein jail 'a gulag' in lower Manhattan", 12 August 2019]

Our response is due to the UK September 16.

Thank you so much,

Subject: Follow up requests from UK re: extradition

Hi [redacted],

I'm sure you're inundated with inquiries right now, so I apologize for adding to your load. You may remember that we had consulted with you and BOP HQ regarding conditions at the MCC and MDC in connection with defendant [redacted] [redacted] opposition to extradition from the UK. Following Jeffrey [redacted] death, [redacted] has filed an additional report by former-warden [redacted] and attached news articles about the conditions at the MCC.

The attorneys in the UK handling the extradition have asked for our response. They recognize that we may not be able to address all of their questions in light of ongoing investigations, but is there any information we can provide with respect to the following (or could you let us know the proper person/people to talk to)?

i. With regards to the warden of the MCC and two staff members whom are said to have been reassigned since the death of Mr Epstein, are you able to confirm that their roles have been filled with suitable alternatives? In particular please provide any information about the knowledge and experience of the new warden that you are able to. [page 1, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

ii. Is it possible to comment on the decision to take Mr Epstein off suicide watch and whether either, that decision was justified in the circumstances or if considered to be the wrong decision, that new measures are now in place to ensure any mistakes are not repeated. Please detail any new measures on this particular issue now in place if you are able to. [page 2, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

iii. Can you provide any explanation as to why Mr Epstein did not have a new inmate sharing his cell in the Special Housing Unit ("SHU") on 9 August 2019 after his other cellmate was moved? Do you accept that there should have been someone sharing his cell in light of his recent apparent suicide attempt? If so, have any new protocols been put in place to ensure this does not happen again? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures are in place to ensure people who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt share a cell with others where possible? [page 2, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

iv. Is it correct that the two correctional officers due to be carrying out half-hourly checks on Mr Epstein did not carry out any check upon him for a period of several hours before he was discovered in his cell and were instead sleeping? If you accept this is correct what steps have been taken, if any, to prevent this occurring in future? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures are in place to monitor those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt, and how is it ensured that those measures are safely carried out by staff members? [page 2/3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

v. Is it correct that the correctional officers concerned falsified records in regards to the checks they should have carried out? If you accept this is correct what steps have been taken if any to prevent this occurring in future? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures if any are in place to ensure correctional officers do not falsify records and carry out their duties as required with regards to those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

vi. Ms [redacted], as well as a number of news reports, state that of the two staff members assigned to monitor Mr Epstein, one of them was not usually a corrections officer but rather was employed by the warehouse and had volunteered to work an extra shift. If you accept this is correct, do you consider it to be appropriate to have such staff members carrying out that type of task and if so what measures are in place to ensure they are able to carry out that particular role safely? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures if any are in place to ensure staff members who do not usually work as correctional officers carry out the task of monitoring those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt in a safe manner? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

vii. In a news article, it is said that the BOP had tried to address staffing shortages "in part by using a practice called augmentation to temporarily assign employees who aren't corrections officers to staff posts intended for detention guards". Do you accept that this occurred at the MCC? If so, is this practice still in place and what general measures if any are in place to ensure staff members who do not usually work as correctional officers are able to safely carry out the work of correctional officers, (for example do they receive special training on security or monitoring prisoners considered to be a suicide risk). [CNN Politics Website, "Union and lawmakers [redacted]]

viii. Ms [redacted], as well as a number of news reports, state that of the two staff members assigned to monitor Mr Epstein, one of them (the corrections officer) had been working overtime and the other staff member was in the midst of an 80 hour week. Do you agree that many of the correctional officers at the MCC are required to work 60 – 70 hour weeks and if so what measures, if any, are in place to ensure that the prison is still run safely and suicidal prisoners are properly monitored? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

ix. Ms [redacted] further states that the MCC is currently operating with less than 70% of the needed correctional officers. Do you accept that the MCC is operating with less than 70% of the needed correctional officers and if not, how would you describe the current staffing levels? If you agree that the MCC is 70% staffed, what measures, if any, are in place to ensure that the prison is still run safely and suicidal prisoners are properly monitored? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

Further, it corroborates the many news reports, regarding the "rodent-infested MCC."

Do you have any comment to make on those observations? [page 15, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

Good afternoon all,

We are assisting the [redacted] in an extradition request out of the UK and have to respond to the below points. Most of the response will be that we cannot comment on an open investigation. However, there are points to be made as to some of the statements (new wardens, post orders and training, staffing, inmate numbers, sanitation and pest control, alleged racial unrest, and how psychology staff interview suicide watch inmates). Is anyone aware of stock language Central Office has used to address these inquiries?

Thank you,

Subject: Follow up requests from UK re: extradition

Hi [redacted],

I'm sure you're inundated with inquiries right now, so I apologize for adding to your load. You may remember that we had consulted with you and BOP HQ regarding conditions at the MCC and MDC in connection with defendant [redacted] [redacted] opposition to extradition from the UK. Following Jeffrey [redacted] death, [redacted] has filed an additional report by former-warden [redacted] and attached news articles about the conditions at the MCC.

The attorneys in the UK handling the extradition have asked for our response. They recognize that we may not be able to address all of their questions in light of ongoing investigations, but is there any information we can provide with respect to the following (or could you let us know the proper person/people to talk to)?

i. With regards to the warden of the MCC and two staff members whom are said to have been reassigned since the death of Mr Epstein, are you able to confirm that their roles have been filled with suitable alternatives? In particular please provide any information about the knowledge and experience of the new warden that you are able to. [page 1, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

ii. Is it possible to comment on the decision to take Mr Epstein off suicide watch and whether either, that decision was justified in the circumstances or if considered to be the wrong decision, that new measures are now in place to ensure any mistakes are not repeated. Please detail any new measures on this particular issue now in place if you are able to. [page 2, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

iii. Can you provide any explanation as to why Mr Epstein did not have a new inmate sharing his cell in the Special Housing Unit ("SHU") on 9 August 2019 after his other cellmate was moved? Do you accept that there should have been someone sharing his cell in light of his recent apparent suicide attempt? If so, have any new protocols been put in place to ensure this does not happen again? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures are in place to ensure people who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt share a cell with others where possible? [page 2, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

iv. Is it correct that the two correctional officers due to be carrying out half-hourly checks on Mr Epstein did not carry out any check upon him for a period of several hours before he was discovered in his cell and were instead sleeping? If you accept this is correct what steps have been taken, if any, to prevent this occurring in future? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures are in place to monitor those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt, and how is it ensured that those measures are safely carried out by staff members? [page 2/3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

v. Is it correct that the correctional officers concerned falsified records in regards to the checks they should have carried out? If you accept this is correct what steps have been taken if any to prevent this occurring in future? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures if any are in place to ensure correctional officers do not falsify records and carry out their duties as required with regards to those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

vi. Ms [redacted], as well as a number of news reports, state that of the two staff members assigned to monitor Mr Epstein, one of them was not usually a corrections officer but rather was employed by the warehouse and had volunteered to work an extra shift. If you accept this is correct, do you consider it to be appropriate to have such staff members carrying out that type of task and if so what measures are in place to ensure they are able to carry out that particular role safely? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures if any are in place to ensure staff members who do not usually work as correctional officers carry out the task of monitoring those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt in a safe manner? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

vii. In a news article, it is said that the BOP had tried to address staffing shortages "in part by using a practice called augmentation to temporarily assign employees who aren't corrections officers to staff posts intended for detention guards". Do you accept that this occurred at the MCC? If so, is this practice still in place and what general measures if any are in place to ensure staff members who do not usually work as correctional officers are able to safely carry out the work of correctional officers, (for example do they receive special training on security or monitoring prisoners considered to be a suicide risk). [CNN Politics Website, "Union and lawmakers [redacted]]

viii. Ms [redacted], as well as a number of news reports, state that of the two staff members assigned to monitor Mr Epstein, one of them (the corrections officer) had been working overtime and the other staff member was in the midst of an 80 hour week. Do you agree that many of the correctional officers at the MCC are required to work 60 – 70 hour weeks and if so what measures, if any, are in place to ensure that the prison is still run safely and suicidal prisoners are properly monitored? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

ix. Ms [redacted] further states that the MCC is currently operating with less than 70% of the needed correctional officers. Do you accept that the MCC is operating with less than 70% of the needed correctional officers and if not, how would you describe the current staffing levels? If you agree that the MCC is 70% staffed, what measures, if any, are in place to ensure that the prison is still run safely and suicidal prisoners are properly monitored? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

x. Ms [redacted] states that the MCC was designed to house 474 inmates but that on the day of Mr [redacted] death its population was 763. Do you agree with those figures, and if so is the prison able to safely house that sized population, and what measures, if any, are in place to deal with a prison population of that size and ensure the conditions they are housed in remain humane? [page 14, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

xi. Ms [redacted] states the following with regards to the sanitation conditions at MCC:

> "Three current MCC Staff Members very recently described to me the current sanitation conditions at the facility. One stated, "The facility is so disgusting [redacted] like a prison in a third-world country. Cleaning supplies are not issued on a regular basis." The individual further advised, "Pest Control is horrible and ineffective, rats, mice and bugs are everywhere." Another Correctional Officer told me, "There are mice and bugs everywhere including inmates' cells." This information is consistent with my Court testimony on July 3, 2019, and my assessment in Paragraph 20 of my Declaration in the case of Mr. [redacted]. Further, it corroborates the many news reports, regarding the "rodent-infested MCC."

Do you have any comment to make on those observations? [page 15, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

xii. Ms [redacted] further states:

> "On a different, yet equally concerning topic, an MCC Correctional Officer advised me this past week, that there is blatant racial discord within the institution, especially amongst Correctional Officers. I did not witness this when I was Warden at MCC, and my contact advises it began a short time following my departure."

Do you have any comment to make on those observations? [page 15, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

xiii. One news article referred to the fact that there was only one psychiatrist shared between the MCC and the other federal prison in New York, and a "handful of psychologists on the staff". It further states that conversations between psychologists and individuals on suicide watch occur "through a slot in the door" rather than in person. Is it still the case that there is a single psychiatrist shared between the MCC and the MDC? Do you agree with the characterisation that there are a handful of psychologists and consultations are carried out through a slot in the door? Have any changes or improvements been made to psychiatric and psychological care provision and staffing in the wake of the death of Mr Epstein or are any planned in the near future? Do you have any comment to make on the observations made generally? [News article "Jeffrey Epstein jail 'a gulag' in lower Manhattan", 12 August 2019]

Our response is due to the UK September 16.

The individual further advised, "Pest Control is horrible and ineffective, rats, mice and bugs are everywhere." Another Correctional Officer told me, "There are mice and bugs everywhere including inmates' cells." This information is consistent with my Court testimony on July 3, 2019, and my assessment in Paragraph 20 of my Declaration in the case of Mr. [redacted]. Further, it corroborates the many news reports, regarding the "rodent-infested MCC."

Do you have any comment to make on those observations? [page 15, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

xiii. One news article referred to the fact that there was only one psychiatrist shared between the MCC and the other federal prison in New York, and a "handful of psychologists on the staff". It further states that conversations between psychologists and individuals on suicide watch occur "through a slot in the door" rather than in person. Is it still the case that there is a single psychiatrist shared between the MCC and the MDC? August 22, 2019
Report of Suicide of High Profile Inmate at MCC New York
Provided by [redacted] at the request of
[redacted], ABV Solicitors

Jeffrey Epstein, a high profile, pre-trial inmate, Southern District of New York, was found unresponsive in his cell at MCC New York on August 10, 2019, at approximately 6:40 am. A short time later, he was taken to an outside community hospital where he was pronounced dead. His death was ruled been a suicide by hanging following an autopsy which was performed by the New York Medical Examiner. Two investigations, to be conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and Office of Inspector General(OIG), were ordered by United States Attorney General (AG), [redacted] and are currently ongoing.

At a press conference held on Monday, August 11, 2019, AG [redacted] stated, "the Department of Justice is learning about those "deeply concerning" irregularities at the MCC New York. I was appalled - and indeed the whole Department was - and frankly angry to learn of the [redacted] failure to adequately secure this prisoner." AG [redacted] further commented, "Mr. [redacted] death raises serious questions that must be answered." On Tuesday, August 12, 2019, AG [redacted] directed the Warden of MCC be reassigned to the Bureau of Prisons Northeast Regional Office and two other MCC employees, who had been assigned to Mr. [redacted] housing unit (9-South-Special Housing Unit), were placed on Administrative Leave. A Justice Department spokesperson stated "Additional actions may be taken as the circumstances warrant."

On August 19, 2019, AG [redacted] appointed a new Director and new Deputy Director to the Bureau of Prisons. The Acting Director will return to his regular duties. While it is a positive step to have these top positions filled, the concerns within the prisons remain unchanged.

Chronology of Events

July 23, 2019 - Law enforcement sources state Epstein was found unconscious in his jail cell with injuries to his neck. It was not clear if the injuries were self-inflicted as a result of a suicide attempt or if he had been the victim of an assault. He was placed on Suicide Watch.

July 29, 2019 - Epstein is reportedly removed from Suicide Watch and returned to the Special Housing Unit (SHU), where he is placed with a cellmate. It is common practice to place inmates whose suicide watch has ended in a cell with another inmate, rather than to be housed alone. This provides some measure of safeguard. Termination of a Suicide Watch can only be made by a trained member of the Psychology Department. Dr. [redacted], Chief Psychologist, MCC New York, would have been involved in the decision to terminate [redacted] July 2019, Suicide Watch. Dr. [redacted] provided a Declaration o the Court in the case of [redacted]. In this case, because of [redacted] notoriety, it would not be uncommon to have several levels of review, to include the [redacted] input and possibly officials at a higher level. Details outlining the reasons [redacted] Suicide Watch terminated are uncertain. In my experience, inmates are not kept on suicide watch indefinitely. A typical suicide watch would normally last two to four days.
If an inmate is persuasive, they can formulate an argument to talk their way off of a suicide watch and manipulate the Psychologist into believing they no longer pose a danger to themselves.

August 9, 2019 - Thousands of documents are unsealed in Court in connection with a defamation case against a woman accused of recruiting underage girls for Epstein. These documents revealed the names of dozens of high-profile individuals who were connected to Epstein. They allegedly indulged in parties with him and flew on his private plane. These documents included allegations of impropriety against several of these "prominent individuals."

At some point on Friday, August 9, 2019, [redacted] cellmate was moved to another location or or transferred. For reasons the investigators are still exploring, he did not receive a new cellmate. This contradicts usual protocol as Epstein should not have been in his SHU cell alone, having recently been removed from Suicide Watch.

The Washington Post reported in an article published on August 11, 2019, the Correctional Officers assigned that night to the SHU Unit, had not checked on Epstein for several hours before he was found hanging in his cell Saturday morning. This was just one in a series of missteps in the hours leading up to his death.

The New York Times and Associated Press reported the Correctional Officers slept through the 30-minute required checks and then falsified records to cover that up. They cite their source as Law Enforcement Officials. Surveillance video reviewed following the incident is said to have confirmed this information.
Procedure and Post Orders require Officers to conduct physical checks of all inmates every 30 minutes. It has been reported by several sources that these 30-minute checks were not being conducted by either of the two staff members working that morning shift in SHU unit. Additionally, the Union President of MCC advised both staff were working overtime and one of the individuals did not normally work as a Corrections Officer. It is my understanding from a source who currently is employed at MCC that the second individual assigned to SHU that shift is employed by the Warehouse and he had volunteered to work the overtime on Friday night/Saturday morning in SHU.

The Union President stated that MCC is currently functioning with less than 70 percent of the needed correctional officers, forcing many to work mandatory overtime and 60 to 70 hour work weeks. The Union President went on to say in an interview, "If it wasn't Mr. Epstein, it would have been somebody else because of the conditions at the institution. It wasn't a matter of how it happened or it happening, but it was only a matter of time for it to happen. It was inevitable. Our Staff is severely overworked."

August 9-10, 2019

According to several sources, Correctional Officers assigned to SHU did not check on Epstein for several hours, despite policy requiring physical checks of all SHU inmates every 30 minutes. Both staff were working overtime at the understaffed facility. One of the Officers was mandated to work the overtime and the Warehouse Employee volunteered to work the overtime in the midst of an 80-hour work week.

August 10, 2019

EFTA00041123

Epstein is found unconscious/unresponsive in his cell. He is later pronounced dead from an apparent suicide. Further it has been reported that Epstein committed suicide by hanging with the use of a bed sheet.

August 11, 2019

The investigations begin and the autopsy is performed. It is anticipated it will be several days before any official information is reported.

Conditions of Confinement at MCC New York

[redacted], an Investigative New York Journalist, has extensively covered conditions of confinement at MCC New York over the last several years. Much of what she claims have recently been reported by numerous media outlets. The following excerpts were written by Ms. [redacted] and published August 2019, in the Columbia Journalism Review and June 2018, in the [redacted]. Additional excerpts from the June 2018 and August 2019 publications of the [redacted], of former inmates of MCC, Attorneys, Prison Experts, Professors and other sources are also provided in the following section.

"WHEN I AWOKE LAST SATURDAY to the news of Jeffrey [redacted] death, I realized that the moment had come: the Metropolitan Correctional Center (MCC), the federal prison where he died, was about to get its fifteen minutes of fame. As a freelance investigative reporter who frequently covers the prison system, I'd spent years trying to pitch stories about that facility, often without success. Last summer, I managed to publish an investigation into conditions at the MCC on the website, [redacted]. The story documented that MCC was overcrowded and understaffed, plagued by vermin and overflowing toilets, dogged by allegations of corruption and abuse, and beset by an almost total lack of medical care. None of that got much attention at the time. But as soon as news of [redacted] death started circulating, so did my piece."

"There are no advocacy groups focused on improving conditions at federal prisons, in large part because there aren't really any elected officials responsible for safeguarding these institutions. Congress is technically charged with overseeing the Bureau of Prisons, but Congress is busy. And because federal institutions hold individuals from across the country, federal prisoners don't form a natural constituency, or represent a single newspaper readership."

"Half a block behind [redacted] federal courthouse, two blocks from City Hall, three blocks from the Brooklyn Bridge, and less than a mile from the hustle-and-bustle of Wall Street, sits a detention center that has been condemned by a United Nations human rights expert for exposing its inmates to conditions akin to torture.

While reports of the horrendous conditions on Rikers Island helped spur Mayor Bill de [redacted] pledge to shutter the [redacted] violence-plagued facilities, far less attention has been paid to the environment inside the Metropolitan Correctional Center, the federal jail which mainly holds people who have been charged but not yet convicted of crimes, who in the eyes of the law are still presumed innocent.

Yet those locked up at the MCC are subject to their own indignities and rights violations, say those who have spent time there on both sides of the bars. These include filthy conditions, vermin infestations, substandard medical care, and violence and abuse at the hands of guards. Interviews with a dozen people who have spent time locked up there as recently as 2017, as well as with attorneys who have represented clients at MCC, human rights groups, and others with direct knowledge of the prison, confirm that those incarcerated at MCC often endure a rat-infested, high-rise hell just yards from the federal courts that send them there.

"I thought there was nowhere worse than Rikers Island," [redacted], who spent three weeks at MCC, told [redacted]. In October 2016, [redacted] was arrested in the Bronx on federal charges for selling drugs to a confidential informant, as part of the largest gang raid in New York City history.

[redacted] said the bug and rodent infestation at MCC was particularly horrifying. "The cells [are] very small and at nighttime you hear the mouses, see waterbugs in the shower," he told [redacted]. At least one former MCC prisoner said the mice would find their way into commissary boxes, and gnaw away at their food.

"You asked about the conditions," wrote [redacted], another young man indicted as part of the Bronx gang raid. "We saw rats so big it seemed like they could only be in the sewer."

"But they wasn't in the streets or the sewers," [redacted] added.

EFTA00041126

"They were more like roommates."

In a special jail-within-a-jail called 10 South, alleged terrorists, mobsters and drug kingpins are subject to some of the most brutal conditions of solitary confinement in the nation. This extreme isolation, reserved for those charged with the most heinous crimes, was described as "a punitive measure that is unworthy of the United States as a civilized democracy," according to a former special monitor on torture and punishment for the United Nations who investigated the case of one prisoner held there for three years."

"Hundreds of people indicted in the Southern District of New York, as well as many individuals indicted in the Eastern District, based in [redacted] federal court across the river, end up at the jail awaiting trial for federal offenses including drug-related crimes, fraud, bribery, and sex offenses. Defendants facing terrorism charges have spent more than three years at the facility, attorneys say. But even those facing less high-profile charges generally spend at least one or two years there before their criminal cases are resolved."

New York attorney [redacted], who has represented clients at the notorious [redacted]. facility at Guantanamo, says "in some regards, MCC—particularly 10 South — is worse." [redacted] said he has represented nearly a dozen people who have served time on 10 South, and countless others in MCC. He describes the prison as "soul-negating."

"[redacted] physically, mentally, psychologically, emotionally—as unaccommodating to the idea of being human as any place I've been," [redacted] told [redacted].

[redacted], a New York Attorney who has visited clients at MCC described the institution as "infested with rats and mold." He went on to state, "The Facility is run with a bad combination of laziness and cruelty," citing the Epstein death is one of the results. He describes the Special Housing Unit as "a place where an inmate sits in a box and stares at the wall."

[redacted] is a Distinguished Professor of Political Science at Brooklyn College who has written extensively about conditions at MCC.

"If I described these conditions to you—filthy, freezing, no natural light, isolation so extreme that you're punished for speaking through the walls, absurd rules like prisoners not getting to see the newspapers unless they're 30 days old, secrecy so deep that people are force-fed and lawyers can be punished for describing the conditions their clients are experiencing—you'd be forgiven for thinking that this was Iran or Russia," she said.

"But in fact this gulag exists right here in lower Manhattan."

[redacted], a civil rights attorney who has filed several lawsuits challenging conditions at the [redacted] two federal jails in New York City, recalled suing the BOP on behalf of a prisoner at MCC who had had his fingertip chopped off by a cell door. Rather than being placed in an ambulance, alleges [redacted], the man was chained at his ankles and wrists and brought to the hospital by correctional officers, bleeding profusely.

"I think [redacted] a human rights violation," [redacted] says of the medical care at MCC. "I think [redacted] an Eighth Amendment violation—deliberate indifference."

In the past 15 years, at least one correctional officer at MCC has been convicted of beating an inmate, and at least three guards have been convicted of sexually assaulting inmates. In 2016, a former correctional officer at MCC was sentenced to seven years for raping an inmate. Most recently a former MCC Staff Member was convicted of taking bribes to smuggle food, alcohol and cellphones into the facility.

In a 2011 letter to then-Attorney General [redacted], Amnesty International expressed concern that conditions on 10 South "fall short of international standards for humane treatment" and "appear incompatible with the presumption of innocence." The brutal nature of life on the unit, including its extreme conditions of isolation, were also documented in a 2014 Human Rights Watch Report, about human rights abuses in US terrorism prosecutions.

During his six-year term as the UN Special Rapporteur for Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment, which ended in October 2016, the BOP prevented [redacted] from speaking to suspected or convicted terrorists. [redacted] was able to investigate the conditions at 10 South by interviewing family members of the incarcerated and contacting the State Department about the allegations. He ultimately determined that international human rights protections had been violated.

While there has been increasing advocacy for reforms to local jail and prison conditions, federal prisons remain a kind of political orphan, a situation compounded in the Trump era. "Rikers is a good example of the power of people in a democracy to hold their elected officials accountable," said [redacted], "but in the federal context—federal facilities house people from all around the country, and so [redacted] no natural constituency in the state, city, county they're located in" to express concern about [redacted] happening on the inside.

As a result, for people locked up at MCC, [redacted] little hope that conditions will improve anytime soon.

That could be exactly the way jailers and prosecutors want it. Pre-trial detention, which often lasts years, can become not only unsafe, but coercive; as a result, individuals are pressured to provide information to prosecutors or accept plea deals in their desperation to be released, say former prisoners.

"You want to plead guilty and get out of this dump to a prison," said [redacted], the former inmate. "The feds have a 98% conviction rate for a reason," [redacted], another former prisoner said. "They mentally break you."

Asked why he thought MCC has received so much less coverage than Rikers, [redacted] replied, "I think [MCC] went unnoticed because people think just because [redacted] the feds the conditions are better. There are certain things that go on in these places that the government covers so the public would never know."

But for years, MCC has been plagued by filthy conditions, abusive guards, and a severe lack of medical care, as [redacted] documented in an extensive investigation last year. Defense attorneys, former inmates, and others with direct knowledge of conditions at MCC said [redacted] death epitomized how all individuals, even the most infamous people on the planet, are treated in the facility.

[redacted] has been working as a federal defense attorney and representing clients at MCC for about 30 years, and described the [redacted] recent condition as "the worst that [redacted] ever been."

[redacted] said that one of her clients, a young man, has been in the Special Housing Unit—the unit where Epstein died—for the three and a half years.

"His entire window is covered in mold," she said, and because the hot and cold water in the cell come out of different taps, her client can't even take a shower without getting frozen or scorched.

She recalled that she'd had one client at the facility who was charged with observing and safeguarding suicidal prisoners, since there weren't enough correctional officers to do the job.

"So they have inmates patrolling the suicide block so that they keep an eye on the people rather than people [who] get paid by the government doing it," [redacted] said. "Do they really care? Do they watch? Who knows!"

[redacted] described a third client who suffers from mental health issues as well as severe asthma, but has been unable to get the nebulizer treatment she says she needs to control the disease. During one visit, [redacted] said her [redacted] breathing was so labored she couldn't carry on a conversation: "I couldn't talk to her, because she couldn't breathe."

Over the spring, [redacted] was in touch with two women held at the facility, who said they were denied basic medical care, and that their cells routinely flooded with sewage.

"Toilet waste and feces were all over the floors of all the cells, common area, and other departments on the floor and the female inmates were the ones who had to clean it all up without proper equipment," one detainee wrote in a message. The woman, whose name is being withheld at her request out of fear of

[redacted] said that it makes little difference to the Correctional Officers at MCC whether an inmate is a billionaire financier or not—everyone is regarded with disdain. "[The prisoners would] be lucky if they were treated like dirt under somebody [redacted] shoe, but they're not even treated that well."

These conditions persist at MCC despite the fact that people held there have not yet been convicted of a crime, and thus are supposed to benefit from the presumption of innocence.

The following excerpt was taken from an article published in the Intercept, February 3, 2019, edition, written by [redacted], an inmate incarcerated in the 10 South Unit of MCC New York.

"AT THE TAIL end of the Obama administration, I was locked up a [redacted] throw away from [redacted]" [redacted] at the Federal Bureau of Prisons' infamous Metropolitan Correctional Center, New York, or MCC NY, in downtown Manhattan, where [redacted] is currently being held during his ongoing federal trial. I was there writing and waging a hunger strike when [redacted] first arrived. Much has been written about [redacted] trial, but close to nothing about the conditions of his confinement, as the security around him has made access off limits to any journalist other than me.

I'm an imprisoned human rights activist and political journalist focusing on protecting institutionalized children from common tortures in America like these:

I'm currently suing the Bureau of Prisons and MCC NY for both state and federal civil rights violations, related to the conditions where [redacted] is held, and I'm exploring classaction certification. My lawsuit against MCC NY offers a new and rare glimpse into prison life in the solitary confinement cells that [redacted] has now called home for nearly two years. Besides simply recovering my fees and costs, however, my goals aren't financial. Instead I'm asking the court to force MCC NY to respect human dignity, the First Amendment, federal regulations, and other human and civil rights."

In a letter written from MCC to officials at the Justice Department, the Federal Bureau of Prisons, and the Office of the Inspector General at the Justice Department, Mr. [redacted] calls attention to what he describes as appalling conditions inside the facility.
In his letter, he alleges there are severe threats to health, including rodent and insect infestations at the facility. "Roaches are found in the food, and I have personally observed insect eggs as well," [redacted] adds.

He describes how the heat is, for the most part, not functioning during the winter. A number of the cells are in the "50-degree range while others are much colder." Meanwhile, pools of water stand in the facility from leaks and are a "breeding ground for infections."

"The facility itself is trash, with cockroach-infested meal trays and frigid, leaky cells. One inmate resorted to drinking from his toilet when the water was shut off."

[redacted] a lot of mystery surrounding the 10-South unit at MCC where [redacted] is being housed. Much of that is fueled by the effects of it being a "SAMs" or "special administrative measures" unit. As such, the inmates aren't supposed to come into any visual or other contact with other inmates.

Even magazines they receive in the mail must be prescreened by the FBI for the supposed reason of intercepting hidden messages. Outbound communications are similarly restricted and monitored in real time.

Amnesty International

Amnesty International previously condemned the use of MCC to "house pretrial detainees in solitary confinement for months or even years before they face trial." With regards to the Special Housing Unit at MCC, the human rights organization says "detainees have little access to natural light and no provision for outdoor exercise." Amnesty International characterized

"the combined effects of prolonged confinement to sparse cells with little natural light, no outdoor exercise and extreme social isolation amount[ing] to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment."

August 1. 2018 - A federal lawmaker is demanding officials running a prison in lower Manhattan detail how long it takes for those in the lockup to get medical care.
[redacted]. Rep. [redacted] is demanding answers as allegations of abuse continue to surface at the Metropolitan Correctional Center some prisoner advocates have compared to a gulag. "When inmates are placed at the mercy of our government, we have a moral responsibility to ensure they are treated humanely, something which MCC has allegedly failed to do," [redacted] said in a statement. "I am asking for a full explanation and immediate steps to ensure the safety of prisoners housed there." On Wednesday, she sent a letter to the Federal Bureau of Prisons citing "alarming conditions" at the prison which houses highprofiled terrorists and drug lord [redacted]) [redacted]. The missive demands the number of violent incidents as well as the time it typically takes for prisoners to receive medical care.

The allegations of abuse, including prisoners forced to wait two months to be seen by a doctor, were first reported in [redacted]. Prison advocates have long argued that the facility is more restrictive than the Guantanamo Bay detention camp.
August 14, 2019 - Rep. [redacted] on Wednesday joined the growing number of officials calling for a soup-to-nuts investigation into the apparent suicide of accused child sex trafficker Jeffrey Epstein in the federal Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan.

[redacted] said she wrote a letter to the Justice [redacted] inspector general and the head of the FBI demanding answers not only about [redacted] death but about what she called other rampant abuses of detainees at the lockup.

"I write to voice concerns about the continued alleged culture of mismanagement and inadequate leadership at this facility," she said. She cited several other incidents at the MCC, in which corrections staff allegedly abused detainees.

Representative [redacted] posted the following on her Facebook Social Media account on August 14, 2019: "MCC is in our District, #NY7. I've been pressing for greater oversight of this institution for many years now!"

"Not only does [redacted] suicide raise questions about how his custody was handled, but it hearkens back to a litany of previous problems we've seen at this facility," [redacted] told The News.
"I'm glad DOJ and FBI are looking into this most recent episode and all of us, including his victims, need to know how Epstein died," she added. "Still, I think [redacted] also needed is a comprehensive review of the culture and management problems at MCC."

Conclusion/Opinions/Observations

MCC New York, like many other Federal Prisons nationwide is overpopulated and understaffed. It is reported the MCC was built to accommodate 474 inmates. On the day of Mr. [redacted] suicide, the [redacted] inmate population count was 763, almost twice the number it was designed to house.

Much talk and attention has been on the staffing shortages. Mainly, as a result of the 2017 Trump Administration Hiring Freeze, the Bureau of Prisons lost 7,300 employees.

MCC New York was recently described by Attorney General [redacted] as an institution with "deeply concerning irregularities." AG [redacted] expressed outrage and says he was "appalled and angry" to learn of [redacted] "failure to adequately secure this prisoner." Other sources familiar with current conditions at MCC described it as "deplorable," and "bordering on inhumane treatment."

I personally maintain contact with several individuals who are currently employed with the Bureau of Prisons as well as MCC New York. Three current MCC Staff Members very recently described to me the current sanitation conditions at the facility. One stated, "The facility is so disgusting [redacted] like a prison in a third-world country. Cleaning supplies are not issued on a regular basis." The individual further advised, "Pest Control is horrible and ineffective, rats, mice and bugs are everywhere." Another Correctional Officer told me, "There are mice and bugs everywhere including inmates' cells." This information is consistent with my Court testimony on July 3, 2019, and my assessment in Paragraph 20 of my Declaration in the case of Mr. [redacted]. Further, it corroborates the many news reports, regarding the "rodent-infested MCC."

On a different, yet equally concerning topic, an MCC Correctional Officer advised me this past week, that there is blatant racial discord within the institution, especially amongst Correctional Officers. I did not witness this when I was Warden at MCC, and my contact advises it began a short time following my departure.

It is my belief that the excerpts I've cited in this report and statements from various sources of the MCC are credible and honest. The Staff have nothing to gain by sharing this information with me other than to express their dissatisfaction and frustration with current practices and conditions at MCC.

In my July 3, 2019, testimony in the London Court for the extradition case of [redacted] [redacted], I expressed concerns with MCC New York in regards to staff shortages, staff from other departments being "augmented" to fill in for correctional officer vacancies on a regular basis, conditions of confinement at MCC and various other matters related to the institution. I stated in my testimony and also in my Declaration that MCC New York or any other federal prison could not prevent anyone who is persistent from taking their own life. At best, they could only delay an inmate from committing suicide by placing his on a suicide watch. A suicide watch does not continue indefinitely. As previously stated in this report, a usual amount of days for a suicide watch would be two to four days, depending on circumstances. Once the suicide watch ends, that also ends the 24 hours of continuous inmate observation.

If Mr. [redacted] is extradited to the United States and housed at MCC or MDC, I am confident his mental health needs, given his propensity to commit self harm, will not be adequately addressed. I am more convinced of this now, following the Epstein suicide, numerous documents and recent information revealed, than I was during my testimony to the Court in July 2019. It appears the current conditions within the prison are extremely dire and certainly far worse than when I was assigned at MCC as Warden.

Numerous individuals have come forward in the last few weeks, including some former Bureau of Prisons' Wardens. They fervently state some serious missteps occurred at the MCC surrounding the death of Mr. Epstein. These individuals have been quick to point fingers and assign blame to top executives, psychology staff and correctional officers. Many are quick to say that Mr. Epstein should not have been removed from Suicide Watch or if he were removed, extra precautions/safeguards should have been in place. Some sources view the actions of staff who were assigned to [redacted] Housing Unit, as a blatant indifference to the care and welfare of inmates. Others, including Union Officials, are suggesting the Officers' disregard of conducting the required 30-minute cell checks were justified because of the long hours staff are forced to work, as a result of the institution being so understaffed.

While all of the investigations continue, it is premature to conclude exactly what did occur leading up to the death of Mr. Epstein. What we do know is that several policies were not followed or were simply ignored, several departments within MCC were involved and shortcuts were taken. MCC New York is heavily in the spotlight and under a microscope these past two weeks and likely for the next several weeks. It is my opinion that this only received such widespread attention because of the notoriety of Epstein. Had this been another inmate, less known, who was not a public figure, they likely would not have received media attention.

Once the investigations are concluded, it is probable that several recommendations will be provided. In order to correct problems that exist, one must look at the root of the cause and be willing to fix that also. Only time will tell if any future additional measures put in place will be adequate. If what is being reported by countless sources, is in fact what actually occurred, and staff completely ignored their responsibilities, no recommendations and no additional measures would have changed the unfortunate outcome of what occurred on August 10, 2019, at the Metropolitan Correctional Center, New York.

The current problems at the MCC cannot, in my opinion, be cured by any quick fix solution. Even with the current spotlight on MCC, and assuming the Bureau of Prisons will put forth their best efforts to eradicate the broken parts, one still must account for human error and agency needs. Staff will continue to work overtime, staff will continue to take shortcuts, staff will continue to be tired on the job and fall asleep. No amount of effort on [redacted] part can change that and one can only hope that when these things occur, nothing bad happens. It would take many years to resolve the issues and problems that plague MCC, provided there is a real desire to make changes. This will not give any comfort to Mr [redacted] or the U.K Courts as to whether he or his mental health needs will be adequately managed if extradited to the United States.

Jeffrey Epstein jail 'a gulag' in lower Manhattan

12 August 2019

Jeffrey Epstein death

CHRIS HONDROS

Questions are being asked how Jeffrey Epstein died in custody in New York while being held on sex trafficking charges. So what is the detention facility like where he spent his final days?

Built in 1975, the 12-story Metropolitan Correctional Center in lower Manhattan - where the financier died in a suspected suicide on Friday night - holds around 800 people awaiting trial or sentencing at the federal court house just a few blocks away.

The brick building has detained such high-profile criminals as Mexican drug kingpin [redacted], Gambino mafia crime boss John Gotti and World Trade Center bomber Ramzi Yousef.

Like other federal prisons, the Metropolitan Correctional Center (MCC) suffers from shortages of staff and resources, prisoner overcrowding and is plagued by violence and poor sanitary conditions.

The conditions

The jail was built to accommodate 474 inmates, but held 763 male prisoners at the time of [redacted] death, according to a statement from the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Prisoners have described seeing large rats in their cells, air conditioner units so noisy it is impossible to sleep, and absence of any natural light or sanitary water.

As he was sent down for the rest of his life, Mexican drug cartel leader [redacted]" [redacted] took the opportunity to call the place "torture".

GETTY IMAGES

"Since the government will send me to a jail where my name will not ever be heard again, I take this opportunity to say there was no justice here," he said at his sentencing in July.

"It has been psychological and mental torture 24 hours a day."

Brooklyn College professor Jeanne Theoharis, who has written extensively about MCC, told the [redacted] website in June that the jail resembles conditions found in countries such as "Iran or Russia".

Calling the place a "gulag", she described conditions as "filthy, freezing, no natural light, isolation so extreme that you're punished for speaking through the walls, absurd rules like prisoners not getting to see the newspapers unless they're 30 days old, secrecy so deep that people are force-fed".

GETTY IMAGES

Lawyer [redacted], who is suing the US government after his client was beaten to death in MCC in 2015, says the [redacted] Island prison, which is run by the city, is much more violent than MCC.

He says [redacted] too early to know whether [redacted] wealth may have played a role in his death, amid speculation in the US that he could have bribed guards to be left alone.

He notes that other ultra-rich white collar criminals from Wall Street, only blocks away, are frequent guests of MCC, including Bernie Madoff who was arrested in 2008 for running a multi-million dollar Ponzi scheme.

Mr [redacted] says that more important than a [redacted] profile or means is the crime itself and the publicity it receives in the media. Sex criminals like Epstein, he says, are more likely to face issues from other inmates, making it unusual that Epstein was not being more closely watched.

The staffing

A representative for workers at the jail told CBS News in New York that the Epstein death is not surprising. Staffing, the representative says, is "completely inadequate", with many workers putting in more than 60 hours per week leaving them "overwhelmed" and "not alert".

According to the Associated Press (AP), the jail is so under-staffed that correctional officers are being offered a $10,000 bonus to transfer there from other facilities.

Guards sometimes work 16 hours a day, according to the AP. A person familiar with the Epstein case told the news agency that a guard overseeing Epstein was working a fifth straight day of overtime - and another was working mandatory overtime - on the day the wealthy [redacted] body was found.

Staff shortages were worsened after a government shutdown triggered by a budget stand-off between the White House and Democrats over President Donald [redacted] insistence on funding for a southern border wall.

In January, during the shutdown, inmates staged a hunger strike over claims they were being denied family visitation rights.

The Bureau of Prisons is already under scrutiny for the death of Boston gangster James Whitey Bulger, who was fatally beaten by another inmate shortly after arriving at a West Virginia lock-up last October.

In February 2018, a British court ruled against extraditing accused hacker Lauri Love - who is diagnosed with Aspergers syndrome and would have probably been held in the MCC - on the grounds that he would present a high-risk of suicide if he was sent there.

Where Epstein stayed

According to the New York Times, Epstein had recently been moved from suicide watch to the Special Housing Unit where he was meant to be on 24-hour monitoring and given daily psychiatric evaluations.

He was ordered there after he was found on the floor of his cell two weeks earlier with neck injuries, in an apparent attempted suicide.

According to the paper, two guards were meant to check on him every 30 minutes, but those procedures were not followed on the night of his death.

He was also meant to be housed with one other inmate, but his cellmate had reportedly been transferred and no replacement had yet arrived.

REUTERS

Mr [redacted], the lawyer, says CCTV captures what goes on in the Special Housing Unit, as well as for those prisoners being kept on suicide watch.

He says [redacted] too early to know what contributed to [redacted] death, until an FBI investigation is complete, but either way the prison is facing a "grossly negligent situation".

Investigative reporter [redacted], who spent a year researching the conditions at MCC, found that the facility shared a single psychiatrist with the other federal prison in New York, the Metropolitan Detention Center in Brooklyn, and only had a handful of psychologists on staff.

The two facilities had only one psychiatrist to oversee the more than 500 prisoners with diagnosed serious mental illnesses, she says, in addition to any prisoners that have been temporarily placed on suicide watch.

"When you're on suicide watch and a psychologist comes to speak with you, [redacted] not as though you're in a private room having a conversation. [redacted] like through a slot in the door," she tells BBC News.

REUTERS

Experts on prison safety say they are puzzled as to why Epstein, who had attempted to take his own life earlier, was not kept under closer watch.

Cameron Lindsey, a former warden at the federal jail in Brooklyn, told the Times that the psychological evaluation can only reveal so much about a [redacted] state of mind.

He said that the steady release of embarrassing and incriminating evidence against Epstein could have made him wish to kill himself, and that other prisoners would consider him a target due to his fame and the nature of his alleged crimes.

"A psychologist is going to think one way, but a warden needs to think a different way," said Mr Lindsey. "You have to take the conservative, safe route and keep an individual like this on suicide watch."

Union and lawmakers have long warned of 'dire' federal prison staffing shortages

By Evan Perez, Mark Morales and Kara Scannell, CNN

[redacted]: Appalled and angry over failures to secure Epstein 00:45

(CNN) — Staffing shortages at the Bureau of Prisons are dire and widespread, according to agency employees and lawmakers who say they've been warning the Justice Department about the problem and demanding changes for years.

Attorney General [redacted] has launched investigations into Jeffery [redacted] death. But earlier this year, he referred to delays in hiring new people at the Bureau of Prisons as a "snafu" caused by bureaucracy in the federal prison system.

[redacted] suicide has exposed what the employee union says are chronically overworked and short-staffed conditions at the Metropolitan Correction Center in Manhattan, including forced overtime and officers reassigned to guard duty.

A key US Senate committee has also repeatedly told the Justice Department to hire full-time correctional staff and end an "overreliance" on the type of reassignments that have existed in the MCC and elsewhere.

The Justice Department said Tuesday that it was reassigning the warden at the MCC and it was suspending two guards at the facility. The department didn't identify the guards or say whether they were the ones on duty and assigned to monitor Epstein when he died.

Days after [redacted] death, BOP officials and FBI investigators are still piecing together even basic details of the incident such as how he was found and how long he was dead before an employee found him, people briefed on the matter said. Some employees have refused to cooperate with investigators and have hired lawyers, people briefed on the matter said.

Related Article: CNN Exclusive: The rise of the Jeffrey Epstein mystique

There were cameras with a view of the hallway outside [redacted] cell but whether they showed anything or were operational -- and if not, why -- remain in question. That some basic details aren't clear suggests that whatever video exists doesn't show what happened.

A BOP suicide reconstruction team began working Tuesday to try to determine why Epstein killed himself. A BOP after action team, which looks into major incidents, is slated to arrive Wednesday to begin its work. That team is led by [redacted] southeast regional director and will bring in others from outside the northeast to review the Epstein case.

Two MCC guards were on duty and responsible for checking on Epstein every 30 minutes -- checks that weren't made for hours.

Of the two officers who would have had responsibility to monitor Epstein, one is not currently a detention guard, but was temporarily reassigned to that post, according to a person briefed on the matter. The guard, a man not identified by officials, had previously been trained as a corrections officer but had moved to another position. BOP rules allow for people who work in other jobs, such as teachers and cooks, to be trained to fill in at posts usually manned by corrections officers.

The second guard on Epstein duty, a woman, was a fully trained corrections officer, according to the person briefed on

Eric Young, national president of the American Federation of Government Employees, Council of Prison Locals, which represents BOP employees, says a hiring freeze put in place at the start of President Donald [redacted] presidency is the root of nationwide problems at federal prisons.

He called the situation "dire," with decreased staffing levels the root cause of issues from contraband getting in to safety of correctional workers and inmates.

AFGE represents workers at 122 facilities nationwide and BOP employs roughly 33,000, according to Young. That number was once at 38,000 workers but after the Trump hiring freeze, the problem was never fixed.

The Justice Department says [redacted] lifted the freeze in April and that BOP has been recruiting to fill positions. It typically takes months to bring on new federal employees.

"We felt betrayed," Young said of the hiring freeze. "Mr. President, we work for you. You say you're a law and order president and we thought we were going to reap the benefits of that, but we didn't."

In addition, more vacancies could soon be on the way; Young says an estimated 5,000 people are eligible for retirement at the end of the year.

A Justice official says the [redacted] hiring freeze applied to positions in BOP regional offices and at the [redacted] headquarters, not to prison facilities. The official said the [redacted] hiring practices -- filling positions one at a time -- caused delays in hiring. The bureau also faced staff losses from retirements. [redacted] in April ordered the bureau to speed up hiring by filling open positions concurrently.

The Justice official also disputed perceptions that BOP faced a Trump budget squeeze. [redacted] budget increased from nearly $6.8 billion in the 2014 fiscal year to $7.25 billion in fiscal 2019.

At the same time, employee and inmate numbers decreased. Prisoner releases have accelerated as a result of criminal justice revisions in the Obama and Trump administrations.

The bureau had 38,496 employees in 2014, compared with 35,123 in fiscal 2018.

BOP held 214,149 prisoners in 2014, compared with 181,698 in 2018.

How Jeffrey [redacted] death became a political football 05:34

Bonuses, augmentation

To combat the drop in workers, BOP officials have been offering a retention bonus, which gives workers a 5% bonus if they decide to stay instead of retiring, Young said. They also have allowed retired correctional officers to come back on a part-time basis to ease the staffing issues at hard-to-staff prisons, Young said. The agency also approved the addition of 3,000 temporary positions for entry level workers.

Officials also offered workers a 10% relocation bonus if they opted to work at facilities that are hard to staff like MCC in New York, Hazelton in West Virginia, the Metropolitan Detention Center in Los Angeles and others. Part of the relocation agreement is for staffers to stay at the facility for at least two years.

Young draws the correlation of fewer guards to safety, saying the problem came to a head early Saturday morning in New York.

"Time was not on our side before Epstein killed himself," Young said. "We were on the right course of hiring but we just couldn't do it fast enough. We were stalemated by Trump."

The BOP has tried to address staffing shortages in part by using a practice called augmentation to temporarily assign employees who aren't corrections officers to staff posts intended for detention guards.

In October, four senators led by Democrat Joe Manchin of West Virginia, wrote a letter to then-Attorney General Jeff Sessions expressing their "deep concerns" about the use of augmentation and staffing levels at federal prisons in Pennsylvania and West Virginia following the deaths of a correctional officer and inmates.

Related Article: For Jeffrey [redacted] accusers and their quest for justice, what now?

"We cannot allow these dangerous staffing practices to continue," the senators wrote.

They noted that twice when approving [redacted] budget, a Senate committee had issued a report that "included clear directions" to the Justice Department to stop "its overreliance on augmentation" in favor of hiring full-time correctional staff.

Four days later, James "Whitey" Bulger, the Boston mob boss was brutally beaten and killed at the federal prison in Hazelton.

RELATED: Questions raised about decision to transfer 'Whitey' Bulger to prison where he died

Last June, the Senate Appropriations Committee reiterated its demand.

"The Committee again directs BOP to curtail its overreliance on augmentation, particularly in housing units" the [redacted] report said. "BOP should instead hire additional full-time correctional staff before continuing to augment existing staff."

A February 2018 letter from 52 members of Congress was sent to Sessions asking him to reconsider eliminating 6,000 unfilled positions at federal prisons nationwide. "Augmentation was designed as a temporary solution to short-term staffing conflicts, not a long-term solution to respond to budget pressure," the lawmakers said.

Soon after [redacted] took office this year, he acknowledged to lawmakers that the Justice Department had "stumbled" in addressing the problem. In testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee in April, he called the staffing shortages at prison facilities a "snafu" and blamed bureaucracy within the prison hiring system, not the hiring freeze.

"The shortages out in the prison facilities themselves was not the freeze." [redacted] said. "I think what it is is, frankly, [redacted] said he believes the agency begins the process of hiring a new person into a position vacated by internal job shifts too late.

"It takes months and months and months to get that person on board. That makes no sense because every year we lose 2,600 of these correctional officers. So my view is we just have to turn on the spigot and keep these new entry level people coming in at a rate where we're going to be able to get up to and maintain our enacted level," [redacted] said.

"I think this is largely a snafu by the department and [redacted] how I interpret it and [redacted] how I'm approaching it," he added.

Re: Suicide Watch/Psych Observation Update

From [redacted]

[redacted] [redacted]

Date 2019/07/28 08:52

Subject: Re: Suicide Watch/Psych Observation Update

Attachments: TEXT.htm

He also complained that he is in Attorney Conference from about 8 AM to about 8 PM each day and he said yesterday he only received one meal, a sandwich at about 4:15 PM. He said he should be getting lunch and dinner.
Also additional information on the toilet that reportedly flushed for 45 minutes. He stated to avoid the toilet from doing that again because he stated he found it so aversive and disorienting, he has been urinating in a cup. I already sent an e-mail to Mr. Nobile about the toilet.

>>> [redacted] > 7/28/2019 7:51 AM >>>
Good morning,

Thank you.

Subject: Fwd: Suicide Watch/Psych Observation Update

>>> [redacted]
[redacted],

Inmate Epstein seems psychologically stable.

He complained that his right arm was numb and hanging earlier. Nurse [redacted] saw him.

He again said his right arm still feels somewhat numb and he said he cannot make a fist with that hand. He also said he has numbness on his neck. I informed Nurse [redacted].

He stated the toilet in his cell was running for 45 minutes last night and he could not take the noise. He is going to try the toilet before going to legal today and if it does not shut off, he will be moved to another cell.

Thanks,

[redacted]

Psychology Epstein Reconstruction Responses

1. Single Cell Placement

A system has been put in place to ensure inmates are not single celled. A single cell report is completed during each shift by the SHU Lieutenant during Day Watch and the Operations Lieutenant during the Morning Watch and Evening Watch. Notifications are made to the Institution Duty Officer (IDO) and Executive Staff.

Psychology discusses the status of inmates who are at-risk for suicidality, their housing needs, as well as their needs for cellmates during staff meetings, department head meetings, SHU meetings, morning meetings, and close out meetings.

When inmates are placed on and off suicide watch, the Warden is notified verbally, regardless of the time of day. The Warden then determines which suicide watch area a suicidal inmate will be housed and if they will be observed with an inmate companions or a staff member.

Psychology verbally notifies the Lieutenant when inmates are removed from suicide watch and communicates to the Lieutenant that they will need to be placed with a cellmate (Providing direct communication and instructions). Cellmates are recommended not only for SHU inmates being removed from suicide watch, but also for inmates returning to the general population setting.

Once an inmate is removed from suicide watch, psychology staff sends an e-mail to the Executive Staff, IDO, and Lieutenants informing them the inmate is being removed from suicide watch and can return to a cell with a cellmate. The e-mail contains the name of the staff member whom psychology verbally spoke with. This recommendation for a cellmate and conversation with the Lieutenant is also documented in the Post Suicide Watch Report and placed in BEMR/PDS.

Psychology Services has eliminated the use of Psychological Observation to avoid any confusion as to the needs of inmates on a watch status.

3. Cellmate Assignments

Inmates with serious mental illness and those at-risk for suicidality are discussed during staff meetings, department head meetings, SHU meetings, morning meetings, and close out meetings. The Captain, Associate Wardens, Warden and Psychology discuss the [redacted] needs. The Staff Attorney also assists when the [redacted] attorney or court are concerned about an [redacted] mental health. Psychology Services are involved in making recommendations regarding the types of cellmates that inmates at-risk for suicidality should celled with. Psychology Services takes into consideration the suicide risk factors involved with a particular inmate and share their knowledge with Executive Staff.

4. Documentation Accuracy

Psychology considers the information from more than one source when making decisions about suicide watch placement. Clinical judgment is used to make determinations taking into consideration each [redacted] self-report of a situation as they may be perceived differently.

The Chief Psychologist has spoken to all psychology staff members concerning proof reading all documents entered to reduce typos and to improve information accuracy. Additionally, there is a second Staff Psychologist in the department which helps reduce the workload on current psychologists, allowing more time for documentation review.

The Chief Psychologist and Drug Abuse Coordinator counseled the Drug Treatment Specialist (DTS) concerning her documentation in the suicide watch log book. There was no ill-intent on the part of the DTS as all log books were maintained; the original log book written by the officer and the one documented by the DTS. The DTS indicated a desire to assist the officer as he had written in the wrong log book. Specifically, he wrote in the inmate companion log book rather than the staff log book. However, she was informed that this is not her role and she is not to document in a log book for anyone else observing an inmate on suicide watch. In the future, only the staff member watching the inmate on suicide watch documents in the suicide watch log book. Log books are now being closely monitored on a daily basis by the Chief Psychologist.

The Psychology Department has eliminated Psychology Observation at MCC-NY. Both Staff and the Lieutenants received additional training on when they are required to complete rounds and sign Suicide Watch log books. With regard to suicide watch log books signatures, Correctional Staff are required to perform routine rounds every hour. The 2 Sally Officer on Monday- Friday during Day Watch is required to perform rounds on suicide or observation watch inmates as prescribed by the Captain. After-hours, the Unit 2 Officer will be responsible for making rounds, feeding meals, collecting trash in the area, and performing the count with the Internal 1 or Internal 2 assisting with duties as assigned by the Captain. Additionally, Psychology staff check the suicide watch logs daily when they interview the inmates on suicide watch. If it is noted hourly rounds are not being conducted by the Unit Officer and/or the Lieutenants are not rounding and signing the books each shift, the Associate Warden over Programs and the Captain are notified immediately and enforce accountability.

6. Direct Observation

The Psychology Department has eliminated Psychology Observation at MCC-NY.

Inmates on Suicide Watch are only provided legal visits under special circumstances as deemed by the Court.

7. Follow Up

Staff have been trained when they have concerns for an [redacted] mental health, they need to make verbal contact with either Psychology Staff or a Lieutenant. If Psychology is not in the institution, an inmate is placed on suicide watch, and the on-call psychologist and Warden is notified.

All Psychology Staff added a response to their incoming emails. This automatic replay states, "If you are emailing about an inmate that may be at risk for suicide or self-harm, this is an emergency situation. Please make sure that you make contact (verbally) to Psychology Staff or the on-call psychologist. Please ensure to maintain constant visual observation of the inmate until formal steps can be taken to ensure his/her safety pending a formal assessment by a Psychologist."

The Psychology Department uses PSY ALERT codes more frequently with high profile cases and with inmates with a history or charge of a sex offense. The PSY ALERT code is applied more immediately and not just when an inmate is about to leave the institution. If an inmate is moved in and out of our institution for court, etc., the inmate is assessed more immediately prior to being released to a unit.

R&D staff have been reminded of the Marshall and Court alert notices. Psychology Staff are notified immediately if there are suicidal concerns noted by the Courts. If Psychology is not in the institution, an inmate that enters the institution with an alert notice is placed on suicide watch, and the on-call psychologist and Warden is notified. These inmates receive a suicide risk assessment by a psychologist before being released to the general population.

8. Inmate Accountability and Assignment Accuracy

With regard to the accuracy and accountability of inmates placed on suicide watch status in the hospital area, Psychology Services now runs a daily Sentry roster of all the inmates on suicide watch in the hospital area. The roster is examined to ensure that the inmates placed on suicide watch in a suicide watch cell are keyed into SENTRY with the correct cell assignment noted. The Associate Warden, Programs, is notified if there are any inconsistencies. Moreover, the four suicide watch cells now all have Sentry Assignments of H01-001L – H01-004L.

11. Post Orders & SHU Training

The Suicide Watch Post Orders is located in the [redacted] Office with a quarterly sign-in sheet. All staff members assigned to a suicide watch post are responsible for signing the post orders prior to performing the staff suicide watch.

With regard to SHU Suicide Prevention training, this continues to be carried out on a quarterly basis. However, the sign-in sheets for this training are now be examined by the SHU Lieutenant for accuracy. If a staff member who is assigned to SHU misses the training, they see the Chief Psychologist and schedule a time to receive a make-up session for the SHU Suicide Prevention Training.

12. Staffing

The current Drug Abuse Coordinator position is currently a shared position. The Warden is currently working on re-establishing the Drug Abuse Coordinator position as a full-time position to provide the Psychology Department with an additional supervisory psychologist to perform critical clinical services. At the current time, the position has been formally announced.

13. Sex Offense Risk Factors

The Chief Psychologist or her representative continues to be present at all Executive Staff Meetings, Department Head Meetings, and SHU meetings. During these meetings, the Chief Psychologist offers feedback regarding the treatment and management of sex offender inmates. Additionally, the Chief Psychologist continues to educate all staff during Institution Familiarization (IF) and Annual Training (AT), about the sex offender specific risk factors and suicidality.

FYI...AW portion for page 10 regarding SW cell assignment.

Guidance was sent to the Lieutenants regarding keying of suicide watch bed assignments after hours. The Lieutenants were instructed that upon placing an inmate on suicide watch, they are responsible for contacting C&A and providing the cell assignment. Additionally, the Lieutenant will run a PP30 (Population Monitoring Roster) with the selection category for suicide watch. The Lieutenant will email the roster to the Captain, as he will be responsible for verifying that each inmate is in the appropriate cell. This verification process will ensure inmates placed on suicide watch are keyed into inaccurate bed assignments and will eliminate inmates being keyed into the same cell.

Additionally, the Lieutenants were instructed to contact the Captain and on-call Psychology staff when the need for suicide watch placement is determined after hours. Psychology staff have been instructed to contact the warden upon receiving said notification. After consultation with the warden, psychology staff will designate whether a staff or inmate companion will be assigned. Psychology staff will in turn inform the Shift Lieutenant of this determination.

FYI...AW portion for page 10 regarding SW cell assignment.

Guidance was sent to the Lieutenants regarding keying of suicide watch bed assignments after hours. The Lieutenants were instructed that upon placing an inmate on suicide watch, they are responsible for contacting C&A and providing the cell assignment. Additionally, the Lieutenant will run a PP30 (Population Monitoring Roster) with the selection category for suicide watch. The Lieutenant will email the roster to the Captain, as he will be responsible for verifying that each inmate is in the appropriate cell. This verification process will ensure inmates placed on suicide watch are keyed into inaccurate bed assignments and will eliminate inmates being keyed into the same cell.

Additionally, the Lieutenants were instructed to contact the Captain and on-call Psychology staff when the need for suicide watch placement is determined after hours. Psychology staff have been instructed to contact the warden upon receiving said notification. After consultation with the warden, psychology staff will designate whether a staff or inmate companion will be assigned. Psychology staff will in turn inform the Shift Lieutenant of this determination.

If you are emailing about an inmate that may be at risk for suicide or self-harm, this is an emergency situation. Please make sure that you make contact (verbally) to Psychology Staff or the on-call psychologist. Please ensure to maintain constant visual observation of the inmate until formal steps can be taken to ensure his/her safety pending a formal assessment by a Psychologist.

FYI...AW portion for page 10 regarding SW cell assignment.

Guidance was sent to the Lieutenants regarding keying of suicide watch bed assignments after hours. The Lieutenants were instructed that upon placing an inmate on suicide watch, they are responsible for contacting C&A and providing the cell assignment. Additionally, the Lieutenant will run a PP30 (Population Monitoring Roster) with the selection category for suicide watch. The Lieutenant will email the roster to the Captain, as he will be responsible for verifying that each inmate is in the appropriate cell. This verification process will ensure inmates placed on suicide watch are keyed into inaccurate bed assignments and will eliminate inmates being keyed into the same cell.

Additionally, the Lieutenants were instructed to contact the Captain and on-call Psychology staff when the need for suicide watch placement is determined after hours. Psychology staff have been instructed to contact the warden upon receiving said notification. After consultation with the warden, psychology staff will designate whether a staff or inmate companion will be assigned. Psychology staff will in turn inform the Shift Lieutenant of this determination.

Inmate suicides like Jeffrey [redacted] are increasing — and predictable, senator says
https://www.washingtonpost.com/national/inmate-suicides-like-jeffrey-epsteins-are-increasing--and-predictable-senator-says/2019/08/30/e9169afe-cb55-11e9-a1fe-ca46e8d573c0_story.html
Federal inmates were killing themselves at escalating rates when the Trump administration slashed 5,156 officers and staff positions through a hiring freeze and budget cuts — a downsizing of 14 percent. The suicide rate continued to rise as staffing vacancies increased and permanent cuts were made in 2018, with more than two dozen inmates taking their lives as prison staff and leaders failed to curb the growing problem.

R. Kelly moved to general population of federal jail in Chicago, feds say. 'I'm so popular here, [redacted] like yeah man'
Chicago Tribune
http://www.chicagotribune.com/news/criminal-justice/ct-r-kelly-general-population-jail-20190903-z4kpqwj22ngrjgzmkaubb3rupq-story.html
After weeks of griping about the circumstances of his incarceration, disgraced R & B singer R. Kelly has been moved to the general population of the federal jail in Chicago while he awaits trial on sexual abuse-related charges, prosecutors said Tuesday.

Democrats in Florida Delegation Want DOJ to Expand Investigation of Jeffrey Epstein Death, Plea Deal
Florida Daily
https://www.floridadaily.com/democrats-in-florida-delegation-want-doj-to-expand-investigation-of-jeffrey-epstein-death-plea-deal/
At the end of last week, four Democrats representing South Florida in the [redacted]. House wrote [redacted]. Attorney General [redacted] calling on the [redacted]. Justice Department to expand its efforts examining Jeffrey [redacted] suicide and a plea deal he made back in 2008.

Next Arena for Criminal Justice Reform: A Roof Over Their Heads

https://www.nytimes.com/2019/09/03/us/politics/criminal-justice-reform-housing.html
When Thad Tatum was released from a Louisiana prison after serving 28 years for armed robbery and the attempted murder of a police officer, he found his trials were far from over.

'An uphill battle': Harvard students urge school to pull investments that support prisons
NBC News
https://www.nbcnews.com/news/us-news/uphill-battle-harvard-students-urge-school-pull-investments-support-prisons-n1038686
The rare opportunity to confront Harvard [redacted] president presented itself last [redacted] Day, and a group of five students pounced on the chance. During an open office hour with President Lawrence [redacted]. Bacow, the students asked him: How much of [redacted] almost $40 billion endowment is invested in companies that profit from the mass incarceration of Americans? And would he commit to withdrawing the [redacted] investment funds from prisons and related companies?

Aging in prison, but not losing hope
USA Today- OPINION
https://www.usatoday.com/in-depth/opinion/lifers/2019/09/03/aging-in-prison-letters-from-lifers-policing-the-usa/3407369002/
In 1988, I was incarcerated in a federal prison in Pennsylvania. I had committed a nonviolent drug offense. At the age of 41, I was sentenced to life, and was eventually moved to New [redacted] Federal Correctional Institution at Otisville. After serving more than 20 years, in November 2013, I was given a glimmer of hope. At the age of 67, as an aging inmate, I had petitioned the Department of Justice for early release, and it looked like I was going to get my wish. The Bureau of Prisons (BOP) inmate locator site reflected a change in my release date, from "life" to April 11, 2019.

Also, the two officers that we are putting on AL, one is scheduled off today already and the other didn't show (so far). So the urgency of putting them on AL is less if they are not there. [redacted] is checking on the schedule of the others.

Thanks. This is helpful. We can talk tomorrow about the timing.
It will also be helpful to get some information about staffing at MCC I've seen additional press reports trying to link the staffing shortages, overtime and this incident.
Thanks,

[redacted], as discussed, several options are below. Please note that we should discuss timing of all this. I will need to ensure staff are notified first, and I should let my Executive Staff know so they are not taken off guard as they will no doubt get a lot of questions from their staff and other wardens. Also note that the Warden just called [redacted] and told him the US Attorney is meeting with him at 10 am tomorrow. So this probably should be some time after that interview.

Preferred:
Today, the Bureau of Prisons placed two staff who work in MCC NY on administrative leave pending the outcome of the investigation into the apparent suicide of Jeffrey Epstein. Additional actions may be taken as the circumstances of the investigations warrant.
A more detailed version of above could read:
Today, the Bureau of Prisons placed on administrative leave the two staff who worked in the Special Housing Unit at MCC NY pending the outcome of the investigation into the apparent suicide of Jeffrey Epstein. Additional actions may be taken as the circumstances of the investigations warrant.
If a third staff member is added either version can be changed to read "three."
If the warden is added, the following is proposed:
The Bureau of Prisons also temporarily reassigned the MCC NY Warden to the Northeast Regional Office pending the outcome of the investigation. FCI Otisville Warden [redacted] has been named Acting Warden of the MCC NY.
While I prefer not to state the [redacted] name in this release, if you decide it needs to be added, his name is [redacted].

A more detailed version of above could read:
Today<calendar:T5:Today>, the Bureau of Prisons placed on administrative leave the two staff who worked in the Special Housing Unit at MCC NY pen

If a third staff member is added either version can be changed to read "three."

If the warden is added, the following is proposed:
The Bureau of Prisons also temporarily reassigned the MCC NY Warden to the Northeast Regional Office pending the outcome of the investigation. FCI

While I prefer not to state the [redacted] name in this release, if you decide it needs to be added, his name is [redacted].

FYI...AW portion for page 10 regarding SW cell assignment.

Guidance was sent to the Lieutenants regarding keying of suicide watch bed assignments after hours. The Lieutenants were instructed that upon placing an inmate on suicide watch, they are responsible for contacting C&A and providing the cell assignment. Additionally, the Lieutenant will run a PP30 (Population Monitoring Roster) with the selection category for suicide watch. The Lieutenant will email the roster to the Captain, as he will be responsible for verifying that each inmate is in the appropriate cell. This verification process will ensure inmates placed on suicide watch are keyed into inaccurate bed assignments and will eliminate inmates being keyed into the same cell.

Additionally, the Lieutenants were instructed to contact the Captain and on-call Psychology staff when the need for suicide watch placement is determined after hours. Psychology staff have been instructed to contact the warden upon receiving said notification. After consultation with the warden, psychology staff will designate whether a staff or inmate companion will be assigned. Psychology staff will in turn inform the Shift Lieutenant of this determination.

Psychology Epstein Reconstruction Responses

1. Single Cell Placement

A system has been put in place to ensure inmates are not single celled. A single cell report is completed during each shift by the SHU Lieutenant during Day Watch and the Operations Lieutenant during the Morning Watch and Evening Watch. Notifications are made to the Institution Duty Officer (IDO) and Executive Staff.

Psychology discusses the status of inmates who are at-risk for suicidality, their housing needs, as well as their needs for cellmates during staff meetings, department head meetings, SHU meetings, morning meetings, and close out meetings.

When inmates are placed on and off suicide watch, the Warden is notified verbally, regardless of the time of day. The Warden then determines which suicide watch area a suicidal inmate will be housed and if they will be observed with an inmate companions or a staff member.

Psychology verbally notifies the Lieutenant when inmates are removed from suicide watch and communicates to the Lieutenant that they will need to be placed with a cellmate (Providing direct communication and instructions). Cellmates are recommended not only for SHU inmates being removed from suicide watch, but also for inmates returning to the general population setting.

Once an inmate is removed from suicide watch, psychology staff sends an e-mail to the Executive Staff, IDO, and Lieutenants informing them the inmate is being removed from suicide watch and can return to a cell with a cellmate. The e-mail contains the name of the staff member whom psychology verbally spoke with. This recommendation for a cellmate and conversation with the Lieutenant is also documented in the Post Suicide Watch Report and placed in BEMR/PDS.

Psychology Services has eliminated the use of Psychological Observation to avoid any confusion as to the needs of inmates on a watch status.

3. Cellmate Assignments

Inmates with serious mental illness and those at-risk for suicidality are discussed during staff meetings, department head meetings, SHU meetings, morning meetings, and close out meetings. The Captain, Associate Wardens, Warden and Psychology discuss the [redacted] needs. The Staff Attorney also assists when the [redacted] attorney or court are concerned about an [redacted] mental health. Psychology Services are involved in making recommendations regarding the types of cellmates that inmates at-risk for suicidality should celled with. Psychology Services takes into consideration the suicide risk factors involved with a particular inmate and share their knowledge with Executive Staff.

4. Documentation Accuracy

Psychology considers the information from more than one source when making decisions about suicide watch placement. Clinical judgment is used to make determinations taking into consideration each [redacted] self-report of a situation as they may be perceived differently.

The Chief Psychologist has spoken to all psychology staff members concerning proof reading all documents entered to reduce typos and to improve information accuracy. Additionally, there is a second Staff Psychologist in the department which helps reduce the workload on current psychologists, allowing more time for documentation review.

The Chief Psychologist and Drug Abuse Coordinator counseled the Drug Treatment Specialist (DTS) concerning her documentation in the suicide watch log book. There was no ill-intent on the part of the DTS as all log books were maintained; the original log book written by the officer and the one documented by the DTS. The DTS indicated a desire to assist the officer as he had written in the wrong log book. Specifically, he wrote in the inmate companion log book rather than the staff log book. However, she was informed that this is not her role and she is not to document in a log book for anyone else observing an inmate on suicide watch. In the future, only the staff member watching the inmate on suicide watch documents in the suicide watch log book. Log books are now being closely monitored on a daily basis by the Chief Psychologist.

The Psychology Department has eliminated Psychology Observation at MCC-NY. Both Staff and the Lieutenants received additional training on when they are required to complete rounds and sign Suicide Watch log books. With regard to suicide watch log books signatures, Correctional Staff are required to perform routine rounds every hour. The 2 Sally Officer on Monday- Friday during Day Watch is required to perform rounds on suicide or observation watch inmates as prescribed by the Captain. After-hours, the Unit 2 Officer will be responsible for making rounds, feeding meals, collecting trash in the area, and performing the count with the Internal 1 or Internal 2 assisting with duties as assigned by the Captain. Additionally, Psychology staff check the suicide watch logs daily when they interview the inmates on suicide watch. If it is noted hourly rounds are not being conducted by the Unit Officer and/or the Lieutenants are not rounding and signing the books each shift, the Associate Warden over Programs and the Captain are notified immediately and enforce accountability.

6. Direct Observation

The Psychology Department has eliminated Psychology Observation at MCC-NY.

Inmates on Suicide Watch are only provided legal visits under special circumstances as deemed by the Court.

7. Follow Up

Staff have been trained when they have concerns for an [redacted] mental health, they need to make verbal contact with either Psychology Staff or a Lieutenant. If Psychology is not in the institution, an inmate is placed on suicide watch, and the on-call psychologist and Warden is notified.

All Psychology Staff added a response to their incoming emails. This automatic replay states, "If you are emailing about an inmate that may be at risk for suicide or self-harm, this is an emergency situation. Please make sure that you make contact (verbally) to Psychology Staff or the on-call psychologist. Please ensure to maintain constant visual observation of the inmate until formal steps can be taken to ensure his/her safety pending a formal assessment by a Psychologist."

The Psychology Department uses PSY ALERT codes more frequently with high profile cases and with inmates with a history or charge of a sex offense. The PSY ALERT code is applied more immediately and not just when an inmate is about to leave the institution. If an inmate is moved in and out of our institution for court, etc., the inmate is assessed more immediately prior to being released to a unit.

R&D staff have been reminded of the Marshall and Court alert notices. Psychology Staff are notified immediately if there are suicidal concerns noted by the Courts. If Psychology is not in the institution, an inmate that enters the institution with an alert notice is placed on suicide watch, and the on-call psychologist and Warden is notified. These inmates receive a suicide risk assessment by a psychologist before being released to the general population.

8. Inmate Accountability and Assignment Accuracy

With regard to the accuracy and accountability of inmates placed on suicide watch status in the hospital area, Psychology Services now runs a daily Sentry roster of all the inmates on suicide watch in the hospital area. The roster is examined to ensure that the inmates placed on suicide watch in a suicide watch cell are keyed into SENTRY with the correct cell assignment noted. The Associate Warden, Programs, is notified if there are any inconsistencies. Moreover, the four suicide watch cells now all have Sentry Assignments of H01-001L – H01-004L.

11. Post Orders & SHU Training

The Suicide Watch Post Orders is located in the [redacted] Office with a quarterly sign-in sheet. All staff members assigned to a suicide watch post are responsible for signing the post orders prior to performing the staff suicide watch.

With regard to SHU Suicide Prevention training, this continues to be carried out on a quarterly basis. However, the sign-in sheets for this training are now be examined by the SHU Lieutenant for accuracy. If a staff member who is assigned to SHU misses the training, they see the Chief Psychologist and schedule a time to receive a make-up session for the SHU Suicide Prevention Training.

The current Drug Abuse Coordinator position is currently a shared position. The Warden is currently working on re-establishing the Drug Abuse Coordinator position as a full-time position to provide the Psychology Department with an additional supervisory psychologist to perform critical clinical services. At the current time, the position has been formally announced.

13. Sex Offense Risk Factors

The Chief Psychologist or her representative continues to be present at all Executive Staff Meetings, Department Head Meetings, and SHU meetings. During these meetings, the Chief Psychologist offers feedback regarding the treatment and management of sex offender inmates. Additionally, the Chief Psychologist continues to educate all staff during Institution Familiarization (IF) and Annual Training (AT), about the sex offender specific risk factors and suicidality.

Hello [redacted],

I'm a reporter with BuzzFeed News. I'm reaching out on a story regarding Jeffrey [redacted] death. We have found a series of posts that were made on the website 4chan prior to any public announcement of [redacted] death. The first post was made at 8:15 AM and the subsequent posts described in detail the first responders' actions. The first news report about [redacted] death was at roughly 9 AM.

I've pasted one of the posts below:

Can you verify the accuracy of [redacted] been posted? Would speaking publicly about an [redacted] death break any procedures? If so, does MCC plan to take any action on the matter or investigate it?

Please get back to me as soon as possible today.

Thank you,
Jane

[redacted],

The synopsis below describes events related to an attempted suicide this morning in one of our GP units and the fine job by Correctional Officer Raymond Colon, a new staff member who has been with us since June 10th of this year. I attached the note, recovered by staff from the inmates cell, as he references the recent suicide of inmate Epstein at MCC New York. Also attached is a photo of the cell depicting the physical arrangement of the nooses.

On September 13, 2019 at approximately 10:54 am, the Housing Unit 3 North officer called for medical assistance. Specifically, the unit officer was conducting rounds when he approached cell 323 and found inmat[redacted] Reg. No. 51517-066, with a noose around his neck anchored to his locker. The inmate also had a noose tied around his feet anchored to the upper bed frame. The officer immediately untied the inmate. He did not lose consciousness and advanced life saving measures were not necessary due to the quick actions of the officer. The inmate was medically assessed, photographed, interviewed by Psychology staff, and placed on suicide watch. No staff injuries were reported.

Please let me know if you have further questions.

Thanks,

[redacted].

[redacted],

I am sorry to have to bring these issues to you in the last weeks of your leadership. But because there is no warden at MCC NY, and the following is an emergency we bring to your attention and you will know what to do.

Michael [redacted] 90791-054 is fighting for his life, and it seems to be neglected in a most terrible manner.

He writes that he has complained to his unit counselor and to health. He has migraines for over two weeks, throwing up and diarrhea. All who see him, can see he is in distress. His hands and body shake with tremors and he feels he is becoming weaker every day. He has problems focusing because of all this, and no one seems to care. This is the same facility where staff was caught sleeping and forging the log, the night Epstein committed suicide. He needs to brace himself against the wall when he walks.

It is an emergency matter and lets hope for the best, as it has already deteriorated to the extreme.
Thank you.

[redacted]

With apologies for the weekend email, we have a defendant, Jeffrey Epstein, who was arrested last night and is currently being detained at MCC, and is expected to be pres of-state.

We're concerned about the defendant not having access to his attorney in advance of the presentment (as we would be for any defendant) and so I wanted to reach out to

thanks very much,
[redacted].

Can I see [redacted] tomorrow at 8:00 a.m.?

Any word on a visit with his parents? He hasn't seen them in several months

As an update, I spoke with the AUSAs. They advised the Court thee was no video because the FBI had the DVR (pulled for the 8/10 incident) which went back to the 7/23 attempt. The FBI reported the DVR footage was corrupted as to the 7/23 video and, thus there was no footage. The AUSAs are asking that SIS check to see where Pina preserved the 7/22-23 video to see if that copy is not corrupted. They will be reaching out to her directly.

The AUSAs also want to know where the orange rope from the 7/23 attempt is preserved.

Thanks all,

Good morning all,

Per the above article, the Court was advised by the USAO that MCC did not preserve video from outside the cell shared by [redacted] and Epstein at the time of [redacted] alleged first suicide attempt. However, per the attached, SIS advised the footage was preserved. What search for the footage was performed prior to advising the USAO the footage could not be found? I would recommend searching again for the missing video. I have a call with the AUSAs in 20 minutes and will advise as to what other issues arose at [redacted] hearing.

Thank you,

FYI...AW portion for page 10 regarding SW cell assignment.

Guidance was sent to the Lieutenants regarding keying of suicide watch bed assignments after hours. The Lieutenants were instructed that upon placing an inmate on suicide watch, they are responsible for contacting C&A and providing the cell assignment. Additionally, the Lieutenant will run a PP30 (Population Monitoring Roster) with the selection category for suicide watch. The Lieutenant will email the roster to the Captain, as he will be responsible for verifying that each inmate is in the appropriate cell. This verification process will ensure inmates placed on suicide watch are keyed into inaccurate bed assignments and will eliminate inmates being keyed into the same cell.

Additionally, the Lieutenants were instructed to contact the Captain and on-call Psychology staff when the need for suicide watch placement is determined after hours. Psychology staff have been instructed to contact the warden upon receiving said notification. After consultation with the warden, psychology staff will designate whether a staff or inmate companion will be assigned. Psychology staff will in turn inform the Shift Lieutenant of this determination.

As an update, I spoke with the AUSAs. They advised the Court thee was no video because the FBI had the DVR (pulled for the 8/10 incident) which went back to the 7/23 attempt. The FBI reported the DVR footage was corrupted as to the 7/23 video and, thus there was no footage. The AUSAs are asking that SIS check to see where Pina preserved the 7/22-23 video to see if that copy is not corrupted. They will be reaching out to her directly.

The AUSAs also want to know where the orange rope from the 7/23 attempt is preserved.

Thanks all,

Good morning all,

Per the above article, the Court was advised by the USAO that MCC did not preserve video from outside the cell shared by [redacted] and Epstein at the time of [redacted] alleged first suicide attempt. However, per the attached, SIS advised the footage was preserved. What search for the footage was performed prior to advising the USAO the footage could not be found? I would recommend searching again for the missing video. I have a call with the AUSAs in 20 minutes and will advise as to what other issues arose at [redacted] hearing.

Thank you,
[redacted]

[redacted]: Please review the draft below and suggest any edits or comments.

Thanks,

[redacted]

Today, the Attorney General directed the Bureau of Prisons to temporarily assign the warden at the Metropolitan Correctional Center in New York to the [redacted] Northeast Regional Office pending the outcome of the FBI and OIG investigations into the apparent suicide of Jeffrey Epstein, a former MCC inmate. FCI Otisville Warden [redacted] has been named Acting Warden of the MCC New York. The Bureau of Prisons also placed on administrative leave three MCC correctional personnel assigned to Mr. [redacted] unit at the time of his apparent suicide pending the outcome of the investigations. Additional actions may be taken as the circumstances warrant.

[redacted]: Please review the draft below and suggest any edits or comments.
Thanks,
[redacted]

Today, the Attorney General directed the Bureau of Prisons to temporarily assign the warden at the Metropolitan Correctional Center in New York to the [redacted] Northeast Regional Office pending the outcome of the FBI and OIG investigations into the apparent suicide of Jeffrey Epstein, a former MCC inmate. FCI Otisville Warden [redacted] has been named Acting Warden of the MCC New York. The Bureau of Prisons also placed on administrative leave three MCC correctional personnel assigned to Mr. [redacted] unit at the time of his apparent suicide pending the outcome of the investigations. Additional actions may be taken as the circumstances warrant.

Thanks. This is helpful. We can talk tomorrow about the timing.

It will also be helpful to get some information about staffing at MCC I've seen additional press reports trying to link the staffing shortages, overtime and this incident.

Thanks,

[redacted].

[redacted], as discussed, several options are below. Please note that we should discuss timing of all this. I will need to ensure staff are notified first, and I should let my Executive Staff know so they are not taken off guard as they will no doubt get a lot of questions from their staff and other wardens. Also note that the Warden just called [redacted] and told him the US Attorney is meeting with him at 10 am tomorrow. So this probably should be some time after that interview.

Preferred:
Today, the Bureau of Prisons placed two staff who work in MCC NY on administrative leave pending the outcome of the investigation into the apparent suicide of Jeffrey Epstein. Additional actions may be taken as the circumstances of the investigations warrant.

A more detailed version of above could read:
Today, the Bureau of Prisons placed on administrative leave the two staff who worked in the Special Housing Unit at MCC NY pending the outcome of the investigation into the apparent suicide of Jeffrey Epstein. Additional actions may be taken as the circumstances of the investigations warrant.

If a third staff member is added either version can be changed to read "three."

If the warden is added, the following is proposed:
The Bureau of Prisons also temporarily reassigned the MCC NY Warden to the Northeast Regional Office pending the outcome of the investigation. FCI Otisville Warden [redacted] has been named Acting Warden of the MCC NY.

While I prefer not to state the [redacted] name in this release, if you decide it needs to be added, his name is [redacted].

Good afternoon all,

I will need the following information to assist the AUSAs in their reply, keeping in mind we will not provide any information about the Epstein investigation as it is ongoing:

1) Warden [redacted] bio
2) Psychology/SHU measures that have been put in place to address suicide watch removal procedures, double celling inmates in SHU, and ensuring staff make their 30 minute rounds
3) Increasing staffing
4) Inmate numbers (constitutionally supported)
5) Language used re sanitation and pest control ([redacted] - what did you provide the news media)
6) Racial unrest (none that we are aware of, right?)
7) How psych interviews are performed in SHU (e.g. are any inmates removed from the cells to talk to psych staff)?

Thank you,

Good afternoon all,

We are assisting the [redacted] in an extradition request out of the UK and have to respond to the below points. Most of the response will be that we cannot comment on an open investigation. However, there are points to be made as to some of the statements (new wardens, post orders and training, staffing, inmate numbers, sanitation and pest control, alleged racial unrest, and how psychology staff interview suicide watch inmates). Is anyone aware of stock language Central Office has used to address these inquiries?

Thank you,

Supervisory Staff Attorney

Subject: Follow up requests from UK re: extradition

Hi ,

I'm sure you're inundated with inquiries right now, so I apologize for adding to your load. You may remember that we had consulted with you and BOP HQ regarding conditions at the MCC and MDC in connection with defendant opposition to extradition from the UK. Following Jeffrey death, has filed an additional report by former-warden and attached news articles about the conditions at the MCC.

The attorneys in the UK handling the extradition have asked for our response. They recognize that we may not be able to address all of their questions in light of ongoing investigations, but is there any information we can provide with respect to the following (or could you let us know the proper person/people to talk to)?

i. With regards to the warden of the MCC and two staff members whom are said to have been reassigned since the death of Mr Epstein, are you able to confirm that their roles have been filled with suitable alternatives? In particular please provide any information about the knowledge and experience of the new warden that you are able to. [page 1, Report, dated 22 August 2019]

ii. Is it possible to comment on the decision to take Mr Epstein off suicide watch and whether either, that decision was justified in the circumstances or if considered to be the wrong decision, that new measures are now in place to ensure any mistakes are not repeated. Please detail any new measures on this particular issue now in place if you are able to. [page 2, Report, dated 22 August 2019]

iii. Can you provide any explanation as to why Mr Epstein did not have a new inmate sharing his cell in the Special Housing Unit ("SHU") on 9 August 2019 after his other cellmate was moved? Do you accept that there should have been someone sharing his cell in light of his recent apparent suicide attempt? If so, have any new protocols been put in place to ensure this does not happen again? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures are in place to ensure people who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt share a cell with others where possible? [page 2, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

iv. Is it correct that the two correctional officers due to be carrying out half-hourly checks on Mr Epstein did not carry out any check upon him for a period of several hours before he was discovered in his cell and were instead sleeping? If you accept this is correct what steps have been taken, if any, to prevent this occurring in future? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures are in place to monitor those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt, and how is it ensured that those measures are safely carried out by staff members? [page 2/3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

v. Is it correct that the correctional officers concerned falsified records in regards to the checks they should have carried out? If you accept this is correct what steps have been taken if any to prevent this occurring in future? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures if any are in place to ensure correctional officers do not falsify records and carry out their duties as required with regards to those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019].

vi. Ms [redacted], as well as a number of news reports, state that of the two staff members assigned to monitor Mr Epstein, one of them was not usually a corrections officer but rather was employed by the warehouse and had volunteered to work an extra shift. If you accept this is correct, do you consider it to be appropriate to have such staff members carrying out that type of task and if so what measures are in place to ensure they are able to carry out that particular role safely? If you do not accept that this occurred or cannot comment on this directly, what general measures if any are in place to ensure staff members who do not usually work as correctional officers carry out the task of monitoring those who have been moved to the SHU following a suicide attempt in a safe manner? [page 3, [redacted] Report, dated 22 August 2019]

vii. In a news article, it is said that the BOP had tried to address staffing shortages "in part by using a practice called augmentation to temporarily assign employees who aren't corrections officers to staff posts intended for detention guards". Do you accept that this occurred at the MCC? If so, is this practice still in place and what general measures if any are in place to ensure staff members who do not usually work as correctional officers are able to safely carry out the work of correctional officers, (for example do they receive special training on security or monitoring prisoners considered to be a suicide risk). August 22, 2019
Provided by [redacted] at the request of
[redacted], ABV Solicitors

Jeffrey Epstein, a high profile, pre-trial inmate, Southern District of New York, was found unresponsive in his cell at MCC New York on August 10, 2019, at approximately 6:40 am. A short time later, he was taken to an outside community hospital where he was pronounced dead. His death was ruled been a suicide by hanging following an autopsy which was performed by the New York Medical Examiner. Two investigations, to be conducted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and Office of Inspector General(OIG), were ordered by United States Attorney General (AG), [redacted] and are currently ongoing.

At a press conference held on Monday, August 11, 2019, AG [redacted] stated, "the Department of Justice is learning about those "deeply concerning" irregularities at the MCC New York. I was appalled - and indeed the whole Department was - and frankly angry to learn of the [redacted] failure to adequately secure this prisoner." AG [redacted] further commented, "Mr. [redacted] death raises serious questions that must be answered." On Tuesday, August 12, 2019, AG [redacted] directed the Warden of MCC be reassigned to the Bureau of Prisons Northeast Regional Office and two other MCC employees, who had been assigned to Mr. [redacted] housing unit (9-South-Special Housing Unit), were placed on Administrative Leave. A Justice Department spokesperson stated "Additional actions may be taken as the circumstances warrant."

On August 19, 2019, AG [redacted] appointed a new Director and new Deputy Director to the Bureau of Prisons. The Acting Director will return to his regular duties. While it is a positive step to have these top positions filled, the concerns within the prisons remain unchanged.

Chronology of Events

July 23, 2019 - Law enforcement sources state Epstein was found unconscious in his jail cell with injuries to his neck. It was not clear if the injuries were self-inflicted as a result of a suicide attempt or if he had been the victim of an assault. He was placed on Suicide Watch.

July 29, 2019 - Epstein is reportedly removed from Suicide Watch and returned to the Special Housing Unit (SHU), where he is placed with a cellmate. It is common practice to place inmates whose suicide watch has ended in a cell with another inmate, rather than to be housed alone. This provides some measure of safeguard. Termination of a Suicide Watch can only be made by a trained member of the Psychology Department. Dr. [redacted], Chief Psychologist, MCC New York, would have been involved in the decision to terminate [redacted] July 2019, Suicide Watch. Dr. [redacted] provided a Declaration o the Court in the case of [redacted]. In this case, because of [redacted] notoriety, it would not be uncommon to have several levels of review, to include the [redacted] input and possibly officials at a higher level. Details outlining the reasons [redacted] Suicide Watch terminated are uncertain. In my experience, inmates are not kept on suicide watch indefinitely. A typical suicide watch would normally last two to four days.
If an inmate is persuasive, they can formulate an argument to talk their way off of a suicide watch and manipulate the Psychologist into believing they no longer pose a danger to themselves.

August 9, 2019 - Thousands of documents are unsealed in Court in connection with a defamation case against a woman accused of recruiting underage girls for Epstein. These documents revealed the names of dozens of high-profile individuals who were connected to Epstein. They allegedly indulged in parties with him and flew on his private plane. These documents included allegations of impropriety against several of these "prominent individuals."

At some point on Friday, August 9, 2019, [redacted] cellmate was moved to another location or or transferred. For reasons the investigators are still exploring, he did not receive a new cellmate. This contradicts usual protocol as Epstein should not have been in his SHU cell alone, having recently been removed from Suicide Watch.

The Washington Post reported in an article published on August 11, 2019, the Correctional Officers assigned that night to the SHU Unit, had not checked on Epstein for several hours before he was found hanging in his cell Saturday morning. This was just one in a series of missteps in the hours leading up to his death.

The New York Times and Associated Press reported the Correctional Officers slept through the 30-minute required checks and then falsified records to cover that up. They cite their source as Law Enforcement Officials. Surveillance video reviewed following the incident is said to have confirmed this information.
Procedure and Post Orders require Officers to conduct physical checks of all inmates every 30 minutes. It has been reported by several sources that these 30-minute checks were not being conducted by either of the two staff members working that morning shift in SHU unit. Additionally, the Union President of MCC advised both staff were working overtime and one of the individuals did not normally work as a Corrections Officer. It is my understanding from a source who currently is employed at MCC that the second individual assigned to SHU that shift is employed by the Warehouse and he had volunteered to work the overtime on Friday night/Saturday morning in SHU.

The Union President stated that MCC is currently functioning with less than 70 percent of the needed correctional officers, forcing many to work mandatory overtime and 60 to 70 hour work weeks. The Union President went on to say in an interview, "If it wasn't Mr. Epstein, it would have been somebody else because of the conditions at the institution. It wasn't a matter of how it happened or it happening, but it was only a matter of time for it to happen. It was inevitable. Our Staff is severely overworked."

August 9-10, 2019

According to several sources, Correctional Officers assigned to SHU did not check on Epstein for several hours, despite policy requiring physical checks of all SHU inmates every 30 minutes. Both staff were working overtime at the understaffed facility. One of the Officers was mandated to work the overtime and the Warehouse Employee volunteered to work the overtime in the midst of an 80-hour work week.

August 10, 2019

EFTA00041492

Epstein is found unconscious/unresponsive in his cell. He is later pronounced dead from an apparent suicide. Further it has been reported that Epstein committed suicide by hanging with the use of a bed sheet.

August 11, 2019

The investigations begin and the autopsy is performed. It is anticipated it will be several days before any official information is reported.

Conditions of Confinement at MCC New York

[redacted], an Investigative New York Journalist, has extensively covered conditions of confinement at MCC New York over the last several years. Much of what she claims have recently been reported by numerous media outlets. The following excerpts were written by Ms. [redacted] and published August 2019, in the Columbia Journalism Review and June 2018, in the [redacted]. Additional excerpts from the June 2018 and August 2019 publications of the [redacted], of former inmates of MCC, Attorneys, Prison Experts, Professors and other sources are also provided in the following section.

August 20, 2019 Columbia Journalism Review - ([redacted])
"WHEN I AWOKE LAST SATURDAY to the news of Jeffrey [redacted] death, I realized that the moment had come: the Metropolitan Correctional Center (MCC), the federal prison where he died, was about to get its fifteen minutes of fame. As a freelance investigative reporter who frequently covers the prison system, I'd spent years trying to pitch stories about that facility, often without success. Last summer, I managed to publish an investigation into conditions at the MCC on the website, [redacted]. The story documented that MCC was overcrowded and understaffed, plagued by vermin and overflowing toilets, dogged by allegations of corruption and abuse, and beset by an almost total lack of medical care. None of that got much attention at the time. But as soon as news of [redacted] death started circulating, so did my piece."

"There are no advocacy groups focused on improving conditions at federal prisons, in large part because there aren't really any elected officials responsible for safeguarding these institutions. Congress is technically charged with overseeing the Bureau of Prisons, but Congress is busy. And because federal institutions hold individuals from across the country, federal prisoners don't form a natural constituency, or represent a single newspaper readership."

"Half a block behind [redacted] federal courthouse, two blocks from City Hall, three blocks from the Brooklyn Bridge, and less than a mile from the hustle-and-bustle of Wall Street, sits a detention center that has been condemned by a United Nations human rights expert for exposing its inmates to conditions akin to torture.

While reports of the horrendous conditions on Rikers Island helped spur Mayor Bill de [redacted] pledge to shutter the [redacted] violence-plagued facilities, far less attention has been paid to the environment inside the Metropolitan Correctional Center, the federal jail which mainly holds people who have been charged but not yet convicted of crimes, who in the eyes of the law are still presumed innocent.

Yet those locked up at the MCC are subject to their own indignities and rights violations, say those who have spent time there on both sides of the bars. These include filthy conditions, vermin infestations, substandard medical care, and violence and abuse at the hands of guards. Interviews with a dozen people who have spent time locked up there as recently as 2017, as well as with attorneys who have represented clients at MCC, human rights groups, and others with direct knowledge of the prison, confirm that those incarcerated at MCC often endure a rat-infested, high-rise hell just yards from the federal courts that send them there.

"I thought there was nowhere worse than Rikers Island," [redacted], who spent three weeks at MCC, told [redacted]. In October 2016, [redacted] was arrested in the Bronx on federal charges for selling drugs to a confidential informant, as part of the largest gang raid in New York City history.

[redacted] said the bug and rodent infestation at MCC was particularly horrifying. "The cells [are] very small and at nighttime you hear the mouses, see waterbugs in the shower," he told [redacted]. At least one former MCC prisoner said the mice would find their way into commissary boxes, and gnaw away at their food.

"You asked about the conditions," wrote [redacted], another young man indicted as part of the Bronx gang raid. "We saw rats so big it seemed like they could only be in the sewer."

"But they wasn't in the streets or the sewers," [redacted] added.

EFTA00041495

"They were more like roommates."

In a special jail-within-a-jail called 10 South, alleged terrorists, mobsters and drug kingpins are subject to some of the most brutal conditions of solitary confinement in the nation. This extreme isolation, reserved for those charged with the most heinous crimes, was described as "a punitive measure that is unworthy of the United States as a civilized democracy," according to a former special monitor on torture and punishment for the United Nations who investigated the case of one prisoner held there for three years."

"Hundreds of people indicted in the Southern District of New York, as well as many individuals indicted in the Eastern District, based in [redacted] federal court across the river, end up at the jail awaiting trial for federal offenses including drug-related crimes, fraud, bribery, and sex offenses. Defendants facing terrorism charges have spent more than three years at the facility, attorneys say. But even those facing less high-profile charges generally spend at least one or two years there before their criminal cases are resolved."

New York attorney [redacted], who has represented clients at the notorious [redacted]. facility at Guantanamo, says "in some regards, MCC—particularly 10 South — is worse." [redacted] said he has represented nearly a dozen people who have served time on 10 South, and countless others in MCC. He describes the prison as "soul-negating."

"[redacted] physically, mentally, psychologically, emotionally—as unaccommodating to the idea of being human as any place I've been," [redacted] told [redacted].

[redacted], a New York Attorney who has visited clients at MCC described the institution as "infested with rats and mold." He went on to state, "The Facility is run with a bad combination of laziness and cruelty," citing the Epstein death is one of the results. He describes the Special Housing Unit as "a place where an inmate sits in a box and stares at the wall."

[redacted] is a Distinguished Professor of Political Science at Brooklyn College who has written extensively about conditions at MCC.

"If I described these conditions to you—filthy, freezing, no natural light, isolation so extreme that you're punished for speaking through the walls, absurd rules like prisoners not getting to see the newspapers unless they're 30 days old, secrecy so deep that people are force-fed and lawyers can be punished for describing the conditions their clients are experiencing—you'd be forgiven for thinking that this was Iran or Russia," she said.

"But in fact this gulag exists right here in lower Manhattan."

[redacted], a civil rights attorney who has filed several lawsuits challenging conditions at the [redacted] two federal jails in New York City, recalled suing the BOP on behalf of a prisoner at MCC who had had his fingertip chopped off by a cell door. Rather than being placed in an ambulance, alleges [redacted], the man was chained at his ankles and wrists and brought to the hospital by correctional officers, bleeding profusely.

"I think [redacted] a human rights violation," [redacted] says of the medical care at MCC. "I think [redacted] an Eighth Amendment violation—deliberate indifference."

In the past 15 years, at least one correctional officer at MCC has been convicted of beating an inmate, and at least three guards have been convicted of sexually assaulting inmates. In 2016, a former correctional officer at MCC was sentenced to seven years for raping an inmate. Most recently a former MCC Staff Member was convicted of taking bribes to smuggle food, alcohol and cellphones into the facility.

In a 2011 letter to then-Attorney General [redacted], Amnesty International expressed concern that conditions on 10 South "fall short of international standards for humane treatment" and "appear incompatible with the presumption of innocence." The brutal nature of life on the unit, including its extreme conditions of isolation, were also documented in a 2014 Human Rights Watch Report, about human rights abuses in US terrorism prosecutions.

During his six-year term as the UN Special Rapporteur for Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment, which ended in October 2016, the BOP prevented Juan Méndez from speaking to suspected or convicted terrorists. Méndez was able to investigate the conditions at 10 South by interviewing family members of the incarcerated and contacting the State Department about the allegations. He ultimately determined that international human rights protections had been violated.

While there has been increasing advocacy for reforms to local jail and prison conditions, federal prisons remain a kind of political orphan, a situation compounded in the Trump era. "Rikers is a good example of the power of people in a democracy to hold their elected officials accountable," said [redacted], "but in the federal context—federal facilities house people from all around the country, and so [redacted] no natural constituency in the state, city, county they're located in" to express concern about [redacted] happening on the inside.

As a result, for people locked up at MCC, [redacted] little hope that conditions will improve anytime soon.

That could be exactly the way jailers and prosecutors want it. Pre-trial detention, which often lasts years, can become not only unsafe, but coercive; as a result, individuals are pressured to provide information to prosecutors or accept plea deals in their desperation to be released, say former prisoners.

"You want to plead guilty and get out of this dump to a prison," said [redacted], the former inmate. "The feds have a 98% conviction rate for a reason," [redacted], another former prisoner said. "They mentally break you."

Asked why he thought MCC has received so much less coverage than Rikers, [redacted] replied, "I think [MCC] went unnoticed because people think just because [redacted] the feds the conditions are better. There are certain things that go on in these places that the government covers so the public would never know."

But for years, MCC has been plagued by filthy conditions, abusive guards, and a severe lack of medical care, as [redacted] documented in an extensive investigation last year. Defense attorneys, former inmates, and others with direct knowledge of conditions at MCC said [redacted] death epitomized how all individuals, even the most infamous people on the planet, are treated in the facility.

[redacted] has been working as a federal defense attorney and representing clients at MCC for about 30 years, and described the [redacted] recent condition as "the worst that [redacted] ever been."

[redacted] said that one of her clients, a young man, has been in the Special Housing Unit—the unit where Epstein died—for the three and a half years.

"His entire window is covered in mold," she said, and because the hot and cold water in the cell come out of different taps, her client can't even take a shower without getting frozen or scorched.

She recalled that she'd had one client at the facility who was charged with observing and safeguarding suicidal prisoners, since there weren't enough correctional officers to do the job.

"So they have inmates patrolling the suicide block so that they keep an eye on the people rather than people [who] get paid by the government doing it," [redacted] said. "Do they really care? Do they watch? Who knows!"

[redacted] described a third client who suffers from mental health issues as well as severe asthma, but has been unable to get the nebulizer treatment she says she needs to control the disease. During one visit, [redacted] said her [redacted] breathing was so labored she couldn't carry on a conversation: "I couldn't talk to her, because she couldn't breathe."

Over the spring, [redacted] was in touch with two women held at the facility, who said they were denied basic medical care, and that their cells routinely flooded with sewage.

"Toilet waste and feces were all over the floors of all the cells, common area, and other departments on the floor and the female inmates were the ones who had to clean it all up without proper equipment," one detainee wrote in a message. The woman, whose name is being withheld at her request out of fear of

[redacted] said that it makes little difference to the Correctional Officers at MCC whether an inmate is a billionaire financier or not—everyone is regarded with disdain. "[The prisoners would] be lucky if they were treated like dirt under somebody [redacted] shoe, but they're not even treated that well."

These conditions persist at MCC despite the fact that people held there have not yet been convicted of a crime, and thus are supposed to benefit from the presumption of innocence.

The following excerpt was taken from an article published in the Intercept, February 3, 2019, edition, written by [redacted], an inmate incarcerated in the 10 South Unit of MCC New York.

"AT THE TAIL end of the Obama administration, I was locked up a [redacted] throw away from [redacted]" [redacted] at the Federal Bureau of Prisons' infamous Metropolitan Correctional Center, New York, or MCC NY, in downtown Manhattan, where [redacted] is currently being held during his ongoing federal trial. I was there writing and waging a hunger strike when [redacted] first arrived. Much has been written about [redacted] trial, but close to nothing about the conditions of his confinement, as the security around him has made access off limits to any journalist other than me.

I'm an imprisoned human rights activist and political journalist focusing on protecting institutionalized children from common tortures in America like these:

I'm currently suing the Bureau of Prisons and MCC NY for both state and federal civil rights violations, related to the conditions where [redacted] is held, and I'm exploring classaction certification. My lawsuit against MCC NY offers a new and rare glimpse into prison life in the solitary confinement cells that [redacted] has now called home for nearly two years. Besides simply recovering my fees and costs, however, my goals aren't financial. Instead I'm asking the court to force MCC NY to respect human dignity, the First Amendment, federal regulations, and other human and civil rights."

In a letter written from MCC to officials at the Justice Department, the Federal Bureau of Prisons, and the Office of the Inspector General at the Justice Department, Mr. [redacted] calls attention to what he describes as appalling conditions inside the facility.
In his letter, he alleges there are severe threats to health, including rodent and insect infestations at the facility. "Roaches are found in the food, and I have personally observed insect eggs as well," [redacted] adds.

He describes how the heat is, for the most part, not functioning during the winter. A number of the cells are in the "50-degree range while others are much colder." Meanwhile, pools of water stand in the facility from leaks and are a "breeding ground for infections."

"The facility itself is trash, with cockroach-infested meal trays and frigid, leaky cells. One inmate resorted to drinking from his toilet when the water was shut off."

[redacted] a lot of mystery surrounding the 10-South unit at MCC where [redacted] is being housed. Much of that is fueled by the effects of it being a "SAMs" or "special administrative measures" unit. As such, the inmates aren't supposed to come into any visual or other contact with other inmates.

Even magazines they receive in the mail must be prescreened by the FBI for the supposed reason of intercepting hidden messages. Outbound communications are similarly restricted and monitored in real time.

Amnesty International

Amnesty International previously condemned the use of MCC to "house pretrial detainees in solitary confinement for months or even years before they face trial." With regards to the Special Housing Unit at MCC, the human rights organization says "detainees have little access to natural light and no provision for outdoor exercise." Amnesty International characterized

"the combined effects of prolonged confinement to sparse cells with little natural light, no outdoor exercise and extreme social isolation amount[ing] to cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment."

United States Representative [redacted] - August 1, 2018 and August 14, 2019

August 1. 2018 - A federal lawmaker is demanding officials running a prison in lower Manhattan detail how long it takes for those in the lockup to get medical care.
[redacted]. Rep. [redacted] is demanding answers as allegations of abuse continue to surface at the Metropolitan Correctional Center some prisoner advocates have compared to a gulag. "When inmates are placed at the mercy of our government, we have a moral responsibility to ensure they are treated humanely, something which MCC has allegedly failed to do," [redacted] said in a statement. "I am asking for a full explanation and immediate steps to ensure the safety of prisoners housed there." On Wednesday, she sent a letter to the Federal Bureau of Prisons citing "alarming conditions" at the prison which houses highprofiled terrorists and drug lord [redacted]) [redacted]. The missive demands the number of violent incidents as well as the time it typically takes for prisoners to receive medical care.

The allegations of abuse, including prisoners forced to wait two months to be seen by a doctor, were first reported in [redacted]. Prison advocates have long argued that the facility is more restrictive than the Guantanamo Bay detention camp.
August 14, 2019 - Rep. [redacted] on Wednesday joined the growing number of officials calling for a soup-to-nuts investigation into the apparent suicide of accused child sex trafficker Jeffrey Epstein in the federal Metropolitan Correctional Center in Manhattan.

[redacted] said she wrote a letter to the Justice [redacted] inspector general and the head of the FBI demanding answers not only about [redacted] death but about what she called other rampant abuses of detainees at the lockup.

"I write to voice concerns about the continued alleged culture of mismanagement and inadequate leadership at this facility," she said. She cited several other incidents at the MCC, in which corrections staff allegedly abused detainees.

Representative [redacted] posted the following on her Facebook Social Media account on August 14, 2019: "MCC is in our District, #NY7. I've been pressing for greater oversight of this institution for many years now!"

"Not only does [redacted] suicide raise questions about how his custody was handled, but it hearkens back to a litany of previous problems we've seen at this facility," [redacted] told The News.
"I'm glad DOJ and FBI are looking into this most recent episode and all of us, including his victims, need to know how Epstein died," she added. "Still, I think [redacted] also needed is a comprehensive review of the culture and management problems at MCC."

Conclusion/Opinions/Observations

MCC New York, like many other Federal Prisons nationwide is overpopulated and understaffed. It is reported the MCC was built to accommodate 474 inmates. On the day of Mr. [redacted] suicide, the [redacted] inmate population count was 763, almost twice the number it was designed to house.

Much talk and attention has been on the staffing shortages. Mainly, as a result of the 2017 Trump Administration Hiring Freeze, the Bureau of Prisons lost 7,300 employees.

MCC New York was recently described by Attorney General [redacted] as an institution with "deeply concerning irregularities." AG [redacted] expressed outrage and says he was "appalled and angry" to learn of [redacted] "failure to adequately secure this prisoner." Other sources familiar with current conditions at MCC described it as "deplorable," and "bordering on inhumane treatment."

I personally maintain contact with several individuals who are currently employed with the Bureau of Prisons as well as MCC New York. Three current MCC Staff Members very recently described to me the current sanitation conditions at the facility. One stated, "The facility is so disgusting [redacted] like a prison in a third-world country. Cleaning supplies are not issued on a regular basis." The individual further advised, "Pest Control is horrible and ineffective, rats, mice and bugs are everywhere." Another Correctional Officer told me, "There are mice and bugs everywhere including inmates' cells." This information is consistent with my Court testimony on July 3, 2019, and my assessment in Paragraph 20 of my Declaration in the case of Mr. [redacted]. Further, it corroborates the many news reports, regarding the "rodent-infested MCC."

On a different, yet equally concerning topic, an MCC Correctional Officer advised me this past week, that there is blatant racial discord within the institution, especially amongst Correctional Officers. I did not witness this when I was Warden at MCC, and my contact advises it began a short time following my departure.

It is my belief that the excerpts I've cited in this report and statements from various sources of the MCC are credible and honest. The Staff have nothing to gain by sharing this information with me other than to express their dissatisfaction and frustration with current practices and conditions at MCC.

In my July 3, 2019, testimony in the London Court for the extradition case of [redacted] [redacted], I expressed concerns with MCC New York in regards to staff shortages, staff from other departments being "augmented" to fill in for correctional officer vacancies on a regular basis, conditions of confinement at MCC and various other matters related to the institution. I stated in my testimony and also in my Declaration that MCC New York or any other federal prison could not prevent anyone who is persistent from taking their own life. At best, they could only delay an inmate from committing suicide by placing his on a suicide watch. A suicide watch does not continue indefinitely. As previously stated in this report, a usual amount of days for a suicide watch would be two to four days, depending on circumstances. Once the suicide watch ends, that also ends the 24 hours of continuous inmate observation.

If Mr. [redacted] is extradited to the United States and housed at MCC or MDC, I am confident his mental health needs, given his propensity to commit self harm, will not be adequately addressed. I am more convinced of this now, following the Epstein suicide, numerous documents and recent information revealed, than I was during my testimony to the Court in July 2019. It appears the current conditions within the prison are extremely dire and certainly far worse than when I was assigned at MCC as Warden.

Numerous individuals have come forward in the last few weeks, including some former Bureau of Prisons' Wardens. They fervently state some serious missteps occurred at the MCC surrounding the death of Mr. Epstein. These individuals have been quick to point fingers and assign blame to top executives, psychology staff and correctional officers. Many are quick to say that Mr. Epstein should not have been removed from Suicide Watch or if he were removed, extra precautions/safeguards should have been in place. Some sources view the actions of staff who were assigned to [redacted] Housing Unit, as a blatant indifference to the care and welfare of inmates. Others, including Union Officials, are suggesting the Officers' disregard of conducting the required 30-minute cell checks were justified because of the long hours staff are forced to work, as a result of the institution being so understaffed.

While all of the investigations continue, it is premature to conclude exactly what did occur leading up to the death of Mr. Epstein. What we do know is that several policies were not followed or were simply ignored, several departments within MCC were involved and shortcuts were taken. MCC New York is heavily in the spotlight and under a microscope these past two weeks and likely for the next several weeks. It is my opinion that this only received such widespread attention because of the notoriety of Epstein. Had this been another inmate, less known, who was not a public figure, they likely would not have received media attention.

Once the investigations are concluded, it is probable that several recommendations will be provided. In order to correct problems that exist, one must look at the root of the cause and be willing to fix that also. Only time will tell if any future additional measures put in place will be adequate. If what is being reported by countless sources, is in fact what actually occurred, and staff completely ignored their responsibilities, no recommendations and no additional measures would have changed the unfortunate outcome of what occurred on August 10, 2019, at the Metropolitan Correctional Center, New York.

The current problems at the MCC cannot, in my opinion, be cured by any quick fix solution. Even with the current spotlight on MCC, and assuming the Bureau of Prisons will put forth their best efforts to eradicate the broken parts, one still must account for human error and agency needs. Staff will continue to work overtime, staff will continue to take shortcuts, staff will continue to be tired on the job and fall asleep. No amount of effort on [redacted] part can change that and one can only hope that when these things occur, nothing bad happens. It would take many years to resolve the issues and problems that plague MCC, provided there is a real desire to make changes. This will not give any comfort to Mr [redacted] or the U.K Courts as to whether he or his mental health needs will be adequately managed if extradited to the United States.

Jeffrey Epstein jail 'a gulag' in lower Manhattan

12 August 2019

Jeffrey Epstein death

CHRIS HONDROS

Questions are being asked how Jeffrey Epstein died in custody in New York while being held on sex trafficking charges. So what is the detention facility like where he spent his final days?

Built in 1975, the 12-story Metropolitan Correctional Center in lower Manhattan - where the financier died in a suspected suicide on Friday night - holds around 800 people awaiting trial or sentencing at the federal court house just a few blocks away.

The brick building has detained such high-profile criminals as Mexican drug kingpin [redacted], Gambino mafia crime boss John Gotti and World Trade Center bomber Ramzi Yousef.

Like other federal prisons, the Metropolitan Correctional Center (MCC) suffers from shortages of staff and resources, prisoner overcrowding and is plagued by violence and poor sanitary conditions.

The conditions

The jail was built to accommodate 474 inmates, but held 763 male prisoners at the time of [redacted] death, according to a statement from the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Prisoners have described seeing large rats in their cells, air conditioner units so noisy it is impossible to sleep, and absence of any natural light or sanitary water.

As he was sent down for the rest of his life, Mexican drug cartel leader [redacted]" [redacted] took the opportunity to call the place "torture".

GETTY IMAGES

"Since the government will send me to a jail where my name will not ever be heard again, I take this opportunity to say there was no justice here," he said at his sentencing in July.

"It has been psychological and mental torture 24 hours a day."

Brooklyn College professor Jeanne Theoharis, who has written extensively about MCC, told the [redacted] website in June that the jail resembles conditions found in countries such as "Iran or Russia".

Calling the place a "gulag", she described conditions as "filthy, freezing, no natural light, isolation so extreme that you're punished for speaking through the walls, absurd rules like prisoners not getting to see the newspapers unless they're 30 days old, secrecy so deep that people are force-fed".

GETTY IMAGES

Lawyer [redacted], who is suing the US government after his client was beaten to death in MCC in 2015, says the [redacted] Island prison, which is run by the city, is much more violent than MCC.

He says [redacted] too early to know whether [redacted] wealth may have played a role in his death, amid speculation in the US that he could have bribed guards to be left alone.

He notes that other ultra-rich white collar criminals from Wall Street, only blocks away, are frequent guests of MCC, including Bernie Madoff who was arrested in 2008 for running a multi-million dollar Ponzi scheme.

Mr [redacted] says that more important than a [redacted] profile or means is the crime itself and the publicity it receives in the media. Sex criminals like Epstein, he says, are more likely to face issues from other inmates, making it unusual that Epstein was not being more closely watched.

The staffing

A representative for workers at the jail told CBS News in New York that the Epstein death is not surprising. Staffing, the representative says, is "completely inadequate", with many workers putting in more than 60 hours per week leaving them "overwhelmed" and "not alert".

According to the Associated Press (AP), the jail is so under-staffed that correctional officers are being offered a $10,000 bonus to transfer there from other facilities.

Guards sometimes work 16 hours a day, according to the AP. A person familiar with the Epstein case told the news agency that a guard overseeing Epstein was working a fifth straight day of overtime - and another was working mandatory overtime - on the day the wealthy [redacted] body was found.

Staff shortages were worsened after a government shutdown triggered by a budget stand-off between the White House and Democrats over President Donald [redacted] insistence on funding for a southern border wall.

In January, during the shutdown, inmates staged a hunger strike over claims they were being denied family visitation rights.

The Bureau of Prisons is already under scrutiny for the death of Boston gangster James Whitey Bulger, who was fatally beaten by another inmate shortly after arriving at a West Virginia lock-up last October.

In February 2018, a British court ruled against extraditing accused hacker Lauri Love - who is diagnosed with Aspergers syndrome and would have probably been held in the MCC - on the grounds that he would present a high-risk of suicide if he was sent there.

Where Epstein stayed

According to the New York Times, Epstein had recently been moved from suicide watch to the Special Housing Unit where he was meant to be on 24-hour monitoring and given daily psychiatric evaluations.

He was ordered there after he was found on the floor of his cell two weeks earlier with neck injuries, in an apparent attempted suicide.

According to the paper, two guards were meant to check on him every 30 minutes, but those procedures were not followed on the night of his death.

He was also meant to be housed with one other inmate, but his cellmate had reportedly been transferred and no replacement had yet arrived.

REUTERS

Mr [redacted], the lawyer, says CCTV captures what goes on in the Special Housing Unit, as well as for those prisoners being kept on suicide watch.

He says [redacted] too early to know what contributed to [redacted] death, until an FBI investigation is complete, but either way the prison is facing a "grossly negligent situation".

Investigative reporter [redacted], who spent a year researching the conditions at MCC, found that the facility shared a single psychiatrist with the other federal prison in New York, the Metropolitan Detention Center in Brooklyn, and only had a handful of psychologists on staff.

The two facilities had only one psychiatrist to oversee the more than 500 prisoners with diagnosed serious mental illnesses, she says, in addition to any prisoners that have been temporarily placed on suicide watch.

"When you're on suicide watch and a psychologist comes to speak with you, [redacted] not as though you're in a private room having a conversation. [redacted] like through a slot in the door," she tells BBC News.

REUTERS

Experts on prison safety say they are puzzled as to why Epstein, who had attempted to take his own life earlier, was not kept under closer watch.

Cameron Lindsey, a former warden at the federal jail in Brooklyn, told the Times that the psychological evaluation can only reveal so much about a [redacted] state of mind.

He said that the steady release of embarrassing and incriminating evidence against Epstein could have made him wish to kill himself, and that other prisoners would consider him a target due to his fame and the nature of his alleged crimes.

"A psychologist is going to think one way, but a warden needs to think a different way," said Mr Lindsey. "You have to take the conservative, safe route and keep an individual like this on suicide watch."

Union and lawmakers have long warned of 'dire' federal prison staffing shortages

By Evan Perez, Mark Morales and Kara Scannell, CNN

[redacted]: Appalled and angry over failures to secure Epstein 00:45

(CNN) — Staffing shortages at the Bureau of Prisons are dire and widespread, according to agency employees and lawmakers who say they've been warning the Justice Department about the problem and demanding changes for years.

Attorney General [redacted] has launched investigations into Jeffery [redacted] death. But earlier this year, he referred to delays in hiring new people at the Bureau of Prisons as a "snafu" caused by bureaucracy in the federal prison system.

[redacted] suicide has exposed what the employee union says are chronically overworked and short-staffed conditions at the Metropolitan Correction Center in Manhattan, including forced overtime and officers reassigned to guard duty.

A key US Senate committee has also repeatedly told the Justice Department to hire full-time correctional staff and end an "overreliance" on the type of reassignments that have existed in the MCC and elsewhere.

The Justice Department said Tuesday that it was reassigning the warden at the MCC and it was suspending two guards at the facility. The department didn't identify the guards or say whether they were the ones on duty and assigned to monitor Epstein when he died.

Days after [redacted] death, BOP officials and FBI investigators are still piecing together even basic details of the incident such as how he was found and how long he was dead before an employee found him, people briefed on the matter said. Some employees have refused to cooperate with investigators and have hired lawyers, people briefed on the matter said.

Related Article: CNN Exclusive: The rise of the Jeffrey Epstein mystique

There were cameras with a view of the hallway outside [redacted] cell but whether they showed anything or were operational -- and if not, why -- remain in question. That some basic details aren't clear suggests that whatever video exists doesn't show what happened.

A BOP suicide reconstruction team began working Tuesday to try to determine why Epstein killed himself. A BOP after action team, which looks into major incidents, is slated to arrive Wednesday to begin its work. That team is led by [redacted] southeast regional director and will bring in others from outside the northeast to review the Epstein case.

Two MCC guards were on duty and responsible for checking on Epstein every 30 minutes -- checks that weren't made for hours.

Of the two officers who would have had responsibility to monitor Epstein, one is not currently a detention guard, but was temporarily reassigned to that post, according to a person briefed on the matter. The guard, a man not identified by officials, had previously been trained as a corrections officer but had moved to another position. BOP rules allow for people who work in other jobs, such as teachers and cooks, to be trained to fill in at posts usually manned by corrections officers.

The second guard on Epstein duty, a woman, was a fully trained corrections officer, according to the person briefed on

Eric Young, national president of the American Federation of Government Employees, Council of Prison Locals, which represents BOP employees, says a hiring freeze put in place at the start of President Donald [redacted] presidency is the root of nationwide problems at federal prisons.

He called the situation "dire," with decreased staffing levels the root cause of issues from contraband getting in to safety of correctional workers and inmates.

AFGE represents workers at 122 facilities nationwide and BOP employs roughly 33,000, according to Young. That number was once at 38,000 workers but after the Trump hiring freeze, the problem was never fixed.

The Justice Department says [redacted] lifted the freeze in April and that BOP has been recruiting to fill positions. It typically takes months to bring on new federal employees.

"We felt betrayed," Young said of the hiring freeze. "Mr. President, we work for you. You say you're a law and order president and we thought we were going to reap the benefits of that, but we didn't."

In addition, more vacancies could soon be on the way; Young says an estimated 5,000 people are eligible for retirement at the end of the year.

A Justice official says the [redacted] hiring freeze applied to positions in BOP regional offices and at the [redacted] headquarters, not to prison facilities. The official said the [redacted] hiring practices -- filling positions one at a time -- caused delays in hiring. The bureau also faced staff losses from retirements. [redacted] in April ordered the bureau to speed up hiring by filling open positions concurrently.

The Justice official also disputed perceptions that BOP faced a Trump budget squeeze. [redacted] budget increased from nearly $6.8 billion in the 2014 fiscal year to $7.25 billion in fiscal 2019.

At the same time, employee and inmate numbers decreased. Prisoner releases have accelerated as a result of criminal justice revisions in the Obama and Trump administrations.

The bureau had 38,496 employees in 2014, compared with 35,123 in fiscal 2018.

BOP held 214,149 prisoners in 2014, compared with 181,698 in 2018.

Bonuses, augmentation

To combat the drop in workers, BOP officials have been offering a retention bonus, which gives workers a 5% bonus if they decide to stay instead of retiring, Young said. They also have allowed retired correctional officers to come back on a part-time basis to ease the staffing issues at hard-to-staff prisons, Young said. The agency also approved the addition of 3,000 temporary positions for entry level workers.

Officials also offered workers a 10% relocation bonus if they opted to work at facilities that are hard to staff like MCC in New York, Hazelton in West Virginia, the Metropolitan Detention Center in Los Angeles and others. Part of the relocation agreement is for staffers to stay at the facility for at least two years.

Young draws the correlation of fewer guards to safety, saying the problem came to a head early Saturday morning in New York.

"Time was not on our side before Epstein killed himself," Young said. "We were on the right course of hiring but we just couldn't do it fast enough. We were stalemated by Trump."

The BOP has tried to address staffing shortages in part by using a practice called augmentation to temporarily assign employees who aren't corrections officers to staff posts intended for detention guards.

In October, four senators led by Democrat Joe Manchin of West Virginia, wrote a letter to then-Attorney General Jeff Sessions expressing their "deep concerns" about the use of augmentation and staffing levels at federal prisons in Pennsylvania and West Virginia following the deaths of a correctional officer and inmates.

Related Article: For Jeffrey [redacted] accusers and their quest for justice, what now?

"We cannot allow these dangerous staffing practices to continue," the senators wrote.

They noted that twice when approving [redacted] budget, a Senate committee had issued a report that "included clear directions" to the Justice Department to stop "its overreliance on augmentation" in favor of hiring full-time correctional staff.

Four days later, James "Whitey" Bulger, the Boston mob boss was brutally beaten and killed at the federal prison in Hazelton.

RELATED: Questions raised about decision to transfer 'Whitey' Bulger to prison where he died

Last June, the Senate Appropriations Committee reiterated its demand.

"The Committee again directs BOP to curtail its overreliance on augmentation, particularly in housing units" the [redacted] report said. "BOP should instead hire additional full-time correctional staff before continuing to augment existing staff."

A February 2018 letter from 52 members of Congress was sent to Sessions asking him to reconsider eliminating 6,000 unfilled positions at federal prisons nationwide. "Augmentation was designed as a temporary solution to short-term staffing conflicts, not a long-term solution to respond to budget pressure," the lawmakers said.

Soon after [redacted] took office this year, he acknowledged to lawmakers that the Justice Department had "stumbled" in addressing the problem. In testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee in April, he called the staffing shortages at prison facilities a "snafu" and blamed bureaucracy within the prison hiring system, not the hiring freeze.

"The shortages out in the prison facilities themselves was not the freeze." [redacted] said. "I think what it is is, frankly, [redacted] said he believes the agency begins the process of hiring a new person into a position vacated by internal job shifts too late.

"It takes months and months and months to get that person on board. That makes no sense because every year we lose 2,600 of these correctional officers. So my view is we just have to turn on the spigot and keep these new entry level people coming in at a rate where we're going to be able to get up to and maintain our enacted level," [redacted] said.

"I think this is largely a snafu by the department and [redacted] how I interpret it and [redacted] how I'm approaching it," he added.

As an update, I spoke with the AUSAs. They advised the Court thee was no video because the FBI had the DVR (pulled for the 8/10 incident) which went back to the 7/23 attempt. The FBI reported the DVR footage was corrupted as to the 7/23 video and, thus there was no footage. The AUSAs are asking that SIS check to see where Pina preserved the 7/22-23 video to see if that copy is not corrupted. They will be reaching out to her directly.

The AUSAs also want to know where the orange rope from the 7/23 attempt is preserved.

Good morning all,

Per the above article, the Court was advised by the USAO that MCC did not preserve video from outside the cell shared by [redacted] and Epstein at the time of [redacted] alleged first suicide attempt. However, per the attached, SIS advised the footage was preserved. What search for the footage was performed prior to advising the USAO the footage could not be found? I would recommend searching again for the missing video. I have a call with the AUSAs in 20 minutes and will advise as to what other issues arose at [redacted] hearing.

As an update, I spoke with the AUSAs. They advised the Court thee was no video because the FBI had the DVR (pulled for the 8/10 incident) which went back to the 7/23 attempt. The FBI reported the DVR footage was corrupted as to the 7/23 video and, thus there was no footage. The AUSAs are asking that SIS check to see where Pina preserved the 7/22-23 video to see if that copy is not corrupted. They will be reaching out to her directly.

The AUSAs also want to know where the orange rope from the 7/23 attempt is preserved.

Thanks all,

Good morning all,

Per the above article, the Court was advised by the USAO that MCC did not preserve video from outside the cell shared by [redacted] and Epstein at the time of [redacted] alleged first suicide attempt. However, per the attached, SIS advised the footage was preserved. What search for the footage was performed prior to advising the USAO the footage could not be found? I would recommend searching again for the missing video. I have a call with the AUSAs in 20 minutes and will advise as to what other issues arose at [redacted] hearing.

Thank you,

[redacted] - NY DAILY NEWS

Questions & Proposed Responses:

Hello, I'm working on a story about morale at MCC in Manhattan in the wake of charges against [redacted] and Michael [redacted]. I've spoken to an AFGE union official and [redacted] defense attorney. The story will run over the weekend so I'd appreciate a response by COB today.

The thrust of the story is that morale has plummeted at the facility in the wake of the falsification of documents charges. Morale was already bad because of staffing issues. The story will also note that the facility itself is in very bad shape and that, according to people I spoke to, there has not been a hiring surge or any major reforms in the wake of Jeffrey [redacted] suicide.

(1) Has any money been allocated for improving MCC as a facility since [redacted] death?

RESPONSE: Yes, examples include money for staff positions at MCC New York (are we saying we are adding staff positions in the future or have already added them and already hired new staff now working there after [redacted] death) and overtime work performed at MCC New York by staff on temporary assignment from other Bureau of Prisons correctional institutions. The BOP has expended over $500,000 bringing staff to MCC New York from other facilities (since Epstein?).

MCC New York has spent approximately 2.6 million in infrastructure repairs since March 2019 and continues to make appropriate enhancements and repairs thought the facility.

(2) Has there been a hiring surge since [redacted] suicide?

RESPONSE: 21 staff have been hired since inmate [redacted] death. (I may need to confirm with Central [redacted] HRM)

(3) Any changes in BOP policies following [redacted] suicide?

RESPONSE: [redacted] will get more info to supplement this: There have been a number of policy changes implemented under a "back to basics" approach in recent months. MCC NY has made several chances and implementing managerial oversite pertaining to inmate accountability. This includes reviewing restictive housing (SHU) video footage to ensure rounds are conducted timely and accurately, lieutenants conducting counts in (SHU) on morning watch, staff conducting single cell reports for inmates housed alone in cells, and mandatory notification to the warden for review of inmates placed on suicide watch. In addition daily bed book audits supervised by Executive Staff.

(4) Is it correct that [redacted] and [redacted] were responsible for roughly 50 to 70 inmates the night of the suicide?

RESPONSE: The BOP does not comment on matters related to investigations or pending litigation.

(5) What is the attrition rate for BOP correctional officers? [redacted] the average length of time a person stays in the job? (NYC-area would be best if [redacted] available.)

RESPONSE: [redacted] is checking to see if HRM can answer this; if not, then we could say the following: Some staff have been working at MCC New York for 30 years. However the average staff member assigned to MCC NY has 11.5 years with the agency.

(6) Can you share anything supervisors at MCC have told the rank and file in the wake of these charges? [redacted] the message to overworked, disgruntled correctional officers?

RESPONSE: MCC New York Executive staff have been transparent with staff pertaining to staffing levels and its progress on hiring. Management has worked with the local union representatives and held a recruitment fair which was held in August to recruit Correctional Officers. The Excecutive staff has held staff recalls and meetings emphasizing that the [redacted] leadership understands [redacted] concerns and is doing the best to increase staffing levels. Staff have been told and regularly see the many staff who are assigned temporarily to MCC New York from all over the country to assist with shortages in multiple departments at MCC New York from correctional services, food service, safety, education, psychology, medical machanical services, As new positions post and staff see temporary staff coming in to alleviate the burdens of overtime work, the morale at MCC NY is improving.

Subject: RE: Questions regarding MCC placement

Hi Deputy [redacted],

Thanks again for speaking with us yesterday. While we wait for the medical summary from the UK, I've attached a report from an expert hired by [redacted] attorneys, which outlines the following conditions:

- High cholesterol (takes Simvastatin)
- Hypertension (takes Amlodipine)
- Blood tests suggest Mottiwala is pre-diabetic
- Takes aspirin to prevent blood clots
- Fatty deposits on liver, due to alcohol consumption
- History of depression, including at least two overdoses (Diazepam)
- Taking Sertraline for depression (previously took Mirtazapine)
- Suicidal thoughts (scored 47 of Beck Depression Inventory)
- Anxiety disorder
- Scored 59 on Impact of Events Scale-Revised, suggestive of a diagnosis of PTSD

Thanks,
[redacted]

Psychiatric Court Report

(In Confidence)

|---|---|
| Name | [redacted] |
| Prison number | A5973EF |
| URN Number | 86SX2789218 |
| Date of birth | 6 November 1966 (aged 52) |
| Date of report | 25 June 2019 |

Introduction

1. I prepare this report at the request of The Crown Prosecution Service. I am a medical practitioner, employed by The South London & Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust and work as Consultant Forensic Psychiatrist. I am approved under Section 12(2) of The Mental Health Act 1983 (2007 amended).

2. I have been a qualified medical practitioner since 1988 and a consultant psychiatrist since 1998. Until April 2015, I worked for around 19 years' full time at HMP Belmarsh. In that time, I assessed and examined around two thousand defendants charged with homicide and thousands of prisoners charged with other offences. I have extensive experience as an expert witness in both preparing medicolegal reports and attending court. For around two decades I have been regularly instructed by courts, defence, Government Legal, Treasury Solicitors and The Crown Prosecution Service on a range of criminal cases but especially cases such as homicide, terrorism and other serious and high-profile offences. This includes giving evidence on mental health issues such as fitness to plead, diminished responsibility, insanity and sentencing with appearances at The Magistrates Court, The Crown Court, Coroners Court and The High Court/Court of Appeal.

3. I also undertake regular work on civil cases and prison related issues. I have been asked to prepare reports The Ministry of Justice, The Department of Health and other government departments. I have been asked to prepare reports for coroners, The Treasury Solicitors on deaths in custody and on near deaths under Article 2 – this includes the D inquiry. I have been asked by the Department of Health and The Prison Service to review several prison related issues. I am now the clinical lead for Criminal Justice Liaison and Diversion Services for The South London & Maudsley NHS Foundation Trust. I provide services at Camberwell Green Magistrates Court, Croydon Magistrates Court and various police stations in South London. I was in the past clinical lead for three other court liaison and diversion services in South London. For three years, I worked one day a week at The Central Criminal Court, where I gave advice and helped challenging cases through the court. I am well respected and in good standing within courts across London and known to Judges, solicitors and counsel at all levels.

4. My areas of specialism and expertise are in mental health services in prisons, Forensic psychiatry, general adult psychiatry, substance misuse and neurodevelopmental psychiatry.

5. To prepare this report I have used as a basis an interview with Mr [redacted] on 20 June 2019 and the following:

- Statements and depositions surrounding the index offence.
- A list of previous convictions
- Copies of medical records from HMP Wandsworth
- Family medical records from Pakistan
- Medical records of Mr [redacted] from Pakistan
- Psychiatric reports prepared by Professor [redacted], Emeritus Professor of Neuropsychiatry dated 16 May 2019 and 22 June 2019
- Supplementary documents (see appendix)

6. I understand that Mr [redacted] is charged with conspiracy to launder money and conspiracy to collect credit extension by extortionate means and is sought for extradition to the United States of America for trial

Background

7. I went through with Mr [redacted] the background history provided by Professor [redacted] to confirm this was correct. Thus, he confirmed that his father Mr [redacted] Moti died in 2011 at the age of 70 from congestive cardiac failure following a myocardial infarction and stroke. Prior to this his father had suffered from high blood pressure, diabetes as well as depression and anxiety with the comment from Mr [redacted] that he believed his father had seen a psychiatrist and suffered from asthma. He had been close to his father and said that they shared a business and had commented that his parents lived separate lives as his father was often travelling. He commented that his mother was more of a housewife with little in the way of education.

8. His mother, [redacted] is aged 78 and lives in Karachi; she had been his first wife and lives with Mr [redacted] and his second wife. There is reference in the report of Professor [redacted] that she had recently had a silent heart attack and in the past a cardiac angioplasty with the comment that she suffered from high blood pressure and diabetes. He added when I saw her that her heart showed 30% efficiency. She also had seen a psychiatrist for depression in the past and he reported a good relationship with her. He said, 'she is everything to me, sacrificed for me.' He told me that he speaks to her each day on the phone and said that she often cries.

9. He has an older brother and a sister; his brother, [redacted] is 53 and involved in the family business. Of this he told me that it involved stocks and shares and had been running as such since 1953 and explained that it was founded by his grandfather, which his father then took over. His brother is married with three children and suffers from depression and potentially had seen a psychiatrist in the past and Mr [redacted] commented, 'due to the pressure'. His sister, [redacted] is 54 and separated from her husband but had four children. He said that one child had encephalitis and died in 2013. As with others in the family, she suffered from high blood pressure, diabetes and depression – for the latter she has seen a psychiatrist and was on anti-depressants.

10. He was born and grew up in Karachi and had a comfortable and affluent lifestyle; he was close to both parents but saw more his mother as his father was often travelling. There is no reported history of any traumas or abusive experiences as a child.

11. He attended a primary and private missionary secondary school; he found school reasonable but was quiet and academic, though played sports and in various teams. He took his matriculation and then higher examinations with the latter in science and pre-medical subjects.

12. After leaving school at 18 he went to Hyderabad Dental College for 3 years out of a 4-year course and had at the same time being continuing with his own business which ultimately led him to leave college and prioritise his business and family interests. He had told Professor [redacted] that he had dealt in stocks and shares from the age of 15/16 and not particularly interested in dental work.

13. From 1988 to 1995 he worked abroad and introduced private clients to companies such as Merrill Lynch for which he received a commission. He later developed an office in Hong Kong and in 1995 set up a factory in Dubai making insulation for air conditioning units and retained a residence there from around 1989.

14. In 1997 he stood for election in Pakistan but lost by a small margin and had told Professor [redacted] that he did not like the political way of life and explained that there was a lot of corruption and so left politics to return to business in 1998. He had outlined that his business developed into Real Estate in both Pakistan and Dubai. He said that he was involved in development and buying and selling whilst making commissions. He said that he made good money and lived comfortably but had a lot of people to support and later told me that he had limited savings. I asked what he did for pleasure and he said this was mainly going to casinos, restaurants, time with the family, the beach and so forth.

15. He divides his time between Dubai and Karachi with usually two periods of 5 days each month in Dubai but also has travelled extensively and outlined the various countries he had been in such as Cyprus before he came to the UK at the time of his arrest. He said that he works 16 to 18 hours a day and from the moment he wakes up to when he goes to sleep; he said that he works 365 days a week. He said that the only break is when he travels adding that the stress is too much. He told me that he likes the work but also is bound/tied to it and due to the family complexities, he must keep going. He said that his brother works in the business for his own family but also his three families and his sister and other in-laws connected to his second wife.

16. He had first come to the UK in July 1981 with his father and then several subsequent short breaks and said that these were mainly pleasure. He had been to the USA twice; once in 1986 for 6 months and the second occasion was in 2011 for only a few days whilst visiting London and visiting a friend in Atlantic city.

17. When he was arrested, he had been in the UK for an 8-day holiday and was due to fly back to Pakistan two days later and for the festival of Eid.

18. He was first married to [redacted] (now 47) in 1996 through a Moslem ceremony and civil registration with reports from Mr [redacted] that it was a love marriage but precipitated when she became pregnant. He has reported that the relationship developed more into a friendship and described her as not well educated. The two have a son, [redacted] who is currently a college student and taking his higher school exams. He has said that his son has had problems with substance misuse and has led to two periods in rehab. Differences in how to bring up their son had led to difficulties between Mr [redacted] and his wife. The two live in one of his homes in Karachi and he would visit them regularly when he was in Pakistan.

19. He was next married to [redacted] (now 36) in 2004 and once more through a Moslem ceremony and civil registration; again, he said this was a love marriage. He and [redacted] had two children, [redacted] (son) aged 12 and [redacted] (daughter) aged 8 with the comment that his son has congenital hydrocephalus and had a shunt to relieve the CSF pressure. At the time of his arrest he had come to the UK with his [redacted] medical documents to seek a second opinion.

20. He also has a third wife, [redacted] who he developed a relationship with whilst married to [redacted] with Mr [redacted] commenting that he now has three wives and remains married to all. [redacted] had been an air hostess with Pakistan International Airlines. They have two children, [redacted] aged 2 (daughter) and Hadi (son) aged 8 months adding that he travelled shortly after his birth and saw him for only 1 hour. His third wife also lives in Pakistan and he had reportedly visited all wives each day and would spend some time with each with reports that he employs around 40 to 50 people who look after his families. He told me that family is very important to him

Past psychiatric history – account from Mr [redacted]

21. Mr [redacted] told me that his mental health difficulties became apparent in 1991 when his business was booming, and he was introducing clients to large firms and working as an agent/worker to various major companies. There was a jolt in the market, and he suffered a financial blow and a loss of respect within the community he was working in. He informed me of the concept of Memon and added, 'the Jews of the East' and how in his position, it meant that he had to fulfil financial commitments despite the hardship on himself. He said that he had been taught to be dedicated by his father and for example would always be early at [redacted] homes and even before they woke up.

22. At that time, he felt low in mood and did not want to see anyone and began to isolate himself; he also experienced anxiety and had less self-respect. He said that for 6 months he had thoughts of taking his own life and isolated himself and can recall being in a room the whole day, sneaking out at night. He eventually managed to fulfil his commitments and over time turn things around through loans and small commissions. He said that he went to see a psychiatrist but only went on perhaps one or two occasions and was put on a tranquilliser adding that he was suffering from insomnia.

23. He said that he had problems on and off until 2008, when there was a big market crash and at the same time problems with his wife and [redacted] adding that his wife did not let him see him due to having a second wife. He said that financial problems also occurred, and his father had a stroke. He felt under considerable stress. He said that the world around him began to fall apart and this then impacted on his health. He commented that he was already suffering from hypertension. He told me he went to see a psychiatrist and was put on an anti-depressant and propped up by motivation from his second wife.

24. He reported that his mood was low from 2008 until today. He said that he had periods when his mood is better and more in control. He said that this is partly the reason why he would take short breaks to help him relax. He commented that he has never been out of his home country (Pakistan) for more than 15 days in his life. He said that he has been on an anti-depressant since 2008.

25. He told me that he would see a psychiatrist intermittently and occasional follow ups such as every 6 months but would go more often if he felt worse.

26. He told me that there were in fact 3 overdoses in 2008, 2011 (following his [redacted] death) and 2015. He said that on each occasion he had taken an overdose of medication combined with alcohol. He told me 'of course I wanted to die' when I asked if he had intended to take his own life. He said that in 2011, he had been with Malia and who took him to the hospital and on the last occasion, he had been drinking a bottle of spirits and added that he had regular blackouts.

27. Mr [redacted] also has a range of physical health issues and told me that he has some blockages within his coronary arteries and said that he also has a fatty liver which he thought was partly related to alcohol.

28. He told me that in the UK he was on a statin and a blood thinner (aspirin); he was also on medication for his blood pressure. He was on Olanzapine and Mirtazapine. He said that he was not at the time of his arrest taking the anti-depressant and said that he had felt better. I asked why he was taking an anti-psychotic and he said that this was prescribed in Karachi.

Past psychiatric history – account from records

29. I have read through previous records and the summary from Professor [redacted] including the recent report which summarises the witness statement of Dr [redacted], Consultant Psychiatrist at the Rahim Hospital in Karachi. In that report Dr [redacted] states that he had agreed with the report and opinion of Professor [redacted]. Dr [redacted] was surprised to hear that Mr [redacted] was in prison and went on to say that he had seen Mr [redacted] around 20 times since 2008 and that he was severely depressed and a suicide risk adding that he had tried to take his life on at least 3 previous occasions. Professor [redacted] also outlines some handwritten notes from Dr [redacted] which I have amalgamated into my report.

30. Professor [redacted] has also spoken to Dr [redacted] on the telephone and again re-iterated that Mr [redacted] is suffering from severe depression and anxiety. He said that Mr [redacted] was sometimes non compliant with treatment and financial crises and domestic issues had led to the suicide attempts; additionally he commented that his alcohol intake had increased over time. After outlining symptoms, he believed that Mr [redacted] would deteriorate if extradited and prone to get depressed if he did not see his son with the comment that he had talked about cutting his wrists. He was certain that he would attempt suicide if he was extradited.

31. On 10 July 2008 he presented with some physical health complaints including shortness of breath, abdominal pain and palpitations; this led to various investigations and the following day had an exercise stress test which had to be stopped. A resting ECG was normal as was an ultrasound though some fatty changes to his liver was seen.

32. On 3 September 2008 he was discharged from hospital following an overdose of prescribed medication; at that he had been on Haloperidol (5mg TDS), procyclidine and ranitidine. He was given a stomach wash out and admitted for observation and discharged the following day. It was planned that he would have psychiatric follow up. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that he had seen him for the first time that year having been referred through the department of medicine following a suicide attempt after some heavy business losses. He was agitated with negative thoughts and was diagnosed with depression and anxiety.

33. On 21 February 2009 he complained of abdominal pain, loss of appetite and weight loss. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that he saw Mr [redacted] on 10 March 2009 when he was agitated but had insight; he continued to complain of conflicts at home, poor sleep, aches and palpitation. Dr [redacted] saw him again on 20 September of the same year when he was again severely depressed due to family problems.

2010

34. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that on 28 March 2010, Mr [redacted] admitted to frequent suicidal thoughts partly due to marital problems; he had become more agitated and only able to sleep for 3.5 hours at a time. He continued to complain of mood swings; his previous treatment was continued. On 1 July 2010, he presented with heartburn, abdominal pain and pain on passing urine. On 5 July 2010, his cholesterol was found to be raised. Dr [redacted] saw Mr [redacted] again that year on 30 September 2010 when he once more had negative thoughts but also an inability to control his anger and the comment that he was frequently shouting at family members. His alcohol and smoking had increased and he once more had body aches and frequency of passing urine.

35. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that he was seen on 20 March 2011 when again he was severely depressed and following the death of his nephew. He had been intoxicated at his funeral; he was non compliant with medication. Dr [redacted] saw him again that year on 6 September following an overdose of drugs and alcohol. It was seen as an impulsive overdose and was in denial and again conflict with the family was noted. His father had also died and he was suffering from poor sleep.

36. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that he saw Mr [redacted] on 9 September when again he had poor sleep and ontoing family problems. He was still drinking and remained concerned about his son. Further mood swings and aggression was noted on 14 October 2012; Mr [redacted] said that the medication was not helping and had had a manic episode when he almost slapped his wife. His Haloperidol (an anti-psychotic) was increased to 5mg three times daily.

37. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that Mr [redacted] was seen on 16 April when he blamed his family for his aggression and negativity. He was compliant with his medication. On 19 July 2013, he presented with gastric disturbance, abdominal pain, nausea and vomiting. On 24 July 2013 his liver function tests were abnormal in the form of a raised gamma GT as well as raised cholesterol and other lipid function tests. He saw Dr [redacted] next on 20 October 2013 when he was noted to be 'severely depressed, doesn't respond to simple questions…has little or no interest in interacting with people.' He said that everyone made him agitated and continued to have problems with his family.

38. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that Mr [redacted] was seen on 5 April 2014 when he asked for his medication to be increased; family fights remained an issue and also had concern about his [redacted] drug habit. He had difficulties in controlling his impulsivity (I believe to alcohol). Dr [redacted] saw him on 12 December 2014 when he remained depressed and was avoiding his family.

39. On 6 June 2015, Mr [redacted] was admitted following a drug overdose (with reports he had been on haloperidol, olanzapine, haloperidol, clonazepam and omeprazole) and again given a washout. He was found to be confused, agitated and aggressive. He was prescribed haloperidol intravenously and admitted for observation. On 6 July 2015 he saw Dr [redacted] and once more complained of depression and anxiety; the overdose of benzodiazepenes was noted. He was admitted for observation but refused to talk about his family. His alcohol intake had increased and he was suffering from palpitations.

40. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that Mr [redacted] was seen on 15 February 2016 when again he had symptoms of depression, anxiety, palpitations, insomnia and chest pain. On 25 June 2016 he again presented with frequency of micturition, weakness, joint pain and palpitation. A history of depression and anxiety was noted. On 29 June 2016 he was investigated for diabetes and showed an elevated blood glucose. On 31 October 2016 he saw a psychiatrist, Dr [redacted] [redacted] who noted that he had depression, high blood pressure and cholesterol. It was noted that he had shortness of breath on exertion as well as palpitations and chest pain on his left side.

41. Following a referral to see a cardiologist, he had a further exercise stress test on 4 November 2016 and again had to be terminated due to shortness of breath and fatigue. An ECG and echocardiogram were completed, the latter showed a mild concentric hypertrophy of his left ventricle.

42. On 12 September 2017, Mr [redacted] reported heartburn and epigastric pain and on 11 November 2017 he had a cardiac angiogram which showed mild to moderate diffuse plaques in the left middle coronary artery and moderate mixed plaque in the left ascending artery as well as mild disease in four other arteries. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that he saw Mr [redacted] on 12 November 2017 with complaints of heartburn and exertional palpitations.

2018

43. On 17 July 2018 he presented with depression as well as anxiety, high blood pressure, anorexia and heartburn. The hand written notes from Dr [redacted] outlined that on that day he seemed paranoid and only focussing on negative things. He remained concerned about his [redacted] drug habit and complained that the current dose of medication was not working.

44. Additional to the records, Professor [redacted] has also reviewed witness statements from family including his mother [redacted], brother [redacted], sister [redacted] and all three wives. These are not repeated here but in summary his mother said that her son had been plagued with illness, particularly depression and that the family all suffered. She went on to outline his personality and attitude to life, again commenting that he had made attempts on his life. She said that the family were in a financial crisis and had recently had a heart attack.

45. His brother said that Mr [redacted] was the engine of the family and selfless; he said that his [redacted] depression was severe and again confirmed the attempts on his life. Mr [redacted] had asked for his body to be repatriated.

46. His sister said that Mr [redacted] was the glue of the family and looked after all financially. She said that they were close and he was law abiding and again suffered from depression with the comment that at times he was so low that he had tried to end his life.

47. His first wife [redacted], said that Mr [redacted] was selfless and had a close relationship with him; once more she said that he had depression and was not that strong. His second wife, [redacted] confirmed many of the issues which have already been outlines about their son and how Mr [redacted] mental health had deteriorated since his father died in 2011 and a strong family history of depression. She said that her husband tried to conceal his depression and in 2018 and shortly before his arrest had confided to her that he had thoughts of ending his life. She said that he was very low and was petrified he would take his own life.

48. His third wife, [redacted] said that her husband was well respected and again confirmed he had suffered from depression. She had recalled finding him slumped unconscious with an empty bottle of pills in around July 2015 and following a feud with his previous wife. She said that he was rushed to hospital. She said that since he had been arrested he had become more and more upset and down. She was worried she would lose their home.

Use of alcohol and illegal drugs

49. Mr [redacted] has not used illegal drugs but had drank alcohol (despite being against his religion) to relieve stress. In the preceding 5 years he had been drinking around half a bottle of spirits each day or beer if spirits were not available. Professor [redacted] had reported that he had fatty deposits in his liver and had also suffered from blackouts. There is no sign of dependency and I noted that he tended to start drinking at around 10 pm and said that he would not sleep until around 0600 adding 'because of the stress and insomnia.'

Forensic History

50. I noted that Mr [redacted] has never been in trouble with the law and indeed has never had a driving certificate.

Index offence – account from Mr [redacted]

51. I asked Mr [redacted] what his understanding was of the charges against him. He seemed to demonstrate knowledge of the allegations against him and thus he reflected that he could not be sure that the evidence about meeting informants was not made up. He said that what he knows about D-Company is from the news. He told me that he was shocked about the allegations against him and said, 'there was one guy whom I met who was trying to lure me into something illegal, but I reported it to the authorities.' He told me that he has found it difficult to concentrate on the papers which he had been provided with.

52. I asked Mr [redacted] what it would mean if he were found guilty. He demonstrated a clear knowledge and fear about the consequences of being found guilty and told me he would get 20 to 25 years or life without parole for one of the offences. I asked Mr [redacted] what a jury was. He told me that they are there to try the case and give a verdict. I asked Mr [redacted] what the function of the judge was. He told me that he tries the case and agreed that he gave the sentence. He told me that he due in court in early July for the main hearing and trial at Westminster Magistrates Court.

53. He told me that the claims that he has been involved with D Company is, '100 percent rubbish'. He told me that he is not involved with any such organisation. He told me that he has always been open about his travels and thus before London was in Cyprus and listed the various countries, he had been in. I went through the various issues and he said that is all false

54. He said that he feels confident that he can prove his innocence and added, 'I am not involved in any illegal activity' and he questioned that he did not trust the USA and added 'the whole world does not trust them' and believed he would have an unfair trial and also cited the Prison conditions in the USA. He said also, 'the racism, the food, the prison conditions, the isolation, the torture' and said that he would be physically tortured. He said, 'they will kill you for nothing'. He said that there is justice in the UK and a country where his rights would not be deprived.

55. He said that his knowledge is not based on personal experience but what he has read in the news and what he has been told. He told me, 'everyone knows; it is an open secret.'

EFTA00041572

56. I asked about what would happen if the deportation was inevitable and he said that he would take his own life and added, 'that is the only choice.' He cited a recent supreme court ruling in which appeals had been denied. He said that you cannot defend abusive process in the court of law in the USA. He told me that he is objecting to the extradition due to not getting a fair trial, and that he is innocent as well as complaints about the prison conditions and that it will impact on his mental health. He also cited his human rights.

Index offence – account from statements

57. Mr [redacted] is charged with conspiracy to launder money and conspiracy to collect credit extension by extortionate means and is sought for extradition to the United States of America for trial.

58. The documents are extensive but in summary, it is alleged that Mr [redacted] (referred to as [redacted] [redacted]) is a lieutenant in D-Company, an international criminal organisation based in Pakistan, India and the United Arab Emirates. The leader [redacted] and his top lieutenant Anis Ibrahim have been in fugitives since 1993 when D Company was linked to the coordinated bombings in Mumbai. It is alleged that Mr [redacted] main responsibility is conducting money laundering and extortionate debt collections for D Company. Mr [redacted] is reported to travel extensively and conducts meetings on behalf of [redacted].

59. Mr [redacted] has been investigated and is alleged to have spoken to 3 confidential FBI sources. The first CS-1 posed as a representative of La Cosa Nostra and Russian organised crime entities based in New York. CS-1 and CS-2 attempted to facilitate criminal dealings between those groups and D Company. CS-1 met Mr [redacted] in the United States in 2011 and subsequently visited with Mr [redacted] in Pakistan in December 2011 and May 2012. During their meetings in Pakistan in December 2011, CS-1 explained that the criminal organizations for which he works are involved in narcotics trafficking that generates large amounts of cash. Mr [redacted] offered to assist CS-1 in laundering the proceeds of his organized crime associates' narcotics trafficking. In turn, Mr [redacted] introduced CS-1 to a co-conspirator ("CC-I"), who Mr [redacted] explained is the lead money launderer for D-Company.

60. Since returning to the United States from Pakistan in late 2011, CS-1 has communicated with Mr [redacted] and CC-1 via telephone and email in furtherance of the money-laundering scheme described above. To date, CS-1 has laundered approximately $1,400,000 of purported narcotics proceeds with the assistance of Mr [redacted] and CC-1. The evidence of the money laundering scheme includes: [1] multiple recorded calls between CS-1 and Mr [redacted], and between CS-1 and CC-1; [2] dozens of emails between CS-1 and CC-1; [3] the deposit receipts for the cash deposits in the United States; and [4] the fraudulent receipts meant to make the round-trip money laundering transactions appear to have resulted from legitimate transactions.

EFTA00041573

61. During the meetings in Pakistan in December 2011, Mr [redacted] and CS-I also discussed Mr [redacted] involvement in extortionate debt collections by D-Company. Mr [redacted] explained that, for a fee, D-Company uses its power and capacity for violence to resolve business disputes. In meetings with CS-1 and CS-2, Mr [redacted] has discussed various extortionate debt collections by D-Company both in the United States and abroad.

62. Mr [redacted] explained that D-Company uses its reputation for violence and ability to reach family members in Pakistan and India to resolve disputes stemming from business deals (either licit or illicit) by pressuring the debtor parties to make their payments. D-Company collects a fee of up to 50 percent of the amount collected for its role in resolving the dispute.

63. In May 2012, Mr [redacted] helped a D-Company associate based in New York ("CC-2") collect a debt of$80,000 from two lower-level D-Company associates based in New Jersey. Mr [redacted] then demanded an approximately 40-percent payment from CC-2 for having helped to collect the debt. Mr [redacted] used his status in D-Company to intimidate the targets of both collections and induce the targets to pay the money they owed. In addition, during a meeting with CS-2 in the United States in 2011, Mr [redacted] referenced D-[redacted] involvement in extortions in the United States generally, and his role in a extortionate debt collection in Florida in 2010. The FBI has identified the debtor who was targeted by Mr [redacted] and has spoken to a confidential source in Florida ("CS-3"); who was part of a three-way call in 2010 between Mr [redacted] and the debtor.

64. In that call, Mr [redacted] made it clear that he was with D-Company and told the debtor that if the debtor did not pay, Mr [redacted] would do "what had to be done." In discussing the Florida debt collection with CS-2 during the Atlantic City meeting in 2011, Mr [redacted] explained that D-Company had identified the father-in-law of the debtor who lived "back home" [India or Pakistan] and Mr [redacted] associates had gone to the house of the father-in-law two or three times [to intimidate the father-in-law].

65. The father-in-law had then pressured the debtor to pay. During CS-[redacted] first trip to Pakistan in December 2011, CS-1 explicitly discussed with Mr [redacted] and CC-1 CS-[redacted] interest in importing heroin from Pakistan to New York. After those conversations, CS-I discussed the details of the heroin importation with CC-I. During a subsequent trip to Pakistan, CC-1 introduced CS-1 to a heroin and hashish supplier. In 2014, CC-1 arranged for a two-kilogram sample shipment of heroin to be sent to New York via Toronto, Canada. Over a series of calls, CS-1 confirmed that CC-1 and his associates would ship multiple kilograms of heroin to CS-1 as a sample of their narcotics supply. CC-1 and the CS-1 discussed price, transportation logistics, and tracking number. Ultimately, CS-1 was notified that four kilograms of heroin had been sent instead of two.

66. As detailed Mr [redacted] knowledge of the subsequent four-kilogram delivery is corroborated by multiple recorded conversations, following the delivery, where Mr [redacted] demands repayment.

67. After the heroin was delivered in Toronto on or about June 4, 2014, it was seized and tested by Canadian law enforcement working in conjunction with the FBI. Thereafter, in order to avoid paying for the drugs, CS-1 explained to CC-1 and Mr [redacted] that the quality was so bad that CS-1 was unable to sell it. In several recorded calls, CS-1 and Mr [redacted] discuss the money that CS- 1 owes Mr [redacted] for the heroin. CS-1 tells Mr [redacted] ofCS-[redacted] inability to pay off the drug debt, to which Mr [redacted] responded by invoking [redacted] and threatening CS- [redacted] life if CS-1 did not pay. Ultimately, CS-I paid a partial payment of approximately $19,500 o Mr [redacted] at a bank account provided.

Progress in custody

2018

68. Mr [redacted] was remanded into HMP Wandsworth on 17 August 2018 and it was identified that he had a variety of medication on him in a dispensing box. He later told the GP that he had arrived in the UK on the 11 August 2018 and thus had no GP in the UK. He said that he suffered from high blood pressure and was on medication for this (Amlodipine) but denied any other medical or psychiatric issue. He was observed to be calm, easy to engage, made good eye contact and no thoughts of self-harm.

69. Following some screening on 23 August 2018 he was deemed suitable to manage his own medication. Again, on 30 August 2018 he was noted to have high blood pressure. He said that otherwise he was fine.

70. His medication of Amlodipine and Aspirin was continued. He reported a stuffy nose on 6 November 2018 and had some routine blood tests on 6 December 2018. He had other appointments with a GP on 18 December 2018 where some blood tests were completed such as for diabetes and cholesterol.

2019

71. Subsequent appointments with primary care were in the context of physical health complaints and the first mention of mental health issues is on 17 January 2019 when he reported that he had a history of depression and had been on anti-depressants in the past. He said that he felt low and anxious about potential extradition to the USA. The GP commented that he was calm, easy to engage, made good eye contact and showed normal speech with no thoughts of self-harm. He was commenced on the anti-depressant Mirtazapine.

72. He reported a painful thumb on 7 February 2019 and on 14 February 2019 told a nurse that the anti-depressant was not working and that he had been on a higher dose in the community – the nurse requested that his anti-depressant was increased to 30mg. This appears not to have taken place and in any event on 5 March 2019 he complained of side effects in the form of feeling tired and lethargic and told the nurse that he still felt low in mood and had negative thoughts. The nurse commented that he made good eye contact, showed a good rapport and no evidence of being distracted and no thoughts of self-harm. His anti-depressant was increased at that time.

73. However, on 12 March 2019, he refused to take his medication as he was fasting but agreed to resume the following day. I noted that the prison medical records from this point on have not been provided.

Mental State Examination (20 June 2019)

74. Mr [redacted] engaged well with the assessment and concentrated well, correcting minor details in my report and that of Professor [redacted]. He smiled at a few points in the interview and there was no evidence of psychomotor retardation or agitation. His speech was of normal rate and volume and overall, he did not appear significantly depressed, though his mood did seem to dip when asked about the case and particularly that extradition might be inevitable.

75. He told me that everything about prison is difficult but said that the disrespect is the worse and every single minute is torture. He told me that he has not seen a psychiatrist in the prison and his mental health has been managed by a GP (though he has asked to see a psychiatrist). He produced some slips to demonstrate that despite his request to see one and how his appointments have clashed. He showed me a letter of complaint. He laughed when he told me that he is the Healthcare representative and the irony of not being able to see a psychiatrist himself. I noted that he became more subdued when talking about this and his family. He told me that his concentration is poor (though this did not seem evident in the consultation).

76. I asked about his experience of prison; he said that he has been in prison for some 10 months and commented that prison was disrespectful, and he never expected to queue for food or clean his cell. He told me that his current predicament is the worst period of his life and he added, 'too much depression and anxiety , I don't deserve what I am going through' and when I asked about going to the USA he told me, 'if they sent me there it would be the last nail in the coffin' and reflected how his family would suffer. He told me, 'they are doing this to me, it is so unfair, my mother is unwell, my family needs me the most.'

77. He told me that he struggled with being locked up 24 hours a day and coping with the shouting and banging, adding that this was especially so when he is suffering from depression and anxiety. He told me that he felt traumatised and cited how he would be handcuffed when he went to court. He told me that it has caused a loss of self-respect and added, 'always in my life, I have been law abiding' and described how he had tried to be a role model and mediate in other [redacted] problems but now feels helpless and hopeless.

78. He told me that he remains in his cell all the time and does not go out for association or exercise and said that he also feels terrified in the cell and having to look at the same thing. He has not had any visitors to see him and the difficulties in getting visas

79. He told me that his mood is becoming worse and felt that it is the worst it has ever been. He told me that he often cries when he is praying and uses religion to help divert his thoughts. He told me that he has ongoing negative thoughts and feels hopeless, worthless and can see no future. Though he seemed to concentrate well in the interview, he told me that there is nothing he can to do to take his mind off things and though he might watch TV he does not concentrate. He told me that he has also lost his appetite and thus some weight and estimated 8 to 9 Kilos. He said that he does not like the food and additionally has no interest or enjoyment in it. He is on the phone through the day and night to his family and has a phone in his cell.

80. In terms of his sleep he said that he has poor sleep and finds it difficult to get to sleep, often being awake until the early hours and sometimes awake when the morning comes or is disturbed from sleeping by the sounds of the prison. He said that he tries to get some sleep in the day. He told me that he feels very tired, low energy levels and fatigue. He also has feelings of worthlessness and added, 'you cannot do anything' and, 'I feel a good for nothing.'

81. In terms of his concentration he said that it used to be a lot better but his time in prison has affected his ability to make decisions and added that he has many people depending upon him. He told me that no one can look after his business and added, 'I am the engine of the train and if I am not there it will fall apart.' He commented that he has few savings and must work each day to support his family and added, 'you have to be there' (for the clients).

82. I asked thoughts of death or suicide; he told me that he has daily negative thoughts and such thoughts were, 'coming into my mind all the time' and this was partly the reason why he wanted to see a psychiatrist in prison. When I asked about specific plans, he smiled and said, 'I will discuss it with you when the time comes.' He said, 'when things are getting out of control you have to…'

83. I asked about auditory hallucinations and he said no; he said that he felt paranoid due to the panic he feels the way he is handled in the prison. He said that he is startled by the noises and said that only a few weeks ago, someone hung themselves and had been after medication himself. I noted that he did not appear startled when I smacked down a pen.

84. He reflected that he is surrounded by hearing people getting long sentences and has seen and experienced people self-harming around him in other cells. He said that he has not self-harmed but sometimes he has banged his head or hand hard when it is too much.

85. He said that when he wakes, he then begins to feel anxious and he has flashbacks to the time when he was arrested and taken to the police station. He gave an account of this and said he was sleeping in his hotel (a suite at The Hilton in Paddington) after having had a good dinner and night with his wife, explaining that they were due to return to Pakistan. At 1000 the police burst into the room; he said that it was a shock and added that the people had guns and he was taken to the police station and then the court some 12 to 14 hours later, before on to HMP Wandsworth. He commented on how he had to share a cell, 'with someone I don't know, a druggie or hood and I can never forget, the way they handled it bang you up here bang you up there, bang handcuffs, bang you up in a cell.' He said that it is a shock and he has flashbacks and nightmares as to what had happened and added, 'every single day.' He said that the whole experience of prison reminds him as to what had happened. I noted that he did not startle when I hit a pen on the table

Opinion and recommendations

86. Mr [redacted] is a 52-year-old man charged with conspiracy to launder money and conspiracy to collect credit extension by extortionate means and is sought for extradition to the United States of America for trial

Diagnosis

87. Depression: Mr [redacted] has a history of depression dating back over a decade; in the main his condition has been managed through outpatient services (though there is reference to being admitted but no detail on this) and principally seeing a psychiatrist with reports from Mr [redacted] that he has been on an anti-depressant for over a decade now. There is also reports from Mr [redacted] of overdoses on three occasions which is supported by documentation from Pakistan and strong confirmation from his family that he had suffered from depression and had made attempts on his life. I noted from reviewing the records that the management of his depression has been through the use of an anti-depressant and an anti-psychotic. The latter is unusual, and I would expect being utilised for its sedative and anti-anxiety effect.

88. There appears to be a reasonable family history of depression and additionally a relationship between his symptoms and the stress that he feels under at any one time (and this probably explains his use of alcohol to help manage that stress). In that respect it would be logical to expect the stress of prison to impact on his mental health.

89. Earlier in my report, I have outlined the current profile of difficulties but in summary he presents with many of the symptoms, which one might expect in depression. I have underlined the symptoms relevant to Mr [redacted] and in relation to the diagnosis using DSM (Diagnostic Statistical Manual Version 5) where it is known as major depressive disorder. This is a condition in which the individual experiences a depressed mood for most of the day, nearly every day as indicated by either subjective report or observation made by others such as appearing tearful. There is a markedly diminished interest or pleasure in all or almost all activities most of the day, nearly every day. There is a significant weight loss or sometimes weight gain as well as a decrease or increase in appetite nearly every day. Insomnia or hypersomnia occur as well as psychomotor agitation or retardation. The individual experiences fatigue and loss of energy as well as feelings of worthlessness or excessive or inappropriate guilt nearly every day. There is a diminished ability to think or concentrate, indecisiveness nearly every day as well as recurrent thoughts of death, recurrent suicidal ideation with or without a specific plan or suicidal attempt or specific plans for committing suicide. These symptoms cause clinically significant distress or impairment in social, occupational or other important areas of functioning. The episode is not attributable to the physiological effects of substance or to another medical condition.

90. In terms of his current functioning, I also utilised some self-report questionnaires to help give some perspective on his symptoms. I firstly asked him to complete the Becks Depression Inventory – Version 2. The BDI-II is a self-report questionnaire with a series of responses in a number of domains, which go towards a total score. There are 3 bands, minimal (0-13), mild (14-19), Moderate (20-28) and severe (29-63). Mr [redacted] scores 48 i.e. within the upper end of the severe group. I also asked him to complete the PHQ-9 and the GAD-7. The former is an easy to use self-report questionnaire, which has a 61% sensitivity and 94% specificity in adults. Mr [redacted] showed a result of 25 indicating severe depression (0-4 none, 5-9 mild, 10-14 moderate and 20-27 severe). The GAD-7 is a measurement of anxiety, scores of 5, 10, and 15 are taken as the cut-off points for mild, moderate and severe anxiety, respectively. When used as a screening tool, further evaluation is recommended when the score is 10 or greater. Using the threshold score of 10, the GAD-7 has a sensitivity of 89% and a specificity of 82% for GAD. With Mr [redacted] this showed a result of 19, indicating severe anxiety.

91. PTSD: Mr [redacted] has also reported being traumatised by the nature of his arrest in the Hilton Hotel (see paragraph 87). The essential features of PTSD are the development of characteristic features following exposure to one or more traumatic events. There is the emergence of intrusive symptoms (memories, distressing dreams, dissociative reactions, intense or prolonged psychological distress and physiological reactions) as well as avoidance of stimuli associated with the trauma. Patients with the condition may have negative alterations in cognitions and mood (an inability to remember an important aspect of the trauma, negative beliefs about oneself, distorted cognitions, a persistent negative emotional state such as fear/anger/guilt/shame, a markedly diminished interest in significant activities, feelings of detachment and inability to experience positive emotions. Finally, there are marked alterations in arousal and reactivity such as irritable behaviour, reckless or self-destructive behaviour, hypervigilance, an exaggerated startle response, problems with concentration and sleep disturbance. The duration of the symptoms is more than one month, it should cause clinically significant distress or impairment in social, occupational or other areas of important functioning

92. To ascertain what is currently present, I utilised a well validated tool, the Impacts of Event Scale- Revised - again, there should be caution, as the reports of symptoms are all largely self-reported. This tool, measures difficulties in the preceding 7 days. Mr [redacted] scored high on most of the items in the scale. It is subdivided into subscales of avoidance, intrusion and hyperarousal. In the latter, he scored for Intrusion (31), avoidance (22) and hyperarousal (21). The total score was 74 out of a maximum of 88. This would indicate significant PTSD with the recognition that overall scores of 24 represents partial PTSD and 33 or more indicating PTSD is present.

93. In terms of his current symptom profile, Mr [redacted] has reported a range of symptoms which I have outlined above. The use of self-report questionnaires seems to indicate that his symptoms of anxiety, depression and PTSD are severe. It would be wrong to rely solely on self-report questionnaires and to take into account context and clinical impression. I found that clinically the reports of severe symptomatology were not evident in the interview in comparison to many I have seen in prison. I found that within the interview he engaged well and did not appear overtly or obviously depressed and was able to concentrate throughout without issue and as noted, there were points where he smiled and showed a reactive mood. I noted that the medical records from the prison have confirmed that his care has been managed entirely by primary mental health care (i.e. a GP) and he has not been thought to have required the input of secondary mental health care services in the prison such as in-reach or a psychiatrist. Though Mr [redacted] has asked to see a psychiatrist, the gate keeping mechanism of nurses and [redacted] has not felt this necessary. I also noted there has never been a time when he has required to be on an ACCT (Assessment Care Custody and Teamwork - a document to monitor and manage self-harm/risk).

94. Thus in terms of his current presentation, though his reports of symptoms suggest they are severe, clinically I found that this is largely self-reported and is not supported by the prison clinical records and not evident in the interview I had with him. I would accept that having only met Mr [redacted] on one occasion, my perception of his illness may not be accurate, for example if he is concealing more symptoms.

95. In consideration of his previous reports of how stress and financial pressures affected him, it would be reasonable to consider that the symptoms he does experience most likely relate to the prospect of extradition and the potential outcome in the USA. I would expect that most individuals facing an uncertain future and removal to a system which is unfamiliar and perhaps harsh, would be troubled and impact on their mental health to cause depression and anxiety.

96. I did not find his symptoms unique and in my experience, his clinical presentation is seen reasonably often in prison and not of a nature or degree to require any significant intervention beyond what is being provided. I noted that he is on an anti-depressant and even if he were to see a psychiatrist, this would likely lead to some changes in medication management but with the acceptance that medication will have a limited value whilst the pressures of being in prison and extradition remain. Thus, it would be unusual to expect anyone in Mr [redacted] position to be cheerful and happy. However, cognisant of the concerns about his mental health from the family, I believe that in consideration of the reported severity, it would be prudent to inform the prison and facilitate more supervision at this time.

97. Having worked in a high security prison for almost two decades, I have a reasonably strong perspective on how prison affects an individual in terms of their mental health. Perhaps not surprisingly there is a wide range of responses but in the main there are relatively few who would find it a positive experience, apart from those where they are extricated from spiralling drug problems or where the containing effect of prison is beneficial.

98. Taking this into account, it would be reasonable to assert that prison impacts on the majority of people and significantly mental health. Setting aside the concept of people being held in prison who are innocent, in my experience, uncertainty is a key factor. This is seen in those who have an indeterminate sentence or in the past, those on a control order. Many prisoners highlight that prison provides a landscape of no control and powerlessness. Thus, with Mr [redacted] experiencing a sense of uncertainty combined with loss of control is especially relevant in terms of someone who has been a hardworking man, who has always been in control of his life and responsible for the lives of others. I would add that the argument for a person being in optimum mental health should be balanced with the argument that sometimes, getting on with a matter is also positive as the uncertainty comes to an end. I have often observed this in those who with the prospect of a trial or a sentence, find that once the trial is underway or a sentence is finally passed, then they 'know where they stand' though I would accept with Mr [redacted] that the movement to the USA is simply another step and not necessarily a resolution.

99. Prisons in the UK and around the world vary enormously in their structure, regime, environment, facilities, levels of occupation and so forth and it is fair to say that there are good and bad examples of prisons throughout the world. Prisons have different processes and facilities aligned to their country, resources, history, legislation and economies to manage prisoners.

100. Healthcare is one such variable in prison; throughout Europe and the world, healthcare remains a challenge. In particular mental health is a specific issue which is widely recognised and overall rates of mental ill health in prison are of broadly similar levels around the world. There are various models in how mental health care is delivered and it is reasonable to say that there is not a consensus on what works best. Regulatory bodies around the world continue to highlight difficulties and in England and Wales, there are regular concerning reports from the Prison Inspectorate in England and Wales which highlight problems with prisons and inadequacies of health care and indeed Mr [redacted] has highlighted his struggle to see a psychiatrist in HMP Wandsworth.

101. I would not wish to challenge any of the papers Professor [redacted] has cited in terms of sensory deprivation; they are exactly that, scientific papers. Again, I have no comment to make on the findings in that literature. In an ideal world, prisons would be healthy environments which have no impact on an individual, but that is not the case and they are and always will be adverse.

102. The issue of isolation and segregation is not unique to the USA and can occur in all countries depending on the facility and regime. The UK is no exception, with reports in prisons in England and Wales of being 'banged up' for 22 hours a day or more and for some long periods in a segregation unit. There are many examples of this in various literature and for the potential for sensory deprivation to occur in prisons around the world. It is reasonable to say that though certain prison regimes and levels of isolation can cause an effect of sensory deprivation it is not necessarily equivalent. The definition of what exactly is isolation and deprivation needs to be understood; for example, what role does having a TV, access to books, visits from family and legal representatives and exercise have in such a definition. Literature cited by Professor [redacted] such as [redacted], refers to specific and controversial work in that area and for example the use of sensory deprivation tanks. I would not argue that isolation and sensory deprivation does not occur – it is noted that around 80,000 are subject to solitary confinement each year in the USA and at levels of being in a cell 23 hours a day. There are many reasons why this might occur and what his might mean and whether that equates with sensory deprivation. Overall, I believe there should be caution in drawing too many conclusions about what can go on, which might occur and how that effect might impinge on an individual.

103. I noted paragraphs 8 and 9 in the opinion section of Professor [redacted] report. Earlier in the report Professor [redacted] had reviewed the statement of [redacted] and [redacted], which outlines where Mr [redacted] might be held and particularly being held in solitary confinement in a federal prison. I have of course not seen such a prison([redacted]) and have no reason to challenge the opinion and description of the facilities and likely difficulties.

104. I noted the statement of [redacted] and [redacted]; both comment on the conditions pre-trial and post conviction, the various levels of security and their prediction about how and where he will be managed. They also comment on the potential outcome with such comments 'if convicted' and the potential of life imprisonment in a maximum secure facility. [redacted] has indicated that whilst awaiting trial Mr [redacted] will likely be held in MDC (Metropolitan Detention Centre) or MCC (Metropolitan Correctional Centre) in New York and is also his view that, 'it is almost certain Mr [redacted] will not be given bail.' Additionally, he comments that in view of the potential connections to terrorism he would be subject to Special Administrative Measures ([redacted]) which often includes the use of solitary confinement.

105. I noted in the declaration of [redacted] that there is a further description of the conditions in the prisons in New York. There is also reference to one psychiatrist who divides his/her time between MDC and MCC with responsibility for 2,500 people, as well as long waiting times to see health care and comments, 'given all this, I believe Mr health would be at serious risk at MCC.' The report also provides a description of health complaints and issues in the special housing units. I have no specific comment on these remarks and would suggest that it is for the federal prison authorities to provide a defence to these assertions (see below).

106. In this context I have seen the various program documents from the Federal Bureau of Prisons (BOP) correctional facilities and the statements from the medical director and the chief psychologist. I am aware of course that policy and procedure documents sometimes have limited weight and practical application.

107. In many respects, Mr conceptualises the difficulties facing a psychiatrist working in prison. Thus there is a recognition that prison is adverse and can impact on a mental health and that those with an existing mental health disorder might deteriorate further. This is widely known and potentially universally accepted in the UK and across the world. It is also acknowledged that the regime, uncertainty and consequences weigh heavily on a person and their mental health and that harsher regimes can have a more powerful effect. This observation is of course balanced by the recognition that if the individual was released or the charges dropped then that mental health would likely improve, though some will come to be affected for years to come. The psychiatrist and prison mental health services have a role to assist in mitigating as best he or she can the effect that imprisonment has on an individual; however, there will be limitations as to what can be achieved. Despite all these concerns about how prison impacts on mental health, there is of course still a need for prisons and it would be facile to suggest that because prisons affect mental health, they should not exist.

108. Prisons by their nature are often hostile and adverse environments and around the world there will be criticisms raised in each country; even in the UK our prison inspectorate will highlight specific difficulties including levels of mental health disorder, healthcare inadequacies, rodent infestation, time out of cell and suicide. I noted that suicide rate has been highlighted as an issue in federal prisons but a recent paper by Professor Seena Fazel has found that overall, the rate of prison suicides in prisons in England and Wales is greater that the USA (though I noted the specific rates being higher in the USA in those in solitary confinement).

109. I noted the statements of Dr , who is the BOP medical director and who has signed a statement dated 12 June 2019. In his statement he has reviewed the report of Professor and has commented on both the general provision of medical and mental health care and more specifically the capability of the prison() to manage Mr individual needs, diagnoses and medication. He has stated that in his opinion BOP, 'will be able to provide appropriately for his health care needs.' The statement of Dr is supported by Dr , chief psychologist at MCC. Though not referring to Mr specifically, the statement again describes the structure and approach to managing mental health in the prison and comments that, 'MCC and MDC are well equipped to manage mentally ill inmates including those with bipolar disorder, schizophrenia, depression and PTSD.' Finally, after reading the statements of [redacted], [redacted] and [redacted] he states in response to concerns in those documents, 'it is my opinion that the BOP is equipped to safely house defendant [redacted].'

110. Mr [redacted] has been very clear that if an attempt at extradition is attempted he will make an attempt on his life. Noting a previous history of self-harm and suicide attempts, would indicate that his risk is greater than the average prisoner and the risk should be given appropriate weight. It is more likely to occur in the UK and prior to the actual extradition and thus, if extradition is supported, the court, prison transport and prison will need appropriate awareness and recognition to help mitigate that risk. As in the UK, the prison system in the USA will have appropriate measures and structures to help manage that risk and although such a risk cannot be eliminated, knowing of the risk and his current intention means that managing that risk should be possible and I note the specific comment in that regard by Dr [redacted].

111. In summary, though Mr [redacted] is depressed, I did not find his presentation severe in my assessment of him and at this stage can be and has been managed in prison well (it would be useful to have some more up to date prison medical records). Even if my judgement was incorrect and his condition was severe, I remain of the view that his care can be managed in prison.

112. If I were to be responsible for his care in prison, I would not at this stage be recommending his admission to the Healthcare Centre/inpatient unit at HMP Wandsworth and similarly I would not be recommending his removal from prison to hospital, through The Mental Health Act (this provision of course does not apply in the USA). I might adjust his medication and implement other approaches such as counselling, support and structure but overall, setting aside what he is charged with, Mr [redacted] is not unusual in terms of his symptom profile. I would not necessarily wish to indicate at this time what issues would cause me to change my approach to admission to the Healthcare Centre/inpatient unit or transfer to hospital, as I do not wish to provide a template for Mr [redacted]. Taking account of his emphasis on taking his own life before extradition, I would recommend that the prison review him for consideration of opening an ACCT (Assessment Care Custody and Teamwork - a document to monitor and manage self harm/risk).

113. There is concern that his mental state might deteriorate if he were to be transferred to a prison in the USA; in my opinion this is a reasonable expectation but only in the sense that it would likely apply to most people who are about to be extradited. I would accept that his deterioration might be greater but again should be manageable in a USA prison. The USA is not a third world country and indeed quite the opposite. Being transferred to a prison in the USA does not mean he is excluded from healthcare input and indeed should be able to access services in some shape or form. Medication will be available and I would expect that his current regime (or an equivalent) will be continued. Noting that in the UK his care has been managed at a primary care level, it is possible that this also may suffice.

114. The documents from [redacted] and [redacted] provide a gloomy perspective on the conditions in the USA but I contrast this with the statements of Dr [redacted] and Dr [redacted]; It is not my role to determine which is correct but would comment that there is a reality that if a person is alleged to have committed a serious offence then the consequences can be also be serious. Countries around the world have individual approaches to manage those they consider dangerous (in its widest sense) and it is simplistic to assume that rigid and what appear to be harsh regimes are simply punitive but may be based and developed on a recognition of managing risk. In this context, it is for the prison to provide health care and mitigate risk and deterioration as best it can in such environments. The statements from the above authorities indicate that they have confidence that his mental health and self-harm/suicide risk can be managed.

DECLARATION:

I, DR [redacted] DECLARE THAT:

1. I understand that my duty is to help the court to achieve the overriding objective by giving independent assistance by way of objective, unbiased opinion on matters within my expertise, both in preparing reports and giving oral evidence. I understand that this duty overrides any obligation to the party by whom I am engaged or the person who has paid or is liable to pay me. I confirm that I have complied with and will continue to comply with that duty.

2. I confirm that I have not entered into any arrangement where the amount or payment of my fees is in any way dependent on the outcome of the case.

3. I know of no conflict of interest of any kind, other than any which I have disclosed in my report.

4. I do not consider that any interest which I have disclosed affects my suitability as an expert witness on any issues on which I have given evidence.

5. I will advise the party by whom I am instructed if, between the date of my report and the trial, there is any change in circumstances which affect my answers to points 3 and 4 above.

6. I have shown the sources of all information I have used.

7. I have exercised reasonable care and skill in order to be accurate and complete in preparing this report.

8. I have endeavoured to include in my report those matters, of which I have knowledge or of which I have been made aware, that might adversely affect the validity of my opinion. I have clearly stated any qualifications to my opinion.

9. I have not, without forming an independent view, included or excluded anything which has been suggested to me by others including my instructing lawyers.

10. I will notify those instructing me immediately and confirm in writing if for any reason my existing report requires any correction or qualification.

11. I have read Part 33 of the Criminal Procedure rules and I have complied with its requirements.

12. I confirm that I have acted in accordance with the Code of Practice for Experts.

13. I will notify those instructing me immediately and confirm in writing if for any reason my existing report requires any correction or qualification.

STATEMENT OF TRUTH

I confirm that the contents of this report are true to the best of my knowledge and belief and that

I make this report knowing that, if it is tendered in evidence, I would be liable to prosecution if I have wilfully stated anything which I know to be false or that I do not believe to be true.

FYI...AW portion for page 10 regarding SW cell assignment.

Guidance was sent to the Lieutenants regarding keying of suicide watch bed assignments after hours. The Lieutenants were instructed that upon placing an inmate on suicide watch, they are responsible for contacting C&A and providing the cell assignment. Additionally, the Lieutenant will run a PP30 (Population Monitoring Roster) with the selection category for suicide watch. The Lieutenant will email the roster to the Captain, as he will be responsible for verifying that each inmate is in the appropriate cell. This verification process will ensure inmates placed on suicide watch are keyed into inaccurate bed assignments and will eliminate inmates being keyed into the same cell.

Additionally, the Lieutenants were instructed to contact the Captain and on-call Psychology staff when the need for suicide watch placement is determined after hours. Psychology staff have been instructed to contact the warden upon receiving said notification. After consultation with the warden, psychology staff will designate whether a staff or inmate companion will be assigned. Psychology staff will in turn inform the Shift Lieutenant of this determination.
